A Quarter Century of Service Annual Report of the North Carolina State Association for the Blind

"While they were saying among themselves, 'It cannot be done,' it was done."
—Helen Keller

And most people 25 years ago had not given the blind much thought, let alone done anything about them, but there were some Lions and other civic minded individuals who had. These persons met together in 1934 and organized the N. C. State Association for the Blind to work for the blind on state-wide basis.

The first action of the Association was to help sponsor legislation that would create a state agency for the blind. In March of 1935 such an agency was created by legislative enactment by the General Assembly of North Carolina and the N. C. State Commission for the Blind began to function in July, 1935.

After this first big job, the Association has continued to serve the blind all through the years. It is a lay association, non-profit, has no administrative overhead, its membership is open to anyone interested in the health and welfare of the blind and visually handicapped of North Carolina. The Association renders all types of services, provided the service is practical, is needed, and there are no other resources to furnish it.

The funds of the Association are de-

GREETINGS TO THE LIONS OF NORTH CAROLINA AND MEMBERS OF THE ASSOCIATION

We, the Officers and Directors of the North Carolina State Association for the Blind, salute you, salute and extend grateful appreciation for the marvelous manner in which you, the Lions of North Carolina have supported your Association this year. Because of your conscientious efforts the Association has progressed to greater heights, even, beyond an already, unexcelled program in work for the blind and visually handicapped. The Regional Library is really filling a need in bringing joy and happiness to the blind of our State. Just ask anyone who uses one of the talking book machines.

Progress has been made in research to preserve corneas for longer periods prior to transplanting.

The Isolette Program is making strides in the study of preventing blindness in prematurely born babies. And did you know that for the first time in the history of the N. C. State Association for the Blind, the blind population has shown a decrease of 323 people. Think of it. And all the other services rendered our blind friends during this year would fill a volume—a large volume.

You, the Lions of North Carolina, made all this possible through your support of the White Cane Sale and Membership Enrollment. You should be very happy. Joy comes through service to others. I'm sure the blind and visually handicapped will always be grateful to you. The leaders of your great Association are grateful to every Lion in North Carolina, whether your part was large or small in the success of the State Association for the Blind this year. Let's continue to put forth our very best efforts in the years that lie ahead in making the State Association for the Blind a credit to the State and Lionism. Sure it's great to be a Lion, but it's even greater to be a North Carolina Lion.

Thank you very much, my friends.

Robert R. Barnes, Director

State Director 1958 White Cane Sale and Membership Enrollment Drive

Dear North Carolina Lions:

In so far as the 1958 State Director of the White Cane Drive understands your unselfish service to, and your love for the visually handicapped of North Carolina, this year's WHITE CANE MAGAZINE portrays your most gracious hour.

Your very good and competent State President, Ed U. Hallford, did a marvelous job in starting this program about a year ago when he selected nine of the most capable and devoted Lions in North Carolina to lead in each of the nine fine districts. To these District Directors, with the very cooperative District Governors and their Cabinet Members, goes all the credit for completed plans. To each of you Lions in your own clubs, acknowledgment must be given for executing these plans and producing results which portray your most gracious hour.

The scores of visually handicapped men, women and children of North Carolina who have and will gain in various ways because you sacrificed your time, talents and many pleasures to work so hard for them in this program, will ever be indebted to you. As the multitudes of people Jesus healed proclaimed His love to others, these recipient individuals of your accumulated energies will also proclaim this to be your most gracious hour.

In the "tomorrows" as you sit comfortably in your robe and slippers, you will remember the seemingly little efforts exerted, and wonder: "Lord, when saw we thee an hungered, and fed thee? or thirsty and gave thee drink? When saw we thee a stranger, and took thee in? or naked and clothed thee? Or when saw we thee sick, or in prison, and came unto thee?" You will be happy as you think of the answer. Your joy will be complete when you know these kindnesses were your most gracious hour.

Thank you for everything!

1958 White Cane Sale and Membership Enrollment Drive

Another White Cane Drive and another most successful one made so by the hard work of the more than 14,000 Lions of North Carolina. Lions of North Carolina from the first club organized in the state in 1921 up until the last organized in 1959 have made work for the blind their major project and, since all funds derived from the White Cane Drive are spent on the blind and visually handicapped, Lions have always sponsored this project.

The goal for this year was $40,000. The funds raised by the Lions and remitted to the Association amounted to $53,430.51; the funds retained by the Lions Clubs for local work for the blind were $4,106.23. The Districts enrolled the following number of members.

Three New Awards for 1958

Clubs: Morehead City; Haw Creek; Cherryville; Sir Walter; and Rocky Mount

District 31-J Captures Two

At the August Board Meeting of the North Carolina Association, it was voted to increase the White Cane Trophy awards to Lions Clubs by two. This would make a total of 5 trophies for Lions Clubs, the membership based on the following groupings: 1-29; 30-54; 55-79; 80-99; and 100 and up.

At the same meeting, the Association voted to make another award to the District that made the largest gain per member over its last year record. This award would be in addition to the other District award which is given to the District having the highest per member average.

The Association was pleased to add these awards as a small token of appreciation to the Lions of North Carolina for their unselfish and amazing work on the White Cane Drive.

We should like to state that all computations for Clubs and Districts were made on figures as of March 1, 1959, the dead line for awards. All Club awards are of equal value; the winner has the highest per member average in its membership group.

Group I, 1-29 members, Morehead City Club, 31-H, moved from sixth place in 1957 to first in 1958 and wins this new trophy first. With 23 members, this Club raised $486.98 or an average per member of $21.17. We are delighted to see a newcomer among the award winners and we hope it becomes a habit.

State-Wide Committee on Work for the Blind Selects Trophy Winners

The State-Wide Committee on Work for the Blind is composed of 9 members, one from each district of Lions Clubs in North Carolina. This Committee is appointed each year by the District Governors and the Committee elects its own chairman.

The Committee this year was composed of: R. W. Easley, Jr., Murphy, 31-A; David A. Hunsucker, Catawba, 31-B; John Ed Davis, Shelby, 31-C; Shirley Wall, Randleman, 31-D; Ernest Austin, Kannapolis, 31-E; Joel H. Carter, Jr., Southern Pines, 31-F; Richard P. Pierce, Raleigh, 31-G; Milton G. Williams, Kinston, 31-H; and Wilbur A. Culpepper, Elizabeth City, 31-J.

It is the responsibility of this Committee to keep work for the blind before the Lions Clubs and to urge the Clubs to keep records of the activities for the blind and visually handicapped. Each Club secretary is sent a sample reporting form in August so that he may have an idea of the types of activities to keep records on. In March final reporting forms are sent. If all Clubs would report, then we would

Dear Fellow Lions:

Your Committee began its work in August of 1958 when each club secretary received information and a sample reporting form as a guide for tabulations of Work for the Blind Activities. During the year several other letters were sent and early in March 1959, the final letter of explanation and 3 copies of the Work for the Blind Activities forms. We believe that all clubs were aware that the reports should be sent to the Committee by April 5th.

The full Committee met in Raleigh on April 12, 1959 to select the seven winners for awards. Since work for the blind is the major project of Lions International, the reports are published in the White Cane Magazine, the magazine is sent to every country in the world where there are Lions Clubs, the Committee had hoped and expected that this year most of the clubs would get their reports in and on time. But as usual the Committee was greatly disappointed at the number of clubs that failed to report. Out of a possible 360 clubs, only 240 reports were in time to be judged. Eight of the 360 clubs, were new, 1 of these reported, the others were not expected which meant that 113 clubs did not report on time. In the final analysis, we did get some report from all the established clubs except 10.

The 240 reports received showed unusual zeal and devotion to work for the blind —the quality was present, if the quantity was lacking. The composite report of all services that follows will attest to the tremendous amount of services rendered the blind and visually handicapped during the past year by the Lions of our State.

This is your State-Wide Work for the Blind report:

Lions Clubs purchased and/or secured without cost 9,231 eye examinations, cost $3,185.28; paid for 7,214 pairs of glasses, cost $53,741.74; paid for 77 artificial eyes, cost $1,125.16; sponsored screening of 61,418 school children for eye defects, cost $390.00. Most of this screening is done by the county and city Health Departments and therefore, the cost is nominal.

Lions provided transportation for 5,825 persons, cost $3,611.23. This transportation was to eye clinics, hospitals, to State School for the Blind, recreational functions, etc.

Eye surgery and/or treatments were furnished 1,397 persons, cost $2,681.33. Here, again, the cost is small since these services can be secured through the N. C. State Commission. General Medical Care—drugs, X-ray, hospitalization, etc., was supplied 689 persons cost $3,511.96; dental services for 97 persons, cost $462.25. Mattresses, sheets, blankets, etc. were given to 458 persons, cost $2,217.92; new clothing to 93 persons, cost $5,004.92; 57 drives for used clothing brought in 2,648 garments. These garments were cleaned, repaired and then distributed.

Lions purchased new radios or made repairs on 188, cost $1,280.06. Also, bought some radios and loaned them to the blind.

Fuel was provided 108 persons, cost $824.82; food for 487 persons, cost $2,252.86; shelter or board for 61 persons, cost $2,725.89; household articles for 65 persons, cost $1,136.19.

Recreational activities for the blind are sponsored by most all Lions Clubs and the blind look forward to these with great eagerness. This year Lions entertained 8,191 persons, cost $38,511.04.

Educational materials such as Braille literature, games, typewriters, Reader's Digest for the N. C. Library Services for the Blind, etc. were furnished 175 persons, cost $1,666.22; garden seed for 75 persons, cost $277.60; craft supplies for 15 persons, cost $547.94.

Lions expended $3,180.65 on 13 building projects for the blind.

Lions reported 90,214 man hours spent on Work for the Blind Activities. Many Lions Clubs distributed book marks and other Prevention of Blindness materials.

Lions reported over 500 miscellaneous activities for the Blind, cost $13,482.05. Among these were sending young people to summer camp, donations to the N. C. Eye Bank for Restoring Sight, Inc., sponsoring Boy Scout Troop for blind boys, equipment for Sight Saving Class, scholarship for the blind, etc.

Over 100 Lions Club sponsored a State-Wide specialized service program for all the blind and furnished $24,114.55 for travel and guide service so that the Case Workers for the Blind might render services on this program.

Lions secured wills of eyes for the N. C. Eye Bank.

Lions Clubs of North Carolina sponsor and conduct the annual fund raising Drive of the N. C. State Association for the Blind, the White Cane Drive. And each year the Lions do a better job (super-calesmen) and this year the Lions Clubs remitted $53,775.18 to the Association and retained $4,106.23 to be used for work for the blind locally. It is with deep gratitude we say, this was the best Drive yet.

Lions Clubs, the N. C. State Association and the N. C. State Commission have been establishing medical eye clinics to help Prevent Blindness. This year Lions made contributions of $8,019.49 to county eye clinics.

Lions Clubs held 147 broom sales which amounted to $59,924. 58 and 193 other fund raising projects which netted the clubs $112,151.63.

One could not question the efforts of the North Carolina Lions in behalf of the blind and visually handicapped after reading the above factual report. The totals are amazing, the number of persons who were recipients of these services, 56,351; the money spent for the services, $227,772.33; and the comfort, joy and happiness provided by the services is inestimable.

The totals quoted do not include the number of man hours, the number of children screened, the money raised by the Lions on broom sales and other fund raising projects. Funds from these 2 sources as well as the amount retained by the clubs from the White Cane Drive are considered as unspent and for next year's budget.

ing White Cane awards. The Club lost out last year but is right back this year, which shows a good Club spirit—we can't all win all the time. This Club with 51 members raised $1,113.05 or an average of $21.82 per member. This is wonderful and many blind persons can receive services through such a generous contribution.

Group III, 55-79 members, Cherryville Club, 31-C, has returned to the top ranks. This Club has won several awards in the past years and we are glad to welcome them back. Cherryville with a membership of 55, raised $1,184.10 or an average of $21.53 per member. The Association is most grateful for the never failing support of the members of the Cherryville Lions Club.

Group IV, 80-99 members, Sir Walter Club, 31-G, started its winning streak the first year it was organized and hasn't broken the habit for four years. This Club with 90 members, raised $2,875.61 or an average per member of $31.42. This is an excellent performance and, of course, is the highest per member average for the 1958 Drive. The only way to achieve such success is through much effort and hard work and the Association and the blind people thank this Club for both.

Group V, 100 members and over, Rocky Mount Club, 31-J, long known for its successful White Cane Drives made it back into the awards bracket this year. When this Club puts on a White Cane Drive, the whole town of Rocky Mount knows about it and joins in to make it a success. Rocky Mount has 101 members, and raised $1,879.67 or an average per member of $18.59. This is a splendid contribution to the White Cane Drive and work for the Blind.

The District Trophies, both for highest per member and greatest increase over last year, go to District J with an average of $4.45. We are giving you last year's averages and this year's so that each District may see how it compared:

rived from one annual project—The White Cane Drive. This Drive project was originated by a Lion and is sponsored by the Lions Clubs of North Carolina so that the Association can meet more of the urgent needs of the blind. The blind and visually handicapped persons are learning by happy experiences just what true friends the Lions of North Carolina are to them. Each year more funds have been raised through the White Cane Drive, and thus, more persons can be served.

STATEWIDE COMMITTEE

have a picture of the real services being rendered on the major project of Lions. For some unknown reason, each year over 100 Clubs fail to send in reports and so, we never have had a complete picture of this wonderful work on a state wide basis.

The Committee meets as a group and carefully reads each report submitted. This year there was a full Committee and it worked many hours on evaluating the merits of the various reports. There are seven categories for trophies, based on Club memberships. Each work for the blind trophy is of the same value, one for each of the following groups: Members—1-29; 30-39; 40-54; 55-79; 80-99; 100-129; and 130 and over.

The Committee met on April 12, 1959, and was disappointed in only one factor, the number of Clubs that did not report. The reports that were received in time for the judging were excellent and displayed the true spirit of Lionism in services to the blind.

The trophies will be presented to the 7 winning Clubs at the State Convention in New Bern in June.

ANNUAL REPORT

The 1958 Drive was again a wonderfully succesful Drive with each district showing real hard work in its achievements. It takes Lions with zeal and devotion to go out and sell not a few memberships but 50, 100, and more. The motivation for the successes of each White Cane Drive is the true spirit of Lionism, unselfish service to others, especially Work for the Blind.

The Prevention of Blindness Program of the Association is making more progress each year. The Visual Aids Clinic is aiding more persons with low vision to see with various visual aids, there are more medical eye clinics across the state, and with the new medical techniques, drugs, early detection of eye diseases, much of the 50% of preventable blindness can be prevented. The resources are available to prevent blindness; the one other necessary factor is for the public to be alerted to the need for eye care and refer the persons at once for this care. If each citizen will help, we can reduce and prevent unnecessary blindness in North Carolina.

All members of the N. C. State Association for the Blind are cordially invited to attend the annual meeting in New Bern on Monday, June 8, 1959, at noon.

There are two types of services rendered by the Association, direct and indirect. Direct services are those to an individual and indirect services are to a group or groups of persons. This report deals with both types. We present the kind of service, the number served, the cost of such services, and in most instances, the counties in which the individuals reside.

Glasses were purchased for 2,585 persons, at a cost of $19,095.46. These persons lived in 75 counties. Artificial eyes were bought for 4 persons, cost $112.50. They lived in Davidson, Forsyth, Sampson, and Surry Counties.

Visual aids were furnished 101 persons, cost $1,593.13. These lived in 33 counties: Beaufort, Buncombe, Burke, Brunswick, Cabarrus, Chatham, Cleveland, Craven, Davidson, Durham, Edgecombe, Forsyth, Franklin, Granville, Guilford, Harnett, Lee, Martin, Mecklenburg, Montgomery, Nash, New Hanover, Northampton, Onslow, Pamlico, Perquimans, Richmond, Rockingham, Rowan, Sampson, Wake, Wayne, and Wilson.

836 walking sticks were distributed statewide.

Talking Book machines are furnished by the Library of Congress, but the express charges for delivering the machines to the readers must be paid, so the Association has assumed this expense for many years. This year the case workers distributed 510 Talking Books to the blind and explained how to operate them and get the records to play on them. The Association paid $116.01 postage on these machines.

The most outstanding project of the Association during this year was the sponsorship of the Library Services for the Blind. These services include Braille literature and books for the Talking Book machines. The Library of Congress could no longer service the North Carolina blind, and if the Association had not underwritten this library project, then the blind population would have been denied library services. The library opened in September, 1958, and its readers are increasing daily (see editorial Page 15). The Association expended $17,924.02 on the library services for the blind.

The Association continues its policy of making loans to blind persons or to workshops when such loans will help the blind person or shop to become employed or to continue in operation. Editorial

Library Services for the Blind

The Library of Congress discontinued the distribution of talking book records and Braille reading materials to the blind last year in North Carolina. This fact meant that blind persons would be denied the pleasure of such reading materials unless some resource within North Carolina could be found to sponsor library services. There were no State funds available and so this serious situation affecting so many blind persons was presented to the Board of Directors of the North Carolina State Association.

After careful consideration of the need for library services for the blind and in keeping with two of its objectives, Education and Recreation, the Association agreed to sponsor the Library Services for the Blind during this emergency. The North Carolina State Library Board authorized the State Librarian to supervise the service and agreed to request funds from the General Assembly for the continuation of these services.

The Library is located in the Mansion Park Building, Raleigh, North Carolina, and opened September 1, 1958. There was a period of adjustment and transfer from the Library of Congress to the North Carolina Library but this has moved forward rapidly. Each month there has been a steady increase in readers and now there are around 1,000 blind persons using these services.

The materials are furnished by the Library of Congress without cost but the demand for certain books far exceeds the number of copies—such as News Week and Reader's Digest. Some of the Lions Clubs have contributed to the Reader's Digest fund which means more copies of the Reader's Digest for our Library but there is still a waiting list for this magazine.

The North Carolina State Association has not only provided recreational but educational services through this project —Library Services for the Blind.

Home Industries

Many Lions Clubs make a genuine contribution to the home bound blind by sponsoring sales of articles made by the blind. Over 80 sales this year have greatly increased the earnings of these persons since most of the hand made articles are sold at the sales sponsored by Lions and other civic clubs.

There are 80 home bound persons with regular earnings, some eligible for Social Security benefits. Others are working as much as their limited abilities will allow as many of these have other serious handicaps in addition to blindness and are not physically able to produce on a full time basis.

Through the generous donations of raw materials by manufacturing plants such as Tomilsons of High Point; the American Thread Company, hosiery mills and cotton gins ,it has been possible for the home industries workers to make some most attractive and unusual items. These new articles have caught the public's eye and are in great demand. One counselor was able to pay a profit-sharing bonus of $345.00 to 20 blind workers.

These donations of raw materials cut the cost of producing salable articles and thus the blind workers receive more for their production.

It is impossible to give an accurate total earnings of the employed home bound blind in Home Industries work because many of them have become so proficient in their crafts and skills that they have been able to develop their own sales outlets and market their own products. The usual procedure is for the Home Industries Counselor to go to the homes and pick up the finished articles (see pictures), pay the worker and then sell the articles at some later date. Some years ago, the North Carolina State Association provided a revolving fund so that the workers could be paid when articles were picked up. This revolving fund provided by the Association has been a wonderful blessing for home bound workers, since they do not have to wait until their articles are sold to receive their money. There never was a fund for this purpose before the Association made funds available.

Home Industries work provides many persons opportunities to use their creative skills and abilities and prevents them from dropping into the sea of idleness which carries its own destruction.

WORK SHOPS

Scene in Charlotte Workshop.

Chair caning, Industries for the Blind, Winston-Salem.

Workshops

The Five workshops employed 99 blind persons during the past year. These workers received average weekly wages of $26.89 and a Christmas bonus of $8,488.48 or an average of $85.64 per person. Fringe benefits include paid vacation, sick leave, hospital insurance, Social Security and group life insurance.

Production has increased in all workshops and all are participating to some extent in Federal orders, allocated through the National Industries for the Blind.

The direct management of the Industries for the Blind, Winston-Salem, has been assumed by the Goodwill Industries. It was moved from 1010 N. Liberty Street to a fireproof building at 2308 N. Liberty Street which provided much more space, better working conditions and possibilities for employing more blind workers.

These five supervised workshops provide training and employment for many blind persons who could not find employment otherwise. However, some of these shop workers with the training and experience gained in shop work, are enabled to go into private employment or into businesses of their own.

The five workshops have modern equipment comparable to that in other private industries. This equipment was furnished by the State Commission for the Blind.

The Guilford Industries, Greensboro, has plans underway for another expansion. Business has been very good and over 50 blind persons from all over the State are employed in this shop.

THE REHABILITATION CENTER FOR THE BLIND, BUTNER, N. C.

Student Government Council, Rehabilitation Center, Butner.

The Rehabilitation Center for the Blind has been training the adult blind of North Carolina since 1945, and we feel that the Center and its mission should be known to many citizens of the State. It is one of the five major departments under the Rehabilitation Division of the North Carolina State Commission for the Blind.

The General Assembly has provided grounds and buildings at Butner, North Carolina for the Center. The buildings include an administration and classroom unit; dormitory spaces for men and women of both races; a wood working shop, laundry, domestic science kitchen; and staff houses.

The training program begins with orientation and adjustment to blindness and continues the training of the blind adult until he or she is acceptable for employment or vocational training leading to employment.

Some of the courses necessary for anyone who has become blind in adulthood are: travel technique, learning Braille, typing, etc.; these are basic and essential for a blind person to know and be familiar with before he can enter into and become a well adjusted citizen.

The work of improving the grounds of the Center continues as the Center has many interested and helpful friends who make generous contributions to enhance the beauty of the grounds and give pleasure to the students.

Lions Clubs in the vicinity of the Center make regular visits, those at a distance come also. A visit to the Center is the only way to really understand what it means to a blind person to go there for adjustment and training. It is impossible to describe the changes that take place but it is most gratifying to see that same student finish his training and be ready either for employment or specialized training leading to employment.

Center

The Center takes out-of-state students when there is no waiting list for North Carolina blind. This year one such foreign student was a woman from Africa. She came to take the training and prepare to return to her native land to work with the blind there.

The North Carolina State Association makes funds available for students who have emergency situations and no resources. The Association has always extended a helping hand to the blind students at the Center.

The "Fragrance Garden" sponsored by The Garden Club of North Carolina, Inc. grows lovelier each day, and we suggest this is another good reason for visiting the Center at Butner.

Medical Eye Care

Prevention of blindness, conservation of sight and restoration of vision are the three main objectives of any medical eye care program. In our own State, the North Carolina State Commission for the Blind, through its Medical Division, offers such services to any person who is financially unable to secure them. The Commission is the State agency that was created by the interests and efforts of North Carolina Lions and the State Association, therefore, it takes the lead in rendering eye care.

During the 1956-58 biennium, 51,422 medically indigent persons were examined by eye physicians. These examinations were made either in a doctor's office or in one of the many sustaining clinics over the State. There clinics are sponsored jointly by the local Lions Clubs, the North Carolina State Association and the North Carolina State Commission for the Blind. The clinics are equipped with new and up-dated equipment and are being improved as new devices are developed. The Association stands ready at all times to aid in the establishment of eye clinics and has spent a considerable sum of money on clinics in the past several years.

Prevention of Blindness is our pressing need and each new facility means new opportunities for eye care and early detection of eye defects or diseases. The sustaining medical eye clinics are located as follows: Anson County, Wadesboro; The Asheville Lions Club Eye Clinic, Mission Hospital, serves Western North Carolina; Burke County, Morganton; Cleveland County, Shelby; Guilford County, Greensboro and High Point; Halifax County, Halifax; Haywood County, Waynesville; Henderson County, Hendersonville; Jackson County, Sylva; Moore County.

Carthage: Nantahala Lions Eye Clinic, Murphy, serves Clay, Cherokee, Swain and Graham Counties; Richmond County Rockingham; Scotland County, Laurinburg; Rutherford County, Rutherfordton; Sampson County, Clinton; Variety Club Eye Clinic, Charlotte; Wake County, Raleigh; Wilkes County, Wadesboro; Johnston County, Smithfield; Macon County, Franklin; Tuberculosis Sanatoriums: Black Mountain, McCain and Wilson; and the Visual Aids Clinic, Chapel Hill.

These hospitals offer medical eye care: North Carolina Memorial, Chapel Hill; North Carolina Baptist Hospital, Winston-Salem; Duke, Durham; and McPherson, Durham.

We are beginning to see the first small results of our Prevention Program this year. Our census of the blind dropped downward 323 for the first time in 29 years. If we continue to all work together, we can reduce preventable blindness, but it will take unceasing effort to accomplish this goal.

Specialized Service Program Sponsored by Lions

The Lions Clubs working in cooperation with the Commission for the Blind have made possible a program of specialized services for blind persons who are not in financial need. Through this program, all blind persons, regardless of economic need, may receive case work services which will help them adjust to blindness and resume their normal activities.

There are over 11,000 known blind in our State. Many of these do not need financial assistance, such an Aid to the Blind payment, but many of them do need adjustment services so that they may cope with the problems arising from blindness. Blindness does set up certain barriers which can, to a great degree, be overcome. The blind need to learn to travel, to read and write Braille, to type and to assume their normal responsibilities in their homes and communities.

Through the specialized service program, the case workers for the blind can go into the homes of the blind and provide instruction and guidance in personal and family adjustment, child care, etc.; give instructions in typing, signature writing, and reading and writing Braille. It is through the case workers that the talking book machines are distributed, white cane walking sticks and the gift radios furnished by the N. C. Association for the Blind and the Lions Clubs. Many other services are included in the broad program of specialized services, such as recreational activities, therapy crafts and assistance in securing eye care and general medical services.

The specialized service program as it functions in North Carolina is unique in that it offers so many types of services to so many persons. This program is sponsored by the Lions, on a State-wide basis, and it is tangible evidence of the desire of Lion to help all the blind of the State. Without these funds, the case workers could work only with those blind who receive Aid to the Blind payments.

The specialized service program touches the lives of thousands of blind persons and is a most significant contribution of Lions Clubs to the work for the blind program.

"Lionism stretches forth its hands to give rather than to receive."

Blind man assisted by Rehabilitation has built shed and tends feeder pigs, also sets posts and strings fences.

With Rehabilitation help, blind man raises big Northern Bob Whites, sells eggs to breeders; designed new type of cage for birds.

Rehabilitation of the Blind

What is rehabilitation? The restoration of disabled persons to the fullest physical, mental, vocational and economic usefulness of which they are capable.

What does it take to rehabilitate a blind person? Many services, such as counseling, guidance, physical restoration, adjustment and vocational training—then placement in employment.

Who rehabilitates the blind? Usually a rehabilitation agency is responsible but any agency needs cooperation of the citizens of a community, county and state. Blind persons are citizens of communities and like to work near home, therefore, it is essential for the community to help the agency find employment in the community, if that is possible.

What kinds of employment do they go into. After services leading to employment are offered to blind persons and they take advantage of the opportunity, there are many types of jobs, from professional to laborers.

What does rehabilitation mean to the blind persons, to the community, the State and the Nation? The economic value of rehabilitation to the individual and to the nation can be measured by the dollar standard; the personal and social values gained by the individual means achievement and success.

During the past 2 years, 742 blind persons have been rehabilitated and placed in employment in North Carolina. There were 407 men and 335 women with an average age of 46 years. North Carolina still leads the nation in the number of blind persons rehabilitated each year but we still need to find many more jobs for our blind. Lions are most generous with gifts and services to the blind. Maybe some job openings could be found also, could you help them find one?

Post Office Stand, Wilmington

Durham County Court House Stand.

Bureau of Employment for the Blind

The Bureau of Employment for the Blind is better known as the Supervised Stand Program of the North Carolina State Commission for the Blind. It was established in 1943 to enlarge placement possibilities and thus provide employment for more blind persons. The Bureau is designated by both the Federal and State laws to operate stands in public buildings, such as post offices, customs houses, courthouses, etc.

In the early years of the program, the placements in public buildings almost met the demand for placements. Recently, other types of locations were necessary because more and more capable, well trained blind persons were seeking employment as stand operators or managers.

The Bureau has broadened its scope of activities and is in the position to offer industrial plants hot food services for their employees. The Bureau has such operations in industrial plants now and would be interested in locations in any plant that employs 200 or more persons.

There are 92 persons operating stands under the program and their average weekly wages amount to $34.10. In addition to the weekly salary, the Bureau provides these operators with the following fringe benefits: paid vacations, sick leave, hospital insurance, Workmen's Compensation, unemployment compensation and Social Security.

The Bureau, through its operation of various vending machines, located in plant and office buildings not feasible for an attendant type service, has been able to pay its operators an annual bonus of approximately $5,000.00. It would be appreciated by the Bureau if interested Lions and others who desire various types

The Bureau could offer employment to many more capable blind persons under its expanded program, if the right type of locations were available. The Bureau would be pleased to have referrals of potential stand locations. Here is another opportunity for North Carolina Lions to help the blind. A PRAYER

It is my job in life to find
At every turning of the road
The strong arms of a comrade kind
To help me onward with my load.

And since I have no gold to give
And love alone must make amends.
My only prayer is while I live,
God make me worthy of my friends.

Composed by a blind person.

EXECUTIVE OFFICES - BOX 2305
RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA

An Open Letter to the Friends of the Blind and Visually Impaired Citizens of North Carolina

Dear Members of the Association for the Blind:

When you contributed to the White Cane Drive back in the fall of 1963, you became a member of The North Carolina Association for the Blind. You joined with the Association in its State-Wide Prevention of Blindness Program because more of the White Cane Drive funds are expended on Prevention of Blindness than any other project.

The Officers and Directors of the Association want each of you to know how very important your contribution is to the Prevention of Blindness Program in North Carlina. With your wonderful support, one day we hope there will be only half as many blind persons in our state since 50% of Blindness is preventable if the person is found in time and is put under care of an eye physician.

Please accept our sincere gratitude for your interest in this great work we are achieving together. If you know of any person with an eye difficulty, communicate with us at once.

Read how your dollars have become Sight Savers on page 6 of this White Cane Magazine.

Yours for Better Vision,

JOHN ED DAVIS, JR., President

ROCKY MOUNT'S LION OF THE YEAR

THE WHITE CANE

Volume XXVIII "Safety, Security and Self-Support for North Carolina Blind" June, 1964

John Ed Davis, Shelby, N. C. President of the N. C. Association for the Blind.

Greetings to the Lions and Members of the Association

"Safety, security, and self-support for North Carolina Blind" is the motto of THE WHITE CANE publication. This year each of you have proved your belief in this motto through your support of and cooperation with the program of the Association. You have contributed generously to the White Cane Drive to the amount of $117,063.12—the greatest year in the history of the drive!

All phases of the work of our Association have made much progress during this year. Glaucoma Clinics were held as soon as proper applications were processed. Demands are great in this field of service to our friends and we are thankful that we have been able to provide these clinics as a public service. Sight has been saved in many instances.

An increase in the financial assistance to the Eye Bank has been realized. An additional $1,000.00 toward eye research has been approved. The total grant to the Laboratory for Experimental Ocular Pathology at Memorial Hospital in Chapel Hill now stands at $6,000 per year.

This year the Association began workshops set up on district levels. At these workshops local Lions are briefed on the program of assistance provided by both the Association and the N. C. State Commission for the Blind.

The direct services to individuals have also been expanded and we are always thrilled when we are able to help just one more—just one more—just one more!

It has been reported that a blind man said that if it were God's will for him to be blind, then he was glad that he was a blind North Carolinian! For each Lion of North Carolina and for each member of the Association who keeps the "Wheel of Progress" rolling, I am deeply grateful!

JOHN ED DAVIS, President
N. C. Association for the Blind

Thirtieth Annual Report of the North Carolina Association for the Blind

"A journey of a 1000 miles must begin with the first step." Chinese Proverb.

The Association in its thirtieth year has grown from its first step of organization in 1934 and many other faltering steps to achieve its stature of today. The Association has reached "The Dawn" but not yet the "Sunrise" bright and glorious, of a new and perfect day for all blind and visually impaired citizens of North Carolina.

The Association has succeeded in alleviating many acute needs of the blind and has embarked on a practical and realistic statewide program for the prevention of blindness, a program that will reach that "Sunrise" in the next 1000 miles. Slowly, and sometimes tediously, the steps may be but one day, success will have become a reality and our goal of preventing 50% of blindness will be achieved.

The extraordinary success of the 1963 White Cane Drive is our guarantee that the Association's prevention of blindness program can continue to expand and enlarge. There should be no more fear about raising $100,000, since for the third consecutive year, White Cane funds have exceeded that figure. The collections on the White Cane Drive for 1963 at this time are $117,063.12.

The history of the organization of the Association for the Blind by the Lions of North Carolina is known not only in our own state but all over the world where there are Lions Clubs. The first action of the Association was to work for legislation that would create a state agency to work for and with the blind. In March 1935, such an agency was created by action of the North Carolina General Assembly. The North Carolina State Commission for the Blind began to function in July 1935.

The Association is a non-profit, lay group and its membership is open to every person who is interested in work for the blind and prevention of blindness. The Association has no administrative overhead, its entire operation is conducted by volunteer workers.

The North Carolina Lions, because of their devotion to the major project of Lions International, sponsor the one fund-raising project of the Association, the White Cane Drive.

The astounding energy and initiative of the North Carolina Lions in putting on and pushing over each Drive to top the last one, could only be engendered by a deep and abiding devotion to services for the blind and a prevention of blindness program which is a vibrant reality.

The success story of another White Cane Drive has been written and is a glowing tribute to all Lions in North Carolina. Those of us with less faith and vision could not believe that this Drive would produce such amazing results. Now, more blind and visually handicapped persons and more prevention services will be available. The only criteria for giving aid to the blind by the Association through the funds secured from the White Cane Drive is that there is an unmet need and there is no other resource available to meet this need.

Prevention of blindness is the major project of the Association because 50% of blindness could be prevented if services were available in time. The Association sponsors The Visual Aids Clinic; supports the North Carolina Eye Bank; and, makes a grant for research to The Laboratory of Experimental Ocular Pathology, Memorial Hospital, Chapel Hill, North Carolina. The Association co-sponsors Glaucoma Detection Clinics and Medical Eye Clinics.

All the great services to the blind and for prevention of blindness are made possible by the dedication of North Carolina Lions to Work for the Blind. There are 2 types of services which the Association offers to blind and visually impaired citizens, direct and indirect.

Direct services are those rendered to individuals; indirect services are those given to groups for research, eye clinics, educational supplies, etc. The report that follows includes both kinds of services.

Here is the report:

The Association paid for 1,697 pairs of glasses, cost $13,874.76 for persons in 77 counties. Artificial eyes were provided for 5 persons, cost, $157.50.

Visual aids and clinical supplies amounted to $329.55. Twenty-one persons were given aids.

General Medical services, including drugs, X-rays, hospitalization, ambulance service and emergency hospi-

The 1963 White Cane Drive Soars

We heard a prominent minister quote this —"Courage is fear that has said its prayers." (Author unknown.) As we study the results of this year's White Cane Drive and remember the mighty groans that went upwards when a motion was made to set the goal at $100,000.00, it is evident that many fearful ones said prayers which gave them courage to face up to the $100,000.00 goal which was achieved the first year.

Courage, determination and a worthwhile project add up to the most stupendous Drive in our history. As we go to press the total is $117,063.12 and by the State Convention in June, we expect this amount to be more.

This is an achievement that every Lion in North Carolina can take pride and real satisfaction. The White Cane Drive had a State Director, nine District Directors, nine District Governors, and all officers and Lions worked together—and the "togetherness" was the factor that made the 1963 Drive so successful, even we were amazed.

In 1963, we listed the names of all Lions selling 100 or more memberships; this year we are listing the names of all Life Memberships, all Lions who sold 100 memberships or raised $100.00, and the same for 50 memberships. Just look at these lists this year on page 4.

We were lucky again—we were the recipient of $4,500 left to the Association by the estate of C. H. Sebring, Winston-Salem; the Director put the Drive Collections on savings and made over $1200 in interest. All in all, we should all say our prayers about our success—because these dollars will be turned into Sight Savers!

Here are the results by districts:

37 Clubs—3763 memberships

District 31-B—100%
41 Clubs—3395 memberships

District 31-C—100%
39 Clubs—3473 memberships

District 31-D—100%
48 Clubs—3192 memberships

Dear Lions of North Carolina:

As I have stated so many times, I cannot find appropriate words to express my sincere appreciation for the hard work, the efficient planning, and for your support during our most successful White Cane Drive. It has been wonderful to share in this State-Wide program of helping our blind and visually handicapped citizens. The joint efforts have provided the funds to assure a fine and proper program for these citizens. Thanks to each of you for the opportunity to serve in the capacity as State Director.

It has been a privilege to meet so many wonderful Lions in North Carolina and I especially want to thank Lion John Ed Davis, President of our Association, all Officers and Directors of the Association and the District Directors of each district: Lawrence Stoker, Wayne Coffey, Heman Hall, John Triplett, Francis Glover, C. W. McManus, M. E. Valentine, Jim McDonald, and Meredith Halstead. Also, I wish to especially thank the distinguished District Governors: John W. Cox, David Hughes, Luke Grooms, William Joyce, Robert W. Brown, Paul Poole, Joe Smith, Darrell Morse and LeRoy C. Woodcock. Each District Governor cooperated and supported this Drive with all their efforts, including their Deputy District Governors, Zone Chairmen, and Club White Cane Chairmen.

Many hard hours have been spent by many of you during this Drive but I feel sure that personal satisfaction has more than repaid each of us in knowing that in our joint efforts, we have reached a successful goal.

I also wish to express my thanks to each International Counselor of Lions International, to each officer of the Eye Bank, and to each District Director of Glaucoma Clinics and especially to Lion Shaw Brown as we have worked closely this year with all Lions and with members of the State Commission for the Blind.

To each of you I send thanks from the bottom of my heart. May our program grow and may our handicapped citizens prosper in North Carolina.

Marshall Matheny, State Director

P. S.

I could not end this note without saying thanks to "Madeline." Mrs. McCrary has helped so much and so many times offered suggestions that overcame the problems at hand. In my opinion, she knows all the North Carolina Lions better than anyone and I am certainly grateful to her for the help she gave me this year.

The 1963 Trophy Winners

Club membership brackets for trophy awards remain the same: 1-29; 30-54; 55-79; 80-99; and 100 members and over.

Group 1, 1-29 members: Fontana Dam, 31-A with 21 members raised $1,270.00 or an average of $68.48 per member. This is not the first time that Fontana Dam has been a winner but this is the largest average that the club has achieved. As you will see in the top 21 clubs, Fontana Dam has the highest average of any club in the state. A small membership does not determine the activity of a club but it does mean that the 21 members did an outstanding job and proved once more their devotion to work for the blind. The Association congratulates Fontana Dam and hopes it will keep up its excellent record of contributions.

Group 2, 30-54 members: Cherryville, 31-C with 43 members raised $2,244.01 or an average of $52.19 per member. Cherryville has been winning trophies for many years but this year the club far exceeded last year's average. There is not much more we can write about this club than has been written. Cherryville is consistent in its efforts and interest in work for the blind and can always be counted on for more than its share of contributions to the White Cane Drive. We express again, with all sincerity, our grateful thanks to Cherryville and its fine support.

Group 3, 55-79 members: Sir Walter, 31-G with 76 members contributed $2,389.31 or an average of $31.44 per member. Here is another club that has won a trophy every year since its organization 9 years ago. There is no question as to its major project, work for the blind. Its long record of raising funds for the White Cane Drive proves this. The Association is pleased and proud of Sir Walter's sustained efforts for the blind through its White Cane contributions.

Group 4, 80-99 members: Rocky Mount, 31-J with 85 members raised $3,031.91 or an average of $35.67 per member. Rocky Mount has a long record of being among the trophy winners. Rocky Mount is another of those wonderful clubs that can always be counted on for the White Cane Drive. We know that most all persons living in and around Rocky Mount are aware of the State-Wide program of work for the blind since memberships in the Association continue to increase each year. On the front cover you see "Uncle Sam" Davis who is one of the most ardent supporters of the White Cane Drive. We thank "Uncle Sam" and every Lion in the Rocky Mount Club for their splendid contribution to work for the blind.

Group 5, 100 members and over: Shelby, 31-C with 117 members raised $1,312.66 or an average of $11.22 per member. Shelby had to compete with all clubs with 100 members and over and the competition was stiff. Shelby has always been extremely active in work for the blind ever since the club was organized. This club is another of those "old reliables" and never fails to support the White Cane Drive. This year it gave to the Association, President John Ed Davis. We do appreciate all its efforts so very much and thank each and every member of the Shelby Lions Club.

There are 3 District trophies in 1963: 1—for the largest amount of money collected;

Steering Committee for the 1963 White Cane Drive

President John Ed Davis, newly elected President of the Association for 2 years, appointed Lion Marshall Matheny, Forest City Lions Club, District 31-C, as State Director of the White Cane Drive. This appointment was passed and unanimously approved.

Lion Matheny has a long list of achievements and offices in his club and district. He has been a Lion for many years and is on the County Welfare Board, has worked with the Welfare Director to improve and expand eye care services in Rutherford County. He has been instrumental in securing Glaucoma Clinics for the county. Lion Matheny was the only unhappy person about his appointment as State Director! Lion Matheny exerted every effort to make the Drive a success and led the way with ability and enthusiasm which spilled over on to his nine Directors, the District Governors, Deputies, Zone Chairmen, Club White Cane Chairmen and all the Lions.

President Davis also appointed the District Directors who were: Lawrence C. Stoker, 31-A, Asheville; Wayne Coffey, 31-B, Wilkesboro; Heman Hall, 31-C, Cherryville; John Triplett, 31-D, Pleasant Garden; Francis Glover, 31-E, Salisbury; C. W. McManus, 31-F, Sanford; M. E. Valentine, 31-G, Raleigh; Jim McDonald, 31-H, Goldsboro; and Meredith Halstead, 31-J, Elizabeth City.

The District Governors were wonderful in their support in this year's Drive. The figures for each district exceed any previous Drive figures and the total for each District is conclusive proof of a great achievement.

The Deputy District Governors, Zone Chairmen, local Club Chairmen, and Lions each more than carried his share of the work on the Drive.

To each and every one who gave so much and achieved such astounding success, we give you our sincere thanks. There is nothing that exceeds success!

Report of State-Wide Committee on Work for the Blind Period April 1, 1963-March 31, 1964

Dear Fellow Lions:

Your Committee began to function early last year when each club secretary was sent information and a sample reporting form as a guide for tabulation of Work for the Blind Activities. During the year, the District Governors mentioned this Activities Report and urged the Clubs to keep records to complete it at the proper time. In February 1964, the final copy of the Work for the Blind Activities Report was sent to each Club with a notation that the report should be in the hands of the Committee by March 18, 1964.

This Committee met in Raleigh on March 22, 1964 to select the award winners. Since Work for the Blind is the major project of Lions International, it has been our custom to publish all the Work for the Blind Activities reports in the White Cane Magazine. This magazine is sent to every country in the world where there are Lions Clubs.

The 1963-64 Committee did not achieve its goal of 100% as there were only 274 club reports in on March 22nd. Some late reports have been received and the total number of Work for the Blind reports is 321. For the second year, District 31-J was 100% on the day the Committee met.

The Work for the Blind Committee is oue of the most important committees in Lionism. Its members are very serious, conscientious and unbiased in the selection of trophy wiuuers.

Here is your State-Wide Work for the Blind Report:

Lions Clubs purchased 6,964 pairs of glasses, cost $48,063.28 and 29 artificial eyes, cost $488.00. Eye examinations can be secured through the N. C. State Commission for the Blind and screening of school children for eye defects is assumed by City and County Health Departments.

Lions provided transportation for blind and visually impaired persons for various activities, cost $1,021.80; eye surgery and/or treatments were furnished 163 persons, cost $1,867.57. Here again, these services can be secured from the N. C. State Commission for the Blind without cost to clubs or individuals.

General Medical care, including hospitalization, drugs, X-rays, etc. was provided 564 persons, cost $3,599.17; dental services for 21, cost $671.00; mattresses, blankets, sheets, etc. were given 216 persons, cost $1,903.70; household articles for 89, cost $1,953.02 and new clothes to 301 persons, $4,154.43.

Lions purchased 37 new radios or recorders, cost $695.00; and repaired 70 radios and recorders for 70 persons, cost $210.85; furnished fuel for 121 persons, cost $1,438.10; food for 347, cost $2,924.60 and provided rent, shelter, etc. for 28, cost $1,119.78.

Educational supplies, such as Braille magazines, clocks, watches, typewriters, Reader's Digest and the Bible on records were furnished 242 persons, cost $2,534.80.

Lions expended $940.22 on various building projects for 10 blind persons.

Many clubs distributed bookmarks and other prevention of blindness materials especially to school children.

Lions clubs furnished the caseworkers for the blind $793.86 to use for the blind in emergencies. Some few Lions Clubs provided $3,043.83 for travel of the caseworkers; most of this expense for the specialized service program has been assumed by the N. C. State Commission for the Blind.

Recreational activities for the blind are sponsored by many Lions Clubs; this year, 2,086 were entertained by Lions Clubs, cost $5,973.77.

Lions Clubs expended $2,415.01 on Glaucoma Clinics. In these cross state clinics, 12,375 persons were screened, and 667 persons were referred for further eye examinations. (See Glaucoma Clinics on page 18.)

Lions Clubs provided much pleasure for the blind with Christmas parties, gifts, baskets, etc. This year 4,684 persons were remembered with Christmas cheer and clubs expended $19,810.02 on these activities.

Lions Clubs contributed $26,717.60 on county, city, or community sustaining medical eye clinics.

Lions Clubs donated 62 "eye coolers" to the N. C. Eye Bank, cost $310.00. (See Eye Bank, page 20.) Lions also secured 5,614 eye wills for the Eye Bank.

Lions Clubs contributed $20,555.45 on hundreds of miscellaneous services for the blind and visually impaired. Some of these were uniforms for blind girls and boy Scout troops at State School for the Blind, summer camp, equipment, loans, etc.

Lions sponsored 175 broom sales which netted the clubs $80,532.23 and other fund raising projects such as the sale of candies, fruit cakes, light bulbs, etc., amounted to $141,-130.12. These funds are for the blind.

The Lions Clubs of North Carolina sponsor and conduct the annual fund raising project of the N. C. Association for the Blind, the White Cane Drive. North Carolina Lions have been doing a magnificent job but this 1963 year, they surpassed all expectations! This year's goal was $100,000 and before State Convention June 7-9, the total will reach over $117,000. This is a remarkable feat accomplished by hard work, planning, and determination to exceed last year's drive. Some White Cane funds were retained by the Clubs to be used on their local blind.

The above report of your Committee on Work for the Blind demonstrates anew the devotion of North Carolina Lions to the major project of Lions International. The total number of services to the blind and visually impaired were 37,122, the cost was $164,376.79. These totals do not include fund raising projects nor number of eye wills secured.

on supplies, etc., and equipment for the state-wide Medical Eye Clinics.

The Association provided $750.00 for 1 educational scholarship.

The Association expended $564.50 on Glaucoma Detection Clinics which screened 12,375 persons and referred 667 for further examinations.

The Association purchased stock and equipment for 6 small businesses, cost $228.63.

Loans to individuals and workshops as of the last audit amounted to $37,745.60. Two of these loans were to workshops, $5,000 and $32,-745.60 was loaned to 74 individuals. The Association makes these loans interest free; however, the recipients must sign a promissory note and set up a schedule for payments.

Miscellaneous services of various types amounted to $684.53 and benefited 88 persons.

Funds for the prevention of blindness program, publications, public interpretation and general expenses involved in the management and operation of the Association and its White Cane Drive amounted to $20,052.11.

WORK FOR THE BLIND COMMITTEE

ually handicapped. Every Club secretary received a sample reporting form in August as a reminder to keep records of the various types of services. In February, the secretary is sent the forms to be filled out. If records sent to the District Governor each month are kept, there will be no trouble in filling out this report. It would be most inspiring to have all Clubs report all services for the blind, but thus far the Committee has never had this thrilling experience.

This Committee reads all reports and selects the best 3 in each of the groupings. Then the entire Committee goes over the potential award selections and the members of the Committee must come to an agreement as to the final choice of the trophy winners as well as the two runner-up clubs in each category.

The clubs are divided by memberships; all trophies are of equal value in all the groups. The groupings are: membership of 1-21; 22-29; 30-39; 40-54; 55-79; 80-99; 100-129; and 130 and over members.

The Committee met in Raleigh on March 22, 1964. The Committee was disappointed that no more clubs reported on time; this year there were only 274 reports on time to be judged, at this time there have been 321 received. Again this year, the chairman of the committee as well as some district representatives wrote letters reminding and urging the clubs to send in reports. We believe that some clubs fail to report because they "have nothing to report—except their White Cane Drive contribution." The White Cane contribution is as a legitimate work for the blind service as any. All White Cane funds are spent on blind persons or on prevention of blindness. We hope another year will bring better response. District 31-J had 100% reporting and on time. The hope of every committee is to have all clubs report; maybe some day this will come true. Let's try for 100% State-Wide in 1965.

The trophies will be presented to the winners at the Lions State Convention in Raleigh, June 8th at the luncheon meeting of the North Carolina Association.

Glaucoma Detection

There were 10 Glaucoma Clinics held from April 1963—March 1964. A total of 12,375 persons were examined and 667 persons were referred for elevated tension. There were many other eye difficulties discovered in the screening processes; persons with elevated tensions (suspected glaucoma) and those with other symptoms of eye trouble were urged to see their eye physicians for further examination and study immediately.

The purpose of Glaucoma clinics is to check for elevated tension which may indicate the presence of glaucoma. This clinic examination is not a complete eye examination, rather a specific examination to detect glaucoma.

Glaucoma Clinics are sponsored by North Carolina Lions and the North Carolina Association for the Blind in cooperation with the N. C. State Commission for the Blind and the N. C. Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

Policies and Procedures Governing Glaucoma Detection Clinics

Adopted November 19, 1961 by
The North Carolina
Association for the Blind

1. Any Lions Club or Lions Clubs will decide by vote of membership whether or not they wish to sponsor a Glaucoma Detection Clinic.

2. After an affirmative vote has been taken to sponsor a Glaucoma Detection Clinic, the Clinic Chairman will write to the Lions District Director of Glaucoma Clinics for permission to hold a Glaucoma Detection Clinic. The District Director will then write to the State-Wide Glaucoma Clinic Director for further clearance and approval. It will be the responsibility of the State-Wide Director of Glaucoma Clinics to work with the District Director to insure that all policies and procedures will be carried out by the local sponsoring Club or Clubs. Committees and personnel required to organize and conduct clinics will be designated by the local Club or Clubs and instructed on the necessity of working closely with local health departments, participating physicians and Physical Restoration Nurses of the State Commission for the Blind. These Lions committees will make the initial contact for approval of holding a Glaucoma Detection Clinic with the local Medical Society, health departments and local participating Ophthalmological and Medical personnel. The Commission for the Blind Physical Restoration Nurse will share in planning the hours, the location of Clinics and other pertinent details.

3. In the event that physicians other than local doctors are needed to assist in the Clinic, it will be the responsibility of the Commission for the Blind Physical Restoration Nurse to secure needed medical personnel. The Supervisor of Medical Services of the State Commission for the Blind in the State Office in Raleigh will assist in securing medical services when necessary.

4. The Lions Club or Lions Clubs sponsoring a Glaucoma Detection Clinic will secure adequate insurance coverage for the clinic, and the cost of such a policy will be shared by the sponsoring groups and the North Carolina Association for the Blind on a fifty-fifty basis.

5. The local Lions Club or Lions Clubs sponsoring a Glaucoma Detection Clinic will pay at least one-half of the cost of services for visiting physicians working in the clinic. It is assumed that local physicians will donate their services.

6. It will be the responsibility of the local Lions Club or Clubs to provide all the personnel necessary to set up equipment for the clinics and assist in all phases of clinic operations. The setting up of the equipment will be under the supervision of the Area Physical Restoration Nurse of the State Commission for the Blind.

7. All publicity relating to any Glaucoma Detection Clinic must be cleared with the participating eye physician or physicians prior to the holding of any clinic.

Is There Value In Glaucoma Clinics?

You've heard this question asked by the skeptical many times. Here is indisputable proof of the value of all Glaucoma Clinics, all 10 of them, held in the current year.

Cleveland County Lions Clubs held a two-day Clinic in October 1963. The Lions did a splendid job of publicizing this clinic, using all news media.

A Mr. Martin Williams who lived out in the country heard news of the clinic over the radio. He knew he had some eye difficulty and was saving his money to go to an eye physician. When the radio stated the Glaucoma Clinic was free, Mr. Williams decided that here was his chance to get his eyes examined. Mr. Williams went to the clinic, had his eyes checked and was told by the physician that he had glaucoma and should go to his doctor immediately for a thorough eye examination. Arrangements were made by Health and Welfare Departments for Mr. Williams to go to Charlotte in two days. The Charlotte eye physician not only found glaucoma but also cataracts. Treatment was initiated at once to arrest glaucoma and cataract surgery will follow later.

Mr. Williams stated that his doctor told him he would have been blind in three months had he not gone to the Glaucoma Clinic. Now Mr. Williams has hope of retaining his present vision and after the cataract surgery, he might gain a little more.

Wouldn't you say that saving the vision of one person would be worth many Glaucoma Clinics? Can there be any price put on saving one person from blindness?

Mr. Williams is only one of several other emergency cases found in this year's clinics. Be thankful that the Lions and the Association do sponsor Glaucoma Clinics.

Lion Elmer Andrews, Pinehurst, gives Patrolman Robert Samuels an "Eye Cooler" containing donated eyes for the Eye Bank.

Haymount Lions Club, Fayetteville, presents 2 "Eye Coolers" to director of each hospital and to 3 mortuaries of Cumberland County, total of 14 "Coolers."

The North Carolina Eye Bank, Inc.

The Eye Bank is a vital part of the total program of Prevention of Blindness. It offers a service that no other organization in the State can do. The Eye Bank now derives its support from the N. C. Association for the Blind through its White Cane funds.

The North Carolina Eye Bank, Inc., a state wide, non-profit organization, was formed for the purpose of obtaining, preserving, and transporting eyes and making them available to eye surgeons to perform the miraculous corneal transplant operation.

Its history began in 1951 in Winston-Salem when Lions and other civic minded individuals drew up its charter of incorporation.

The Eye Bank now has over 29,000 eye wills and this is a fine increase over last year. However, the Eye Bank needs 50,000 eye wills to be able to meet the demands for corneas. Eyes needed for corneal transplant operations can neither be bought nor sold; therefore, the only method of obtaining corneas is from donated eyes. An eye will is a very simple form to fill out, the donor states that at his death, his eyes will be given to the N. C. Eye Bank. Contact any Lions Club in North Carolina for eye will forms.

The function of the Eye Bank needs more interpretation. The Eye Bank is not a place where donated eyes are stored until needed, rather it is a clearing house to receive and file eye wills, receive requests from ophthalmologists for eyes and to receive donated eyes and dispatch these eyes at once to the surgeon. There is always a waiting list for eyes for corneal transplants.

Five Eye Bank Workshops were held during the past year. Workshops are excellent for educating and informing Lions and the public about the work of the Eye Bank.

The Lions of North Carolina continue to purchase "coolers" to ship donated eyes to the Eye Bank. Many more "coolers" could be placed in hospitals and mortuaries. These "coolers" cost $5.00 each and can be purchased through the Eye Bank, Inc., 2041 Queen Street, Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

Dr. L. Byerly Holt, Surgical Director and founder of The N. C. Eye Bank, Inc., is the new president of the Eye Bank Association of America. This is an association of Eye Banks in the United States and is a signal honor for Dr. Holt as well as the N. C. Eye Bank.

There are 60 Eye Banks in the United States and Canada. As the eye bank movement progressed, it became evident that a cooperative program was needed for shipping eyes between banks to fill emergency transplant requirements. Sometimes there would be a surplus of eyes at one bank and an urgent need for eyes at another. Time, as well as a patient's sight was often lost because an eye could not be located.

One solution to this distressing situation was the development of 'The Eye Ball Network.' This is operated by ham or amateur operators who take the air at a stated time each day to give information as to what banks have eyes available for use by other Eye Banks. Each eye bank that participates in this network has monitors who check the broadcast daily and report to their local eye banks. Through this method of communications, many emergency transplantations can be performed.

The services of The North Carolina Eye Bank, Inc. need to be enlarged because it serves a group of blind persons who can only regain their vision by a corneal transplant operation. Probably the general public is not aware of this fact—that an estimated one out of each 25 blind persons can profit by this operation. Will your eyes so that a blind person may see!

Editorial

"Nothing great was ever achieved without enthusiasm."

Ralph Waldo Emerson

We might translate Emerson's words into "nothing great was ever achieved without caring." Productive caring for a cause, job or a person cannot be achieved without the ingredient of sincere enthusiasm.

Many years ago at the suggestion of Helen Keller, Lions International adopted work for and with the blind as its major project. Some Clubs were already helping the blind but when work for the blind became the major project of The Lions International Association, Lions Clubs all over the world began caring about blind persons and thus began one of the most astonishing experiments in human relations!

Today Lions Clubs, world wide, are recognized for their selfless devotion to work for the blind. North Carolina Lions have exemplified their deep concern for the blind by their never ceasing efforts to provide for blind and visually impaired citizens and to sponsor and promote prevention of blindness projects.

Lions Clubs of North Carolina began to practice caring about the blind when the first club was organized over 40 years ago. In 1934 Lions spearheaded a civic movement to organize a state-wide, lay association that would devote all its energies on the blind. This association was formed in September 1934; its first objective was to work for legislation that would create a state supported agency that would work for and with the blind. The results of the activities of the N. C. Association for the Blind was the legislation that was enacted into law in the General Assembly of 1935. The N. C. State Commission for the Blind became a reality and began to function in July 1935.

There is no reason to raise the question as to how work for the blind came into being in North Carolina. The Lions, because they cared about the blind, worked long and devotedly to secure the services that would give blind citizens the opportunities to live, work and become a part of their communities.

All of the tapestry of life is shot through with this golden thread of caring. Caring for others without any expectation of reward makes little ideas great and adds a wondrous beauty to the lives of many.

North Carolina Lions have achieved a place of esteem among the Lions of the world by their selfless and untiring enthusiasm in their work for the blind.

Meditation

Would it be well if each man could see—
What God has planned that his life would be?
Would it be well if he could know—
That beneath that stone a gem doth glow?

Would it be well if he could hear—
The laughter hidden behind each tear?
Or would it be well if he could feel—
The sun that dark clouds doth reveal?

Would it be well if Man could tell—
That after each battle all would be well?
Or would it be well if every time—
He'd till the earth there would be no grime?

Oh! No, what a sad World this would be—
If success hung like fruit from a tree.
Or if sun was felt with every shower;
And wealth was plucked like a flower.

A Slogan May Be Valuable

Pembroke Lions Club believes a major part of the success of the Community Birthday Calendar sales this year was due to a slogan.

Chairman Henry D. Edgerton suggested this one: "Remember more than a thousand eyes will see this calendar daily—it is possible for you to be among them."

This slogan was adopted by the club and their first sale was successful. Maybe some other clubs might like to try this idea; it brought results for Pembroke Lions.

Home Industries

The Home Industries Department of the Commission for the Blind serves a large number of visually handicapped persons in a special way. As part of the Rehabilitation Program, this department works directly with those persons who, for reasons other than blindness, cannot assume jobs outside the home.

Six Home Industries Counselors are employed in this department, each one covering an area from 11 to 21 counties. During the past year, an average of 160 clients were served through this department but not all of these were able to function satisfactorily in Home Industries. Those who were capable of learning to produce saleable articles were given training, equipment and help in selling their products. From this program they received, in many instances, a new lease on life: one with meaning and purpose and a sense of belonging to a functioning community.

During 1963, an average of 60 blind craftsmen earned a total of $13,940 for their products which were sold through Home Industries. Their income ranged from as little as $4.00 per month to as much as $125 per month depending on the ability and incentive to produce.

The total receipts from the sale of Home Industries' products amounted to over $16,400; this figure includes sales to Gift Shops and out-of-state sales. About 60 per cent of this amount represents receipts from Lion-sponsored local and County Fair sales. The Wake County-Wide Blind and Sight Conservation Committee again sponsored the Home Industries booth at the State Fair. An attractive new sign was purchased by the Lions which must have been effective since a new high was reached with sales amounting to over $1,600 exclusive of orders taken for later delivery.

Adequate proof of the quality of the merchandise produced by blind craftsmen is found in the fact that out of 14 items entered in regular competition with sighted craftsmen at the State Fair, eight won awards amounting to $29.00 in cash. There were 2 first prizes, 3 seconds and 3 thirds.

Financial help from the N. C. Association for the Blind made it possible to obtain a spacious booth for a very attractive display of Home Industries products in a prominent spot at the N. C. Trade Fair in Charlotte. Although the sale had not been announced in advance, the receipts amounted to over $1,000. More important were the intangible benefits beyond calculation, such as the opportunity to give first-hand information to the thousands of visitors from home and abroad, plus the contact with business personnel and manufacturers who donated many useful and valuable types of raw materials.

The N. C. Association for the Blind has provided a Revolving Fund for Home Industries for many years. This Revolving Fund has greatly aided in the expansion of the services of the Home Industries program.

It is gratifying to find an ever increasing number of Lions taking an interest in Home Industries. Displays and sales at the various Lions Conventions afforded opportunities to introduce and emphasize this phase of work for the blind to many Lions. Attendance at meetings of the Association for the Blind resulted in further cooperation of individual Clubs. Approximately 15 Lions Clubs purchased gifts for Ladies' Nights and other events. Sales amounted to over $600 and we hope that many more clubs will use articles made by the blind for gifts.

Home Industries Counselors were invited to explain the program at a number of local Club meetings as well as interviews on radio and TV on the upcoming sales sponsored by Lions Clubs in the local communities.

One of the most valuable assets to this program is the advantage of working directly with Lions and their Lionesses who assist the counselors during sales. The greater the number of members who personally take part in these activities, the greater are the chances of better serving an increasing number of visually impaired persons in the future.

Some 30 years ago, Lions with vision, courage, and the will-to-do, sponsored five Workshops for the Blind: Asheville, Charlotte, Durham, Greensboro and Winston-Salem. Within the last 10 years, a sixth Workshop was opened in Rockingham. Through the continued help and cooperation of the N. C. State Commission for the Blind each year, funds have been provided to supply modern equipment as needed and to increase employment opportunities.

Space does not permit details for each of the 6 Lions Workshops for the Blind. The over-all picture is encouraging and shows progress. In the last 10 years, the number of visually impaired employees has increased from an average of 107 to 142. The average wages climbed from $23.00 a week to $43.59 a week. In 1963, holiday and vacation pay alone amounted to 40% of the total amount paid in wages in 1953.

Production and sales have more than doubled. Blind-made products have been displayed at both of the N. C. Trade Fairs and thousands of visitors have learned of the quality products being made in the Workshops for the Blind.

The most notable progress has been made when dedicated Lions have maintained an active and personal interest through full cooperation with shop management. Such men as Lion V. J. Ashbaugh, Sr., of Durham, and Lion O. D. Nelson, of Greensboro, to mention only a couple, have earned the appreciation and gratitude of all concerned, the blind employee, the Management, Lions, and the State Commission for the Blind.

The Lexington Lions Club sponsored the first sale of brooms made by the Guilford Industries, now known as Industries of the Blind, Greensboro, North Carolina. Many a blind person has become self-sustaining by the sale of brooms, mops, mattresses, and other products produced by the Workshops. The Workshops need the interest and support of all Lions so that an increasing number of blind persons can become employed and self-sufficient.

THE REHABILITATION CENTER FOR THE BLIND, BUTNER, N. C.

Typing class

Laundry training

Rehabilitation Center For the Blind

The Center is a part of the Rehabilitation Division of the N. C. State Commission for the Blind. It offers services to all adult blind who appear to be feasible for training and eventual employment. The trainees are sent to the Center by the Rehabilitation Counselors; the reason for all training is satisfactory job placement and employment.

The Lions have a vested interest in the Center because it was the Lions that matched the first State appropriation when the Center was established in November 1945. Since that time, it has not been necessary for Lions to contribute to the building program nor the administration, etc., of the Center; however, individual Lions Clubs and the N. C. Association for the Blind have continued to contribute to the welfare and happiness of the students at the Center.

Lions of North Carolina should learn more about the Center to understand just how their contribution in 1945 has helped so many blind persons to achieve adjustment and eventual employment. Why don't you visit the Rehabilitation Center and see what really goes on there? You are always welcome as a club, or as an individual. Several Lions Clubs held their meetings at the Center this year. You can have food, a tour of the Center and your club meeting all at one place.

The new education building that was completed last year is now full of many activities. Classes in sewing, cooking, travel, etc. are in session daily. The physical education area is in constant use. Physical education classes are a must for all trainees unless there is some medical condition that would prevent their participation. Physical education and recreation are two necessary activities for blind persons since blindness does limit the mobility of some blind persons. Participation in physical education and various recreational activities, such as dancing, games, and swimming develops good health, good posture and confidence in oneself to be more independent.

The Center has a bowling alley. Classes are scheduled in bowling during the day and the students are allowed to bowl nights and weekends. There is great interest in this sport and the students constitute a "cheering section."

The community and some Lions Clubs are very wonderful about doing things for the students. The community folks come for dances, plays, fishing and boating and also, at times, the students do a play for the visitors.

Lions Clubs not only come to the Center but bring movies, bands, and various kinds of entertainment. The Lions also give funds for spending money for students, send students to State and County fairs. This year, Lions gave 12 radios and 2 TV sets. The local Lions Club gives a Christmas party with gifts and refreshments each year. These kindnesses and gifts by the Lions and others make a real difference in the personal lives of the students.

The Garden Clubs continue to add new plants and flowers to the "Fragrance Garden" and the garden becomes a lovelier place each year, "truly a thing of beauty."

A brochure on the Rehabilitation Center has just been completed and is a gift from the N. C. Association for the Blind. This brochure includes a brief summary on the origin of the Center, the physical plant, the staff, courses offered and other pertinent information. This brochure will fill a long time need of the Center and will be sent to prospective students, especially out-of-state persons and also will be sent to all presidents of Lions Clubs and District Officers.

Each year the entire staff and student body contribute to the White Cane Drive. A real part of good citizenship is learning to participate and cooperate in community affairs.

SCENES IN NEW WAKE COUNTY EYE CLINIC

Medical Eye Care

This has been another eventful year for the Medical Division of the North Carolina State Commission for the Blind.

The clinic program has been expanded by the addition of five sustaining eye clinics. Three new District Medical Supervisors have been added to the staff; these new workers will make possible many more services. One new District Office has been opened in Greensboro which will result in expanding services. There are 5 other District Offices in the state. These are located in Asheville, Charlotte, Winston-Salem, Raleigh, Greenville and Wilmington. These offices are listed in phone directories under "The N. C. State Commission for the Blind."

In this calendar year, 36,050 persons have received eye examinations in eye clinics and physicians' offices under our program of prevention of blindness, conservation of sight, and restoration of vision.

The District Medical Supervisors have participated in the N. C. Association Workshops, worked with the Lions on the local level in Glaucoma Detection Clinics and given talks at club meetings on the local medical program.

The Glaucoma Detection Clinics have been offered to the public and for the most part in those areas of the state where medical facilities are at a minimum. Lion Shaw Brown's report will have pertinent statistical data (also see page 18 Glaucoma Clinics.)

There are 2,533 known cases of glaucoma on the Medical Division's Registry as of March 1, 1964.

Social Service Division

This divisiou administers Aid to the Bliud payments to blind persons who are eligible and also a state-wide service program for all blind persons who are not in financial need.

Through this service program, all blind persons, regardless of economic need may receive case work services which will help them to adjust to blindness and resume their normal activities.

There are over 12,000 known blind persons in our state. Many of these do not need financial assistance, such as Aid to the Blind payments, but many of them do need adjustment services so that they may cope with the various problems arising from blindness. Blindness does set up certain barriers which can, to a great degree, be overcome. The blind need to learn to travel, to read and write Braille, to type and to assume their normal responsibilities in their homes and communities.

Through the specialized service program, the 40 Case Workers for the Blind, can go into the homes of the blind and provide instruction and guidance in personal and family adjustment, child care, etc., give instructions in typing, signature writing, and reading and writing Braille.

It is through the case workers that the Talking Book machines, white cane walking sticks, and the gift radios, furnished by the N. C. Association for the Blind and the Lions Clubs, are distributed. Many other services are included in the broad program of specialized services, such as recreational activities, therapy crafts, and assistance in securing eye care and general medical services.

This year 662 Talking Book Machines were distributed by the Social Service Division. The case workers go into the homes of the blind and explain the usage of the machines and how to secure the recordings from The Library Services for the Blind.

The case workers, because of their knowledge of so many blind persons, often make known to Lions Clubs and the N. C. Association for the Blind, the most urgent needs of the blind that cannot be met otherwise. The local Lions Clubs are most generous to the blind in their communities, as can be evidenced by the Work for the Blind activities reports on page 7 of this magazine. The Lions provide the blind with many kinds of services—almost any service that is requested and is reasonable. The N. C. Association also responds when there is an unmet need.

Services to blind persons through the governmentally sponsored Social Service Division and its specialized service program, the North Carolina Lions, and the N. C. Association for the Blind provide a more comfortable and pleasant life for many thousands of blind persons in our state.

Visually impaired young woman is employed as a racker in the painting and finishing department of Pelton and Crane Company, Charlotte, N. C.

This man assisted by rehabilitation services is now employed by Henderson Fiber Company, Henderson, N. C.

Rehabilitation Services For the Blind

Rehabilitation is the restoration of disabled persons to the fullest physical, mental, vocational, and economic usefulness to which they are capable. It is no easy task, but it is a challenging and demanding one for those who work in this field.

Rehabilitation of the blind does not consist of one single service but numerous ones, such as finding the person, counseling, guidance, physical restoration, adjustment, and/or prevocational and vocational training; then, placement in suitable employment.

The Rehabilitation Division of the N. C. State Commission for the Blind rehabilitated 528 blind persons into employment during the past year. Rehabilitation of blind persons in North Carolina amounted to 10% of all placements made by Agencies for the Blind in the United States.

The placement counselors have continued their work to discover new kinds and types of placements for the visually impaired. Officials of business, industry, and other private enterprises have been most co-operative in discussing job opportunities for the visually impaired. This "closer look" into potential job opportunities has resulted in some excellent new types of jobs for trained and efficient visually impaired persons.

The training unit established at Duke Hospital continues to function and eleven graduates of this medical transcriptionist training unit have been employed by several hospitals over the state. At this time there are requests from more hospitals than the Division can fill.

Other placements have been made in private industry and business, some of these are professional and technical, others are assembly and service ones. These include masseurs, employment in Dental Manufacturing Company, bailer in fabric processing plant, teachers, etc.

We would call attention to the transcriptionist pictured on the back cover of this issue. This young woman was trained outside of the Duke unit and placed in this large insurance company. A young man is in training in Durham as a water meter repairman and as soon as his training is completed, he will be employed in Wilson, North Carolina. There has been a nice increase in the number of placements in private enterprises. We are most appreciative of the courtesy and interest of industry, business, and management for giving the placement counselors opportunities to place well trained blind persons.

The goal of all rehabilitation services is employment of the blind and visually impaired. When a visually impaired person becomes employed, his status changes from a non-productive member of society to a productive citizen who becomes a taxpayer.

It is good business to offer employment to the visually impaired, not only for the economic resources but to allow this person an opportunity to achieve his goal of being a productive member of society in his community, the state, and the nation.

North Carolina Bureau of Employment for the Blind

The North Carolina Bureau of Employment for the Blind, more commonly known as the North Carolina State Commission for the Blind's Vending Stand Program, is currently operating one hundred (100) Business Enterprise Units providing employment to one hundred twenty-two (122) blind persons at an average weekly salary of forty-four dollars and twenty-two cents ($44.22). The Bureau provides its blind employees with fringe benefits which include: vacations with pay, sick leave with pay, hospital insurance coverage, and Workmen's Compensation. These employees participate in the Social Security Program toward the establishment of a retirement fund.

It has been possible the last several years for the Bureau to pay its operators an annual bonus. This year's bonus amounted to ten thousand six hundred seventy-five dollars ($10,675). These bonus payments have been made possible through the Bureau's operation of various vending machines located in plant and office buildings not feasible for an attendant-type service. The Bureau would appreciate interested Lions referring locations of this type to us so that we may enlarge and perpetuate this bonus payment.

For the purpose of providing employment opportunities for additional feasible blind persons, the Bureau has broadened its operational activities. It now offers to industrial and manufacturing plants an In-Plant Food Service that includes hot foods in addition to its regular refreshment line.

During the last year thirteen (13) blind persons were referred to the Bureau for training and possible employment. Ten (10) successfully completed training and were employed by the Bureau.

The Bureau can offer employment to many more capable blind persons under their expanded program, and would appreciate interested Lions and/or other individuals referring potential locations to us. Communicate with the North Carolina Bureau of Employment for the Blind, P. O. Box 1295, Raleigh, North Carolina.

Informational Sheet

NORTH CAROLINA ASSOCIATION FOR THE BLIND
Executive Offices - Box 2305
RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA

What Is The Association?

The Association is a Lions' organization. It's organization was initiated by a group of civic-minded individuals, spear-headed by the Lions. The reason for it's organization was: 1. to work for the creation of a state-supported agency that would expend its time, talents, and funds on work for the blind; 2. to promote services for the blind in areas where no Lion Clubs existed and no resources were available.

It is now a matter of history, The Association for the Blind was successful and in March, 1935, legislation was enacted by the North Carolina General Assembly creating The North Carolina State Commission for the Blind. After the first objective of the Association was achieved, it began to function on a state-wide basis. This is a non-profit, Lions organization which fills the gap between services rendered by Lions and the State Commission for the Blind.

The Association provides numerous services for the blind and visually handicapped, among these are:

Eye examinations, treatment, surgery, glasses and artificial eyes when no other resources are available.

Sponsors the Eye Bank, the Visual Aids Clinic, The Laboratory for Experimental Ocular Pathology.

Co-sponsors Medical eye clinics, and State-Wide Glaucoma clinics.

Hospitalization, X-rays, drugs, medical services, drugs for Glaucoma patients under care, etc.

Furnishes gift radios to shut-in blind, White Cane Walking Sticks without cost to all the blind.

Pays for repairs on Talking Book Machines, dental services, equipment, stock, and many other services.

Provides educational materials on Prevention of Blindness.

On the Cover

The handsome structure on the cover has been the home of the N. C. State Commission for the Blind and the N. C. Association for the Blind since 1951. Built in the latter part of the nineteenth century, it was founded by the Baptist State Convention and was the original Meredith College. It opened its doors to students on September 27, 1899. "The red brick building with ivy covered walls and interesting little porches with banisters was a lovely place." It had recitation rooms and other accommodations for 300 students, was lighted by electricity and had "two handsome bathrooms on each of the four floors. There was a large gymnasium, art room, and the necessary practice rooms for music pupils."

In January 1926, Meredith College was moved to a new campus in west Raleigh. The building was sold and became the Mansion Park Hotel. For twenty-five years the building was used as a residential hotel with dining facilities. The convenient downtown location made it a very desirable place to stay.

The building was bought by the State of North Carolina in 1951 to provide offices for various agencies. We must bow to progress in 1967 and give up our building which is being demolished. Our new location will be the white building on the corner of Jones and Dawson Streets.

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

This has been a wonderful two years for me as President of your Association. I have learned many things and made many friends throughout the State. I have strived to fulfill my position of trust in a manner that would bring credit to our Association, well aware of the impossibility to satisfy everyone.

I have been gifted with two of the finest State Directors that one could ask for! My State Glaucoma Clinics Chairman has done an outstanding job! The support given to me by the Presidents of the N. C. Eye-Bank and its Executive Director has been of the highest. Everyone—the thousands of Lions and non-Lions has caused my two years to be outstanding. It is not the individual who leads that determines the success or failure of a business, but rather it is those who do the work that creates the success or failure. I shall be ever grateful to my Board of Directors, to the District Governors, District Directors, members of the State Commission and on down to Mr. Lion himself, for the giving of time and talent to the success of our Association.

The purpose and the aims of the Association continue to grow in the minds of the people of North Carolina. This is reflected by the substantial increases made each year in our White Cane Drive. We must never relax our vigil but continue to go forward each year. Some may say that we tend to increase our goals from time to time, but as any good business man knows, and this is a business, one cannot stand still. Inertia cannot and must not take over!

The success and growth which we have experienced has been saddened by the deaths of two who have been most outstanding in the work of the Association down through the years. Vic Ashbaugh, a past President of the Association and one of its founders passed on April 1, 1966. Mrs. Madeline McCrary, Assistant to the President passed on October 31, 1966. She was the oldest person in point of service who was a Commission employee and at the same time the heart and soul of the Association. Their passing has created a void that can never be filled.

As I leave my office, I pass the baton to Dr. William H. Wynns, one who is extremely capable, and who possesses the fire and determination needed to forward the work of the Association. To his "second" in command, Mrs. Kathryne Charles, my thanks to a job "well done."

Darrell Morse, President
N. C. Association for the Blind

White Cane Report

Dr. W. H. Wynns, Powellsville, N. C. State Director 1966 White Cane Sale and Membership Enrollment Drive.

Fellow Lions:

Another milestone has been passed. Another record in service to suffering humanity has been set. This year is proof that Tarheel Lions are never satisfied. We must keep moving forward.

My thanks go out to over 14,000 individual Lions in almost 400 Lions Clubs in this great State. You are the men who really do the work each year.

To our President, Darrell Morse, you have been the pilot on a most successful voyage. Our District White Cane Directors, Gordon E. Knighten, C. Miller Sigmon, Rev. K. Y. Huddle, Jack A. Harp, Edward G. Hill, Lloyd Batten, Rev. D. P. McFarland, George R. Kress and C. Jack Luper have literally moved mountains. Still, the job would not have been the success it is without our dedicated District Governors, Eros Pitts, Robert Frye, J. N. Long, Earl R. Parker, Edwin E. Koontz, John Gardner, W. Monroe Gardner, Marvin Nash and W. Herbert Hollowell, Jr.

This year has afforded me an insight into Lionism that I did not have. God has bestowed his richest blessings upon me. To you, I will be forever grateful.

Dr. Wm. H. Wynns
State White Cane Director, 1966

The Lions of North Carolina initiated the White Cane Drive as the one and only fund raising project of the North Carolina Association in 1946. Each year new records have been made and in 1965 a goal of $10.00 per member was set. Even then, with the nearly 15,000 Lions, the goals have been exceeded. As we go to press, the total figures including interest on funds deposited are $163,486.88.

Lions State-Wide Committee on the Work for the Blind

This committee is made up of two representatives from each District who are appointed by each District Governor. The State Council appoints the chairman of this important committee and all members serve for one year.

The committee serving for 1966-1967 are Lions: Luke Grooms, Lincolnton, Chairman; Arnold J. Hyde, Candler; John P. Ramsey, Etowah; Herman Kiser, Granite Falls; John R. Gentry, Jefferson; James B. Spears, Shelby; Paul Hamrick, Ellenboro; David J. Stadler, Jr., Reidsville; J. C. Fulp, Walkertown; Jim M. Burris, Lexington; Francis Motsinger, Winston-Salem; J. Glenn Edwards, Sanford; Sankey W. The committee met in Raleigh on March 19, 1967 to judge the reports. District B was the only district reporting 100%. A total of 281 clubs were counted and there were no reports from 107 clubs which does not include the new clubs.

There is a new award this year, the Henry A. Wood Award, honoring the former Executive-Secretary of the N. C. State Commission for the Blind. This award is given to the most outstanding club in the state in work with the blind irregardless of size.

Trophies will be presented at the N. C. Association for the Blind luncheon on Monday, June 5, 1967 in Charlotte. The following clubs are the winners:

The committee voted to divide one category due to the large number of clubs in the 55 to 85 member groups. The new groups will be 1-21, 22-29, 30-39, 40-54, 55-70, 71-85, 86-99, 100-129, 130 and over.

There has also been a change in the dates beginning this year. The activities reports will be on a calendar year basis beginning January 1, 1967 and ending December 31, 1967. This will cause an overlap for the coming year of January to March 15, 1967. The committee felt that this change would give them more time for judging and the Association office more time for preparing the reports for the White Cane magazine.

Thirty-Third Annual Report of the North Carolina Association for the Blind

"There is a tide in the affairs of men, which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune; omitted, all the voyage of their life is bound in shallows and in miseries; and we must take the current when it serves, or lose our ventures."

. . . Shakespeare

As it is with men, so it is with the great work of the North Carolina Lions. They have taken the tide which has led to fortune for the blind and visually impaired citizens of North Carolina. The fortune is getting greater each year with additional services and opportunities for those who have lost their precious eyesight. These services would not be available without the many hours of work by Lions and other interested people desiring to raise funds necessary to meet the need when no other funds are available.

The North Carolina Association for the Blind is the non-profit organization which was organized to perform the task of initiating a state agency to provide services for the blind. In March 1935, legislation creating the N.C. State Commission for the Blind was successful. This made the team complete, the Lions to work at local levels, the N. C. Association for the Blind to work at state level and the N. C. State Commission for the Blind, a state agency empowered by law to render a multiple service program to the blind of North Carolina.

The aim of the Association is to render services to the blind and visually impaired people in the state: and to carry on a prevention of blindness program. Fifty per cent of all blindness is preventable and we would like to lower this percentage with a tremendous educational effort. Until we do, our goals have not been achieved.

To achieve the aims and purposes of the Association, the White Cane Drive is the big effort toward fulfilling the financial needs. It is the annual fund raising project of the Association which is sponsored most successfully by the Lions Clubs. Each year as the demands for services for the blind increase, the drive intensifies and meets with greater success. Of course, the number of Lions participating in the drive grows each year and their energies contribute to the successful completion of the drive.

As the 1966 White Cane Drive ended on March 1, 1967, a new story was being told in the history of White Cane. Each Lion can glow with pride for his own part in making this drive the best yet. Each Lion knows that these funds will be used to render services to the blind when no other funds are available. As more funds become available, more services are available, and more blind and visually handicapped people are given more opportunities for a better life.

There are two types of services, direct and indireet. The direct services are those services rendered to individuals; the indirect services are those given to groups for research, eye clinics, educational supplies, etc.

Art Gallery for the Blind of North Carolina

Mary Duke Biddle Gallery for the Blind, Raleigh 1967.

A very unique and wonderful opportunity is available for the blind and visually impaired persons in North Carolina. Charles W. Stanford, Curator of Education at the North Carolina Museum of Art is the originator of the project. A permanent gallery of art for the blind has been established at the Museum of Art in Raleigh. This gallery was made possible by a grant from the Mary Duke Biddle Foundation of New York. Miss Mary Switzer, Commissioner of Vocational Rehabilitation of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare and her staff, have given valuable assistance during its formation.

The gallery provides the blind with the finest objects, mainly sculpture, to represent a survey of the history of art. The same high standards of works of art acquired for other galleries in the museum are required for the gallery for the blind.

A braille catalogue of each object is compiled for exhibitions. It provides information about each work of art, the artist, the place in history and sociological and religious aspects.

A reference library in braille containing "History of Art" by Janson and "Art in the Western World" by Robb and Garrison, both gifts of the Library of Congress, are in the gallery. These braille books are the first art history books to be transcribed.

The gallery is especially designed for the blind using display counters of cork. A relief map of the gallery is at the entrance. Braille labels for each item on display are placed on the guide rails.

The response to this program has been very gratifying and it is hoped that this gallery will lead the way for similar programs in other museums.

Madeline McCrary, A Tribute

"Madeline," "Mrs. Mac" or "Mrs. McCrary," whatever she was called, she answered. A lady endeared to the hearts of all the blind people and all the Lions of North Carolina has finished her earthly commitment and passed on to Greater Service.

Mrs. McCrary of the N. C. State Commission for the Blind staff was given the task of preparing the format for reporting the Lions clubs and Association activities and services for the blind in our State in 1946. She worked diligently and tirelessly through the 1966 White Cane magazine. Even then, in failing health, she did not stop to rest.

She nagged, prodded, and loved the Lions of every club in the state trying to get their reports so that they would not be left out. Her untiring and devoted efforts have made the "White Cane" a reservoir of facts to be used by the Lions clubs and the N. C. State Commission for the Blind. These facts are very important in working with the blind at local levels and provide information that could not be had elsewhere.

Sitting at her desk, going through her files, seeing her notes, leaves me the unsurmountable task of carrying on her work and love with the Lions and their devoted interest in the Blind of North Carolina. Died October 31, 1966.

Camp Dogwood

by J. D. Huggins

One of the most exciting projects to be supported by the Association is in the field of recreation. As far back as 1959, the need for recreation facilities was established by the North Carolina Association of Workers for the Blind. This organization is made up largely of alumni of the State School for the Blind in Raleigh. Three Lions served on the committee to investigate the possibilities of a camp for blind people in North Carolina.

After several years of investigation and discussion, it was decided to present the proposed camp project to the Lions throughout the State for their support. The Board of Directors of the N. C. Association for the Blind warmly endorsed the project in June, 1964. In August 1964, a resolution was adopted approving Camp Dogwood as a recreational center for the blind and resolving that

by S. D. McPherson, Jr., M.D.
Acting Chief, Department of Opthalmology University of North Carolina School of Medicine

For the past ten years the North Carolina Association for the Blind has rendered financial assistance to the eye pathology laboratory of the Division of Ophthalmology of the University of North Carolina School of Medicine. The initial support received was $2,000.00 annually and in the period of ten years this has increased to a grant for 1967-68 of $14,900.00.

These funds have enabled the Division of Ophthalmology to carry forward its program in several areas. Primarily the funds have been used for the broad, overall support of our eye pathology laboratory. To this laboratory are shipped eyes and specimens of eyes from many physicians and hospitals throughout the state. In the laboratory these tissues are examined microscopically, reports are prepared of the conditions of tissues and the causes of blindness and mailed back to the referring physician or hospital with accompanying microscopic slides. In the preparation of these reports, resident physicians and medical students receive valuable experience and instruction in recognizing various diseases of the eye under the microscope and correlating their appearance there with the clinical appearance of the eye as it exists in patients. We consider this to be an integral part of the training of a well-rounded ophthalmologist and this worthwhile project be sponsored by the N. C. Association for the Blind. In 1965 Camp Dogwood received a grant of $15,000 from the Association. In August, 1966 at a meeting in Greensboro, the Association Board approved $90,000.00 to purchase a site and begin construction of the camp.

The site selected is located 12 miles from Mooresville, off highway 150, in the Mountain Creek Township of Catawba County. It consists of better than 40 acres of land and has 1,200 feet of frontage on Lake Norman. Lake Norman is approximately 25 miles north of Charlotte on U. S. Highway 21. The land was purchased from Clarence White, a hard-working Lion who is blind.

Plans include a large main building to house a dining room which will accommodate 150 guests, a kitchen, a library, an office and a large screened porch. Later, as funds are available, several cottages will be built along with a swimming pool, picnic area, hiking trails, fishing docks and parking lot. The committee has selected a planner, Gardner Gidley of Winston-Salem. The committee from the Association consists of J. D. Huggins, chairman, Greensboro; Judge C. C. Cates, Burlington; Darrell Morse, Havelock; John Ed Davis, Shelby; Shaw Brown, Mooresville and Guy T. Ward, Winston-Salem.

The purposes of Camp Dogwood, Inc. pursuant to and in accordance with the applicable laws of the State of North Carolina as stated in the Articles of Incorporation are:

"To organize, create and establish a recreational camp or camps for the use, enjoyment, training, adjustment, benefit of visually handicapped persons; to build, maintain, equip, operate and develop such recreational facilities as may be useful, beneficial, convenient and/or necessary to enable visually handicapped persons to visit and occupy such camp facilities for recreational and educational purposes; to sponsor training schools or courses or workshops in connection with any of the foregoing recreational activities; to receive gifts and contributions, and generally to do any act necessary or appropriate for encouraging, aiding and training any person skilled in or giving promise of becoming skilled in any of the recreational activities above referred to."

certainly has been essential to our training program.

Secondly, the funds have been used for the support of summer student fellowships. In this manner we are able to subsidize third and fourth year students to spend their three months of summer vacation working in the eye pathology laboratory in the hope that we will so interest them in ophthalmology that when they finish their medical school education and general internship that they will then wish to enter ophthalmology as a specialty and settle in North Carolina for practice.

Thirdly, the funds have been used for the support of pilot research projects, most of which are clinically oriented. Some of the problems which have been investigated in this laboratory and supported by these grants concern the preservation of corneas removed at the time of death for later use in corneal transplantation, the development of improved sutures to be used in corneal transplantation, studies of those factors which may affect the healing of surgical wounds, and lastly, the study of several, unusual eye diseases.

In these specific ways the funds have been quite valuable in developing a well-rounded program in ophthalmology at the University and in providing a type of postgraduate education in ophthalmology to medical school students and resident physicians which otherwise would have been impossible. In this period of ten years some 25 or so scientific papers have been published dealing with the results of studies financed with these funds and an annual report is published from the Division which describes in detail the experimental work done in the previous year. Throughout these reports the support of the North Carolina Association for the Blind is acknowledged, and we readily acknowledge now our indebtedness to the Association for its support with the hope that it will continue in future years. Because of the generosity of the Association in supporting this work, a plaque is now being placed in the laboratory which states that it is being supported by the Association in memory of its former assistant to the president, Mrs. Madeline McCrary.

Eye Bank News

by Mrs. Helen Morrill
Executive Director
The North Carolina Eye Bank, Inc.

Lion John Hawn of Hendersonville Club receives 100 Eye-Will Award from drive chairman Lion Bill Ponder.

When I am asked to speak or write about the work of the North Carolina Eye-Bank, it is difficult for me to be completely objective. Being associated with the work and the organization has been a most wonderful, personal experience for me; and I want to share my happiness with all who will listen to what I have to say.

As with any activity there is a degree of routine that has to be handled, but through the routine of the North Carolina Eye-Bank runs a thread that colors the overall work structure and turns it into a wonderful way of life. I feel that the North Carolina Lions have demonstrated in many ways their kindred feelings, and it is our hope that we will always benefit their program as they have ours.

The corneal transplant operation is a miracle of modern science that has happened in our generation. When one thinks of the staggering number of blind persons who have lived since the beginning of time—people who were completely helpless and without any hope of having their sight restored—we can be thankful for having been given the privilege of making the blind see through the donation of our eyes. The transplantation of the cornea was the first link in a long chain of miracles that will involve the use of human tissue in years to come.

Fifty-five thousand pledges are on Ground breaking for North Carolina Eye Bank Building.

The North Carolina Eye-Bank, Inc. and the Eye-Bank Association of America are located in Winston-Salem. A new building housing both organizations is to be dedicated in June. Mrs. Morrill has been very instrumental in having the Eye-Bank Association of America decide to locate in North Carolina. She has also done a tremendous amount of work in securing funds for the construction of the new building. We are indeed proud of Mrs. Morrill and her dedication to the work of sight preservation and restoration. The N. C. file at the North Carolina Eye-Bank, but this number is not sufficient to supply the surgeons who are needing the tissue. We must continue to press forward in our educational program, securing as many pledges as possible in order to meet the demands and the standards that we have set for ourselves. We strive always to be an organization in which the Lions feel a deep pride.

The new Eye-Bank Building is nearing completion and the eyes of Lionism are focused in our direction. The greater portion of the banks in the Eye-Bank Association of America have been founded or underwritten by Lions, and our growth and progress have been of keen interest to those who are doing similar work in other States. Everyone is aware of the degree of devotion and hard work that has gone into the culmination of many dreams since 1951, the year when the N. C. Eye-Bank was chartered, and the Eye-Bank Building stands a symbol to those who would not be discouraged in the face of almost impossible odds.

The Eye-Bank Association of America's headquarters was established in the office of the N. C. Eye-Bank in November, 1965. Office space is being provided for the Eye-Bank Association of America in the new building, and the facilities of the N. C. Eye-Bank will be provided for the Association's use as needed. We were glad to be able to extend our help to this most worthy Association at a time when it needed to be given a permanent address along with a great amount of secretarial assistance. The North Carolina Eye-Bank has tried to fulfill the EBAA needs as far as its capabilities allowed, and in this manner repay many kindnesses extended to the N. C. Eye-Bank by friends during the years when this organization was poor and needy.

The functions of the N. C. Eye-Bank are the same as they have been since it was founded: securing eye pledges, transporting the eyes, and preserving the tissue. We shall continue to follow this main theme, with the help of our good friends, and endeavor to expand our work in all possible areas of sight restoration and preservation.

Glaucoma Educational Billboards Sponsored to Help Prevent Blindness

By Charles G. Monnett, Jr.

The Lions of North Carolina in cooperation with the North Carolina Association for the Blind, have scored, what is believed to be another first, sponsorship of glaucoma educational billboards throughout North Carolina.

Since 1960, the Lions of North Carolina and the Association have been very active in glaucoma work. Glaucoma screening clinics have been promoted over the State in an attempt to prevent blindness by detecting those with glaucoma. The educational factor has always been an important aspect of the clinics.

It has long been known by the Lions of North Carolina that 50% of blindness is preventable. So this year the Lions and the Association decided to take a real positive step to do something about one of the leading causes of blindness—glaucoma. The Association, under the leadership of its very able president, Darrell Morse, agreed to print and make available to the Lions Clubs of North Carolina, both 10 and 24 sheet billboard posters warning people of the danger of glaucoma. The Lions Clubs have sponsored these posters for periods of 30 days. Therefore, much publicity has been given to this dread disease.

The Billboard Educational Project has been handled on a state wide basis through the nine Lion Districts of the state. Each district had a Glaucoma Director who promoted the glaucoma work among the Lions Clubs in their district. The work was all coordinated by the State-Wide Director of Glaucoma Screening Clinics of the North Carolina Association for the Blind.

Each individual Lions Club had the opportunity to participate to the extent they desired. They could sponsor a glaucoma billboard for one thirty day period or as many periods as they wanted to sponsor. Some clubs have sponsored on a joint basis. The cost of a billboard sponsorship ran from a low of $25.00 to a high of $55.00, depending on the city or community where it was located.

Scheduling of the billboards was done on a district basis and according to the season of the year when the greatest number of people are in the area. The Eastern part of North Carolina was scheduled to catch the seashore traffic of the summer. The Mountain area was scheduled during the fall foliage traffic period and for the summer tourist season. Other areas of the state, that are non-seasonal, were scheduled for the remaining months. This way maximum benefit was obtained from the money invested.

The North Carolina Lions and the Association have long been recognized for an outstanding job of aid to the blind. Glaucoma educational work is not as glamorous as some of the other work—such as restoration of sight. Most of the time it is not even known who the persons are that have been prevented from going blind by being warned of the danger of glaucoma. The Lions are satisfied in knowing that it is a great thing—that 50% of blindness is preventable, and that they are doing what should be done to help prevent blindness. One Lion said, "What price can you put on the eyesight of even a single person?" But looking at it only from the standpoint of hard, cold cash, the saving of a person's sight means $ to the Lions of North Carolina in less help to the blind and $ to the Association in less care for the blind. So everyone feels that sponsorship of a billboard to help prevent blindness from glaucoma is a good investment.

Glaucoma Clinic—Elizabeth City, N. C.

During the 1966-1967 Lions year, statewide, there have been 35 billboards sponsored by Lions Clubs and 52 billboards have been donated by sign companies as public service space. At the time of this writing there are still three months to go on the Lions year, so the final figures should be much larger.

Sponsoring of billboards is just part of the glaucoma educational work of the Lions. Radio and TV spots on glaucoma have been sent to all the stations in the state. Hundreds of glaucoma pamphlets have been distributed. A 16 mm, color, sound film on glaucoma has been shown many times. Many talks and club programs have been given on glaucoma.

Even with all the other educational work going on, holding of glaucoma screening clinics has not been overlooked. Clinics were held at Broadway, Burgaw, Mooresville, Seaboard —Jackson, Spruce Pine, Whiteville and Williamston. Even though all the statistics are not in, over 5,300 people were screened with over 250 persons being referred to their own personal opthalmologists because of elevated tension and therefore, the suspicion of glaucoma.

Since the first glaucoma screening clinic in May, 1960, there have been a total of 71 clinics with a total of 113 clinic days. Over 84,000 persons have been screened in the clinics. Of this number, over 3,400 persons have been referred to their own personal opthalmologists because of elevated tension and therefore the suspicion of having glaucoma.

On April 1, 1966 a glaucoma screening clinic was opened in the Durham County Health Department sponsored jointly by the Durham Lions Club, the Durham-Orange Medical Society and the Durham County Health Department. The clinic was subsidized by a federal grant of some $40,000.00 for a three year period of time. The clinic was established to: (1) evaluate the feasibility of a glaucoma screening clinic staffed by public health nurses in a county health department. (2) to emphasize the importance of glaucoma as a public health problem. (3) to evaluate a screening clinic held on a continuing basis as part of an over-all county public health program.

The clinic began operation April 1, 1966 on a part time basis, and by July 1, 1966 began to operate as a daily clinic from 9:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. five days a week. Patients seen in the clinic and found to have suspiciously high intraocular pressures are referred to local clinics and ophthalmologists of their choice for further evaluation. Such patients are accepted as emergencies by the local physicians so that they will not have to wait for long periods of time to determine whether or not they have glaucoma.

Since April 1966 1,627 patients have been screened in the Durham County Glaucoma Clinic. Forty-seven were found to have suspiciously high intraocular pressures and were referred for further examination. Of these forty-seven, 18 have been reported to have glaucoma or to be glaucoma suspects, 21 were reported to be negative for glaucoma and 8 have not as yet been reported. Within the last two months the patient load in the clinic has approximately doubled due to the cooperation which has been obtained in the local industry in referring employees for visual screening.

At the present time, all patients who come to the Durham Health Department for chest x-rays, for diabetic screening and for health card examinations are referred to the glaucoma screening clinic for measurements of intraocular pressure. Some of the patients who enter the health department for glaucoma screening are referred for chest x-rays and for diabetic screening. This continuing glaucoma clinic is the first such experiment ever to be tried in the United States.

The glaucoma screening clinics have brought some additional benefits. Over 7,000 persons have willed their eyes to the North Carolina Eye Bank at these clinics. But, even more than this, thousands of Eye Wills have been given out, making people aware of the Eye Bank Program. Another benefit has been the sale of products from Home Industries. These are the handicrafts made by blind persons in their homes. Over $2,000.00 in the sale of these products has been made at the glaucoma clinics. This may not sound like a lot, but it means a great deal in supplementing the income of these blind persons. And here again, these dollar figures do not tell all. because Lions, as well as the general public, have been made aware of the Home Industries program. Furthermore, it gives these blind persons the feeling of leading useful. worthwhile lives.

Why have the Lions of North Carolina, the North Carolina Association for the Blind and the North Carolina State Commission for the Blind put so much hard work and money into the glaucoma program? Because glaucoma is the second largest cause of blindness. Fourteen per cent of all blindness is caused by glaucoma. It is estimated that there are 1,350,000 Americans now going blind from glaucoma. Half of these people do not know that they have glaucoma which can blind without pain or warning. One out of eight blind persons in North Carolina is a victim of glaucoma. Enough said?

For the benefit of our non-Lion readers, here are the symptoms of glaucoma: (1) Frequent changes of glasses, none of which is satisfactory (2) inability to adjust the eyes to darkened rooms, such as theaters (3) loss of side vision (4) blurred or foggy vision (5) rainbow colored rings around lights. Having one of these symptoms does not necessarily mean you have glaucoma, they may be caused by some less serious eye trouble. But it does mean that you should go to an ophthalmologist at once for an examination.

Glaucoma can be diagnosed but there is no cure for it. However, if treatment is started early the progress of glaucoma can be checked. Vision that has been lost can never be regained, but the remaining vision, in most cases, can be retained. The best protection against glaucoma is periodic eye checks by your physician. All those over 35 years old should have an examination testing for glaucoma at least every two years. If glaucoma has been found in a blood relative, you especially would want to have regular eye check ups. Glaucoma runs in families frequently. You may be free of glaucoma when you are 35 and have it at 40.

Talk to your neighbors, friends and relatives and tell them about the dangers of glaucoma. Urge them to see an ophthalmologist or eye doctor for an examination.

Next year, when you are contributing to the Lions Annual White Cane Drive, remember all the good that is being done with your money. It might even save you from blindness!

Mecklenburg County Association for the Blind, Inc.

by Ralph J. McCoig, Executive Director

In the February, 1967 meeting of the N. C. Association for the Blind, $10,000 was granted to the Mecklenburg County Association for the Blind, Inc., Charlotte, N. C. for a building program. The grant was divided into $5,00.000 for 1967 and $5,000.00 for 1968.

The following is a brief history of the Mecklenburg Association for the Blind, Inc. and its projections with the building program. The Mecklenburg Association for the Blind was organized on June 18, 1934, to work with the blind and visually handicapped persons in Mecklenburg County. The stated purpose of the Association was to "further the interests of the blind and to open to them all possible avenues for independence and self-support through investigations, education and recreation."

In October, 1935, the Association, with the assistance of the Charlotte Lions Club, opened the Charlotte Workshop for the Blind at 123 North Brevard Street. Mr. Parham, Executive Secretary, supervised a survey of blind people in Mecklenburg County, worked out placements of blind persons in the Workshop, and offered counseling services wherever needed. The Association became a member of the Charlotte Community Chest in October, 1937, and moved its offices to 121 East Third Street. Our budget for that year was four thousand, sixty dollars ($4,060.00). On April 30, 1938, we received our Charter of Incorporation.

The Association, with the help of the Charlotte Lions Club established a Sight Saving Class at Elizabeth School in 1949, and since that time casework services have been available to these students and their families. During 1956 the Association made plans to expand its services, and since additional office space was needed, a building which had formerly been a residence, was purchased at 704 Louise Avenue.

Following the Study of Services to Blind Persons in Charlotte and Mecklenburg County conducted by the American Foundation for the Blind which was completed in 1962, the Mecklenburg Association for the Blind has reorganized its programs to reflect the philosophical changes in the field of Work for the Blind.

We believe that blindness is a serious handicap which makes it difficult for an individual to benefit from life and to maintain his responsibilities to himself and others. Yet, the example of many blinded persons shows that it is a handicap which can be overcome. We believe our job is to provide those services which makes this adjustment possible. At the present time the following services are provided:

1. Counseling for newly blinded adults and their families:

When blindness strikes an individual, many problems must be faced by the newly blinded person and his family. Qualified caseworkers familiar with the problems of blindness can provide useful help.

2. Assistance from other agencies:

Blind individuals can often benefit from many of the regular services available in the community. Professional guidance makes finding and applying for these services easier.

3. Evaluation of visually handicapped children:

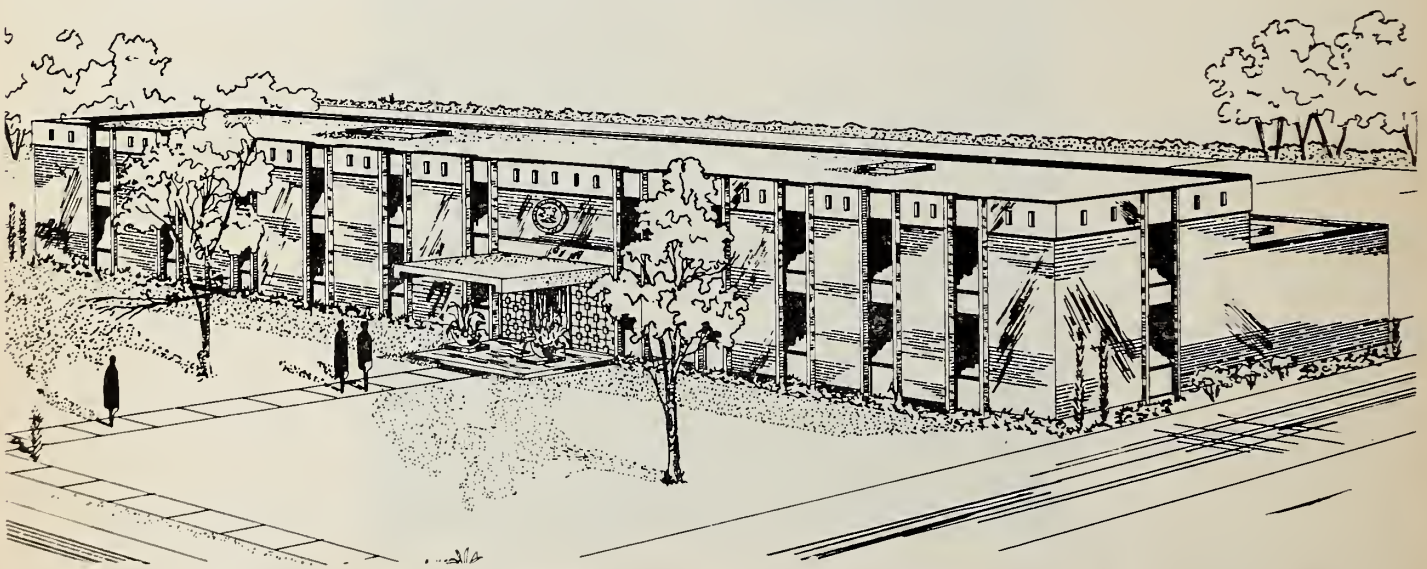
In planning for a blind child's future, parents often find a careful evaluation by medical and other specialists helpful. Access to such evaluations from several sources is provided.



New building proposed to house the Mecklenburg Association for the Blind, James L. Bell Memorial Library, and Piedmont Eye Clinic.

4. Counseling with families of blind children:

Parents want to provide the best for their children and professional counseling and eneouragement makes this easier.

5. Educational plaeement:

There are several possible school plaeements for blind children. Parents often seek help in finding whieh is best for their child.

6. Special adjustment services offered at the Mecklenburg Association are:

home teaehing in braille, housekeeping, cooking, personal grooming, and techniques of daily living. Assignment and repair of talking maehines, reader location serviee, transeription of text book material into braille, and the sale of gadgets and devices are also carried on. A program of professional group eounseling is planned as soon as a qualified person can be reeruited. The neeessary money for a Group Worker's salary and for program expenses has already been alloeated by United Appeal, and we are busy at this time in trying to locate a qualified person.

In addition to this there is planned the James L. Bell Braille Memorial Library whieh will be the first of its kind in North Carolina and one of the few in the entire South.

Around 1958 the Meeklenburg Association for the Blind and the Special Edueation Department of the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Publie School System cooperatively planned and started a speeial class for the visually handicapped and blind children in publie school. One of the most pressing needs to implement this type program was the requirement of text books and other material in braille, whieh in many, many instances was not available anywhere. Therefore, the Mecklenburg Association for the Blind began a Braille Volunteer Unit and later a Tape Recording Volunteer Unit which have suecessfully met the challenge of providing text books for the children who attend publie school in this area. Many times text books are also duplieated and sent to children in other school systems.

The eonstruetion of a new building to house the offices of the Meeklenburg Association for the Blind and the James L. Bell Memorial Library has begun. This building will be loeated at 704 Louise Avenue and will be a one-story strueture with approximately five thousand square feet of floor spaee with adequate parking spaee. Around two thousand square feet of floor spaee will be alloeated for the library. The interior of the library will have space for shelving whieh will aeeommodate somewhere in the neighborhood of twenty-one hundred titles of braille books, designated area for reference material, and a reading room whieh will aecommodate about four tables with the aeeompanying ehairs so that individuals may browse through material. At the rear of the library will be two almost eompletely sound proof recording rooms. These recording rooms are designed to be used by the tape reeording volunteers to read books on to tape and to also be used as listening booths for blind persons who desire to listen to reeorded material. It is felt that when Camp Dogwood is in operation that this library ean be of signifieant importance for the blind persons who will be visiting Camp Dogwood.

The material to be included in this library will be available to blind persons from the Piedmont North Carolina area as well as throughout the State. The following materials will be available:

Braille:

Around twenty-one hundred titles of braille books can be housed in this facility to loan to braille readers. As these books are used, it is planned to rotate them with the Library of Congress so as to keep a fresh supply of books on hand.

Talking book records:

A small eollection of talking book records can be deposited in this facility for the convenience of those persons visiting the library. At the present time the Mecklenburg Association for the Blind is sponsoring and coordinating the efforts of a group of volunteers from Southern Bell Telephone Company to repair all talking book machines in this thirteen eounty Piedmont area. The Tape Reeording Volunteer Unit of the Meeklenburg Assoeiation for the Blind was begun primarily to provide supplementary books for the children who attend the public sehools. However, it is anticipated that this volunteer activity may expand to inelude reeording of the best seller list eaeh month and other requested material. Storage space for a eollection of tapes will be available.

Referenee material:

Material such as encyclopedias, dietionaries, raised maps, and other needed referenee material will be made available.

Laser for Research

By Martin J. Kreshon, M.D., Opthalmologist
Charlotte Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Hospital

A recent grant was made to Dr. Martin J. Kreshon, opthalmologist, of Charlotte. The money will be used to purchase the first laser for utilization in eye research in North Carolina. The following information was given by Dr. Kreshon.

A three year project which we have in mind would include basic research as well as clinical research. Our first step after receiving the laser will be a standardization process in rabbit eyes. The laser marks will be placed in the rabbit eyes at various intensities and these lesions will be followed by photography as the marks heal in the eye. Standardization will be necessary in animal eyes before the instrument is turned on any human eyes. When we are sure of the potential of the instrument, it will then be utilized in human retinal detachments and will provide a means of spot welding flat detachments as well as treating vascular lesions or bleeding areas of the retina. Since the machine was obtained through research funds, the treatments will be given at no charge for the use of the machine to the patient.

The research project concerning glaucoma will be an attempt to investigate the short term and long term effect of light coagulation of the ciliary body in rabbits. Scleral windows will be dissected over the ciliary body and experimental burns of this area made with the laser beam. The measurement of retinal tension will be recorded at daily intervals, the assessment of ciliary body secretion by means of intraocular pressure measurement would be accomplished. The eyes would be pathologically sectioned at periodic intervals and checked for a destruction of the ciliary body.

In other words, the laser will be applied to the secreting area of the eye, the area which makes fluid in the eye. We are hoping that the secreting area of the eye can be partially destroyed by the laser. This would, therefore, reduce pressure by allowing less fluid to accumulate in the eye.

Of all the surgery that we do, glaucoma surgery carries the prognosis and it is hoped that the laser would provide us with a more efficient glaucoma operation for use in humans. The research project will take approximately three years and will encompass the use of eyes from rabbits and monkeys. If we are successful in destroying the secreting area of the eye with the laser and reducing the pressure in rabbits permanently, we would have a very efficient and easy method of controlling eye pressure without the use of large quantity of drops, tablets and other mutilating surgery.

North Carolina State Commission for the Blind

Social Services Division

Sherley Blackburn, Supervisor

The Social Service Division of the State Commission for the Blind has five distinct functions. Financial assistance to needy blind persons, and Services, both general casework and specialized, are direct services to blind and visually handicapped persons and are made available to them through caseworkers for the blind assigned to welfare departments throughout the state. The other three, Quality Control, Register for the Blind, and Staff Development are indirect services but are geared toward a more efficient and effective program of financial and casework services and a broadening of service activities.

Aid to the Blind is not a "Blind Pension" but a money payment to needy blind persons who must meet six eligibility requirements according to policies which are based on state and Federal laws. The payments are made from funds made available through county, state, and Federal appropriations.

Specialized services are those which are adapted to meet the particular needs of persons which have arisen because of blindness. Among these are family and personal adjustment to blindness, instructions and guidance in reading and writing braille, re-learning to do without sight many of the things they engaged in before becoming blind, sources for procuring specialized aids which will enable the blind person to do by touch and hearing things that normally require sight. Other casework services involve counseling and guidance around family and individual problems resulting from various inadequate social accommodations (broken homes, mild delinquency, illness, to mention a few).

These two programs, Aid to the Blind and Services, are administered by the State Agency through the Social Service Division. Under the local supervision of the Director of Welfare, Caseworkers for the Blind determine eligibility and continued eligibility for Aid to the Blind and render casework and specialized services to those who desire them. The Caseworkers for the Blind also take applications for Talking Book machines, and when the machines are delivered, give instructions on their care and use and how to secure recordings from the State Library Services for the Blind. They also distribute White Cane walking sticks and radios furnished by the N.C. Association for the Blind and Lions Clubs and teach the blind persons how to use the White Cane walking sticks.

Quality Control reviews are designed to determine if Aid to the Blind policies and state and Federal laws are adhered to in the process of determining eligibility for Aid to the Blind. They reveal areas where better interpretation is needed by local agencies and Caseworkers for the Blind in order to improve their efficiency. They also reveal when a particular policy is a "hardship policy" or cannot be applied effectively, thus affording a basis for revising the policy so it can be used effectively.

Maintaining a Register of Blind has been the responsibility primarily of the Social Service Division since the creation of the N. C. State Commission for the Blind and has been used extensively in state-wide planning of the agency's programs for blind persons. Having affiliated with M.R.A. (Modeling Reporting Area), sponsored by the National Institutes of Neurological Diseases and Blindness, in 1961, statistical and diagnostic information from the N. C. Register of Blind with that from several other states is now used in nation-wide studies and research regarding blindness.

The aim of the Staff Development Program is to enable Caseworkers for the Blind, other staff, and the agency to provide more efficient and effective services and a wider variety of services to blind persons desiring them. This is done through workshops and district meetings and follow-up in counties between these meetings, by providing opportunities for graduate study in an accredited School of Social Work, providing opportunities for attendance at professional meetings and institutes, recommendations regarding reducing caseworkers' areas and caseloads and adding more staff in order to give caseworkers more time to devote to rendering services.

The Social Service Division gratefully acknowledges the invaluable assistance of Lions Clubs and the North Carolina Association in meeting those needs of blind and visually handicapped persons referred to them by Caseworkers for the Blind. Often these needs are urgent and could not have been met otherwise.

Lions often know blind and visually handicapped persons who could benefit from services available through this agency. To secure such services the persons may be referred to the Caseworker for the Blind in the local Welfare Department. The caseworker will explore with him available services and the particular service he requests. If services outside the Social Service Division are indicated, she will refer him to another division of this agency on to another agency which can provide the services needed. Such referral include those made to the Rehabilitation and Medical Divisions of this Agency, to the Governor Morehead School for the Blind, and others. Since certification by the local Welfare Departments is required for determining eligibility for medical eye care services, persons needing such services should first be referred to the welfare departments. Following this procedure and utilizing medical eye care services available will frequently help to conserve funds of Lions Clubs for use in meeting needs for which no public funds are appropriated.

Medical Division

Mrs. Esther Carlyle,
Acting Supervisor

In fulfilling its responsibility of providing medical eye care for all persons declared medically indigent in North Carolina by the local welfare departments, the Medical Division of the State Commission for the Blind has strengthened its program in meeting the three primary objectives. The objectives are (1) conservation of sight, (2) prevention of blindness, and (3) the restoration of sight.

Eye clinics are held in 89 counties in the State with suitable arrangements made for persons in counties where there are no clinics to be seen in nearby counties. The Medical Division Professional Staff consists of a Supervisor of the Division and eleven District Supervisors.

Cherokee Indian Reservation Eye Clinic, volunteer worker from Community Club and Health Department secretary.

In addition to continuing and strengthening its established program the Division has extended services into new areas. For example, a clinic has been established in Cherry Hospital; and arrangements have been made to assist with eye examinations in other hospitals and facilities.

Considerable time and effort have been expended in development of educational material for distribution; also a medical manual is being written to replace the one put out in 1952.

Without the cooperation of the Lions Clubs and the North Carolina Association for the Blind services by this Division would have been limited considerably. Lions Clubs and the Association for the Blind have helped greatly in furnishing glasses and other visual aids, equipment for establishing new eye clinics, replacing worn out equipment, etc. For these services the Commission for the Blind is grateful.

Britt L. Green, Supervisor

The Rehabilitation Division of the North Carolina State Commission for the Blind offers a variety of services which eventually result in employment for persons served by the Division. These services include case finding, counseling and guidance, restoration of vision and other physical restoration services, adjustment, evaluation, prevocational and vocational training, and placement in suitable employment.

During the biennium ending June 30, 1966, 990 blind and visually handicapped persons were provided services which enabled them to become employed and thereby become tax-paying citizens rather than recipients of monies derived from tax funds.

We solicit continued support of the Lions Clubs of North Carolina and the North Carolina Association for the Blind in the rehabilitation program for the blind and appreciate their efforts in providing help in the training and placement of blind persons in industry, hospitals, and other local placement resources.

From the standpoint of industry and the North Carolina Commission for the Blind, it is good business to hire blind and visually handicapped persons who are reliable, devoted to their jobs, and capable of becoming productive employees.

In cooperation with the Raleigh Lions Club an Evaluation Unit began operation on February 1, 1967. This unit is designed to offer comprehensive medical examinations, psychological testing and other testing programs to determine work potential. Areas of work in which clients might be trained and subsequently employed and the feasibility of clients for certain types of employment are determined through various simulated and real work adjustment, work tolerance, finger dexterity, and manipulative tests, etc.

A new program for clients who will enter college in the fall of 1967 is planned for the summer in cooperation with Western Carolina College. A new adjustment program is also planned for juvenile blind persons for the summer of 1967 in cooperation with the Governor Morehead School and the Raleigh Lions Clinic for the Blind.

The Rehabilitation Center for the Blind at Butner has been brought under the State Personnel Department and therefore all Center staff now enjoy the privileges and benefits of other state employees including paid vacation, holidays, retirement benefits, sick leave, and a 40 hour work week. The Rehabilitation Center is now a part of the Commission for the Blind rather than a subsidiary. It is anticipated that this plan will strengthen the services provided by the Center and will enable the Center to operate on State and Federal appropriated funds.

Expansion projects are being planned or are under way for a number of the Workshops for the Blind in North Carolina. It is expected that these projects will result in training and employment opportunities for many additional blind persons.

Sales during the last two years have increased by more than 50% in the workshops. This has resulted in increased wages of more than 25% to workshop employees, has brought about a substantial increase in the number of trainees and employees, and it is anticipated that further substantial increases in most of the shops will take place during the present biennium. The Rehabilitation Division of the North Carolina State Commission for the Blind appreciates the very fine cooperative efforts of the Workshops to expand their employment programs through the building projects now under way.

Rehabilitated Person at Work

Home Industries

Irene Beaudin, Supervisor

In the process of rehabilitating the visually handicapped there are those persons who need special attention because, in addition to blindness, there exists a condition which prevents them from operating as a full time employee outside the home. It may be a multiple physical disability such as deafness, partial paralysis, cerebral palsy; or unfavorable, crowded or isolated environment; or simply the lack of coordination and desire. Many factors enter into the success or final results.

The purpose or aim of this division is to give these visually impaired persons a unique opportunity to develop talents to the point where sale of their products will provide remuneration.

Our Home Industries Counselors, through individual work in each home, with testing materials provided by N. C. Association for the Blind, determine the ability and trainability of these persons. When a craft project has been chosen, equipment, materials and training are provided through rehabilitation funds and the production of a salable craft begins.

During the past year approximately one hundred home craftsmen produced an assortment of crafts in various amounts. Each person has learned that good workmanship is rewarded, not only in financial value but in the simple and highly prized knowledge that one's work is appreciated.

The best example of this is the eagerness of these craftsmen to make a special new item for the State Fair. Last October, out of sixteen entries in regular competition with sighted persons throughout the state, our craftsmen won nine prizes: three first, three second and three third. It was most interesting to note that the cash value meant less to them than the ribbons—blue, red or white; these were their symbol of achievement for all to see.

In the past couple of years, a series of White Cane workshops informing Lions of the work with the blind has done much to bring this program to the attention of an increasing number of individual Lions. This has created new interest and involvement in Home Industries. Since our craftsmen are not in a position to sell their craft products it has been our responsibility to find sales outlets for them. With increased production this has become a problem. The decision of several District Governors and the State Wide Committee on Work for the Blind to give points for sales and programs has resulted in greater efforts on the part of the Lions. Individual clubs have bought gifts and favors for charter or ladies' nights. Some clubs have sponsored or held sales in their communities for varying periods of one day to a month. We are grateful to all of these and, without slighting any, we would like to mention one in particular. The Greenville Club procured a vacant store; club members with the help of volunteers and excellent publicity held a sale for a month with remarkable success. If you haven't already heard about it, you might get inspiration if you see their scrapbook which tells the story.

The members of the N. C. Association for the Blind who have had the opportunity of working with our Home Industries Counselors, either at sales or on special programs, have realized that we do have a problem in disposing of these products. We are grateful for their financial and personal help. When no other funds are available we can turn to Lions and our prayers are usually answered.

Woodworker for Home Industries

One craftsman in particular wishes to express his gratitude for replacement of woodworking equipment. Those who have benefited from gifts of wood and other materials received from Lions and business firms are grateful for these donations which allow them to get better returns for their labor. The transportation of products from client to stockroom to sales outlets is not a small task. Getting rocking chairs, stools, baskets and other merchandise in a car requires special calculations to say the least and the blessing of a van is invaluable.

During the Craft Fair in Asheville, the Festival in the Park in Charlotte and the State Fair, demonstrations by our craftsmen have amazed the general public. The quality of their workmanship and the development of their creative talent through the constant supervision of the Home Industry Counselor is tangible evidence of the work being done with the blind and the visually impaired. Blindness is a handicap but it has not meant defeat. These people have had a chance to become competent citizens and appreciation is shown by their enthusiasm.

W. J. Strickland, Supervisor

The Bureau, more commonly known and recognized as the Vending Stand Program, continues to provide constant and continuing employment for feasible blind persons. Currently 119 blind persons are employed in the operation of 105 units at an average weekly salary of $55.16. In addition to weekly salary, Bureau employees are provided free hospital insurance coverage, vacations with pay, accumulative sick leave with pay, Workmen's Compensation and Social Security coverage.

During the past fiscal year the Rehabilitation Division of the Commission for the Blind referred 10 blind persons to the Bureau for training and subsequent employment. Seven (7) of these persons successfully completed training and are now employed by the Bureau.

Pursuant to the continuing financial success of the Bureau, the Commission for the Blind, on the recommendation of the Advisory Board of the Bureau, effectuated a Retirement Trust Plan on and for blind employees of the Bureau. Additionally, they provided Life Insurance coverage of $1,000.00 per employee. The Bureau underwrites the total cost of the before mentioned plans.

The members of the Commission for the Blind and the members of the Bureau of Employment for the Blind express their appreciation to the Lions Clubs of North Carolina, the North Carolina Association for the Blind, labor and management of numerous manufacturing plants and thousands of interested citizens for their cooperation in making the Bureau a success.

Helen Cutting, Superintendent

The Center is a part of the Rehabilitation Division of the N. C. State Commission for the Blind. It offers services to all adult blind who appear to be feasible for training and eventual employment. The trainees are sent to the Center by the Rehabilitation Counselors; the reason for all training is satisfactory job placement and employment.

The Lions have a vested interest in the Center because it was the Lions that matched the first State appropriation when the Center was established in November 1945. Since that time, it has not been necessary for Lions to contribute to the building program nor the administration, etc. of the Center; however, individual Lions Clubs and the N. C. Association for the Blind have continued to contribute to the welfare and happiness of the students at the Center.

This year local Clubs gave Christmas Parties for all of the students, brought refreshments and furnished gifts for eaeh student.

The N. C. Association for the Blind furnished funds for movies to be shown twice a month at the Center; and also gave money to purchase swim suits for the students and paid the salary of a life guard so that the students could use the loeal pool certain hours eaeh day while the pool was open.

The Center was 100% again in memberships, staff and students, to the Association; and students from the Center came to Raleigh and helped stuff the WHITE CANE magazines for mailing.

Laser Beam Progress

The N. C. Association for the Blind gave $9,000 to purchase equipment used in the research project of Dr. Martin J. Kreshon, opthalmologist, Charlotte. Below is a progress report.

By MARTIN J. KRESHON, M.D.

We have had the laser since May, 1967 and also a camera furnished by N. C. Association for the Blind, for use in the basic research. Having spent three months standardizing the instrument on rabbits, we utilized five different animals and multiple blasts with the laser at various densities, to standardize the machine for human use in retinal detachment.

Since August 1967 we have used the laser to seal retinal detachments in twelve patients with good success. It has also been used to prevent a diabetic hemorrhage in a diabetic's only eye with excellent results. The laser appears to be a most efficient way to control retinal detachment and bleeding diseases of the retina. The advantages of laser coagulation include the minimal heat energy produced at the surface of the retina and a rapid firing ability as compared to the photocoagulation machine.

We are most pleased with the proficiency of this machine and have found it a great asset to our clinical practice.

Plans to actually start the glaucoma research we made in February and we should have final results by June. It is our hope that the laser will be effective in destroying the ciliary body in rabbits.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the N. C. Association for the Blind for the financial assistance given to us. You have provided a type of care for eye patients in Western North Carolina which is not otherwise available. You have set the stage for our experimental work.

Word From the President—

Dr. Wm. H. Wynns

N. C. Association for the Blind

This has been the year of change. At the beginning of the year we went out on our own. We acquired new office space and for the first time in our history we had facilities separate from the Commission. We came of age and hired an office staff. We assumed an identity with an address, telephone number, and post office box of our own.

The policies of your Association began with a slow change. Matters of business were turned over to the committees charged with the responsibility of these matters. In the past, radios purchased with your funds were delivered by Welfare and Commission Caseworkers. This year the Lions are delivering all radios to home bound blind. The acceptance of this policy has been overwhelming. The white cane walking sticks are being handled differently. No longer are we sending white canes all over the state in large quantities. All canes are being sent on specific requests. Caseworkers are supplied with the number and lengths they need to perform their services to the blind. Clinics are allowed to carry a stock sufficient to meet their immediate needs. The Lions will replace worn and broken canes.

We felt the need for better communication between the Association and the Lions so we started a newsletter. It is issued quarterly and sent to all Lions club presidents, secretaries and members of the Association Committees and Board. We hope this newsletter will keep everyone informed of the work and growth of the Association.

This has been a most rewarding year for me. Our Executive Secretary, Mrs. Kathryne Charles, has been my right arm. Without her the job would have been almost impossible. Miss Dianne Lamm came with us in the beginning. Her experience and knowledge of our work was invaluable. Dianne was hit by one of Cupid's arrows and we lost her. Miss Sherry Sandlin took over the many duties of the office and is rapidly becoming one of us. Sherry, we thank you from the bottoms of our hearts.

The work and cooperation of the District Governors and District Directors has been superb. They have helped to make this the year to remember.

It would be impossible to say enough about our State White Cane Director. Bob Frye is a man among men. His dedication to the blind people of North Carolina is unparalleled. He does not know the meaning of the word "quit."

On July 1 our new president, Eros Pitts, will take office. Eros has shown in the past his deep concern for all blind and visually handicapped citizens of our state. To you, Eros, I pledge my full support during your administration.

This year will always remain upper most in my memory. To all the members of the Association, my heart felt thanks for the opportunity of serving you and the blind of North Carolina.

Wm. H. Wynns

"We Serve"

Robert G. Frye of Hickory, 1967 State Director, White Cane Sale and Membership Enrollment Drive.

"WE Serve" is the motto of Lions International. During the 1967 White Cane Drive, over 14,000 North Carolina Lions have clearly shown that they not only know the meaning of this motto but they live up to this motto. Again this year, the Lions of North Carolina can hold their heads high because a new record of service for the blind citizens of our State has been set.

I wish it were possible for me to personally thank each of you for the wonderful cooperation, help and support received from every Lion in this great State. Since this is not possible; please accept my deep appreciation and sincere thanks for your outstanding work in making the 1967 White Cane Drive so successful. It could not have been accomplished without you. To the individual Lions and nearly 400 Lion Clubs throughout our State, go the just honor and credit for the continued success and growth of our annual White Cane Drive. My hat is off to you and I am deeply grateful.

Our President, Dr. W. H. Wynns, has shown outstanding Leadership, courage and ability as the Captain of our team. Our District White Cane Directors, Richard Harshaw, Jr., W. G. Schrimp, Walter Davis, Fred C. Rich, William C. Cline, Roy Swaringen, Rev. D. P. McFarland, Raymond Bayer, Jr. and D. Lee Reynolds have comprised a team that had only one thought in mind—Success. And this success could not have been achieved without the full support and cooperation of our dedicated District Governors, Howard S. Haithcock, L. Neil Summers, Glen C. Pyatt, J. D. Huggins, Francis C. Glover, Jack Blanchard, C. Ray Pruette, James W. Rose and Robert P. Hollar.

I have received real inspiration and insight into our work with the blind citizens of our State through, Mrs. Kathryne Charles, our very able, capable and efficient Executive Secretary.

It has been a real honor and a distinct privilege to have served as State White Cane Director. It has been a busy year, but the rewards that I have received and the friends that I have made, have made it a year that I will hold dear in my life forever.—ROBERT G. FRYE, State White Cane Director

ABOUT THE COVER

Lions Clubs throughout the State assist the blind by their many activities. They sponsor fairs, sales, horse shows, rodeos, etc.

Members of the Caldwell County clubs aided one of their local blind merchants, Ray Coffey, pictured on the cover. He is shown leaving church on a Sunday morning with his new seeing eye dog. This purchase was made possible by a Lions Club trip to New Jersey—his third dog in 22 years. Blindness was caused by Glaucoma.

Dear Editor:

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mary Iler is one of the Gov. Morehead School students who received transportation expenses to Camp Wapanacki from the N. C. Association for the Blind.

When I left Raleigh on the first of August, I didn't dream that Camp Wapanacki would be so much fun! Mr. Fred J. Reeve, Placement officer, met me in New York and took me to the Institute for the Blind where I spent the night. Bright and early the next morning we left by bus for the 300 mile trip to Camp Wapanacki near Hardwick, Vermont. It was late afternoon when we arrived. I was tired and hungry and a little homesick, but I soon forgot all that in the excitement of meeting my counselors and other campers from six different states and Canada. Every day was filled with things to do such as swimming, hiking, boating, crafts, music, and ball games. We even went on an overnight camping trip from the camp. One Sunday a bus load of us visited Expo 67 in Montreal, Canada. The whole month at camp was great fun, and I learned so many things. Thanks for making it possible. Sincerely, Mary Iler, Raleigh.

Radios and White Canes

Since July 1967 the North Carolina Association for the Blind has given 83 radios and 259 white canes to the Blind people of North Carolina. The Lions have been very cooperative in delivering these radios and requested white canes in their area.

Smoke of a Thousand Villages

When Dr. David Livingstone first went to Africa, he is quoted as saying that he could stand on a hill and see the smoke from a thousand villages that had not heard the word of God. Gene and I stood with the missionaries on the escarpment in northern Ghana, looked out over the great savanna and saw the smoke of a hundred such villages.

Gene, my twelve-year-old son, and I went to Ghana, some five hundred miles into the interior of West Africa with the purpose of assisting in the care of eye problems. That we were able to find a great deal of pathology, varying from cataracts and corneal lesions to total blindness, goes without saying. It was everywhere.

There was enough eye disease in the small village of Nalerigu, near the Baptist Medical Center, to occupy a great deal of attention. But the news that an eye doctor was at the center brought patients from many miles. Many could be helped, but the vast majority was beyond help. This was the most disturbing feature of all. In almost all cases of blindness, there could have been effective control and/or prevention if the public health measures that are at our disposal in this country were available to the Africans.

Major Causes

One of the major causes of the blindness there was glaucoma. Of course, this is also true in the United States. In both localities glaucoma ranks as among the top three causes of blindness. In contrast, however, another major cause in Africa is onchocerciasis; whereas in America, diabetes would hold a similar rank. The latter disease is far more prevalent in this country.

The chief cause of blindness in Ghana as in many other sections of Africa and Asia is trachoma. In this country it is almost unknown.

Of course, the cause of glaucoma remains obscure. We know many things about it. We know that the pressure must build up in the eye and that it is usually secondary to decreased outflow from the eyeball, itself. We know where the sight of obstruction usually is and we can treat the eye to increase its outflow. However, the hope in glaucoma is to detect the cases early and treat them. The despair is in seeing the vision lost in the undetected case. It is especially tragic inasmuch as the vision is forever lost.

In contrast to this, the other major causes in Africa are preventable by public health measures. Trachoma is caused by a virus infection and is usually seen in the low economic, undernourished populations of the world. It can be prevented simply by improving sanitation.

Onchocerciasis is caused by a worm that is an intestinal parasite. Somewhere in its life cycle the worms migrate into the body tissues to form cysts under the skin where they are freely movable. The great danger, however, to vision is in the hypersensitivity reaction in which the optic nerve atrophies. The worm also may enter the eye and may even be seen in it at times. Most times, however, only the atrophic optic nerve signifies complete blindness. Since the defect is in the nerve tissue, the damage is irreparable. A small fly that breeds in the rapidly flowing streams of Ghana plays the important role in spreading this parasite. Until it is eradicated there can be no hope for controlling this devastating disease.

Malaria is endemic in West Africa and in most of the tropics. It has no significant eye problems, however. Yellow fever presented little problem from the eye standpoint. Hepatitis was also prevalent but it too presented little difficulty in the eye. Jaundice is the chief ocular sign of these diseases.

Missionary Doctors

There are three missionary doctors who staff the Baptist Medical Center in northern Ghana. George Faile trained at Emory University and is continuing his training in surgery. He founded the hospital ten years ago, having moved from a similar hospital in Nigeria. Bill Richardson trained at St. Louis University where he was in the class with Tom Dooley, the famous missionary doctor of Laos. Bill continues his training in internal medicine. The third man, Frank Ashworth, is a British physician who was with the British Army until Ghana achieved its independence. Frank returned to England for a while but he could not forget the need of the natives of West Africa. He has no doubt that

Dr. E. V. Grace and his son Gene with the natives.

God has led him back to Ghana for the purpose of medical and spiritual ministry.

As a show of pride, I will tell you something of the work these men are carrying on. The pride that I speak of is that which I feel first in knowing and then in being able to share for a very brief time and in a very limited way the witness that is their life's work. Neither one of the three was content merely to have the eye surgery done. Each wanted to learn the techniques of eye surgery as thoroughly as a month would allow. This would seem on the surface an impossibility, to teach someone to do eye surgery in a month! But you must go beneath the surface because here were three men who were already great surgeons.

For instance, it was rather routine for the man on call to do two or more bowel resections within a twenty-four hour period and for him to do two or three cesarean sections in that same period. So to teach them eye surgery was merely to instruct them on some of the finer techniques that are peculiar to ophthalmology. There were certain parts of the instruction that had to be brief, especially the indications for the surgery, the deciding which patients would benefit from it. But the techniques of the surgery itself were easily grasped.

Indeed, each man would observe one or two cataract extractions or corneal transplants and proceed to do the next one himself. And he would do it with the dexterity of a fully trained eye surgeon. Sounds dramatic? Well it was. And this is part of the pride, too.

Not only are they great surgeons, but they see approximately two hundred patients per day per man. Of course, much of this was symptomatic medicine. It had to be.

Hospital

The hospital beds were always filled and, when there were no beds, the patients were placed on the floor. Much of the work was done by natives who had been trained for special jobs on the ward and in the lab and operating room. But, much credit must be given to two missionary nurses who are on the permanent staff. That they also are extremely dedicated goes without saying.

Religious Services

The doctors and nurses, along with the administrator (Don Donnelly), conduct services at various preaching stations. These may be under thatched roofs, with or without surrounding clay walls. They may be simply in a cornfield or under a tree. At these predesignated areas the villagers congregate to sing religious songs and hear the word of God.

Gene Grace and native group in front of huts.

You Should See

When Dr. Faile spoke of the "smoke of a thousand villages," he was stating his own personal challenge rather than indicating the Christian world. But you should see the villages where the word of God is heard and loved. You should hear the voices of these first generation Christians as they are raised in song and you should feel the magnetism of their faith. They are not concerned with theological concepts. They are concerned only with the simple and pure love of God as it was taught by Jesus Christ.

God Is Not Dead

You may hear that God is dead and you may believe it or at least wonder about it. But I can tell you that, in some of the villages that surround the Baptist Mission hospital in Ghana, God is not dead. And as long as Christ infects the heart of those missionaries, God will live in the hearts of the natives they reach. In the midst of the world's criticism of the church, the missionary teaches first principles and helps return the church to its primary mission. And that is to show God's love for man.

Food

The diet is chiefly carbohydrates. Bananas grow throughout the area with little or no cultivation, and they are small, about one-fourth the size of our larger bananas. Cocoanuts are similarly found. Yams constitute a major source of carbohydrates. They grow beneath the plant in several thick root-like structures. When cooked, they resemble the white potato. These are carefully dug up and served in the way that potatoes would be served in this country. Fufu is a mixture of various starchy foods. It is beaten thoroughly by several women, using long tamper sticks. It is quite hot because pepper is mixed in the batter, and the African pepper is the hottest you will ever taste. The Fufu resembles a mush and is eaten with the hands from a bowl. Corn and beans are grown by the natives. The beans seem to grow very well but the corn develops a poor root system in the sandy soil and does not produce well at all. Very little meat is eaten and, of course, protein deficiencies are commonplace.

Culture

Cooking is over an open fire and similar in all respects to that done by campers who forget to bring along the modern devices. In the remote villages, there are few signs of western civilization. Archeologists have been through some of the areas as have the British Army and missionaries from various countries. But the culture has changed little since the Stone Age. As a matter of fact, fire is the last major discovery. This, of course, means that there has been little progress in the last ten thousand years. But it does not mean that the entire country has escaped progress.

Clothes

The clothes they wear are made from material bought at the market. Many men weave the cloth locally and the texture varies from the coarse material of northern Ghana

OCULAR PATHOLOGY

By S. D. McPherson, Jr., M.D.

The N. C. Association for the Blind has contributed $72,000 to the Eye Research program at N. C. Memorial Hospital, Chapel Hill, over the past ten years.

Last year the administration of the University of North Carolina Medical School gave us permission to place a plaque in the laboratory acknowledging the support of the North Carolina Association for the Blind in our various endeavors. These efforts have continued along many lines in this past year.

One of the most promising investigations undertaken deals with homocystinuria. This is a disorder in which an abnormal acid is excreted in the urine and supposedly represent an "inborn errors of metabolism." These disorders have been associated with certain congenital defects. In homocystinuria, we have been able to relate the presence of abnormal urine acid to certain congenital eye disorders such as dislocated lenses, congenital cataracts, abnormalities of the iris and certain disorders of the retina and optic nerve.

Actuol eye surgery is done in the Loborotory of Experimental Ocular Pathology.

Dr. Presley and Mrs. Stinson of our staff, with Dr. Sidbury of Duke, recently undertook a survey of the students at the N. C. School for the Blind in an attempt to determine the incidence of homocystinuria in blind children. Their study disclosed this disorder was present in approximately 16%. This represented the first time that any common single chemical abnormality had been demonstrated in young blind people.

This finding is significant because it indicates that when more is known of the chemical abnormality present in these patients, the possibility exists that many potentially blind people may be helped by chemical readjustments. Some evidence already exists that this abnormality may be helped by the administration of certain components of the Vitamin B complex.

A report of this investigation was recently presented at the national conference of science writers sponsored by Research to Prevent Blindness Inc. and efforts continue in the laboratory to shed more light on this problem.

Presently the mode of inheritance of this disorder is under investigation in one family in which 12 of 27 members, so far examined, have demonstrated homocystinuria. It is hoped that the results of this will aid our understanding of many so called inherited congenital eye disorders.

Mothers Conferences for Pre-school Blind Children

By Rachel F. Rawls

The Conferences for Mothers of Preschool Blind Children are held biennially at the Governor Morehead School in Raleigh. The N. C. Association for the Blind has been supporting this program since it began in 1950. Mothers from all over the state are invited to bring their visually impaired children and spend time in discussing ways of teaching the children basic skills, kinds of educational programs they will have when school time arrives, how visually handicapped adults earn a living, eye care and many other things that mothers want to know about rearing blind children.

School children who have attended a summer conference with their mothers.

In the first few years, a number of mothers attended with children blind because they were prematures and suffered from over-oxygenation. This cause is rare today, but in the future, there may be some mothers with children whose vision difficulty stems from maternal Rubella.

Nineteen families were represented at the 1967 Conference and for the first time more than one father attended.

Prior to the conference, planning by the school and the Commission for the Blind staff goes into the program. The caseworkers for the blind throughout the state visit mothers and families and and discuss the conference in the spring. Letters of invitation are sent to those expressing interest. Caseworkers assist in making plans to attend. Many besides the staff of the Governor Morehead School and the Commission for the Blind donate their time to lead discussions and help plan recreation. Dr. Thomas Haizlip, Director of Child Psychiatry, Dorothea Dix Hospital; Dr. Paul Peebles, Div. of Special Education, State Department of Public Instruction; Mr. Ray Pope, Murdoch Center for Multiple-Handicapped Blind children; Miss Sally Mooring, State Board of Health; Dr. Vonnie Hicks, Jr., Ophthalmologist; Mrs. Sam Beard, Docent from the Hall of History; and the Wake County Lions all participated in the program.

Questions and Answers About Eye Wills

HOW ARE EYES OBTAINED?

Eyes are removed after death from persons who have generously pledged their eyes for this purpose while living.

HOW SOON MUST EYES BE REMOVED AFTER DEATH?

Within 4 hours and used within 48 hours.

DOES AGE MAKE A DIFFERENCE IN DONATING ONE'S EYES?

If the tissue is clear, the eyes of a young or old person can be used.

DOES THE REMOVAL OF THE EYES CAUSE DISFIGUREMENT?

None at all.

CAN MINORS SIGN FORMS—CAN PARENTS SIGN FORMS FOR THEIR MINOR CHILDREN?

No. To sign a N. C. eye donation form, one must have reached his 21st birthday. In the case of the death of a minor, permission for the use of the eyes must be obtained from the next of kin at the time of death.

DOES THE FACT THAT ONE WEARS GLASSES MAKE A DIFFERENCE?

Whether or not you wear glasses has no bearing on the usefulness of the corneal tissue.

CAN EYES BE BOUGHT OR SOLD?

Eyes are NEVER BOUGHT OR SOLD.

IS THERE ANY CHARGE FOR THE EYE-BANK'S SERVICES?

None.

HOW MANY CAN BE HELPED BY THE CORNEAL TRANSPLANT?

It is estimated that 1 out of every 25 blind cases could be helped by the corneal transplant.

DO DONATED EYES SERVE OTHER PURPOSES, TOO?

Yes, they do. We can use all the eyes we can get. Where donated eyes are diseased and cannot be used for grafting, they are carefully studied in research to help find causes and cures for blindness.

ARE LIFE MEMBERSHIPS AVAILABLE?

Yes. Life membership is granted to any person contributing $100.00 to the Eye-Bank Endowment Fund.

Our Very Own Eye Bank

By J. William Rogers, M.D.

There is an urgent need for eyes from willing families of deceased patients, regardless of age or condition of the eyes. What better gift could one leave after death than the restoration of sight to an individual who is living in darkness? Won't you will your eyes today?

The establishment of eye-banks is for the storage and distribution of donated eyes and will improve operative techniques. It is also for the development of exquisite instruments and the introduction of antibiotics. Increasing experiences with the types of conditions in which the operation may be of value have markedly enhanced chances for successful corneal grafting, with resultant useful lives for many formerly doomed to darkness.

Which patients are potential candidates for corneal grafting? One must have a reasonably healthy eye, with the exception of the cornea which is to be transplanted. The cloudy cornea may have resulted from injury, ulcerations with subsequent scarring, or diseases which cause clouding of the otherwise clear cornea.

A graft may be taken from any donor without regard to blood type, condition of the remaining part of the eyes or the presence of glaucoma. Nor do racial characteristics have any effect on the success of the graft. Corneas may be used from almost any age. The willing of ones eyes should be carefully considered by all ages. Even if cornea is not acceptable for grafting, research is needed to carry on this work.

The eye should be removed as soon after death as possible. It must then be stored at about 35°F in a suitable solution, to be used up to several days later. In order for the cornea to remain clear after grafting, the cells of the tissue must still be alive when transplanted; hence, preservation by freezing, formalin, etc., are not acceptable. A few preserved corneas are kept at the eye-banks for emergencies where immediate surgery is necessary to save an eye, but these are later reoperated and replaced with a cornea which has been recently obtained.

Mecklenberg Assn. for the Blind

By LEE A. BURKE, President

On June 6, 1967, during the North Carolina State Lions Convention, the Mecklenburg Association for the Blind dedicated its new building. The building was formally opened by the late Judge James Farthing with the assistance of Lions International President George Berg and past Lions International President John L. Stickley.

The building was almost entirely built by funds raised by contributions from the various Lions members, Lions Clubs, firms with Lion employees and the North Carolina Association for the Blind. The total cost including land, building and furnishings was approximately $90,000. The North Carolina Association gave ten thousand dollars for this building project.

The new building will house the offices of the Mecklenburg Association for the Blind and the James L. Bell Memorial Library. The Mecklenburg Association for the Blind is a private social work agency supported by the Lions of Mecklenburg County and the United Community Services, operated with the thought to help the blind individual help himself.

At the present time the following services are provided: (1) Counseling for newly blinded adults and their families. (2) Assistance from other agencies. (3) Evaluation of visually handicapped children. (4) Counseling with families of blind children. (5) Educational placement. (6) Special adjustment services offered are: home teaching and Braille, housekeeping, cooking, personal grooming and techniques of daily living, assignment and repair of Talking Book Machines, reader location service, transcription of textbook material into Braille and the sale of self-help devices are also carried on.

A program of group activities is now in operation under the guidance of a group worker. This is a new program instituted in our 1967 year.

The James L. Bell Memorial Library is the first of its kind in North Carolina and one of the few in the entire south. About 1958, The Mecklenburg Association and the Special Education Department of the Charlotte-Mecklenburg School System planned and founded a special class for the visually handicapped and blind children in public schools. A most pressing need was the requirement of textbooks and other material in Braille. The Mecklenburg Association began a Braille volunteer unit and later a tape recording volunteer unit.

About 2,000 sq. ft. of floor space is allocated for the library, which will accommodate 2,100 titles of Braille books, an area for reference material, and a reading room. At the rear are two recording rooms, used by tape recording volunteers and as listening booths for blind persons. When Camp Dogwood is in operation, this library can be of significant importance for camp visitors.

The Mecklenburg Association for the Blind is sponsoring and coordinating the efforts of a group of volunteers from Southern Bell Telephone Company to repair all Talking Book Machines in this thirteen county Piedmont area.

The tape recording volunteer unit was formed primarily to provide supplementary books for children who attend public schools. However, they are now recording some of the best sellers to be found each month as well as some classics.

Recently, the Special Education Department of the Charlotte-Mecklenburg School system asked for large print textbook material for visually handicapped children who are not legally blind. About fifty volunteers are working to transcribe the material.

N. C. Society for Prevention of Blindness

The National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, Inc. has organized a division in North Carolina. The sole purpose is to prevent blindness. Mrs. Judy Nooney is the executive director with offices in the Staff House of McPherson Hospital, Durham.

The Society is launching a program for pre-school visual screening. They will be responsible for the training and supervision of volunteers provided by local sponsoring groups in screening the vision of 3 to 5 year old children.

Organization of Wise Owl Clubs will be encouraged in Industrial plants as a safety incentive plan by the Society. This plan recognizes publicly a worker whose eye is saved by proper protection and will encourage fellow workers to protect their eyes.

The Society does a tremendous work in public education by TV, radio, newspapers, pamphlets and catalogues.

Officers and directors are: H. C. Bradshaw, Durham, president; Irwin Belk, Charlotte, first vice president; Dr. Winston Roberst, Winston-Salem, second vice president; Henry V. H. Touch and Know Mrs. Marjorie McCune is a blind caseworker serving in the Asheville area of the N. C. State Commission for the Blind. She is the author of "Toni's Tale," a story told by her guide dog published recently.

By MARJORIE BENNETT MCCUNE

"Do not touch!" These are frustrating words to those who see through the fingertips. It is like putting a man with eager eyes before a great canvas and saying to him, "You must wear this blindfold." Yet on many occasions, when visiting museums and other interesting exhibits, those without vision have often had to shuffle along behind the crowd and get what they could from the experience secondhand.

Not so at the Mary Duke Biddle Gallery for the Blind in Raleigh, North Carolina. There a world of beauty awaits the touch of the sensitive fingers of those who would know and appreciate art without the aid of vision. Much time and thought has been given to the selection of objects which would provide both knowledge and pleasure to those who would handle them. At the entrance to the gallery is a map of the room with a clear explanation in braille of the layout of the exhibit. The objects are arranged at table height for easy reach and are identified in braille on the inner side of a narrow edging.

Since the opening of the gallery in March, 1965, 4,000 blind persons have taken advantage of the opportunity to become acquainted with works of art from around the world. Each exhibit is held for approximately three months and contains pieces of sculpture, both from antiquity and modern times, fashioned by artists of many nations. 249 pieces have been on display since the gallery opened. The majority of these have been on loan from other museums, free dealers and from private collections. Since the objects are selected with great care by the museum, only the best will be available. As art is costly, it will take many years to accumulate a wide selection. The present collection of 85 pieces is valued at $50,000. This is indeed a great treasure. In this museum many persons will have their first experience with art. It will truly be touch and know.

"Hercules and Lichas," a bronze by Antonio Canova, recently presented to the Gallery by the Wake County Medical Auxiliary.

Beauty is felt by the soul and each of the senses serve as a medium to convey the message. As one listens to a great symphony, it is not the ears that enjoy the melody and harmony but rather the aesthetic sensitivity of the listener. It is the soul and not the eyes that rejoices over a beautiful, colorful sunset. The fragrance of a rose goes far beyond the nostrils which first detect it.

My first visit to the museum was in May of 1966 and I can still recall the thrill I found in becoming acquainted through sculpture with faces which I had never seen. I dare to say that most people cannot remember the first time they saw a picture of George Washington. Yet, the day I first met the Father of Our Country through his sculptured form is one that will be remembered. At the same time I found the bust of Ludwig Beethoven, my favorite composer—another thrill for me. On a recent visit to the gallery I became acquainted with the head of Abraham Lincoln.

It is interesting to notice the difference in temperature as the fingers move from wood to bronze to stone. Perhaps for us this is color contrast. In any case, it gives interest and variety to objects of art. It is through shape that the beauty of the work is further enhanced and the message of the artist breaks through.

Just as taste in art, literature and music varies among the sighted, so it is, I am sure, among those without vision. Speaking as one of many who has visited the gallery, I would say that I found the greatest pleasure from the aesthetic point of view in simplicity. Along with the bronze busts of men of the past, I enjoyed the lovely head of an unnamed child. It was a beautiful little girl with something fresh and lovely about the young face that my fingers could not miss.

Target—Diabetes

By SHAW BROWN, State Detection Chairman

The Lions of North Carolina in cooperation with the North Carolina Association for the Blind and the N. C. State Board of Health, have joined together to fight the blinding disease, Diabetes.

More than two million Americans are victims of Diabetes without knowing it.

Diabetes results when the body cannot transform food—chiefly sugar and starch—into energy, tissue and bone. When Diabetes goes undetected, severe complications can develop.

Eye sight may be permanently affected. The nervous system may be harmed. Blood circulation is often impaired, causing gangrene.

In extreme cases, Hidden Diabetics go into a coma which, for some, will be fatal.

These hidden cases are the main reason why diabetes is still the seventh leading cause of death, and the third leading cause of blindness in the United States.

When people know they have Diabetes, they can follow doctor's orders and almost always lead happy, active lives.

That is why the Lions, your Association for the Blind and Health Authorities are spearheading vigorous Diabetes Detection Clinics throughout our State.

Lions Club may sponsor Diabetes clinics and find these hidden diabetics, preventing blindness and save lives.

Scholar Program Sponsored by Association for the Blind

The North Carolina Association for the Blind is sponsoring a scholarship program for the children of needy blind parents. Any high school senior who will attend an institution of higher learning (Technical Institute, Community College, Business College, Junior College, College or University) during the 1968-1969 academic year is eligible provided his parent (The breadwinner) is legally blind. The scholarships will be awarded on the basis of need and academic performance in high school.

Please survey your community for possible future applicants. Your local caseworker for the blind can help you identify eligible applicants. A club is not limited in the number of eligible applicants it may sponsor.

This is a real opportunity to provide financial assistance to some needy and worthy students. The North Carolina Association for the Blind has budgeted $3,150 for nine or more scholarships during the 1968-1969 academic year. No scholarship may exceed $350.

The members of the scholarship committee for this year are as follows: Mr. Lawrence C. Stoker, Dist. 31 A; Mr. James Baldwin, Dist. 31 B; Mr. Harold D. Reid, Dist. 31 C; Mr. William Joyce, 31 D; Mr. Edwin E. Koontz, Dist. 31 E; Mr. Alston B. Broom, Dist. 31 F; Mr. J. Bryant Kirkland, Chairman; Mr. Donald G. Glisson, Dist. 31 J; Dr. Paul Hendershot, Dist. 31 H.

A Dream Come True

Camp Dogwood

Camp Dogwood is finally a reality! This exciting project revealed in the last issue of the WHITE CANE is growing rapidly. A groundbreaking ceremony was held September 24, 1967 and the lodge building will be completed by summer 1968. The camp, built especially for blind North Carolinians, is located at Sherill's Ford on Lake Norman in Catawba County.

The lodge is an exquisite brick building housing the dining area, kitchen, library, office, small living room, large living area, bathrooms and porch. The interior is tastefully designed and decorated.

Fishing may be done from the pier on the deep side of the lake. The swimming area has been carefully prepared with a sand bottom and guidelines for different depths. There is a pier to which boats may be tied.

Plans for a capital campaign to complete the facilities of the camp are underway. When the first phase, including the lodge and facilities is complete, the N. C. Association for the Blind will have appropriated approximately $185,000.

We are indeed proud of the work which has been done on this project and are grateful for many helping hands.

The committee with Armstrong Cannady, chairman, Zebulon, J. D. Huggins and Joe Glynn of Greensboro, Guy T. Ward, Jr., Winston-Salem, John Ed Davis, Shelby, Judge Coleman C. Cates, Burlington, Shaw Brown, Mooresville, Ben Eason, Raleigh and ex officio member President Wm. H. Wynns, Powellsville, have worked together and individually toward fulfilling the dream of the blind people of this state. Our own Lion Bob Frye of Hickory, a member of the construction firm building the lodge, has done an excellent job in overseeing this building project.

The vision of the original group of the North Carolina Association of Workers for the Blind who saw the need for recreational facilities for the blind people in this area is well on the road to completion. With the guidance of the Camp Dogwood committee and the N. C. Association for the Blind working with all Lions and other interested people, the job will be done.

In Raleigh

Clinic for the Blind

The Lions Club of Raleigh, the largest in North Carolina, has added a major triumph to its long list of statewide and local community welfare achievements with the establishment of a unique facility for work evaluation and vocational training of the visually handicapped.

The Raleigh Club formed and incorporated The Raleigh Lions Clinic for the Blind, Inc. in November 1966. This non-profit corporation began operating on January 30, 1967.

This facility, located at 508 Glenwood Avenue, is in the heart of Raleigh and has 28,000 square feet in which to carry on its manifold operations.

This facility was established in cooperation with The N. C. State Commission for the Blind. It does not duplicate any services being furnished the visually handicapped in the state. The clients are sent to the clinic from the various counties in North Carolina. Being referred by the Counselors who work for the Commission.

The clinic has an Evaluation Unit staffed by the Commission. The clinic furnishes the staff for the workshop and training facilities.

The facility also has a large stand which sells food to the clients at reasonable prices.

After the vocational potential of the trainee has been determined, the individual begins active training to make him or her self-sustaining. This training might be in the workshop at the clinic or it could be in some other location.

The clinic workshop works on subcontracts, or manufactures various products, for example: sewing pillow ticks, repairing talking books, building bird feeders and bird houses, sanding and repairing various items, and assembling maintenance kits for large business enterprises.

The Raleigh Lions Clinic for the Blind, Inc. has a 13 man Board of Directors, composed of members of The Raleigh Lions Club, who meet quarterly. Charles E. Graham is President and Chairman of the Board; W. Ray Daniels, Vice President; Leon P. Spencer, Secretary; and Cecil C. "Chuck" Wooten, Treasurer. Russell G. Broaddus is the Executive Director of the Clinic.

(Top) Sorting names and affixing labels is large chore; (center) tying magazines into bundles according to Zip Codes is necessary; and (bottom) after tying bundles must be sorted by city before trip to the post office and put into bags.

Since the clinic opened, it has channelled 26 trainees into gainful employment. It presently has 55 trainees having their work potential evaluated. There are 27 others pursuing training. In the first twelve months, 154 clients were evaluated.

This facility for the visually handicapped, many with multi-disabilities, has grown very rapidly. Today The Raleigh Lions Club, the sponsor who underwrote this project, is looking for land on which to build a permanent home. Since this is a non-profit corporation, contributions to the clinic are tax deductible.

The N. C. Association for the Blind

Official Historical Recognition

A historical marker commemorating the first meeting of the North Carolina Association for the Blind was unveiled beside the Vance Motor Inn in Statesville recently.

The marker has been installed on West Front Street a few feet from the intersection with South Center Street.

Historical markers are authorized and installed under the direction of the Department of N. C. Archives and History.

The East Iredell Lions Club conceived the idea of commemorating the first meeting over a year ago. Since then the department checked the authenticity of the meeting and authorized the marker.

Bill Styers, chairman of the sight conservation committee for the club, initiated the project and pushed it through to completion. President John Whitley and Zone Chairman C. Wilson White worked on the project also.

The first meeting of the N. C. Association for the Blind was held on September 26, 1934, at the Vance Hotel. A small story about the meeting appeared in the local press that week.

From a small beginning, the Association has grown until it is now the largest such organization in the nation. Lions sell memberships in the Association and there are now approximately 100,000 members.

The Association is the organization that secured the founding of the State Commission for the Blind; it also supports research projects; N. C. Eye Bank; Glaucoma and Diabetic Detection Clinics and other projects relating to conservation of sight and prevention of blindness. The White Cane project is the fund-raising activity for the Association.

Lions District Governor Neal Summers of Hiddenite recognized the visiting dignitaries. An official from the Department of Archives and History, Mrs. Elizabeth Willburn, Staff Historian, Div; Historic Sites, made the presentation to Dr. Wm. H. Wynn, president of the Association. Mrs. Kathryne Charles of Raleigh, executive secretary of the Association and a native of Statesville, was present.

Historical marker located in Statesville beside the Vance Motor Inn.

Hugh Mitchell, local attorney, and Lion, was present at the first meeting and was elected secretary. He unveiled the marker in connection with the mid-winter convention of Lions Clubs in the Western North Carolina Districts.

The wording on the marker is as follows: "North Carolina Association for Blind. Held first annual meeting at Vance Hotel September 26, 1934. Leader in movement for state aid to blind."

Machines That Talk

Any citizens of North Carolina who cannot hold a book or read standard size print due to strokes — broken bones—lack of education and training to read, are eligible to receive a Talking Machine and a weekly supply of talking books. The Regional Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped, located at 1124 Hillsborough Street, Raleigh, N. C.

The requirement for this service is a letter from the family physician or house doctor of a rest, retirement home or hospital certifying the condition of the applicant. Lions Clubs throughout the State have projects set up whereby a member of the club will visit rest homes, hospitals, retirement homes, etc., and help the individual obtain these machines and books.

There is on file at the Regional Library over 5,000 short stories and novels, hymns, Saturday Evening Post, Readers Digest, and other items of interest, prepared in talking book form.

Prior to this year, some $2,500 has been furnished by the N. C. Association for the Blind for the repair of the machines for the talking books.

Since June 13, 1967, the North Carolina Telephone Pioneers (telephone people with over 20 years of service) have undertaken the responsibility of keeping all talking machines in service—at no cost to the N. C. Association for the Blind, the State of North Carolina, or individual.

The work is performed by life and active members of the Pioneers at the Western Electric Company, North Carolina Works, located at Winston-Salem, Greensboro, and Burlington.

Throughout North Carolina there are over 3,000 talking machines, which are serviced by Telephone Pioneers.

The service goal of the Pioneers is to pick up a machine — repair or convert — and return within a week. Experience to date indicates most machines are returned to the user within two or three days. Since June, over 64 machines have been repaired and 49 converted to a later model for a total of 113 units.

George Justice, a department chief at the Western Electric plant in Greensboro, North Carolina, and Chairman of the Telephone Pioneers Community Service work, states "The repairing and servicing of Talking Machines and books for the blind and physically handicapped citizens of North Carolina is a most rewarding activity for the active and life members of Pioneering."

The Telephone Pioneers' motto, "Fellowship — Loyalty — Service," is truly exemplified in this project, so states George Justice.

2nd Leading Cause of Blindness

GLAUCOMA

Glaucoma is the second largest cause of blindness. That is why the Lions of North Carolina, the N. C. Association for the Blind and the N. C. State Commission for the Blind put so much effort, time and money into the fight against Glaucoma.

Fourteen percent of all blindness is caused by Glaucoma. It is estimated that there are 1,350,000 Americans now going blind from Glaucoma. Half of these people do not know they have Glaucoma, which can rob you of your sight without warning and without pain. One out of eight blind persons in North Carolina is a victim of Glaucoma.

Five combined Glaucoma and Diabetes clinics will have been held before July 1, 1968. These are the reasons why so much money, time and effort have been given to the fight against Glaucoma and are the reasons why we must double our efforts on all fronts to fight Glaucoma.

Symptoms of Glaucoma

1. Frequent change of glasses, none of which is satisfactory.
2. Inability to adjust eyes to darkened rooms such as theaters.
3. Loss of side vision.
4. Blurred or foggy vision.
5. Rainbow colored rings around lights.

Having one of these symptoms does not necessarily mean that you have Glaucoma, but it does mean that you should go to an ophthalmologist at once for an examination.

Glaucoma can be diagnosed but cannot be cured; however, if treatment is started early the progress of Glaucoma can be checked. Vision that has been lost can never be regained, but the remaining vision in most cases can be retained. The best protection against Glaucoma is periodic eye check by your physician. Every one 35 years of age and older should have a Glaucoma test at least every two years.

Bill Board Advertising Helps Fight Glaucoma and Diabetes by warning the public against Diabetes.

By July 1, 1968, 100 Glaucoma posters and 100 Diabetes posters will have been posted or contracted to be posted. Many billboards were sponsored by Lions Clubs throughout our state. A large number of billboards were donated by the billboard companies.

Clinics Held or Scheduled During Year 1967-68 are as follows:

Glaucoma & Diabetes: Broadway; Raeford; High Point; Lincolnton; and Statesville.

Diabetes: Avery County; Bakersville; Burnsville; Spruce Pine; Hudson; Lenoir; Taylorsville; Mooresville; Marshall; Mocksville; and Troy.

SOME IMPORTANT FACTS

- About 400,000 persons in the United States are blind.
- One and a half million have lost the sight of one eye.
- Over 11 million children need eye care.
- Cataracts cause 20% of the cases of blindness in the United States. Almost 60% of people over 60 have cataracts, with the figure approaching 100% for those over 80.
- About one person in 50 over the age of 40 has glaucoma.
- With more than two million known diabetics, there is a pressing need to investigate the relationship between diabetes and loss of sight.
- Every 20 minutes a man, woman or child goes blind in this country . . . three every hour! The causes of blindness in 80% of these cases are as yet unknown to science.
- $150 million a year is spent on care of those already blind—but only a very small per cent of this amount is spent on research to conquer blinding eye diseases.
- 11,696 legally blind known to be in N. C.

N. C. Association for the Blind, Inc. June 30, 1967 Financial Statement

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Audited Treasurer's Report for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1968 will be available in July 1968 and will be published in the fall issue of THE WHITE CANE.  Amount shown reflects only the actual amount of 1966-1967 White Cane Drive funds received by Association Treasurer as of June 30, 1967.*

Board of Directors
North Carolina Association for the Blind

I have examined the statement of cash receipts and disbursements of the North Carolina Association for the Blind for the year ended June 30, 1967. My examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as I considered necessary in the circumstances.

A substantial part of the receipts of the association consists of contributions, over which no accounting control can be exercised prior to their initial entry in the accounting records.

With the above explanation, it is my opinion that the accompanying statement of cash receipts and disbursements presents fairly the recorded cash transactions of the North Carolina Association for the Blind for the year ended June 30, 1967, on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year. The current year's supplementary data included in schedules 1, 2 and 3 have been subjected to the same auditing procedures and, in my opinion, subject to the above explanation, are stated fairly in all material respects when considered in conjunction with the statement of cash receipts and disbursements taken as a whole.

to the very fine material made by the Ashanti tribes. Clothing has been influenced by western standards and the government is attempting to have people clothe themselves. Still in the remote tribes, clothing is extremely scant. In the market place, women usually wear a wrap-around cloth that covers most of the breasts and the lower body. But in the intimacy of the village, the breasts are usually left uncovered and often there is very little below the waist. Often, the body is devoid of clothing except for a small covering over the genital region for both men and women. Shoes are uncommon and usually are in the form of an open sandal when seen.

Transportation

The transportation consists of a series of large open-bed trucks called lorries. People pack into these so that they are hanging off the sides, and for a very small fare, may travel many miles along the very rough, washed out roads. Occasionally you may see a private car, but they are so infrequently seen that you may drive the hundred and twenty-five miles from the nearest airport without passing another car.

Chiefly, people walk and carry baggage or baskets or wood or whatever on their heads. The massive loads and the remarkable balance are incredible. The roads, then, are chiefly wide pathways for people, sheep, goats, donkeys, turkeys and chickens. They are in poor repair except for the major artery which is similar to a small secondary road in North Carolina. The few paved roads were left by the British and have been fairly well maintained. They provide a fair rate of speed.

Sanitation

The garbage collection is provided by the local sanitation department. This department is run exclusively by vultures. The large birds, somewhat larger than our buzzards, may be seen everywhere. They roost in trees, often in such number that a limb is strained to breaking. They walk in the road beside you, come over quite close to you, perch everywhere along the village houses and among the hospital buildings.

After a while you become accustomed to their closeness. At first, however, while suffering the dysentery that comes with a trip to the tropics, you wonder if they know something you don't!

Gathering of Ghanaians in native attire.

Progress

There has been some progress in Ghana, but it has been hurt by poor management. When the British left, they didn't deplete the treasury. That feat was accomplished by Nkrumah who was a leader in gaining independence. However, he became more interested in pan-African power than in what he could do for Ghanaians. He spent large sums of money on buildings that served only to impress the other countries. He also spent much on ill-advised schemes that proved costly to the government. People believe he turned sizable sums to his own personal gain. At any rate the country soon had a financial crisis which Nkrumah tried to solve by playing the West against the East. More and more he moved his country toward communism. Sensing this and fearing it, the military executed a coup that left Nkrumah in exile. Very real efforts are now being made to return Ghana to social and economic progress.

The history of Ghana is, in a part, the history of the Gold Coast. It tells of the gold, ivory, spice trading that gave way to slave trading. The power of the Ashanti tribes increased as they captured and delivered the other tribes to the slaves. The American Negro traces his ancestry to this area.

Much of the education of Ghanaian children has been afforded by missionaries, both of Protestant and Catholic. The missionary children are usually taught by parents, using the Calvert method of correspondence instruction. In the latter years, the children must go to schools thousands of miles away. This is a sacrifice the missionaries take for granted.

The seasons are two, rainy and dry. During the dry season the humidity is almost nil, the furniture dehydrates and cracks, the skin and mucous membranes dry out, and the land becomes a desert. In the rainy season, everything rusts or molds. Clothes barely dry between rains. Often, heavier materials such as bed linen, surgical drapes and gowns don't dry, limiting the number of needed surgical procedures. The roads wash out, delaying the supplies for long periods of time. But no one is dismayed. They merely await the next day with hope.

Marriage customs are Moslem influenced. A man often has more than one wife, depending on his status. The greater the affluence, the more wives he is expected to have. The poorest farmer may have had fifteen children; perhaps only half will live to adulthood.

In these few pages, I have touched briefly on several aspects of life in Ghana. Let me add that Ghana, as other emerging nations of Africa are, is taking the great leap from the Stone Age into the Twentieth Century. This huge step was taken gradually over many centuries by European nations. It behooves us as citizens of a great nation to assist in any way possible, to share knowledge and material goods, to offer a bridge of brotherhood. Consider these facts: One third of the United Nations Assembly representatives come from those emerging nations. Ghana is one of the most advanced of that number. A socio-politio-economic theme could be developed here. But that is not my purpose. Rather, I'm content to share an experience with readers, many of whom are really missionaries on the home front.

N. C. State Commission for the Blind

MEDICAL

The N. C. Association for the Blind furnishes glasses when no other funds are available; paid some $7,000.00 for drugs used in Commission sponsored eye clinics at McPherson Hospital, Durham and Memorial Hospital, Chapel Hill; and medical equipment and supplies used by the Medical Supervisors throughout the state. The Association in cooperation with local Lions provides equipment for permanent eye clinics.

By MRS. ESTHER CARLYLE

The Medical Division of the North Carolina State Commission for the Blind provides medical eye care for the indigent people of North Carolina, through funds from the North Carolina Association of the Blind plus state and federal funds.

Our objectives to prevent blindness, to conserve sight and restore vision, being met through examinations, treatment and education. The person in need or a member of his family should apply to the county department of public welfare in which he resides. Eye examination clinics are held throughout the State and in medical centers such as Duke, McPherson, North Carolina Baptist, North Carolina Memorial and private physician's and optometrist's offices.

Our services include eye examinations, surgery, treatment, hospitalization, glasses and prosthesis.

Through joint efforts of the North Carolina Association for the Blind, the Rehabilitation Division of the North Carolina State Commission for the Blind, a Visual Aids Clinic has been established at North Carolina Memorial Hospital in Chapel Hill. Dr. Charles W. Tillett, a Charlotte Opthalmologist, examines the severely visually handicapped who might benefit from optical aids.

Through the cooperation of the Lions Clubs of North Carolina and the District Medical Supervisors of the Commission, Glaucoma Detection Clinics are carried out in different areas of the State.

Diabetic Screening Clinics have been combined with Glaucoma Screening with the cooperation of the State Board of Health. The public is welcomed in these clinics.

Our services continue to grow through the cooperation of the North Carolina Association for the Blind and local Lions groups. They have been very generous in the purchase of equipment, glasses and drugs.

SOCIAL SERVICE

The North Carolina Association for the Blind furnishes radios for needy blind persons. We also furnish white cane walking sticks for any legally blind or visually impaired person in North Carolina. Requests may be made through the social workers, County Departments of Public Welfare or directly to the Association, P. O. Box 11315, Raleigh, N. C. 27604.

The N. C. Association for the Blind has given financial assistance for services when there is a need and no other funds are available.

By SHERLEY BLACKBURN

The Social Service Division of the North Carolina State Commission for the Blind provides services to needy blind and visually handicapped persons of our state, enabling each to become a more self-sufficient person and to assist them in living a more satisfying life.

To accomplish this objective, social workers for the blind are assigned to county welfare departments throughout the state. The Division also makes available three other administrative services that include Quality Control, Register for the Blind, and Staff Development.

Aid to the Blind is a title given to financial assistance for persons who qualify for a money payment. This is not a pension. Payment will be stopped when the person is no longer in need or whenever he becomes ineligible. In some cases, a needy person may receive payments of public assistance as well as benefits from Social Security, disability insurance, compensation, pension systems, or private income. For example, if the amount of these benefits, when added to other income, is not enough to meet the person's necessary living expenses, aid to the blind may be paid to make up the difference. The pamphlet entitled "Aid to the Blind in North Carolina" has been prepared for those interested in securing additional information concerning this aid.

Specialized services are those which are adapted to meet the unique needs of persons because of blindness. Among these are help with family and personal adjustment to blindness, instructions and guidance in reading and writing braille, assisting in learning to do things without sight many of the things they did before becoming blind, and procuring specialized aids which enable the blind person to do by touch and sound things that normally require sight. We have a pamphlet entitled "Services for the Blind" for those interested in securing additional information.

These two programs, Aid to the Blind and Services for the Blind, are administered by the State agency through the Social Service Division. The social workers for the blind take applications for Talking Book Machines, and give instructions on the care and use. The social worker takes applications for white cane walking sticks and radios furnished free by the North Carolina Association for the Blind and Lions Clubs and gives instructions in the use of the white cane.

Quality Control reviews are designed to determine whether Aid to the Blind policies in State and Federal regulations are adhered to in the process of determining eligibility for Aid to the Blind.

The Register for the Blind is designed to provide statistical data for surveys, research and program planning such as: a study on the cause of blindness of children under seven years of age; a research study of corneal dystrophy; a survey of blindness and planning service in one large county; a survey of number of Indians on Aid to the Blind; and a study being conducted on the prenatal effects resulting from a Rubella epidemic among pregnant women prevalent a few years ago. All of the information secured from this register is shared with the National Institute of Neurological Disease and Blindness at Bethesda, Maryland, for their use in planning, research, and statistics.

The services and assistance of the Lions Club and the North Carolina Association for the Blind continue to be invaluable in meeting many needs for which resources are not available otherwise. A State Commission social worker will explore available services and/or a particular service. If services outside the Social Service Division are indicated, the individual will be referred to another division of the State Commission for the Blind or to another agency. Such referral includes Rehabilitation and Medical divisions of this agency, the Governor Morehead School for the Blind, and others.

REHABILITATION

The Home Industries program of the Rehabilitation Division is a special project of the Lions Statewide Committee on Work for the Blind and the N. C. Association for the Blind. The Lions sponsored approximately 29 sales and bought gifts for 20 ladies nights which totaled almost $14,000 in sales. The Association has sponsored a sales outlet at Maggie Valley for the past three years in which more than $12,000 of blind made products were sold.

By BRITT L. GREEN

The Rehabilitation Division of the North Carolina State Commission for the Blind provides services to enable visually handicapped and blind persons of our state to return to employment, or to be trained and placed in other employment. The process and services provided may include case finding and referrals, diagnosis and evaluation, counseling, physical restoration, training, placement, placement equipment, and follow-up.

Cases generally come to the attention of the Rehabilitation Division through referrals from the Commission's State Medical Eye Care Program, county welfare and health departments, eye physicians, Lion's Clubs, North Carolina Association for the Blind, Governor Morehead School, various state institutions and agencies, interested individuals, and self-referrals.

The Lions Statewide Committee on Work for the Blind has supported and promoted the Home Industries program for blind craftsmen since 1965. Lions Clubs sponsor local sales of products and buy gifts for ladies nights through this outstanding program. The above trailer was used by Mooresville Lions who again sponsored a sale of products by blind craftsmen.

After identification, diagnostic and evaluative services are necessary to determine the extent of the visual and physical impairments. Also, the interests and capabilities of the individual are assessed to determine eligibility and work potential. Many of these services, such as eye and physical examinations and psychological testing, may be done locally where the required personnel and facilities are available.

Counseling is a very integral and important part of the total rehabiliation process. Counseling in the evaluation process is an aid in determining services needed, employment objective, steps necessary to reach selected objective, in outlining and planning the client's responsibility and the agency's, in attainment of the employment objective, and in supporting the client and family in the overall rehabilitation process. Not only offered in home situation, but continued—if he moves into facilities such as the Raleigh Lion's Clinic for the Blind, Rehabilitation Center for the Blind, or the Governor Morehead School.

Management in the various workshops for the blind has cooperated in establishing a new counseling program for clients in the shops. The Governor Morehead School and the Raleigh Lion's Clinic for the Blind have cooperated with the Rehabilitation Division of the Commission for the Blind in the establishment of an adolescent adjustment program in which counseling is one of the key services provided. Last year, Western Carolina University cooperated in the establishment of a college preparatory course for students who expect to enter college in the fall.

Through a program of physical restoration, the Division provides not only eye surgery and/or treatment to restore or retain vision, but also general and speciality types of surgery and treatment to restore the client to his greatest physical capacity, provides glasses and special visual aids recommended by specialists.

Placement (equipment provided when necessary) is accomplished in private industry, the Bureau of Employment supervised stand program, workshops, self-employment and in professional areas. A home industries program of self-employment is available to home bound individuals. After services have been completed, a follow-up period of counseling is required with client, employer and supervisor.

Recent legislation pertaining to the severely and multi-handicapped has been passed by Federal and State governments. This legislation has expanded vocational rehabilitation programs and provided the tools and financing for necessary services and staff.

By W. W. HUDSON, General Manager

The Industries of the Blind in Greensboro, was organized in 1934 under the name "Guilford County Association for the Blind" by Mrs. Meyer Sternberger. After a rough beginning, three Greensboro Lions practically took over with the State Commission for the Blind.

The shop is incorporated in the state as a non-profit organization and controlled by a board of 12 directors. Most of these are Lions and serve without pay. We receive some assistance from the North Carolina State Commisison for the Blind and some Federal funds in capital expenditures for buildings and some new machinery.

In 1941 the name was changed to Guilford County Workshop for the Blind and in 1957 to Industries of the Blind. Blind workers, from all over the state, are sent to our shop and at present there are over sixty counties represented among our workers. Thus a broader area of service to North Carolina.

The shop has expanded operations, production and sales. Mr. O. D. Nelson is president of the board with Mr. Dallas E. Gwynn, Sales Manager, other personnel, including 98 blind workers. Mr. Harold Hosley, deceased, the previous manager, served the shop ably for more than 21 years.

In 1967 another addition was started, the second in less than three years, which is almost completed. This will give us more than 70,000 square feet of floor space. We hope to place 25 or 30 more blind people in gainful employment. Our sales continue to increase throughout our present sales outlets but we have not reached the peak of our production possibilities.

We are very grateful to the Lions clubs in the state who conduct sales of brooms and other items. This is a large source of sales to our shop and helps to keep our blind employees working full time.

The North Carolina Bureau of Employment for the Blind, Inc., acting as the legal designated agent for the N. C. State Commission for the Blind, continues to provide constant and perpetual employment opportunities for feasible blind persons.

The Bureau is currently employing 122 blind persons in the 110 operations at an average weekly salary of $56.97.

Employee fringe benefits, totally financed by the Bureau include free hospital insurance coverage, vacations with pay, accumulated sick leave with pay and Social Security participation. Additional fringe benefits recently effectuated include a Retirement Trust Plan on and for blind employees of the Bureau and Life Insurance coverage of $1,000.00 per blind employee.

During the past fiscal year, the Rehabilitation Division of the Commission referred ten visually impaired persons to the Bureau for employment training. All successfully completed training and were employed by the Bureau.

The members of the Commission for for the Blind, the members of the Bureau of Employment for the Blind and the hundreds of blind persons who have benefited from training and employment with the Bureau program, express their appreciation to the over 15,000 Lions in 394 Lions Clubs of North Carolina, the N. C. Association for the Blind, labor and management of numerous manufacturing plants, and thousands of interested Tarheels for cooperative efforts in bringing about their cooperative efforts in bringing about economic security for blind employees through the N. ESTIMATED INCIDENCE OF BLINDNESS: In the United States there are more than 32,000 new cases of blindness each year, both those born blind and those who become blind. More than half of the new cases occur in persons 65 and older. The prevalence figure does not rise by 32,000 each year because of the number of deaths in the blind population.

Shown in the bottam picture are members of the Harrisburg Lions Club af Harrisburg, N. C. in Cabarrus County oiding o blind couple, Mr. ond Mrs. Larry Hortsell, during the summer months by instolling o new swing an the porch of the Hortsell home. The porch bannisters ond the hond rail ot the steps (top photo) were loter installed by this active Lions club.—(Phcta by Henry C. Pierce)

SOME SERVICES TO THE BLIND: Income Tax: Each blind person is allowed an extra $600 exemption on his federal income tax.

Financial Aid: The states and the federal government cooperate in providing monthly financial assistance to blind persons who cannot support themselves.

Libraries: The Library of Congress administers an extensive program providing reading matter to the nation's blind persons and to those so visually handicapped that they cannot read ordinary print. Books and magazines printed in braille and recorded on Talking Book discs and tape are available free on loan from 34 regional libraries.

IF YOU WALK WITH A BLIND PERSON: Let him take your arm. Don't push him! The motion of your body will tell him what to do.

IF YOU EAT WITH A BLIND PERSON: Read the menu and prices to him. If he wants help, cut his meat, fix his coffee, etc. Tell him the position of the food on his plate.

IF YOU LIVE OR WORK WITH A BLIND PERSON: Never leave a door ajar! Keep corridors clear of clutter. Tell him if furniture is moved.

IF YOU TALK TO A BLIND PERSON: A blind person can hear as well as you, sometimes better. Always talk directly to him, not through his companion.

IF YOU SEE A BLIND PERSON: When showing a blind person to a chair, put his hand on the back. He will be able to seat himself easily.

IF YOU DIRECT A BLIND PERSON: give directions as clearly as possible. Left or right according to the way he is facing.

IF THE BLIND PERSON HAS A DOG: Remember that the dog is a working dog, not a pet! Don't divert his attention—his master's life depends on his alertness.

IF THE BLIND PERSON IS ALONE: Always identify yourself when entering a room if a blind person is alone. Don't play any "guess who" games!

Accumulative Memberships

Lions who sell as much as $50.00 worth of memberships in any one year may add the amount accumulated from year to year beginning with 1963 totals. Any amount less than $50.00 a year does not count toward accumulated totals.

From the President:

Eros W. Pitts

Thanks for the privilege and opportunity to serve as President of your Association.
Some of our goals this year are (1) to place the Association on a sound financial basis; (2) to expand and improve direct services to the blind people of North Carolina; (3) to increase our activities in the area of sight conservation and the prevention of blindness; (4) to promote peace, understanding and cooperation among all agencies working for the blind; (5) to provide better informational services and communication first through a quarterly magazine.
We have selected our committees very carefully and they are working diligently on the overall program of the Association. Our District Governors are a fine dedicated group of Lions who are helping develop and build toward a larger and even better Association.
We welcome your comments and suggestions and earnestly solicit your support and your cooperation.

President Pitts has served the Association well these first few months of his term and is working diligently to direct its continued growth. New programs are in the making with more members actively participating. It certainly is a challenge to work with so many eager and interested members of the Association. With this excellent leadership and team work, North Carolina will shine brightly in promotiong work for the blind.

A LION'S THOUGHTS

In a world filled with so much bitterness, stumbling from blunder to blunder, hollow with graves and filled with hate, we need a broader vision of the needs of all mankind, and a deeper compassion to fill those needs. We need a planting of the seeds of concern for all humanity in our hearts—for a tapping of the wells of generosity. We need to live together as people who have been forgiven a great debt; we need to be gentle, walking softly with one another. We need understanding, lest we add to the world's sorrow or cause to flow one needless tear. We need to be as anxious that the rights of others shall be recognized as we are that our own shall be established. We need to be as eager to forgive others as we are to seek forgiveness. We need to be ministers of mercy and ambassadors of kindness . . . for kindness is the music of goodwill to men; and on this harp the smallest fingers in the world, even yours and mine, can play Heaven's sweetest tunes on earth.

A REPORT ON THE 1968-1969

The WHITE CANE DRIVE

By Lawrence C. Stoker, State White Cane Director

Lawrence C. Stoker

As we approach this Holiday Season, many things cross my mind concerning the happenings of the past several weeks and those things that may be accomplished during the coming weeks. Time is passing so fast and big things are happening because the Lions have been working. Yes, the Lions of North Carolina are putting together the greatest White Cane Drive ever.

Reports are coming in steadily and I expect them to increase rapidly in the next few weeks. I am indeed proud of these reports! Several clubs have made outstanding gains this year and their stories reflect the true spirit of Lionism. It can be done everywhere—it is up to you and me while there is still time. Success can be attained and most of all, service can be rendered.

Although the official dates for the White Cane Drive vary in each District, it is my hope that each District, Governor and District Director will extend the time necessary to enable your District to become 100%. Make that telephone call or write that letter now—a little encouragement will do so much. All of us will be busy with the Holidays but let us not forget the White Cane Drive until each club has done its best and has reported. Mid-Winter Conventions are only weeks away and I would like to have a good report for your District.

I wish to personally thank each District Officer for your wonderful support and cooperation extended during this Drive. Your continued help, efforts and patience will be needed until every Club in each District has reported. And when this time arrives, I sincerely believe, with your genuine interest, that we will surpass our State Wide Goal of $12.00 per member.

Best wishes for your continued success and progress in Lionism and may you and yours have a most joyous Holiday Season.

WHAT IS THE DEFINITION OF BLINDNESS?

For one who still has some vision, he is legally blind if one of these conditions exists: if his central visual acuity in the better eye is 20/200 or less (that is, if at a distance of twenty feet he sees less than a person with normal vision sees at two hundred feet), or if his field of vision is so restricted that he can see only a very limited area at a time and hence can make very little practical use of his vision.

The State Department of Public Instruction provides instructional services for about 525 visually handicapped pupils in North Carolina public schools. This includes blind pupils who use braille as their reading medium and partially seeing pupils who use large type or need limited amounts of regular print.

Blind and partially seeing pupils are placed in a regular classroom with the supportive services of instructional materials and in some administrative units—special teachers. Some of the materials include braille writers, typewriters, braille books, large type books, special paper, and geographic and mathematic aids. An effort is made to have available in braille and large type the State adopted basal textbooks provided from Federal and State funds.

Local school administrative units which have a concentration of visually handicapped pupils have special teachers who work with these pupils in individual or small group sessions. There are presently nine State allotted resource and itinerant teachers serving visually handicapped pupils in the following administrative units:

Asheville City Schools
Buncombe County Schools
Charlotte/Mecklenburg Schools
Greensboro City Schools
New Hanover County Schools
Pitt County Schools
Winston-Salem/Forsyth Schools

Resource teachers are located in one school where they are available at all times to work with the assigned six to ten pupils who need daily assistance. Instruction is given in the use of special equipment and materials and tutorial or remedial help is given as needed. The resource teacher works closely with the regular classroom teacher so large type or braille materials may be ready for use by the pupil in the classroom. Itinerant teachers, like resource teachers, give direct and indirect service to ten to twenty visually handicapped pupils, but travel to the schools where they are enrolled in regular classrooms.

Program development and supervision of State-wide services for visually handicapped pupils attending public schools is under the direction of the Special Education Section of the State Department of Public Instruction.

Two Lions Visit

Lake Joseph Holiday Centre

The 1968 convention of the American Association of Workers for the Blind was held in Toronto, Ontario. Lions Ben Eason, Bill Joyce, and Executive Secretary Kathryne Charles attended the convention. We were most fortunate in arranging a spend the day trip to the Lake Joseph Holiday Centre, a vacation place for the blind people of Ontario. The Lions of Ontario built this lovely Centre and it certainly is a well planned and well built facility. It is approximately 150 miles northwest of Toronto and is located on Lake Joseph, one of the many clear, cold, beautiful lakes in western Ontario.

Our day was perfect and we were so pleased to see that our Camp Dogwood project is very similar to the Lake Joseph Holiday Centre. Director John Simmons of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind was most accommodating in answering many questions for us. We enjoyed a very nourishing lunch with the vacationers and were given a delightful tour including a thrilling boat ride.

Since Lions Eason and Joyce are members of the Camp Dogwood committee, they were able to bring to the committee pertinent facts concerning plans and operation of a successful camp. This knowledge along with the evaluation camping period at Camp Dogwood in August will be very helpful in making our basic plans for operating the camp next season.

MARSHALL: Equipment to be used for eye clinics in Madison County was dedicated recently at the Madison County Health Center. The modern equipment was made possible by the combined efforts and donations of the Marshall and Hot Springs Lions Clubs and the N. C. Commission for the Blind.

District representatives, welfare personnel, Health Department officials, and other Lions attended the dedication.

Federal Legislation

Architectural Barriers

On August 12, the President signed S. 222 into law. As Public Law 90-480 it provides that buildings owned, constructed, leased, or renovated by the federal government shall be free of architectural barriers that prevent ready access and use by physically handicapped persons. In addition, the law covers buildings constructed in whole or in part by means of loans or grants from the federal government. Exempted are small residential units and military installations for the use of able bodied personnel.

HICKORY: Lions Van Teague and Ned Armstrong both Past Presidents of the Hickory Lions Club recently participated in the dedicatory ceremonies of the opening of an In-Plant Food Service unit in the Southern Desk Company, Longview Plant in Hickory. The In Food Service units are a program of the North Carolina Bureau of Employment which offers employment to blind and visually handicapped people of this state. Lion Armstrong is presently serving as Chairman of Zone 5 in District 31-B and is Sales Engineer with the Southern Desk Company in Hickory.

Camp Dogwood . . .

FIRST CAMPERS

In August 1968, the Association, Lions, N. C. Association of Workers for the Blind, and interested individuals opened the doors to another great service for the blind people of our state. Camp Dogwood opened for a two week evaluation period which met with tremendous success.

Camp Dogood is located on Lake Norman in Catawba County on state road 1849 which runs off N. C. 150 near Terrell. It is a 40 acre plot with gently sloping terrain which is topped with a grassy knolled point bordering the lake. Woods and some rough terrain are available for the rugged adventurers. An outdoor camping area consisting of five lean-tos, toilet and picnic facilities is completed plus the lovely lodge building which is the center for all activity.

The Association sponsored a special two week period of camping which accommodated approximately 75 campers in two one week periods. We were very fortunate in securing the volunteer services of Sea Explorer Skipper, Al Fahnrich, and some of the members of Ship 179 of Burlington to direct and staff the camp. They were joined by some of the boy scouts of Troop 348 from Statesville for part of the two week period. Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Wood of Raleigh helped coordinate the activities of the first week and Miss Marjorie Pearce, a member of the staff of the N. C. State Commission for the Blind, served the second week.

There were a number of other volunteer helpers who played a vital part in the operation of the camp during this period. Also, many, many local businesses and residents contributed food, equipment and services. These are the people who joined together to provide the most memorable experience in the lives of the blind and visually handicapped campers. As usual, our faithful Lions worked tirelessly and behind the scenes to assure the success of this venture.

The following excerpts from letters speak for the campers themselves. Some were written to Armstrong Cannady, chairman, Camp Dogwood committee, some to Skipper Fahnrich and some to Mrs. Charles.

Letters

Dear Mrs. Charles:

My flair for self-expression seems very inadequate when I begin to convey my sentiments about Camp Dogwood and the experiences I gained there last week.

I'm so glad I had the good fortune of becoming a part of this pilot program. I only wish I could attend the evaluation meeting and know every possibility for all the things to look forward to in the future there. Consider yourself forewarned that next summer I intend to be a volunteer something—doorkeeper, telephone answerer, chaplain, dishwasher or something. Living so near I could even commute if necessary.

Please do let me know if there is anything at all I might do to help in any way I possibly can right now. I'm not a very good representative of the blind community, since I'm in the minority of those without gainful employment. (I read just today about the AAWB thing in Toronto and the area of multiply handicapped blind which you are now getting into, so perhaps there is hope for me here, too.) However, I think what I'm lacking in status I can compensate with my enthusiasm about Camp Dogwood.

The facility speaks for itself I think. It was as luxurious as an ocean liner! But for me the people were the unique feature of my memorable encampment—voyage! The ubiquitous Mr. (Skipper) Fahnrich and his crew of Sea Explorers navigated a program for the good ship Dogwood that can never be equalled in years to come! I cringe to think of a more regimented program, with basket-weaving every day from 2 till 4, etc. The flexibility of Mr. Fahnrich's program was the most enchanting part of our "cruise"!

I'm still awed by just how much of yourselves all of you put into those two weeks—all the very hard work, and all the heartwork! There cannot be enough praise for all of you. And as for criticism, I have none; I heard none from anyone else. I thank all of you and congratulate all of you on such a success.

Linda Goodson
Lincolnton, N. C.

Dear Gentlemen:

Camp Dogwood is a nice, beautiful and peaceful place. I'd rather live there than here at home.

There is nothing I don't like about Camp Dogwood. You get enough food to eat, you can catch good fish and the swimming area is just great. It is not too cold or hot in the lodge and it is a very comfortable place. The showers are great, so are the people.

I hope more of Camp Dogwood will be finished next summer because I want to go back.

Robert Moore
Statesville, N. C.

Dear Members of the Lions Club, and the Association for the Blind:

I want to tell you what I think about Camp Dogwood. I think it is a very nice place to stay for a vacation. I liked it so much that I wish I could stay there for ever and ever. The building is safe for blind people, and me and my twin brother.

I want to tell you something. When I left from Camp Dogwood, and when I got home I was very sad to leave there. And I am still sad too. I wish I could stay there for ever and ever, but I know it won't come true, but I wish it could come true, because I miss that place very much.

I had a lot of friends there, they said they liked us very much, and I liked them too. They are very, very nice to me and my twin brother.

I think you all have done a very nice thing for us. And other people too. I want to thank you very much for doing this. Let the others read this too, because I think they should know how I think. I want to thank you again.

Well I have to close this letter now. Write back if you can. Good-bye now.

Dear Mr. Cannady:

The long-felt dream of Camp Dogwood is beginning to take form now. To those of us who tramped so many acres for a suitable place, the dream is genuine. Allow me to express many thanks for inviting me to join the happy campers of the first week. The plans were so well organized that it seemed as though we were walking into a place that had been in operation for quite a while. In June you promised this, and the blind people of the state should be very grateful for your untiring efforts.

Katherine Charles, the kitchen staff and Mr. and Mrs. Wood certainly made the first week memorable. The Skipper and explorers were tops also. Shall we also mention Shaw, who did so much to make it a success. Hats off to all of you.

It is very true that the dormitories are the next step; however, many blind people feel that the duplex type of building—or cottages, will be the answer to the most enjoyable camping. Blind people are no different from sighted. It is difficult to throw too many together and expect the same interests. It cannot be done. After two dormitories have been built, I hope that the planning committee will focus its interest on family-type arrangements. In the end, you will see that they will be used more extensively. The overall master plan is very good. Upon completion Camp Dogwood will be something new and different to the South. The opportunities for fun and recreation cannot be surpassed.

In closing allow me to express again my appreciation for a very enjoyable week. I doubt that the second was any better than ours. We were a crazy lot. If I can be of help, please call on me. North Carolina is mine, too.

Myrtle H. Garris
Washington, D. C.

Dear Campers,

The weather has cooled and I am sure everyone is having a good time. I surely hope it is as good as we had last week.

I have thought many times of the wonderful patience and help given by the Skipper and his kind Sea Scouts. They surely looked after me at the table because I gained four pounds last week.

My radar guide, Gary, said it was the best time of his life. As many will tell you he was my guide and he was not able to see at all but he knew where to find everything including the candy and drink machine. Bobby and Roberta said it was a wonderful week.

It will be a long time before I will forget the good meals prepared by Mrs. Dellinger and her cooking staff.

And for the good Lions, it seems as if they went all out. When Shaw Brown came to the dance he brought a string band, a light foot, a good voice for the singing and two beautiful daughters who took part in everything. Mr. Clarence White was on the job, and I think that Armstrong Cannady has something on his mind because he surely was kind and helpful.

With much kindness and best regards I remain respectfully your camping friend,

R. Waverly Lucas
Tarboro, N. C.

Gentlemen:

I want to express my thanks to the people who thought of the idea of Camp Dogwood. I would also like to thank you for getting the Skipper and the Sea Scouts and Boy Scouts.

In the future, I'm sure I will return to Camp Dogwood, but the first one-week stay will always be an important highlight which I will always remember.

When we arrived Sunday, we were given a tour of the camp. Some of us went swimming. After supper, we had a period of getting acquainted. The rules were also read, and I think all the rules you have are very reasonable. Later on that week, I went on a canoe ride for the first time. I enjoyed it so well I went four more times. The Scout that took me taught me to paddle, and I really enjoyed it. Also during that week, a couple of us were talking about a speedboat, and we had a chance to ride one on Saturday. I also like to go horseback riding. During that week, I was talking to the boy in charge of the horses, and I asked him if there was a trail that we could ride along, because I like to trot. He knew a trail, but to get to it it was necessary to go over a rough path. The place we had to go through to get to the trail was too rough. It would be nice if you could have a trail and a fenced-in place, and also a couple of extra horses. Sometimes people had to wait to ride.

One of the things I would suggest would be to have a special place for the people who would want to play the piano and sing. As you know, the piano, TV, and the people talking, were in the same place, and that was a noisy combination sometimes.

There are many suggestions I have, but right now I can't think of any.

I'm sure I can say for everyone what a great week it was.

DEBBIE WHALEY
Raleigh, N. C.

Gentlemen:

Hi, this is an amused, a very happy, and somewhat fatigued Don Whaley writing you this afternoon. It would take a couple of years to tell you all the things I did while at camp but I'll just set down some of the better things.

Games. Well, there is nothing in which luck plays such a vital part of life as the Bingo game. The braille boards were amazingly clear and I had the good fortune to win twice out of about five games one evening. It's too bad that on that particular evening, we were playing for candy bars and not quarters. As the Romans of old would write in Latin, pecunia olet (money talks). But on another day, the highly publicized scrabble game came up for grabs. Miss Pearce, a supervisor or counselor, and one of the campers, Gladys Tally, and myself had the good fortune to match wits over a scrabble board. Dick Cabbot's TV show was especially good that morning with a couple of popular singing groups and comedians. Scrabble was a big let-down after such an entertaining bit of television. Boy, you talk of winning, I thought I had it all sewed up—all sewed up, that is, until Miss Tally latched onto some double and triple score blocks. I was indeed glad when Mess Call came around and I didn't have to publicly lose. (You will I trust pardon the simple grammar, but it's more effective this way.)

Music. Camp Dogwood, last week, was no place for a person who didn't love, or at least tolerate, music. Between Henry Wood's renditions of some old hymns and other Roaring Twenties' melodies, and Cindy Donnell and Linda Goodson's folk ballads, the joint was musically jumping. I suppose I played a couple of bars myself, during the course of the week. All the campers will attest to the fact that I kept my musical numbers at a minium. Ho ho.

Horses. We were overjoyed at reading in the letter that you hoped to have horseback riding. Without any malice toward the horses or the personnel, just let me share with you an amusing little anecdote concerning myself and these antique beasts of burden. On about Friday afternoon, I believe, the day was a sluggish one. The political convention had quietened down and there was nothing much going on at the lodge. I strolled out on the little private road and was accosted by Cindy who cordially gave me opportunity to ride. One horse had the reputation to be slow, while the other was a little faster after much prodding. I had, for the entire week ridden the slow horse, and I had, only once, succeeded at getting him to a decent trot. Well, Friday was going to be different, if I had anything to do with it—this day was to be my real riding adventure. After ten of those very slow minutes on George, the plodding old lazybones, Cindy and I exchanged horses. It would be good at this point to tell you that the hour was half past three and the sun seemed at its hottest. I suppose, had I been a horse, and carried someone as tiring as Don Whaley or Cindy Donnell on my back, I would be rather tired. Well, George and Leroy were no exceptions.

Having exchanged horses, it became imperative to give Leroy a little kick in the sides. Unlike George who had to be switched and prodded every moment, I got quick results with Leroy. Preparing at any moment to duck my head in readiness for overhanging branches and limbs, we set out at the fastest gallop or run I have ever witnessed. Because the giant I rode was hitting the ground with his hoofs with so much gusto, it became impossible to hear Cindy's horse! After assuring myself with several yells to her and from her, we were off like lightning. I guess I must have ridden three minutes at a breakneck pace. There wasn't a weak tooth in Leroy's mouth as I gleaned from my vain attempts at getting my steed to "whoa!" All of a sudden, I heard a door on either side and we were in the barn. As his hoofs hit some new hay, I pulled him to a stop. Boy, was I glad to hear Cindy come galloping up behind. Unfortunately for our two four-legged friends, they were unable to feast on that water trough awaiting them.

Water. Very little should be said, because of self-incrimination, about the water sports in which I participated. Some very unroutine canoe trips as witnessed by Rick (one of the Sea Scouts) and Linda Goodson would do better to be mentioned only as very good times. One of the many photographers who owned a speedboat most obligingly gave us a good ride and some sore back pockets. I am every-day grateful for the good times afforded me on the little two-horse motorboat and the fine swimming facilities. Next year, I hope to get in some fishing.

Now for the suggestions, etc. Many of the folks attending the camp were totally blind and therefore couldn't see who was near them. There was ever repeated the cry for a soundproof music room. And if such a room materialized, I would suggest that it be built to accommodate quite a few individuals in the event of a dance or other sing-alongs as I had to hide from Friday night. I would thank you for the beach where one can seek seclusion for himself at times when the noises of the lodge become unbearable. Also, with a smile, I would remember the public road adjoining the camp. The little private road is wonderful, and I'm expecting great things from the nature trail. But it was a real adventure to make at least three miles in one stretch each day. I only hope that next year, I can get some campers or some of the staff to join me on these little excursions down Highway 150. Once again, in closing, let me commend the fine camp, staff, and the other visually handicapped campers for a wonderful and refreshing week. I would not have sacrificed one waking hour to have been away from the camp. The kitchen staff is to be especially commended for its efforts. Best of luck to the Association on your improvements. But, just for the sake of us suburban middle-classers, don't modernize your facilities too much. I only wish you folks could have been able to have started sooner. My best to all.

DON WHALEY
Raleigh, N. C.

Dear Mr. Cannady:

Because of the very nature of the relaxed, carefree week which I recently spent at Camp Dogwood from 8-18 until 8-25-68, I find that I can express my appreciation only informally to you, to the other members of your Committee, and to all those who had any part in planning this delightful camp for blind and visually handicapped persons and in helping it to become a reality. This was my first week-long vacation in seven years and the only time in my life that I have been able to turn the cooking, cleaning, etc. over to somebody else and do nothing but enjoy the water, the sunshine, the pure air, outdoor activities, and all the wonderful day and night sounds and smells. It was during this week that I took my first horseback ride with an Explorer Scout, Steve, riding beside me and holding my reins. I must admit that I had some misgivings when I found myself perched high in the air and I remember wishing the saddlehorn were longer so that I would have more holding room for both hands. After I got the feel of the animal beneath me and the rhythm of his gait, however, I was all right. Now I find myself looking forward to riding again. I have been swimming since I was four years old so this was no new experience; however, it was fun going into the water several times a day or just lolling around and playing with my friends while wearing a life preserver. I think I took my first boat ride in the Pamlico River when I was a teenager, but people always seem to be more interested in fishing than in riding a boat. The day and night rides with my friends on the pontoon boat which had been loaned to the camp were experiences I shall always treasure, together with our early morning and night fishing expeditions on the pontoon boat during which the fish were either not around or were not hungry. I loved the little motorboat and the sailboat, but I especially enjoyed the little canoe. In it we could paddle close enough to shore so that I was able to see cottages, boats, boatdocks, etc. I also enjoyed the light, unsafe, wobbly feel of it and the occasional splashing by passers-by. During my quieter moments late at night, the smell of the woods permeated the air and the night sounds were beautiful, the sounds of peace, of Mother Nature at her best—the crickets, the tree toads, the katydids, the quacking of ducks, an occasional jumping fish, a dog barking in the distance, and the far-off sound of a whip-poor-will. This is Camp Dogwood, a place I learned to love so much that when I had a chance to return for a few more hours last week-end, I did so and spent Saturday afternoon catapulting through the water on a speedboat. I cannot end this letter without mentioning a picnic area, a rugged lean-to, or a comfortable lodge with its air-conditioning, beautiful furnishings and pictures, and luxurious carpeting. My hope is that these facilities can be enlarged so that many more blind persons can know and share in an experience such as mine.

Thank you again.

For Marjorie McCune

Autograph Party

Everybody loves a party! The autograph party for Marjorie McCune in October at the Mary Duke Biddle Gallery for the Blind at the North Carolina Museum of Art was a momentous occasion.

Mrs. Dan K. Moore purchased the first copy of Toni's Tale for her grandchildren. Mrs. McCune and Toni greeted Raleigh Mayor Travis Tomlinson and 350 other guests during the afternoon.

Mrs. McCune presents the first autographed copy of Toni's Tale to Mrs. Moore, North Carolina's First Lady.

The North Carolina Art Society honored Mrs. McCune with a reception after the autographing was done.

In addition to the proceeds from books sold at the party, there is over $1,000 in the Majorie Bennett McCune Purchase Fund. A search is underway for a suitable piece of sculpture for the Gallery, hopefully, an original bust of the late Helen Keller.

Toni's Tale is a delightful story of the life of a Seeing Eye Dog. Toni tells her own story of discipline in training and devotion in service. It is illustrated with pictures of Toni and Mrs. McCune in their busy life of social work and lecturing in Asheville and western North Carolina. The book may be purchased from the North Carolina Museum of Art and the proceeds will continue to build up the Marjorie Bennett McCune Purchase Fund. The price is only $2.50 per copy.

GALLERY FOR THE Blind NEWS

Abraham Lincoln

A bust of Abraham Lincoln by Daniel Chester French, which was used as a study for French's Lincoln Memorial statue in Washington, has been given to the Mary Duke Biddle Gallery for the Blind at the North Carolina Museum of Art by Readers' Digest, Inc.

Charles W. Stanford, Jr., curator of education at the museum who had an article on the Gallery for the Blind published in Readers' Digest in November, 1967, announced that the bronze bust came from the collection of the artist's daughter, Mrs. William Penn Cresson.

French (1850-1931) was 65 when he began the statue of Lincoln for the Lincoln Memorial and the first studies were done in 1920. The statue progressed from a small clay sketch less than three feet high to an eight-foot plaster model which was enlarged and carved from 28 blocks of marble.

In the first study, only the gaunt form, the powerful hands, and ridges of folds in trouser and coat were evident. The final plaster model sharpened details and slightly modified the pose of legs and hands.

The bust of Lincoln was first shown at the Raleigh museum last spring in an exhibition in the Gallery for the Blind. In the show, entitled "Portraits in Sculpture," it proved to be one of the most popular pieces.

Mrs. Marjorie McCune, a blind visitor to the gallery from Asheville, said of the Lincoln head, "Through the bronze bust so beautifully sculptured, I gained a clear mental picture of the man's appearance. The heavy tousled hair, the high cheekbones and lined face, the firm mouth and pointed chin, the ample beard and sideburns—all were recognized by touch—so clear was the work of the artist."

Stanford stated that it was through sculpture such as the Lincoln head that blind students can connect art and form with their study of history, thus giving relation to several studies at once.

Groups of students from the Governor Morehead School visit the Gallery on a regular basis. The Lions Clinic and Evaluation Center sends people weekly, and it is hoped that a similar arrangement will be possible with the Butner Rehabilitation Center. Social workers with the Blind in nearby counties have brought or provided names for community volunteers to bring groups from Durham, Harnett, and Person counties. Mr. Sherley Blackburn made arrangements for the field representatives of the various district offices of the North Carolina Commission for the Blind to visit the Gallery on their recent meeting in Raleigh, and they may be able to stimulate more trips to the Gallery for the Blind across the state. Work has begun to encourage Lions Clubs to sponsor transportation for some of these groups.

On Exhibit . . .

December thru January

An exhibition of African, Oceanic, and pre-Columbian art, containing many works not previously shown, is showing at the Mary Duke Biddle Gallery for the Blind in the North Carolina Museum of Art.

Among works on display will be a New Guinea rattan headdress with attached grass skirt, a New Britain ancestral shield, African circumcision knives in an alligator head, and a group of pre-Columbian clay pitos, whistles and rattles in the shape of animal and human figures.

Donors whose gifts will be displayed are Mr. and Mrs. Cedric Marks and Everett Rassiga of New York, Helen Thrush of Greensboro, Morton May and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Fischmann of St. Louis, Mo., the Olsen Foundation of Guilford, Conn., Paul Clifford of Decatur, Ga., and Edward Merrin of New York.

The WISE OWL STORY

"From the tiny acorn the mighty oak tree grows." This is the Wise Owl Story. In 1947 a worker in the St. Louis foundry of ACF Industries, Inc., dropped an idea into a suggestions box, little knowing what an impact it would have on industrial and school eye safety. From the germ of this idea developed the Wise Owl Club of America, an effective incentive plan to reduce needless and costly eye accidents and loss of sight, by encouraging widespread use of proper eye-protective equipment. Wise Owl Club membership is awarded only to those employees and students whose eyesight is saved by wearing eye protection at the time of a potentially blinding accident.

Every safety director—and every educator—knows that eye damage is demoralizing in human as well as economic terms, wasteful of labor skills, and costly from a compensation standpoint.

Accident-prevention specialists firmly believe that over 90 per cent of all eye injuries and loss-of-sight cases could be prevented . . . through conscientious use of safety eyewear. This testifies to the need for expanded prevention of blindness programs in industry, schools, and colleges—The Wise Owl Club of America.

The National Society for the Prevention of Blindness sponsors The Wise Owl Club in North Carolina through the N. C. Society for the Prevention of Blindness, Inc., 1120 West Main Street, Durham, N. C. 27701. There are presently approximately 21 Wise Owl chapters in North Carolina.

Safety glasses have saved the sight of approximately 50,706 persons since the Wise Owl Club began recording the accidents. Here are some stories of how sight has been saved as published in "Wise Owl News."

CHARLESTON WISE OWLETTE

Rose A. Hogg was operating a drill at Charleston Naval Shipyard, Charleston, South Carolina, when a piece of metal shot up and shattered the right lens and frame of her safety glasses. She sustained minor cuts on her nose and under her right eye, and for a day or two she looked like one of those smokers who "would rather fight than switch"—but her eyesight was not impaired.

Rose becomes the 150th and first female member of the Charleston Naval Shipyard chapter of the Wise Owl Club.

AT PLAY

R. E. Baker, IBM Corporation, Research Triangle Park, North Carolina, was playing second base in a softball game when a thrown ball struck him in the face. The impact broke the frame of his safety glasses and forced the left lens out of the frame, cutting him under the eyebrow. Without safety glasses, Mr. Baker might have lost an eye. Instead, he becomes an Honorary member of the Wise Owl Club and continues to enjoy his softball games.

To Author, Educator:

The 1968 Migel Medals

The 1968 Migel Medal, the nation's highest award in work for the blind, was presented this year to Dr. Berthold Lowenfeld, superintendent of the California School for the Blind from 1949 to 1964, and William Gibson, author of The Miracle Worker. This award is given annually by AFB.

The medals were presented October 24 in New York at the Foundation's headquarters following the annual meeting of the Board of Trustees.

The Migel Medal is awarded in recognition of outstanding contributions to the field of work for the blind on both the professional and voluntary levels. First presented in 1937, the medal is named in honor of the late M. C. Migel, the first president of the Foundation.

Dr. Lowenfeld received the medal for professional services and Mr. Gibson for voluntary services.

Mr. Gibson made real for millions of television viewers and theater and film goers, the myth-like story of Anne Sullivan's determination to instill knowledge into the blind and deaf Helen Keller. First produced on the Playhouse 90 television series in 1957, The Miracle Worker opened on Broadway in 1960 and was made into a film in 1962. Anne Bancroft and Patty Duke, who portrayed Anne Sullivan and Helen Keller on the stage, repeated their portrayals in the film version, for which they both received Oscars.

Born in New York City, and now living in Stockbridge, Mass., Mr. Gibson is the author of several other plays. A Cry of Players, starring Miss Bancroft and Frank Langella, will open this month as one of the five 1968-69 productions of the Repertory Theatre of Lincoln Center in New York.

His other works include Two for the Seesaw and a number of books, among them, The Cobweb, a novel; The Seesaw Log; and the recently published A Mass for the Dead, a reminiscence of his childhood and early adult years.

Dr. Lowenfeld, on the other hand, has authored a number of books and articles on the education of blind children. He has been a distinguished figure in work for the blind in this country for 30 years.

Born in Austria, Dr. Lowenfeld received a Ph.D. in child psychology from the University of Vienna in 1927. He came to this country in 1938 and from 1939 to 1949 was director of Educational Research at the American Foundation for the Blind.

Dr. Lowenfeld has also served as an instructor at Columbia University, as a visiting professor at Western Reserve, Washington, and Michigan universities and as a consultant to many federal, state, and private agencies.

Presently, he is serving as a member of the National Advisory Council on Vocational Rehabilitation, as a consultant to the U. S. Office of Education, as a member of the American Association of Workers for the Blind board of directors and its editorial board, and as chairman of the Advisory Council to the Braille Authority.

In 1965 Dr. Lowenfeld received the Shotwell Memorial Award for Distinguished Services from the American Association of Workers for the Blind.

Editor's Note: North Carolina's Henry A. Wood received the Migel Medal in 1961 and the Shotwell Memorial Award in 1966.

GLAUCOMA & DIABETES CLINICS

By Shaw Brown, chairman

Diabetes is the third leading cause of blindness and the seventh leading killer. More than two million Americans are victims of this disease without even knowing it. When people know they have diabetes they can follow doctor's orders and almost always lead happy active lives. That is why the Lions, Your Association for the Blind, and Health Authorities want to fight this blinding and killing disease.

A Lions Club may sponsor a Diabetes Clinic at very little cost and help find these hidden diabetics, thereby prevent blindness and possibly save a life. Contact your District Glaucoma and Diabetes Director and schedule a clinic in your community. Since June we have held two Diabetes Clinics, at Taylorsville and Landis. Over 600 people were checked at these two clinics. Since June, 43 Glaucoma and Diabetes posters have been displayed on billboards throughout the state warning about the dangers of Glaucoma and Diabetes.

SCHOLARSHIP

By Dr. J. Bryant Kirkland

The N. C. Association for the Blind will award nine scholarships to college enrollees during the 1969-70 academic year. Any student whose parent (Breadwinner) is legally blind who plans to enter or continue in college next year (Community College, Technical Institute, Junior College or University) is eligible to apply for one of the scholarships. Additional information concerning this scholarship program may be obtained from the President of the local Lions Club or Dr. J. Bryant Kirkland, State Chairman, Scholarship Committee, N. C. State University, Raleigh, North Carolina 27607.

EYE BANK

By Bill Earnhardt

The annual Eye-Bank Workshop for district Eye-Bank chairmen, District Governors, Eye-Bank officers and directors and other interested people was held at the Eye-Bank Administration Building in Winston-Salem on September 14 and 15. Mr. Howard Houck, Executive Director of the Eye-Bank & Sight Conservation Society of Virginia, was the guest speaker.

Mrs. Helen Morrill Bunce, Executive Director of the N. C. Eye-Bank, reports that more than 2,000 eye wills were received from May 16 through September. During this period 112 eyes were received, 8 preserved corneas were sent to surgeons, as well as 2 sclera.

C. W. Temples is President of the Eye-Bank and Past District Governor Grady R. Pulliam, Jr. is Chairman of the Board.

STATEWIDE COMMITTEE ON WORK FOR THE BLIND

By Fred Rich

The new short reporting forms were mailed to all club secretaries the latter part of September to cover activities for the blind for the first nine months of this calendar year. Please contact your district chairman of this committee if your forms have not been received as he will have some extra ones available.

Hereafter, reports are to be made on a quarterly basis. This will enable members of this committee in each district to check the progress of their clubs four times a year, instead of annually, and give assistance where needed.

The promotion of home-bound blind made products by this committee is under way. We have arranged for Mr. L. L. Warman, Sales Supervisor of the N. C. Commission for the Blind, to attend as many cabinet meetings over the state as possible presenting samples of these products, along with pricing and ordering information.

Why not consider using one of these quality products made by the blind for your next Ladies' Night.

Lions Clubs can help by:

1. Purchase of gifts and favors for ladies nights, charter nights or any other special nights.
2. Sponsor annually a sale of one or more specific Home Industries products.
3. Sponsor annually a well publicized and well promoted Home Industries products sale. The Home Industries Sales Supervisor is available for sales planning and promotion.
4. Consider the sale of Home Industries products in any Lions Club member's retail establishment. These products are marketable at a profit.
5. Inform the Home Industries Sales Supervisor of any outlet that may be interested in Home Industries products. This information will be on a confidential basis.
6. Supply the Home Industries Sales Supervisor with names and addresses of any local organizations, churches, etc. that sponsor fund-raising sales.

The Sales Supervisor is L. L. Warman, N. C. State Commission for the Blind, P. O. Box 2658, Raleigh, N. C.

CAMP DOGWOOD

By Armstrong Cannady, Chairman

What's happening at Camp Dogwood? The Charlotte Observer carried a front page story about it, and newspapers of other cities such as Greensboro, Statesville, Burlington, Atlanta, Lincolnton, Hickory, Mooresville, and Powellsville wrote interesting articles about it. Blind people came from all over North Carolina and as far away as Washington, D. C. to see it. The Lions came too, to see for themselves what a wonderful project they have made possible.

Land which was a farm a year ago, has a new look now, and is blossoming into one of the finest recreational and educational facilities for the blind people of our state. Lions Clubs are meeting the challenge with a helping hand from the blind people too.

The commanding knoll overlooking Lake Norman is capped with a spacious lodge which is the center of all camp activities. The area behind the lodge has taken on a new look also. The pasture which was part of this Catawba County farm has been graded and turned into a beautiful seeded mall surrounded by a new asphalt road that runs through the middle of the camp to the county road running alongside our property. The road is lighted all the way to the camping and picnic area.

A service road leads into the camping area where five Adirondack Lean-tos are built in the woods. These Lean-tos will sleep 30 people at a time and are complemented by a picnic shelter, toilet facilities and a wash up hut in the center. Nature trails will soon wind through the woods joining this area with the main lodge.

The camp committee approved a two week evaluation period at Camp Dogwood in August. Blind people of all ages had the time of their lives, and were actually in tears when they had to leave. Our youngest camper was eight years old and our oldest 67.

The camping period was termed a real success by all who were involved. Your camp committee is now in the process of making an evaluation of everything necessary to open this camp on a full time basis next summer. Many of the questions that were unanswerable before can now be answered.

Your committee is also living up to their promise of seeking funds from every source possible to complete this camp. We are continuing to seek funds from industrial and charitable foundations, and are happy to report that we have already been successful in receiving one foundation gift. Our treasurer is receiving gifts from Lions clubs throughout the state of from $50 to $5,500 for construction of the camp. We have also received $5,000 from the blind people themselves and a number of contributions from individuals and businesses. With this kind of support we will never have to tax the Lions on a per capita basis to build this camp.

The Camp Dogwood Committee has been increased from eight members to 21 members during the year. Five of these members are blind, and 16 are sighted. The president of the N. C. Association of Workers for the Blind, the Chairman of the State Council and the past chairman of the Camp Dogwood Committee are all members of this committee. The president of the N. C. Association for the Blind is also on ex-officio member. Each of our nine Lions Districts has a representative on this committee.

Our most urgent need for the future is to be able to pay our bills and build four units for housing. We need two dormitories and two duplex housekeeping units before next June. Each of these units will cost about $22,000. If your club has not made an extra effort to aid this project, you are missing the experience of a lifetime. We invite your questions about the camp and your active participation in its construction.

I have tried hard not to make any mention of names in this report, for fear I would slight someone. I can assure you that you have a good hard working committee, and your chairman would be lost without them. We solicit the suggestions and help of all Lions and other interested people in North Carolina.

Judge Hedrick Can Do Anything—Except See

By The Associated Press

North Carolina Appeals Court Judge Fred Hedrick looked toward the window of his office and said firmly, "There is not a thing in this world that I can't do — except see!"

Blind since age 13, Hedrick took a considerable cut in pay last year when he gave up a lucrative practice as an attorney in Statesville to accept the $26,000-a-year judgeship.

"I wanted more than anything to prove that I could do the job," said Hedrick, a quiet-mannered, graying man of 47.

He and his wife have four children.

Hedrick, who uses a Braille typewriter, typed himself a message before he went in to attend his first hearing last year as a member of the court: "Keep your big mouth shut!"

Hedrick lost his sight as a result of an accident on the farm where he grew up. He was chopping wood when a piece flew up and hit him in one eye. An infection developed which spread to the optic nerve and caused him to lose the sight in his other eye.

"Perhaps if we had had the wonder drugs of today the doctors might have been able to have saved my sight," he said.

Hedrick, who can only distinguish light from dark, attended the Governor Morehead School for the Blind in Raleigh and was graduated from the University of North Carolina with a bachelor of arts degree, he completed his three-year law course at UNC in 2½ years.

"I just worked hard with the help of many others," says the Iredell County native.

"I don't feel I have accomplished anything unusual that a lot of other people couldn't have done. I just hope that what I have done might serve to help the 10,000 people in North Carolina who are blind."

Hedrick's constant companion is a Seeing Eye dog, a Golden Retriever which he obtained last year. His first Seeing Eye dog died in 1959 after being with him 10 years.

"My office was near the courthouse in Statesville, so I managed to get around all right without a dog. But I began to get a little thick around the middle and wanted to do more walking to lose weight. I got my present dog last May."

Hedrick, who goes horse back riding and fishing, is a ham radio operator. He has sung "at literally hundreds of weddings."

"I have a great interest in sports," Hedrick said. "I follow the college basketball and football teams, perhaps too closely."

Hedrick, who possesses a lot of patience, said he learned after the loss of his sight to discipline himself.

"No one is born with judicial temperament," he explained between puffs on a cigarette. "You've got to learn to discipline yourself."

Hedrick, who specialized in civil law practice, served as prosecutor in Iredell County from 1950 to 1958. He was judge of Recorder's Court at Statesville from 1958 until 1969 when he was appointed by Gov. Bob Scott to the Appeals Court.

When he was sworn in last year, the attorneys in his county came to Raleigh en masse for the ceremony.

Hedrick said he never set any goals for himself after the loss of his sight.

"My philosophy has been to try to do the best that I could in everything I've undertaken. I just hope that what I have done can make the road easier for similarly handicapped persons."

Hedrick said he has no political aspirations for the future, adding: "I just want to do what I am doing as good as I possibly can."

GUIDE DOGS

From time to time rumors that seeing-eye dogs can be obtained with wrappers from cigarettes, candy and other items are circulated throughout the state. Mrs. Majorie McCune, Social Worker for the Blind in Buncombe County recently warned residents in that area about the false stories being circulated. The only way to secure a guide dog is through an organization who trains dogs for this purpose with some cost involved. No wrappers, please!

Knightdale Lion Named To Consultant's Post

Gene H. Anthony, a member of the Knightdale Lions Club, has been named Consultant for the Visually Handicapped, State Department of Public Instruction, Division of Special Education.

Anthony

Mr. Anthony, a native of Shelby, served two years in the Navy during World War II. He is a graduate of N. C. State University having received his Bachelor's and Master's Degrees there. He has done additional work at Oswego State College and San Francisco State College. Presently he is a Doctoral Candidate at N. C. State University.

He has taught Industrial Arts at the Governor Morehead School (the State Residential School for the Blind) for a number of years. His new job will be with the visually handicapped children in the public schools. One of the greatest problems existing in North Carolina is identification of visually handicapped students who may need special services. These services include large type and braille books and tapes. The N. C. Association for the Blind is currently working with volunteers in providing braille books for school children.

Lion Gene is a charter member of the Knightdale Lions Club and has been secretary-treasurer since 1961.

Letter from the President

WHAT YOU CAN CONTROL

A little thought will show you how vastly your own happiness depends upon the way other people bear themselves toward you. The looks and tones at your breakfast-table, the conduct of your fellow-workers or employers, the faithful or unreliable men you deal with, what people say to you on the street . . . these things make up very much of the pleasure or misery of your day. Turn the idea around, and remember that just so much are you adding to the pleasure or misery of other people's days. And this is the half of the matter which you can control. Whether any particular day shall bring to you more of happiness or suffering is largely beyond your power to determine. Whether each day of your life shall give happiness or suffering rests with yourself. . . .

Remember . . . "Today begins the first day of the rest of your life"
Live each day to the fullest,
Live each day with love in your heart for your fellow man,
Live each day with a positive outlook on life,
Live each day for tomorrow.

Let these thoughts, then, stay with you: there may be times when you cannot find help, but there is no time when you cannot give help.

Two Summer Conferences Planned For Preschool Children, Parents

Two summer conferences are planned for August, 1970 at Governor Morehead School, Raleigh, for preschool visually impaired children and their parents. The first conference will meet for 5 days. Children between the ages of 2 and 6 will be invited together with their parents. Child development in general and special needs of visually impaired children in particular will be the topic for the conference meetings. Demonstrations, lectures and other group activities are being planned to include both parents and children.

The second conference will be held for two weeks just prior to the opening of the regular school term and beginning students at The Governor Morehead School and their parents are to be invited. This conference is designed to provide parents with information relative to child development from early elementary school through the teens and to prepare the parents to contribute to their child's adjustment to school in a residential setting. While the parents are attending lectures and the like, the children will be worked with by regular faculty members to orient them to the new life they will begin on The Governor Morehead campus. Children only will be invited to the second week of this conference and houseparents and teachers will continue to work with them in a modified school program prior to the return of the regular student body to the campus.

Additional information concerning either of these conferences may be obtained by writing to Mrs. Norma J. Grauer, Coordinator of Psychological Services and Testing, The Governor Morehead School, 301 Ashe Avenue, Raleigh, North Carolina 27606. There is no charge of any kind for eligible children and their parents except that families must furnish their own transportation.

In Memoriam

Judge Sam M. Cathey, life member of the North Carolina Association for the Blind, Inc., died in February in Asheville. He was seventy-six years old.

Blinded in a dynamite accident at 19, Cathey enrolled at the State School for the Blind and later graduated from the University of North Carolina. He passed the State Bar examination, was elected solicitor of the Asheville Police Court and became judge of the court in 1931, a position he has held until his recent illness and death.

Mr. Cathey

Judge Cathey was named to the North Carolina State Commission for the Blind by Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus when the agency was established in 1935. He was elected chairman and continued in that position until his retirement in March 1968.

In 1954 Judge Cathey was awarded the President's Plaque as the National Handicapped Man of the Year by President Eisenhower. In 1962 he received the Shotwell Memorial Award for distinguished service from the American Association of Workers for the Blind.

U. S. Representative Roy A. Taylor eulogized the judge in the following message from Washington:

"Judge Sam Cathey's long and distinguished career as a jurist and humanitarian was without parallel. He served as an inspiration to his community and to the thousands of individuals whose lives he touched and helped.

"As a blind person himself, he had great compassion and understanding for the visually handicapped and was a constant source of inspiration to those of us who have worked with the blind through the many Lions Clubs in Western North Carolina. Judge Cathey always managed to have time to help others."

North Carolina has indeed lost a great man and one who will long be remembered for his strides in rehabilitation for the blind people of our state.

GALLERY NEWS FOR THE Blind

LAO TZE STATUETTE

A jade statuette of Lao Tze, the founder of Taoism in China, has been given to the Mary Duke Biddle Gallery for the Blind at the North Carolina Museum of Art by Col. Van R. White of Mebane.

Charles W. Stanford, curator of education, said the jade gift, from the Ming Dynasty (15th century), is particularly appropriate for the Gallery in that it will enable the blind to feel the difference in jade and other stones. "It is harder and colder," he added.

Col. White was liaison officer for the United States Army between Chinese Nationalists and Communists from 1946 to 1949, and he has one of the finest private collections of jade in the country, Stanford said. He has lent individual pieces of the collection to the Museum in the past, and last year provided 25 pieces of jade for an exhibition in the Gallery for the Blind.

Lao Tze, whose symbol is the peach blossom, has been the subject of many works in jade since the beginning of the 14th century, Stanford said. He appears in different forms, most often as Shou Lao, the god of longevity, with the characteristics of an elderly man.

STALLION STATUETTE

A Chinese statuette of a stallion has been given to the Mary Duke Biddle Gallery for the Blind at the North Carolina Museum of Art by Frank Caro of New York.

The gilt bronze statuette is 7½ inches high and 9½ inches long and is from the Ch'ien Lung period, 1736-1795.

"The statuette is a perfect item for the Mary Duke Biddle Gallery. Animals are one of the most popular subjects in the appreciation and study of sculpture for the blind, and this fine example of 18th century Chinese bronze is an important addition," Charles Stanford, curator, said.

"The blind can appreciate the form, note the saddle and the highly decorative blanket underneath, and can encompass the entire statuette in their hands, giving them a good image of a horse.

"For the sighted it is also important," he said, "because of the high gold coloring and beautiful form."

$25,000 GRANT

Gov. Robert W. Scott announced that a continuation grant of $25,000 for development and operation of the Mary Duke Biddle Gallery for the Blind at the North Carolina Museum of Art has been approved as of March 1.

The Governor received a telegram confirming the grant from Miss Mary Switzer, Administrator of Social and Rehabilitation Services, department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The 1970 grant makes the fourth grant, totaling $90,000, for Social and Rehabilitation Services under the auspices of Miss Switzer since Gallery for the Blind opened in March, 1966.

Last year's grant was used to renovate and enlarge the Gallery and a formal re-opening was held in November, attended by more than 800 people from throughout the country.

Governor Morehead School Is Host to Career Day

By Rachel F. Rawls

A career day was held at the Garner Road Division of the Governor Morehead School in January. Eleventh and twelfth grade students from the Ashe Avenue and Garner Road divisions were invited to hear the panel discussions and speak with the participants afterwards. This gave the students the opportunity to communicate with the former students who were on the program who were able to advise and enlighten the students about their successful careers.

Superintendent S. J. Cole speaks during a Career Day panel presentation at Governor Morehead School.

Plans were made to include a Career Day program with Homecoming events at the Garner Road campus. Former graduates were invited to return for the celebration, especially those who had completed additional educational training and who were successfully employed.

Many public schools have Career Days as a regular part of their yearly planning. Students in a residential school for the blind have fewer opportunities to see and talk with other visually impaired persons who have completed their school work and gone into various occupations.

The program began with lunch which was followed by a discussion in the school auditorium. Participants who addressed the group and told something of their training and experience were: Rev. R. Logan Carson, Governor Morehead School class of 1951, graduate of Shaw University, Hartford Theological Seminary, Hartford, Connecticut, and Presbyterian Theological Seminary, Louisville, Kentucky and is now a doctoral candidate at Drew University in New Jersey, and is teaching at Montclair State College in Upper Montclair, New Jersey; Marcus Ingram, graduate of Governor Morehead School, North Carolina College in Durham, Pennsylvania State College, presently a doctoral candidate at the University of North Carolina and teaching at North Carolina Central University; Nathaniel Fullwood, graduate of Governor Morehead School, Shaw University and presently enrolled at Ohio State University where he is working on his doctorate; Miss Mozelle Jones, teacher at the Governor Morehead School, graduate of North Carolina Central University and has done work in field of Special Education at Hampton Institute, North Carolina Central University and George Peabody College; Mrs. Freddy Lilly Peaco, graduate of Governor Morehead School, Howard University and American University and is presently employed as a student reference librarian at the Library of Congress; and Arthur Thomas, graduate of Governor Morehead School and the Culinary Institute of America, New Haven, Connecticut, and is presently employed in the Dietary Department of Wake Memorial Hospital in Raleigh.

The participants pointed out the importance that students be ready to interpret their visual limitations, be selective in the help they receive, be as independent as possible, and be unwilling to accept "no" as an answer when they felt they could accomplish a task and someone wanted to prevent them from doing so.

Others participating on the program but not on the panel were: Willie Singletary, mobility instructor, Robert Walker, data processor, and Billy Bethea, medical transcriptionist. Mrs. Erlene Hurdel Draines was unable to attend but sent a tape describing her work as a counselor in Connecticut.

All of those who had the opportunity of participating in the Career Day expressed appreciation for having had this chance to discuss occupations for the visually impaired. Several students indicated they were inspired to think in terms of occupations and education that they had not considered before. They began to appreciate the importance of education generally. Those who talked with the students were genuinely grateful for a chance to share their experiences to help those in school now.

The support furnished by the North Carolina Association for the Blind helped make Career Day possible, and this worthwhile venture is one they can take pride in. Those who planned the program and saw it materialize are sure that the Lions of North Carolina would have enjoyed the program and had an even greater sense of satisfaction had it been possible for some of them to have been there.

Approximately 400 visually handicapped teenagers, from 10 Southern states converged on Atlanta for a 4-day career day program March 11 through 14. This unusual seminar was co-sponsored by the American Foundation for the Blind and the Association for Education of the Visually Handicapped.

A two-day enrichment program included tours to such interesting spots as Fernbank Science Center, Atlanta Stadium (with special tours for the boys to the locker rooms), the Atlanta Schools Computer Center, where a project is underway to transcribe Braille books by computer, Underground Atlanta, Delta Airport Tower (with special lectures on poise and grooming for the girls in the Delta Stewardess Training Center), Federal Aviation Administration, Atlanta Raceway, Northside High School with its models and planetarium, and Ragsdale Science Room at the Grant Park Zoo where the visitors were able to touch the animals. The tours were planned for sensory appeal rather than visual. In Underground Atlanta the students felt centuries-old brick with peach pits interspersed, savored the spicy aromas of Spanish dishes and German fare, felt the striking difference between thorough exterior and icy smooth interior of a sliced geode, walked through rows of aromatic candles in unusual vegetable shapes, listened to astrology records describe personality traits for the various zodiac signs with appropriate musical backgrounds, and delighted to the history of sounds in the Musical Museum.

The last two days of the program emphasized career. Talks and interviews with visually handicapped professionals who excel as lawyers, entertainers, coroners, tax consultants, announcers, clergymen, teachers and social workers, as well as scores of other fields. Trained counselors were available to discuss personal concerns.

The Foundation for Visually Handicapped Children, Community Services for the Blind, and the Atlanta Variety Club presented their semi-monthly "Coffee House" for the visiting teenagers. The Dale Stone trio had played for recent festivities and encouraged the children to feel the instruments and those with musical experience to "audition."

North Carolina students attending from The Governor Morehead School for the Blind were: Robert Adams, Greensboro, N. C.; Cheri Briggs, Cary, N. C.; Linda Butler, Winston-Salem, N. C.; Linda Collins, Wadesboro, N. C.; Vernon Cox, Fairfield, N. C.; Deborah Dudley, Concord, N. C.; Belle Johnson, Jackson, N. C.; Gloria Lassiter, Gates, N. C.; Sharon Lowder, Albermarle, N. C.; Kim McEachirn, Greensboro, N. C.; Allen Moore, Charlotte, N. C.; Toy Permar, Brown Summit, N. C.; Shirley Phillips, Wilson, N. C.; Rita Simmons, Lillington, N. C.; Gary Smith, Randleman, N. C.

Adults from the school who attended were: Mr. John Calloway, Principal, Mrs. Janet Alford, Mr. John Adkins, Mr. Louis Finkle, Mrs. Ruth Martin, Mrs. Carol Roughton.

This unusual opportunity for blind and visually handicapped students to meet and question adults who have overcome the common handicap to become successful in these highly competitive fields brought a note of authority and inspiration to the discussion group.

Dr. Arthur Lown, Coordinator of Services for Visually Handicapped Children of the Atlanta Public Schools and Chairman of the Enrichment Committee for this event, noted the big change in career opportunities for the visually handicapped, and recounted the difficulty the committee had in locating representatives from menial jobs. Dr. Lown pointed out that this is the largest career day ever sponsored for blind children and the enrichment prelude is a "first."

A Visit to the Busy World of Janie Ashe

By Darrell Sifford

Charlotte News Managing Editor

When you knock on the door of the modest one-story house in northeast Charlotte, you are greeted promptly by Mrs. Janie Ashe and a sleek, slate-gray Alaskan husky named Prince.

You're there because you want her to answer a very basic question: What's it like to be blind?

Mrs. Ashe has agreed to talk about it but "only if you don't write it like a sob story. Only if you'll write it like it really is. I think if people know how it really is they won't feel we're different. We're not, you know. We can do anything anybody else can do — except that sometimes it takes us a little longer."

In a 90-minute interview Mrs. Ashe described how she works with her seeing-eye dog, mentioned some things you ought not do when you find a blind person waiting to cross a street and told how she cooks, selects her clothes and irons her husband's shirts. She also offered a quickie lesson in braille.

I think you'll find her story as inspirational as I did.

Question: Mrs. Ashe, this is a beautiful dog you've got. How about telling us how you work with him?

Answer: Well, a lot of people think the dog automatically takes me where I want to go. That's not right. I tell Prince how to get where we want to go and he follows my directions. I don't just say "Take me to the A & P" and start walking. We take it a little bit at a time.

Q. Explain that, will you?

A. Let's say we're on a sidewalk and nearing a corner. I can tell that from the sound of traffic. So I say to Prince: "Find the curb." And as soon as he gets to the curb, he stops — so I know to stop, too.

Now Prince is colorblind — just like all dogs — and so he doesn't start walking when the light turns green. I read the traffic by sound. When it sounds as if it's moving in the same direction I want to go, I tell Prince: "Forward." Then he uses his own judgment. If the road's clear, he starts out. But if a car's coming at us, he just won't move until it's passed. Then he takes me across and then I tell him to go left or right or forward or whichever way we want to go.

Q. But how do you know which way you want to go?

A. Of course, you've got to have a sense of direction. Most of the places I go I've been to before so I remember where I am and keep my orientation. Some blind people don't have this sense of direction, though, and they have real trouble. Fortunately, it can be taught. My sense of direction is good, I think. The only time I feel unsure of myself is when I'm going somewhere for the first time.

Q. Your dog's got his nose up my trousers and he's licking my leg. I thought seeing-eye dogs weren't so friendly to strangers. What about that?

A. Well, I wouldn't want a dog that wasn't nice to my friends. But you notice he's not in harness now. He knows he's not working. When he's in harness, he wouldn't pay you that kind of attention and I wouldn't want you to distract him.

Q. I've wondered about that. What's a person to do when he finds himself standing beside a blind person at a street corner — ignore the person, offer to help, speak to the dog, or what?

A. I guess a lot of people wonder about that, don't they? Well, I've always felt that help, sincerely offered, should be accepted — and accepted graciously. I don't think it's necessary, but it's certainly not offensive to me.

I don't want you to shy away from Prince but I do want you to leave him alone and not distract him when he's working. And whatever you do, don't give the dog a command or repeat a command I give him. That'll confuse him. When he's working, my commands are the only ones that matter.

Q. Mrs. Ashe, you do your own cooking, don't you?

A. I sure do. And most of my kitchen equipment is the same as you'd buy at the store — the toaster, the blender and the rest. After a while you learn to operate the controls by feel. The American Foundation for the Blind has a lot of gadgets but they're expensive and I don't have many of them. I've found I generally can make do with regular things — and maybe a modification or two.

You'll notice the oven timer and temperature control have little knobs glued around on them. Well, they're just the plastic knobs off straight pins and a man put them on there for me so I can count and tell what the setting is.

Q. I notice you've got a well-stocked pantry. How do you know what you're pulling out — especially if it's in a can?

A. Well, hand me one and I'll show you.

Q. Okay. What's this?

A. Why it's sliced pineapple.

Q. How in the heck do you know that?

A. Look right here on the top. See this tape? I've written "sliced pineapple" on it in braille. I label all my canned goods. If I didn't, I'd get all fouled up.

Q. Well, I'm sure interested in talking to you about braille. How does it work?

A. It's really simple. I learned it in less than three months at school and I guess that's about average. It consists of six dots, and every letter, punctuation mark — everything in the language — is made from a combination of one or more of these dots.

Q. You type braille on something that looks like a typewriter, don't you?

A. Yes. It's called a brailler. It's got six keys — one for each dot — and a spacer in the middle. I can type a page-long letter in about five minutes, I guess.

Q. But what about those blind folks who don't have a brailler? How do they write?

A. They use what's called a slate and stylus. The slate is just a piece of metal containing a series of rectangles, each of which contains six little holes — the six dots. You take the stylus and punch through the holes to make your dots on the paper.

Q. How do you buy your clothes and how do you keep from pulling an orange blouse and red skirt out of the closet when you dress in the morning?

A. When I'm buying, I'm interested in the quality of the material and I can tell that by feeling. I have to ask what color it is, but then I always associate the color with the feel of the dress. That's how I know what color it is after I get it home and in with my other things. If I buy two dresses just alike except for the color, I put a pin in the hem of one so I can tell them apart.

Janie Ashe and "Prince"

Q. I see you've got an ironing board right here by your dryer. Do you do all your own ironing?

A. I sure do and it's nothing in the world but practice. Somebody can tell you how to iron a shirt but you really can't do it unless you just practice and practice some more. I've burned my fingers a few times and I know to be careful. It takes me 15 or 20 minutes to do a shirt. I know that sounds like a long time but I try to do it right. You've just got to accept the fact that blind people, generally speaking, are a little slower doing some things.

Q. I remember back in the golden days of radio when I listened and drew mental images of how Lamont Cranston and Mr. District Attorney looked. Since you deal solely with sound, do you have a mental picture of what people you talk to look like?

A. More or less.

Q. Well, what about me? What do you think I look like?

A. You're tall — over six feet. (I'm 6-2) I can tell that because your voice is coming from up high. I'd say you're not too heavy set either.

Q. I weigh 180. How did you know that?

A. I can tell by the way you move about. You just don't sound like you weigh a whole lot.

Q. That's incredible. I've heard that a blind person's hearing becomes unusually sensitive. Is that right?

A. I wouldn't say that. I'd say that we rely on it more and get more out of it than some people. But there's nothing very amazing about it. If you lost your left hand, you'd have to learn to do everything with your right hand, wouldn't you? Then if somebody told you: "It's amazing what you can do with your right hand" — well, you wouldn't think it was very amazing, would you? You'd be doing it because that's all you had to do it with. That's the way it is with a blind person's hearing.

Q. You've got a television set here. Why?

A. Because I can get a lot of programs that don't come on radio. I really enjoy the quiz programs — like Jeopardy and Hollywood Squares. I guess my favorite show, though, is the Today Show. I wouldn't say I watch a lot of TV but I have my regular programs.

Q. Raising your daughter must have caused you some anxious moments, didn't it?

A. I guess God gives a mother the instinct to raise a child. No, I never really had any problems I couldn't handle. Feeding was a little touchy at first, but I'd hold Judy on my lap with my left arm around her and with the baby food in my left hand right by her chin. I'd take the spoon in my right hand and somehow I'd find her mouth and she'd eat.

In the beginning I worried about dressing her in the wrong colors. So I bought her mostly white things. I kept her socks in pairs by pinning them together as soon as I took them off her and keeping them that way through washing and drying.

I don't think we had many problems any other parent doesn't have. My mother was no psychologist, but she sure used a lot of common sense in raising me. She taught me that I could do anything anybody else can if I make my mind up to do it. And you know something? She was right.

D. P. McFarland

D. P. McFarland Back From Jaunt to India

Lion D. P. McFarland, a member of the Raleigh Lions Club has recently returned from a lecture tour in India. He had tea with the President of India, lunch with the Chief Minister of the State of Punjab, lunch with the Mayor of Ahmedabad and was honored at a reception given by the Mayor of Delhi.

The second annual Southwest Asia-Africa Conference of Lions International was held during Lion McFarland's visit and he met many Lions from Africa and India including Jagdish R. Sondhi, Director of Lions International from Mombasa, Kenya.

The icing on the cake came with his return flight from London to New York on the new Boeing 747 Jet operated by Pan American. Welcome home traveler!

The Zebulon Lioness Club challenged the men of radio station WKIX (men of music) to a basketball game recently. The result — Lionesses 69, WKIX 60. They raised over $800 of which $500 has been given to the Zebulon Lions Club for their blind projects.

A visually handicapped WKIX announcer, Dale Van Horn, was one of the players in the game.

Committee Reports

Fred Rich, Chairman

A reminder that used glasses can be used to help the visually handicapped. Some clubs already have the collection of used glasses as a project and are turning them over to the N. C. Eye and Human Tissue Bank. Be sure to report the number of glasses collected on your blind activities report, as points are allowed for this activity.

This committee met in Raleigh on February 28, for the purpose of determining club winners for the activities for the blind trophies and the Henry A. Wood Award. These trophies will be awarded at the Lions state convention in Durham.

Remember in filling out your reports that only work and expenditures in behalf of the blind and visually handicapped are to be considered. Thank you for your co-operation in filling out these records and returning them promptly.

Havelock Lions Chosen For Achievement Awards

The Havelock Lions were honored recently by having two of their members and one Lady Lion selected for Community Service Awards. Darrell Morse, Past President of the N. C. Association for the Blind, Inc. who has held many district and local club offices, was named Man of the Year. His wife, Evelyn, was named Woman of the Year. Raymond Bayer, former District White Cane chairman who has served in many district and local club offices, received the Young Man of the Year award. Congratulations to these fine Lions and Lady Evelyn.

Glaucoma and Diabetes

James Spears, chairman

We have succeeded in establishing Glaucoma and Diabetes screening in three multi-phasic screening clinics in the state. They are in Greenville in Pitt County, in Roxboro in Person County and in Shelby in Cleveland County.

These clinics are sponsored jointly by the local Lions, local Health Departments, N. C. Association for the Blind and N. C. State Board of Health. They are staffed by registered nurses especially trained to check vision, take pressures for glaucoma and make tests for diabetes.

The clinics are open to the public at certain times during the week. Call your local Health Department for the time in any of the three counties mentioned above.

Two mass screening clinics for Glaucoma and Diabetes are scheduled. The first one is to be held in Mooresville on April 21 and 22 and the second one is in Windsor on May 6. Local Lions will participate in setting up these clinics along with the State Board of Health, local Health Department, Duke University Medical Center and the N. C. Association for the Blind, Inc.

Camp Dogwood 250 Race

Shaw Brown, chairman

The big race is to be held on April 12 at the Charlotte Motor Speedway. Tickets have been distributed and we are expecting a good turnout for this event. Our committee has worked many hours in planning and implementing the various jobs necessary for a successful race. We have had workshops in each district and the enthusiasm has certainly made us confident that this project will help us build Camp Dogwood.

Lovely, Linda Wright, a graduate student at U.N.C., Chapel Hill is our 1970 Camp Dogwood 250 Queen.

We hope you will plan to be at the race and support Camp Dogwood!

Scholarship Committee

J. Bryant Kirkland, chairman

Applications for scholarships for children of needy blind parents should be made immediately. Even though the deadline, April 1, has passed and you may have just heard of this scholarship program, get in touch with your local Lions club or the N. C. Association for the Blind.

Any high school or college student who will attend or is attending an institution of higher learning during the 1970-71 school year is eligible providing the breadwinner in his family is legally blind. The scholarship will be given to qualified students in technical institutes, community colleges, business colleges, junior colleges, a four-year college or a university.

Scholarships will be granted on the basis of need and academic performance in high school or college and will not exceed $350 per academic year.

Long Range Planning Committee

C. Ray Pruette, chairman

Our committee is studying all the programs presently supported by the Association. We have visited the Opthalmological Laboratory at the University of North Carolina School of Medicine which the Association has been supporting since December 1958. The following letter from Dr. S. D. McPherson tells of the work being done at the laboratory. Other programs are being studied and will be reported on when the studies are completed.

The WHITE CANE DRIVE

James W. Mills
State White Cane Director

Our White Cane Drive ended on March 1, 1970. Even though we have not reached our goal, money is continuing to come in and will continue until the end of the fiscal year. We urge you to take a look at your clubs financial picture and see if you can squeeze a little more for White Cane. Every little bit will be welcomed and I firmly believe we will reach the goal by June 30.

My thanks go to all of you who have worked so hard with the clubs in your districts. The procedures we adopted this year for remitting funds to the Association office have worked real well and we feel that this is one of the best safeguards that we have made.

Again, my faith is in you to see that you do your share to help us so that we may help those who need us so desperately.

The Winston-Salem Lions Club added three new voices to the teaching staff of the city-county school program for visually handicapped students. Eugene A. Butner, Jr., left, Lions President, and Julian Boyles, Director of Industries for the Blind in Winston-Salem, presented three portable tape recorders to the program co-ordinator, Mrs. Edna C. Revels, right. Pam Little, a teenage student in the visually handicapped program, demonstrates a typing lesson by listening to a typing class tape and pecking out the recorded assignment. "We will now be able to do more work in taping homework assignments and textbooks for use in the classes," Mrs. Revels said.

Reading Through Listening

By Rachel F. Rawls

The Visually impaired student must learn to use his ears effectively; in other words he must learn to read through listening. The student who is going beyond the high school (and today there is a greater need for additional training whether it is college training or in a Trade School than ever before) finds that he can get very little material in Braille. Even with good volunteer transcriptionists available it would be impossible to get all of the reading material needed in Braille or large print form. Another important limitation of both Braille and large print for the visually impaired student is the fact that reading is a slow process. The average Braille reader reads at around 90 words per minute. The average large print reader or print reader who has impaired vision reads at about 10 words a minute more than this. When you consider the amount of reading that is necessary in many courses today, it would take an interminable time to complete it at this reading rate. For this reason more and more students come to depend upon auditory reading or listening to someone else read, talking books, or tapes prepared through one of the volunteer reading services. The average talking book is recorded at about 175 words per minute. While this is a great deal faster than the student could read if he used Braille or print, it is still slow when compared to the average high school student's reading which is better than 250 words per minute.

At one time if you speeded up a record or a tape you had to get a change in pitch so that you got "Donald Duck" listening. Many students have accommodated themselves to this and have learned to use it. By modern methods, however, it is possible to speed up without getting a change in pitch. There are several methods of doing this and it is possible now to purchase equipment that will do it for the student. Of course, this equipment is quite expensive and individuals would not be able to purchase or employ it.

There has been a good deal of experimentation in learning to use Compressed Speech. In an experiment recently completed for a Dissertation Project by Dr. Rachel F. Rawls at North Carolina State University, she found a training program accompanied by practicing use of Compressed Speech enabled many students to listen to speeds up to 350 words a minute and understand what was read.

Letters

Dear Wallace:

Thank you for the copies of the letters you have received from Lions Clody, Huggins and Jones. It is most kind of you to direct any misunderstandings in this direction so that we might have a chance to explain our perspective insofar as our work is concerned. I had heard from Lion Jones, and I have written to him directly.

I was sorry that I could not attend the Mid-Winter meeting in Wilmington. I had to be in New Orleans for a meeting, so I had to forego the pleasure. According to Lion Clody's letter to you, Mr. Bradshaw was to write to me concerning the report that was to be made on the Eye-Bank work. I did not hear from Mr. Bradshaw, but I did receive a letter from District Governor James Boone. I wrote him and told him that I would not be able to attend, but I would see that a report was given by a representative of the Eye-Bank.

In selecting Charles G. Monnett, Jr. I felt that he was well qualified to be our spokesman. He is Chairman of the Eye-Bank Committee of the Association for the Blind; he has secured 1,484 pledges, which makes him an expert in that field; he has been a Board member of our organization and he is a Lion.

Lion Clody's concern about some other organization being in competition with us is well founded. This is exactly what we were concerned about when we made the move to enlarge our operation to include the entire body or its parts. Such a move was approved by our Executive Committee and Board of Directors (24 members of which 17 are Lions). Having a tissue bank going full blast will certainly discourage any group who might be entertaining thoughts about getting a tissue bank in operation. We are already a tissue bank and have been since 1951. We have been involved with eyes only because until recently the eye tissue was the only tissue that could be transplanted successfully, the exception being tissue of identical twins whose tissue could be interchanged. By becoming officially a tissue bank we were only meeting our duty as an organization that could legally accept tissue that has been pledged under the law.

Our function as an eye-bank and as a tissue bank varies according to which part of the body has been received. Our services involving eye tissue remain the same. We act only as a depository of the forms pledging the entire body or its parts. We can use eye tissue within a 48-hour period after death. Not so with other human tissue. It has to be used almost immediately following the death of a donor. Therefore, much preparation has to take place prior to death. Enclosed is a mimeographed form that goes out with pertinent information about our participation at such a time.

I cannot understand why our move has made it more difficult to get eye pledges. The new form states that the part to be given is specified clearly on the indicated line. I feel certain that the Lions soliciting the pledges are treating the matter with the same consideration that they have always displayed when soliciting eye donors. If a person wishes to go beyond the gift of his eyes, there is no stopping him if he is able to obtain the proper forms. If a person wishes to give his eyes only, no amount of persuasion will make him go beyond that point. So, I fail to see how our present status can be a hinderance.

We do not actively solicit help from any group outside of the Lions. However, there are a number of civic and fraternal organizations that have been our friends and had our interest at heart long before the Lions demonstrated any interest in our work. We cannot, out of sheer gratitude, deny them the joy of soliciting pledges for our Bank. Many of our loyal Lions today have been former members of some of these groups. Eye-Banking is not exclusively a Lions project. Some of the banks in the Eye-Bank Association of America are completely underwritten by the Elks, Odd Fellows, United Funds, and perhaps others.

I have always admired the courage of the Lions to apply themselves to projects that do not always involve the blind and the visually handicapped. For instance, Boys Home, Little League football and baseball, playgrounds, etc. There has been a predominant theme running through all of their projects — a determination to rehabilitate their fellowman whenever possible, whether they be underprivileged, blind or visually handicapped, delinquent, or what have you.

I am very idealistic where the Lions are concerned. I am always amazed and disillusioned when the ethics of our organization are questioned. I cannot think of a time when we have been unethical and have not carried out the requests of the Lions. Certainly, without the encouragement of the Lions we could not have made our move to expand at this early date. All major eye-banks will eventually become eye and human tissue banks. One has to reach up and out. We are not geared to accept stagnation, and we feel that the Lions would be less proud if we did allow our work to stand still.

This is a very long and involved letter. I do hope that in it you find all of the answers you are looking for.

—Mrs. Charles A. Bunce, Sr.
Executive Director

PLEASE POST IN MEDICINE CABINET

FOR EYE EMERGENCIES

SPECKS Do not rub any speck or foreign body that gets into the eye. Lift the upper eyelid over the lower lid and let tears wash out the particle. If the speck doesn't wash out, keep the eye closed with a light dressing and seek medical attention.

BLOWS For a blow to the eye or a "black eye," apply cold compresses immediately for about 15 minutes per hour. A black eye could mean serious internal damage to the eyeball and should be seen by a doctor.

CUTS Bandage a cut eye lightly with a sterile gauze patch and call a doctor immediately. An eye with a cut, puncture, abrasion, etc., should not be washed with water. Do not try to remove an object stuck in the eye.

BURNS Whether caused by flame or chemicals, a burn in the eye should be flooded with water immediately for approximately 15 minutes. Hold the head under a faucet or pour cool water into the eye from a glass, pot, kettle, etc. Do not use an eye cup. Burns, especially those from chemicals, should be examined by a doctor as soon as possible.

PROJECT UNDERWAY — Hugh is tearing the wooden seat out of one of the many chairs in his workshop. In his leisure time, he'll replace it with a hand-woven seat. Plans also include refinishing the wooden frame and back. Hugh learned furniture refinishing at a workshop offered by the Home Demonstration Office.

Barber With Busy Hands

By LILA DeBOW
Salisbury Post Staff Writer

Hugh Caldwell Hutchins of Granite Quarry is one person that prepared himself for retirement.

His plans to retire from barbering, a trade he entered a half century ago, were hastened by failing eyesight, but his hands have not been idle since he gave his last hair cut in 1966.

"I was reared a poor boy, and can't get used to not working," the soft-spoken gentleman confessed. But that's not the reason Hugh Hutchins, 64, enrolled in a five-week course in caning at the North Carolina School for the Blind in Raleigh. He knew he might spend his twilight years in darkness and he wanted a hobby.

Hugh recently had a cataract removed from his right eye, which makes the fourth in a series of eye operations. He had surgery twice for glaucoma, and another cataract removed from his left eye. Now, he has high hopes for restoration of more sight, even though doctor's orders require him to "take it easy" until March.

Mrs. Hutchins, the former Eleanor Patton, teaches sixth graders at Granite Quarry School, so Hugh is alone from 7:30 a.m. until 3:45 p.m., five days a week. And sometimes, the hours are longer if she has a beauty parlor or dentist appointment.

The Hutchins home on the corner of Cleo and Bank streets would pass military inspection, but Eleanor Hutchins remarked apologetically, "We just pick up around here during the week."

Since their two daughters are married and live away from Granite Quarry, the warm and friendly couple spend their leisure time lounging in the panelled den. The comfortable furnishings give guests an immediate "at home" feeling.

Hugh Hutchins said that caning chairs and refinishing furniture is not a lucrative hobby, but added, "It's something you can do when you want to." And that is exactly what he does, since his workshop is in the basement of his home. "There's no money in caning and refinishing," the retired barber commented, "because it involves too much time."

Furniture, as a hobby for Hugh, is not new. About the end of World War II, he went into the furniture business in Morganton. "After operating that several years and didn't make any money, I went back to barbering," Hugh recalled. Nevertheless, his love for pretty furniture remained, and the grandfather, whose hair is streaked with grey, learned refinishing techniques at a workshop offered by the Rowan County Home Demonstration Office.

"I don't, as a rule, refinish for the public," Hugh said, but he has several pieces that antique dealers would probably love to own. Mrs. Hutchins is his main customer. For her, he uses all of his skills, plus that extra touch of love and care.

Greensboro Host to National Blind Golfers Tournament

The Greensboro Jaycees, founders of the Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament, sponsored the 25th Annual National Blind Golfers' Association Championship tournament in Greensboro, Sept. 25-27. The tournament was underwritten by Pepsi-Cola and Dr. Pepper companies with all proceeds going to Camp Dogwood. Jack Nicklaus, current British Open champion and winner of the recent World Series of Golf was scheduled to play in the Pro-Am.

Glaucoma-Diabetes Screening

800 persons were screened and 17 glaucoma suspects were referred in the Maaresville Lions Club Glaucoma & Diabetes Clinic in April. Here, Dr. Richard Griffinn and Mrs. Clinton Halts screen a patient.

At a recent Glaucoma-Diabetes screening clinic conducted in eastern North Carolina, thirty-five persons were found to have increased intra-ocular pressure (primary symptom of glaucoma) and thirty-nine persons were found to have elevated blood sugar (primary symptom of diabetes). These people with abnormalities were referred to their physician or ophthalmologist for further evaluation and possible diagnosis. We can be certain that because of this early detection many eyesights will be saved and a number of people will be able to live a longer and more useful life despite diabetes.

Glaucoma and diabetes rank respectively as the second and third leading causes of blindness and jointly they are responsible for over 100,000 cases of blindness in the United States today. Glaucoma needlessly blinds some 4,000 Americans every year even though it can be arrested and controlled if detected and treated early. Diabetes in addition to being a leading cause of blindness was directly responsible for 35,000 deaths in the U. S. last year. Since the only way that disability due to glaucoma and diabetes can be prevented is by early diagnosis and treatment, the emphasis in control has to be in early detection of these diseases.

Local Lions clubs, the North Carolina Association for the Blind, the N. C. State Board of Health, the N. C. Commission for the Blind, local health departments, and local medical societies have united to sponsor mass screening clinics for detecting glaucoma and diabetes. Six mass clinics will be conducted during the coming fiscal year, hopefully reaching from three to four thousand people. These clinics will be conducted in areas of greatest need and where the strongest support and participation can be assured. Local Lions will play a key role in the clinics overall outcome because they will be responsible for getting the public to participate. In order to get optimum participation every news media available must be fully utilized, radio, TV, newspaper, and posters, plus a rigorous word of mouth campaign. Success of a mass clinic is sometimes difficult to measure, but we feel that one sight saved or one diabetic discovered makes the effort worthwhile. However, it should be noted that the cost of screening one thousand persons is little more than that of screening only one hundred.

In addition to mass screening clinics, a great deal of emphasis will be placed on permanent glaucoma screening clinics in the coming fiscal year. At present five of these permanent or so called nurse screening clinics are operating in health departments in North Carolina. In this program nurses are used to screen patients for glaucoma. After the nurse receives training in diseases of the eye and proper procedure for tonometry testing, she will be responsible for the clinics operation. The expense for these clinics are shared jointly by the local Lions club, the N. C. Association for the Blind, and the State Board of Health.

At present diabetes and glaucoma cannot be prevented, but with an aggressive screening program and an increased public awareness of these diseases, the blindness and disability caused by them could be virtually eliminated.

Letter from the President

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Lions of North Carolina for the trust and confidence you have placed in me by electing me to the high office of President of the North Carolina Association for the Blind, Inc. I pledge to you that I will carry out my duties and responsibilities to the best of my ability.

Under the very excellent and capable leadership of our Past Presidents and especially under the leadership of Past President Wallace I. West, our Association has continued its steady pattern of growth and progress for the blind and visually handicapped citizens of our State. Your Association has been operated in a sound, efficient and business-like manner. We, the Officers, Board of Directors and Staff plan to continue these sound business practices.

I would like to point out to you that the North Carolina Association for the Blind is a growing organization. Through the efforts of the Lions of this State, we have built an organization which is second to none in providing services and benefits to the blind and visually handicapped citizens of our State.

Much progress has been made in our Association and we are continuing to try to improve all areas in which we work, such as (1) continuation of the Long Range Planning Committee (2) improving communication between Lions and the Association, and (3) operating on a budget. The Long Range Planning Committee has the duty to study and investigate all requests for long-range funding of research and other projects. This committee wants to make sure that when a request is made, that this money is needed. They want to make certain that we get full value for every one of your White Cane Dollars that we spend. We want to improve the communications between the Lions and your Association. One step in better communications has been the change in the White Cane Magazine from an annual report to a quarterly issue. This will continue. We will also issue six (6) issues of the President's News Bulletin which will be slanted to give the Lions more information about your Association, how your money is being spent and what projects and activities we are supporting. Your Association has been operated on a strict budget for the past two (2) years. Again this year, we will continue to operate on a strict line item budget which was approved by your Board of Directors in High Point, North Carolina on August 2, 1970. Every Lion in the State will receive a quarterly report of your Association's expenditures and receipts. This will give everyone an up to date accounting of how your money is being spent.

I want to remind you that this is your Association, the Lions of North Carolina, and we intend to be responsive to the Lions of North Carolina and to all citizens of our State in meeting the needs of our blind and visually handicapped citizens. We have a great team of committees who are working and making plans for an outstanding year of service for the programs of our Association. We have an outstanding group of District Governors to work with this year. These Governors are a truly dedicated group of Lions who are cooperating and working with us to build a stronger and greater image for our Association.

In closing, I would like to make this remark. To be successful, we must move ahead with positive action, with positive thinking, with positive enthusiasm and with a positive sense of dedication for our great cause. This year, we want all Lions in the State of North Carolina to band together into a united, winning team to meet the challenges and changes of our times.

We want the Lions of North Carolina to know that your Officers, Board of Directors and Staff of our Association will study and weigh all decisions carefully and honestly. We will do our utmost to make the right decisions as we carry on the business of your Association.

134 Eye Injury Cases Reported After Eclipse

Eye injuries resulting from the March 7 solar eclipse now number 134 cases, according to the survey of ophthalmologists and hospital emergency rooms conducted by the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness. An earlier report had listed only 95 cases of eye damage.

The survey was conducted to determine the effectiveness of the intensive information campaign to warn the public about the eye hazards of direct viewing of the eclipse, and to determine the incidence and circumstances of eye injuries. The survey included some 5,000 ophthalmologists throughout the country, and 1900 hospitals east of the Mississippi — chosen to cover areas in or near the path of the total eclipse.

The Society's executive director, Wilfred D. David, M. D., terms the number of eye-damage cases "far fewer than we had feared." The fact that the March 7 eclipse was available to more persons than any eclipse in history — its totality path was up the populous U. S. East Coast — raised concern about possibility of hundreds of cases of eye damage.

$50,000 Grant Authorized For New Diagnostic Center

The Bureau of Education for the Handicapped, U. S. Office of Education, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Washington, D. C. has approved a one year developmental grant to the Division of Special Education, North Carolina Department of Public Instruction. This grant, in the amount of $50,000 was authorized under P.L. 90-247, Part C, Title VI of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

The purpose of this one year developmental grant is to plan and develop the following services for deaf-blind children: Comprehensive diagnostic and evaluative services; education, adjustment, and orientation programs; and, effective consultative services for parents, teachers and others who are directly involved in the service of deaf-blind children.

The proposed Center is to be regional in nature and will plan to provide needed services for deaf-blind children in the following states: North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and the District of Columbia. From the initial study of this region and the information compiled, a permanent Regional Deaf-Blind Center may be funded. In this program, the term "center" refers not to a building but to a comprehensive regional system of services involving the states within the region and coordinated by a designated agency. The Division of Special Education will serve as the coordinating agency during the planning phase of the developmental project.

Raleigh Lions Break Ground for New Blind Clinic

Groundbreaking ceremonies for a new $630,780 building to house facilities of Raleigh Lions Clinic for the Blind, Inc. were held at the construction site at the corner of South Saunders and Hubert streets, Raleigh, Aug. 18.

The clinic is a non-profit organization cooperating with the N. C. State Commission for the Blind to provide the only work potential evaluation program available to visually handicapped North Carolinians. The Commission provides a professional occupational guidance staff and the Lions Club of Raleigh operates an industrial workshop where the blind students work for short periods to determine job interest and adaptability.

The new building will enable expansion of the program, which has operated since its beginning in 1967 in temporary facilities at 508 Glenwood Ave. The 47,000 square foot structure will have a two-level office and testing unit with a ground-level rear wing where the workshop will be located.

Last spring N. C. Association for the Blind, Inc. granted $5,000 to the Raleigh Lions Clinic building fund. The Raleigh Lions goal is $239,000 of which $57,000 has been donated or pledged by individual club members.

New Television-Like Device Enables Blind Subject to 'See' Through Skin

Two California electronics vision research specialists have developed a prototype TV-like device to give vision to the blind.

With the primitive device, the subjects literally see through their skin surfaces. They get their best views, curiously, through skin covering the abdomen. But restored visualization can be obtained at other skin surfaces, such as on the back, the chest and surfaces of the inner arms.

The initial development could be made more sophisticated to encompass some 400 contact points instead of the present grid of nine electrodes, the scientists reported.

The research and development report appeared in the Spring issue of the fledgling new journal of biomedical systems under the title "Pictorial Display by Direct Electrical Stimulation of the Skin."

The tactile visual substitution system has been developed at the Smith-Kettlewell Institute of Visual Sciences, Pacific Medical Center, San Francisco, by a team of scientists including Carter C. Collins, PHD, and Paul Beacy Rita, M. D. The research has been supported principally by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the Rosenberg Foundation and the Fleischmann Foundation.

The promising system would replace "a significant fraction" of visual function in blind patients. The prototype under laboratory development converts a television image into a pattern of mechanical stimulation (pain-free shocks) through an array of vibrators in contact with the skin.

In other words, the blinded subject would carry a television camera, pointing it any way he wished; the camera image would converge over a desired skin area, and this would signal to the brain a pattern of impulses similar to those provoked on cerebral centers by signals from the functioning eye system.

Mrs. Ruth Clarke, who attended your Camp the week of July 5th, has asked that I write and express to you and your staff her appreciation for a wonderful week and the many acts of kindness shown to her by all of you. She thoroughly enjoyed her week and she is still raving about all of the good meals you served.

My husband and I appreciate your interest in her and we are very impressed with the Camp and its layout.

I hope this finds each of you well and happy.

I am a little late writing but have been tied down not up. I think of you each day many times and I do not have words to really send you my real thoughts. My inward eye has hung some lovely pictures of you all on the walls of my heart which only the death Angel can take down. I do appreciate the nice radio you gave me and I enjoyed winning it. I have already told our Lions Club about Dogwood and stressed the fact that every Lion in N. C. should see it in person, they were well pleased with my report. It was my most wonderful week of my 65 years on this plantation and I feel that God blessed me greatly by sending me. Jim, I know now that you all spoiled me, I had only been back about two hours when the house lady said, don't you need a bath ha ha. I could write a book but had better slow down. My teacher used to say, Philip, please dot your I's and cross your T's, well, I haven't any eyes and can't find my Tee's. To each and every one I send my very best, may God continue to bless and keep you till we meet again. A friend to the end.

Dear Mr. Bean, please forgive me for waiting so long to write and express my appreciation to you for the most wonderful vacation I ever had. You folks were all so nice and kind to me. I really did enjoy it and it's the first vacation I ever took that I fished two and three times daily so that helped a lot.

The food was wonderful and all the helpers so nice and kind. I'm sending a clipping from the Albemarle paper and please don't think I told him I won 1st prize, for I did not and Mrs. Lew is the Supervisor, was present and said not to worry, I was so afraid I was trying to brag on myself. But I explained it as was and this is what came out. Mrs. Chappell sent me a clipping from the Mooresville paper, I didn't know they were going to snap my picture. The ladies here at the home all had a good laugh. Give my regards to Mr. McClure and all the staff, and thanking you again for such a wonderful vacation.

Western Lions Screening Van Probes Child's Sight Problems

If the letters on the blackboard are fuzzy, the child squints or moves to a seat closer to the front of the room.

He may have blurred vision, or see double or use just one eye and never complain about it because that is the way it has always been.

A child does not know how well he should see.

But by the time he gets to the classroom where the visual problem is certain to be detected, it is frequently too late to help the child.

To search out children for treatment at one age when correction of eye problems is at its greatest potential, the Lions Club of Western North Carolina have launched a unique project.

Their mobile visual screening unit with a mission to find the children in 12 mountain counties with sight problems who may be helped could be the first of its kind in the nation.

It's unique, first of all, because the $12,000 a year screening project doesn't look to the taxpayer for a penny.

But it will be a fulltime professional operation dedicated to locating every child between the ages of three and six in Western North Carolina with visual defects that could be corrected or improved through early treatment.

"This is the No. 1 sight conservation priority of Lions International," Arnold J. Hyde of Candler, president of Western North Carolina Lions Inc., said of the effort to locate problems for early treatment.

The project was incorporated in April for the purpose of coordinating efforts of Lions Clubs and others interested in the work toward a preschool visual screening clinic in the 12 counties of District 31-A of Lions International.

Mrs. Elba Kerney, district medical supervisor for the North Carolina Commission for the Blind, is a prime mover in the project. Many times, she said, when treatment of an eye problem is delayed until school age, the central visual acuity is permanently impaired and no longer subject to correction.

Miss Mary Jane Jones, also a registered nurse, is director of the mobile unit.

Members of Lions Clubs in each area will assist with transportation to the unit, furnishing lunches and publicizing the eye screening schedule.

A representative from the Department of Social Services, and one from the health department, will be present during the screening and records of problems discovered will be available to the schools.

Eye physicians of North Carolina originated the plan, and the doctors of the Asheville Lions Clinic are backing it to the extent that they put up the $1,000 needed to buy equipment, Hyde said.

C. Glenn Self, chairman of the clinic, and his committee, are credited with much of the work in organizing the project.

Getting the mobile unit on the road has involved a lot of work, and the cooperation of numerous persons, Hyde said. But as field representative for the State Commission for the Blind, he has carefully avoided working at the project except at lunch and after hours.

Hyde is a state employe, representing the commission in 24 western counties, and Western North Carolina Lions Inc., of which he is president, is designed to function without state assistance.

The corporation had $13,000 in the bank to start the project and the N. C. Association for the Blind will contribute $5,000 a year toward the operation, Hyde said.

Each member of Lions Clubs in the district — there are 16 clubs in Buncombe County alone — will contribute $3.50 a year to the project, he said. The United Fund will pay the Buncombe County share of about $2,100 a year.

Approximately $7,000 a year will be contributed by the Lions of the 12 WNC counties on a membership basis.

The problems haven't all been financial, but assuring the necessary funds to operate the mobile unit was no small matter.

"First, it was necessary to raise the funds to purchase the van truck and the necessary screening equipment. The Buncombe County Lions, in cooperation with the United Fund, contributed approximately 50 per cent of the cost," Hyde said.

A special fund of $2,500 was set up for the project in the will of a benefactor to the blind.

Grady Pulliam Jr. Named New Director

Grady Pulliam, Jr., a Winston-Salem insurance executive, was elected a director of Lions International at its annual meeting recently at Atlantic City, N. J.

The 45,000 delegates representing 122 foreign countries elected seven U. S. and six foreign delegates to two-year terms. The 27-member board of directors governs a worldwide membership of one million.

Pulliam, president of Triad Life Insurance Corp., served as the first president of the Twin City Lions Club, which was established in 1956. Since then he has served as zone chairman, director of district publicity, deputy district governor and district governor for Northwest North Carolina. He also has served as president of the North Carolina Eye Bank.

A REPORT ON THE 1970-1971

The WHITE CANE DRIVE

Someone in trying to describe Service said: "What we have done for ourselves alone dies with us. What we have done for others and the world remains and is immortal." Service is the mainstream of Lionism. For the past thirty-six (36) years the Lions throughout this state have been providing a valuable service to the blind and visually handicapped people. This program has had continued growth as a result of true dedication and endless hours of work by many, many people.

The White Cane Drive, our number one project, forms the base for this most important work. If the Drive succeeds the Association's projects will succeed.

During our years of growth and expansion we have been confronted with conflicts along the way. I would like to think that as each of these issues have been solved that our Association was made stronger and more efficient.

One of the main goals this year is to attempt to develop a positive attitude by all Lions in the State toward the Association. If there are Lions in your club who have questions concerning any part of the operation of the Association, won't you please correspond with President Bob Frye or myself and we will try to answer them immediately.

The financial goal for this year is $172,000 with approximately $4,000 of this amount expected to be collected by the purchase of life memberships. The goal per member is $12.00. This is the same as it has been for the past two years.

The membership dues are also the same as last year. The four classifications are as follows: (1) $1.00 through $4.99 — Subscribing membership; (2) $5.00 or more annually — Active membership; (3) $25.00 or more annually, Sustaining membership; (4) $100.00 or more — Life membership. The Subscribing membership will not entitle a person to vote nor to receive the quarterly magazine.

The White Cane Drive will begin September 1 and end on March 1. This was a unanimous recommendation made by the present District Governors.

The White Cane Drive needs the help and support of every Lion in the state. The blind and visually handicapped people need you. Will you do your part to keep our number one project strong and efficient?

'Sam' Early Named Director of State Commission

W. E. "Sam" Early

W. E. "Sam" Early was appointed Oct. 10, 1970 as Executive Director of the N. C. State Commission for the Blind. As chief administrator for the agency, he is in charge of some 260 employees in Raleigh and in seven district offices throughout North Carolina. In conjunction with the nine member Commission appointed by the Governor, he is in charge of the implementation of the medical, social and rehabilitation programs provided for the 12,000 plus blind and visually impaired citizens of the state.

Early was born and reared in Wake Forest, N. C. and is a 1956 graduate of Wake Forest University. He is a veteran of the U. S. Navy and an active Methodist, serving on the official board of Raleigh's Trinity United Methodist Church. He is active in civic and community organizations, including the N. C. Jaycees, for whom he has served as state secretary and vice president. He was named outstanding state Jaycee vice president in 1968. He is also a member of the Wake Community Lions Club of Raleigh.

Prior to becoming a state employee, Early was in sales and budget administration with Firestone Tire and Rubber Company and Colonial Stores, Inc. In 1959, he joined the Purchase and Contract Division, N. C. Department of Administration. In 1962, he was promoted to Purchase Agent for Terms Contracts and, in 1966, to Supervisor of Term Contracts. In 1968, he was made Acting Federal Surplus Property Officer. In 1969, he was named Assistant Director of the newly created Department of Local Affairs. He served in that department until November, when he became Administrative Assistant for the N. C. Board of Paroles.

Early's membership in professional organizations include the American Association of Workers for the Blind, the N. C. Association of Workers for the Blind, the N. C. Society for the Prevention of Blindness, the National Rehabilitation Association, and the N. C. Association for the Blind, for which he serves as a Board member. He is a member of the Wildwood Country Club also.

His wife is Mrs. Mary Lane Early. They have one daughter, Elizabeth Lane. The family lives at 4805 Kilkennay Place, Raleigh.

Parham Wins National Award

J. Marshall Parham, rehabilitation supervisor and office manager, Winston-Salem District, N. C. State Commission for the Blind, has won the nation's top honor for rehabilitation counseling. He is the first blind person and the first North Carolinian to win this national award.

Announcement of Parham's honor was made in Raleigh by Commission Acting Executive Director Carlton F. Edwards. The award was presented Sept. 29 in San Diego, Calif. at the National Rehabilitation Association (NRA) annual conference awards banquet. Official designation of the honor is the NRA Elkin Award for the most outstanding rehabilitation counselor in the United States. Parham had previously won state and regional awards in the same category.

Edwards said "Marshall Parham has endeared himself to the blind people of North Carolina, to the agency he has served so faithfully and to many other groups, like Lions International, NRA and the N. C. Association for the Blind, who work with and for blind people. He brings honor to the Commission for the Blind and to his state as he accepts this latest in a series of honors for service that is truly meritorious."

Parham joined the Commission staff in 1935. He was educated at the University of N. C. where he studied journalism. He has spent most of his life as a rehabilitation counselor and supervisor but has continued his interest in journalism and public relations as a publicist for many agencies, a free lance writer, radio script author and songwriter. He and his wife, Evelyn, live at 206 Gray Court Apts., Winston-Salem. They have collaborated on a number of musical compositions, including the official song for the state Lions clubs and a children's operetta.

Parham's Commission responsibilities involve supervising all rehabilitation work with blind people in an 11-county Northwestern N. C. area. He has assisted hundreds of blind people as a professional worker and friend, Edwards said. He feels the people of North Carolina are not fully aware of the capabilities of the blind individual and the greatest need of the blind population is employment opportunities. Parham's own clients work in jobs as diverse as furniture sanding, social work and ranching.

Parham was nominated for the national award by the N. C. Rehabilitation Counselors Association, an affiliate of NRA.

Grady R. Galloway Named to New Post

Claude A. Meyer, assistant superintendent for vocational rehabilitation, has announced the appointment of Grady R. Galloway as his administrative assistant.

Galloway, who assumed duties on Nov. 6, was previously executive director of the State Commission for the Blind. Galloway has been in rehabilitation counseling since 1946. A Jackson County native, he holds bachelor's and Master's degrees from Western Carolina University.

Letter from the President

Robert G. Frye

I AM happy to report that I am well pleased with the work of the Association so far this year. I feel that we are making progress in all areas of our work for the blind and visually handicapped. We are working very hard to develop a positive and enthusiastic attitude toward our great Association. With your cooperation, help and support and with everyone working together as a winning team, we can truly make this year a year of progress for the North Carolina Association for the Blind, Inc. And, let us not forget, that the most important function that we have as Lions and as members of this Association is to make progress in our work with and for our blind and visually handicapped friends throughout the State of North Carolina. We must always keep this thought uppermost in our minds.

I would also like to report to you that the Association is in a healthy financial condition. We are getting our books set up so that our chart of accounts will be the same as our operating budget. This means that we will have a bookkeeping system that we can check at any given time, showing the amount of money that was budgeted, how much money has been spent toward the budget and the amount of money remaining in the budget.

We now have a set of Personnel Policies and Practices for the Association and a Job Specification for hiring a new Executive Director. We will complete job descriptions for the other positions on our staff during this fiscal year. Since the resignation of Mrs. Charles, Mrs. Corinne Heck, has been filling the position of Acting Executive Secretary. Mrs. Heck has been a real asset to me and she has carried out the duties of her position in a most efficient and business like manner. We are truly grateful to Mrs. Heck.

Our Committees in the Association have been doing yeoman work all year long. I cannot praise the work of these committees too highly. Every committee in the Association is working and carrying out the duties assigned to them. When this year is history, I am confident that these committees will have set new records in all areas of our work for the blind and visually handicapped.

Each year our State White Cane Director, with the Board of Directors' approval, sets a goal for our annual White Cane Drive. Each year, the dedicated, hard working and wonderful Lions of North Carolina accept this goal. In the true spirit of Lionism and by living up to our motto, "WE SERVE," the Lions of North Carolina get involved. They accept the challenge, put their shoulder to the wheel, move forward, and they are not satisfied until this goal has been surpassed. This year is no different. Our White Cane Drive is off to a good start and we are rapidly gaining momentum as new reports are received each day. There is no way that kindness to our fellow man can be expressed more aptly than the help derived by our blind friends through your services as a worker in our annual White Cane Drive. To illustrate this point, I would like to offer an appropriate verse from Henry Drummond.

> "I shall pass through this world but once. Any good therefore, that I can do, or any kindness that I can show to any human being, let me do it now, let me not defer or neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again."

Robert G. Frye

An Open Letter

It's YOUR Magazine!

Dear Lions of North Carolina and Members of the N. C. Association for the Blind, Inc.

For a number of years now the WHITE CANE MAGAZINE has been sent to all the Lions in our state. This is your magazine and we'd like very much to hear from you telling us what you want to read about!

Once in each year a financial report comprises almost the whole magazine. The other three can be devoted to any special topic or project you have in mind.

Our aim is to be informative. We want to report on what is taking place in areas of research in the cause of blindness, new methods of rehabilitation programs, the inspiring work being accomplished by the blind persons of our state, and news of Lions Clubs. There is much to tell you, and a great deal that we need to know about you.

Won't you take a minute to drop us a note and share with us your feelings about the WHITE CANE MAGAZINE?

Very sincerely,

—MRS. CORINNE HECK
Acting Executive Secretary

Prayer Praises Durham Lions

(In appreciation to the Durham Lions Club for what has been done for his wife and others and because of gratitude for the invitation to witness the dedication of the new annex to the Lions Club Industries for the Blind, John Carter Washington, contributes this original poem.)

MY PRAYER FOR THE DURHAM LIONS

Dear God, right now, I bow my head
This night, before I go to bed,
And send my thanks from here to Zion
For each and every Durham Lion
Who, through the years, have been so kind
In their provisions for the blind.
Thanks for these men, brave! and bold!
These heroes who have hearts of gold.

For those of us who will not shirk,
They built a shop, where man can work
"By the sweat of his brow,"—like the Good Book says—
And earn a living in many ways.
The mattress work, the sewing machines
Provide blind persons with ways and means
To save up dollars for a rainy day.
God, bless each Lion of Durham, I pray.

Since this shop was first erected,
Brighter ideas were injected
Into every heart and mind
Of Lions who ventured, and did find (Under Thy supreme direction)
Opportunities, Protection,
Better shelter, new provisions.
Bless them, in their great decisions.

Bless each wall, each floor, each nook,
Every nail, each screw, and hook
That holds the building well together
In rainy, sunny, snowy weather.
Bless employers, employees,
And keep us all DOWN ON OUR KNEES
Giving thanks for what you've done
Through each Lion—every one.

Bless each yearly Christmas Party
Which makes the blind so gay and hearty,
Each picnic, and each surprise
That rolls away the gloomy skies.

One day blinded eyes will see.
This then, Dear Lord, please do for me:
When Christian soldiers go marching to Zion,
Please! let me behold each Durham Lion. Amen.

Association Gives Duke U. $25,000 Grant for New Laser

The North Carolina Association for the Blind, Inc. is making available a grant of $25,000 to the Department of Ophthalmology at Duke University Medical Center for the purchase of an Argon laser.

The Argon laser is the latest development for photocoagulation in eye diseases. The laser produces a high-energy green light beam which can be focused with pinpoint accuracy. The beam is absorbed by red blood and is particularly useful in producing coagulation (clotting) of blood vessels inside the eye.

Duke doctors say the Argon laser has proven to be useful in the treatment of vascular diseases involving the eye, including diabetes and certain tumors of the eye.

Argon lasers currently are being used in the treatment of eye diseases at Columbia University in New York and at Stanford University in California. The one at Duke will be one of the first of its type in the southern United States.

A check for $5,000, the first installment of the grant, has been presented to Duke President Terry Sanford by Robert G. Frye of Hickory, president of the N. C. Association for the Blind.

In the coming year, the association will make available more than $100,000 in North Carolina for research and treatment of eye diseases. This will include support of the N. C. Eye Bank, the N. C. Society for the Prevention of Blindness, Inc., eye screening programs and the purchase of visual aids, drugs and medication for the partially sighted and the blind.

Focus on N. C. Lions

Judge J Hardie Ferguson hears a case.

J. Hardie Ferguson

A Lion With 'No Appeal'

There is many a tribute due to many a Lion, but I would like to share with you a most unusual tribute. I introduce to you a Lion "with no appeal." Many a Lion dedicates a lifetime of service founded upon his code of ethics. Whether or not recognition is part of this picture is usually based upon this Lion's appealing to someone's need; someone's interest or someone's appreciation; but to be given the "honor" of serving as Juvenile Court Judge for 23 years of his nearly 40 years of Lionism with "No Appeal" is indeed quite a unique accomplishment.

October 1, 1970, marks the 26th anniversary of J. Hardie Ferguson's appointment to the juvenile court judgeship in Wilmington, North Carolina, of New Hanover County. Judge Ferguson became a member of the Wilmington Lion's Club as a practicing attorney in 1936. In 1944 while serving as Deputy Judge of Recorder's Court he accepted the juvenile judgeship appointment.

Wilmington, N. C. has been Mr. Ferguson's home since 1935. According to juvenile court records, Mr. Ferguson handled an average of 20 cases on a court day and has heard well over 13,000 cases involving custody and misconduct of the children of Wilmington and New Hanover County. Decisions have ranged from a dismissal of charges with a stern warning to a commitment to one of the State Training Schools. With similar experiences of many judges, Mr. Ferguson can enumerate many interesting and unusual cases, but when the work of the Juvenile Court was taken over by the District Court under the state's court reorganization plan last year and Mr. Ferguson resumed his fulltime law practice in the office in Wilmington which he has maintained through the years, it was found that he had established a most remarkable record as a judge—23 years of service on the bench without a single appeal. This record may well be unprecedented.

Let's Go Bowling With Blind Friends

By Oral O. Miller, President
American Blind Bowling Assoc.

If you have ever bowled, you know the pleasure of rolling the ball in just the right way to knock down a difficult combination of pins. If you have never bowled, you are missing more than an enjoyable evening of physical activity. Due in large measure to the preponderant number of those over 65 years of age, blind adults as a group tend to be relatively inactive physically. However, in many cases this inactivity results from lack of interest in a worthwhile activity or (all too often) from lack of knowledge of activities which can be enjoyed by the blind and the sighted at the same time. Whether bowling is called an activity, a sport or a game, it is an especially beneficial physical and social activity which can be enjoyed by everyone—both blind and sighted.

I do not know when bowling was first tried by the blind, but the first "national" blind bowling tournament was held in the late 1940's with fewer than a hundred participants—from the Philadelphia and New York areas. From that meager beginning the American Blind Bowling Association (ABBA) was formed in 1951 to promote interest in ten-pin bowling by conducting an annual championship tournament and by supervising in a general way the formation and operation of member leagues for competition throughout the year. The ABBA's membership now numbers in the thousands and its members include the totally blind, the partially blind and the sighted. Many ABBA members are also AAWB members and they are already familiar with the mechanics of bowling as enjoyed by the blind. However, a few comments are in order for those who are not familiar with them. The assistance which a sighted bowler receives from his vision is furnished to a blind bowler by a guide rail which is erected (when needed) alongside the bowling approach. The rail, made of aluminum or another light metal, is three feet high and from nine to fifteen feet long. It

Mrs. Kathryne Charles has recently sent us the check for $15,000 representing the final payment of the State Association for the Blind in its grant of $30,000 for the purchase of equipment for experimental ophthalmology in this institution. On behalf of the staff of our department and the medical school, I would like to extend our sincere thanks to you and the members of your organization for your generous donation. I can assure you that these funds will be spent for those things for which they were requested.

Without the support of the North Carolina State Association for the Blind, much of what we have accomplished here in the past 15 years would have been impossible, and I am personally most appreciative. With best regards,

—S. D. McPherson, Jr., M.D.
Acting Chairman

On behalf of myself and my 7-year-old son, Clinton, I want to say thank you for Camp Dogwood and what it is doing for all of us.

I have spent two days at the camp this summer, one sponsored by a Charlotte Lions Club and one by the Metro Tar Heel Federation of the blind and they are highlights of my summer.

I hope we can go again next summer.

—Mrs. Amanda Lloyd
3037 Yadkin Avenue
Charlotte, N. C.

I want to thank you for the very fine experiences offered to our Murdoch residents and staff this past week at Camp Dogwood. I personally enjoyed the week as much as anything I've been a part of in a long time. It was one of the "Highlights" of my three years of camping experiences with handicapped persons. The hospitality, the activities, and the genuine spirit of love and concern exemplified by you and your staff provided a truly meaningful week for all of us.

The facilities at Camp Dogwood are very impressive and I know that the camp under your leadership this summer will continue to be successful. You have a standing invitation to visit with us at Murdoch Center. We would like very much to have you come see us sometime.

Again, thanks for a good week. Give my regards to your counselors.

—Jim McSwain, Chaplain
Murdoch Center, Butner

Just a few lines to let you know we arrived safe and sound and that we certainly enjoyed the two weeks of camp. I think it proved quite an experience for both of us. I was quite pleased the way the staff worked together. You and your staff did a fine job and I'm sure they will continue to do so throughout the camping season. Please give my warmest regards to all and hope to see them soon.

—Larry Kincaid
Director of Recreation
Murdoch Center, Butner

We would like to thank you and all the Lions of North Carolina for making it possible for our son, Tim, and all the other boys and girls to attend Camp Dogwood this summer. The camp is beautiful and the staff seems exceptionally competent and interested in the children.

Tim enjoyed his camping experience immensely. It was a wonderful and rewarding experience for him.

We are deeply grateful to you and the North Carolina Lions for making this experience possible for Tim and the others.

—Mr. & Mrs. Grady Snyder

Quotation from a letter written by Mrs. Marilyn Shafrath to the Commission for the Blind office:

"We appreciate this important service of the Association for the Blind (White Canes). Many of our clients express an almost affectionate attachvent to their cane. We wish we could share all their appreciative comments with you. Please express our thanks to the members of the Winston-Salem Lions Club for their part in delivering of these canes."

—Mrs. Marilyn Shafrath
Social Worker for the Blind
Forsyth County Department of Social Services

We are two of the persons who attended Camp Dogwood for the first week and we are writing to tell you how much we appreciate the trip. We enjoyed ourselves and every one at the camp was very nice. Mr. Bean and his staff gave us all the attention in the world. We couldn't have had a better time anywhere else. I hope in the years to come the camp will continue to stay open and we get another chance to attend the camp again. Thank you very much for sending us. And we hope the camp will continue with good luck in the years to come.

Thank you,

—Mr. & Mrs. Lewis McIntyre

Cleveland County Clinic Now Operating Full Time

Cleveland County Lions' Multi-Phasic Eye Clinic is now operating on a full time basis, serving the people of that area of North Carolina. Individuals and groups come to the clinic for acuity, glaucoma and diabetes screening. All suspects are referred to Dr. Emile Gebel, local ophthalmologist, for further examination and treatment.

Mrs. Clay Cabaniss is the clerk for the clinic, taking appointments, keeping records and arranging for follow-up by nurse Mrs. Georgia Wilson who conducts the tests at the clinic.

The clinic is sponsored by the nine Lions clubs in Cleveland County. They conduct the business under the name, "The Cleveland County Lions Free Multi-Phasic Eye Clinic Association." James B. Spears is current president of the association. Clubs which support the clinic through membership assessment are Boiling Springs Lions Club, Fallston Lions Club, Grover Lions Club, Kings Mountain Lions Club, Lattimore Lions Club, Lawndale Lions Club, Polkville Lions Club, Shelby Lions Club and Shelby Community Lions Club.

Cherryville Lions Clubs gave this ice maker to Camp Dogwood.

Mrs. Edith Chappell, dietitian at Camp Dogwood, received a bouquet from President Robert Frye at the November board meeting.

Mrs. Charles Leaves Position

On August 26, 1970, the N. C. Association for the Blind, Inc. accepted, with regret, the resignation of Mrs. Kathryne Charles as Executive Secretary, effective September 11, 1970.

Mrs. Charles came to the Association in 1967.

In the early summer of 1970 Mrs. Charles' mother died and it became necessary for her to return to her father's home in Statesville to care for him and help in the operation of the family business.

We wish for her nothing but the best of luck and all the happiness due a talented worker and a true lady.

Dedication Ceremony Is Held for Harrell Building

The C. Grady Harrell addition to the Lions Club Industries for the Blind was dedicated in Durham in November. Many Durham Lions and their ladies attended the ceremony.

Mrs. Virginia Smyth, top ranking official in the regional Social and Rehabilitation Services for the Southeast, who addressed the dedication crowd, expressed high praise for the Industries. The dedication was the first visit for the new executive director of the State Commission for the Blind, W. E. "Sam" Early.

Volunteer Services Great Need

In her address at the dedication of the C. Grady Harrell addition to the Durham Lions Club Industries for the Blind, Mrs. Virginia Smyth, Southeastern regional commissioner of Social and Rehabilitation Services of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, urged expansion of the volunteer service program to reach people in need of specialized services. "I do know that no agency today can meet the needs of people who come to them for help," Mrs. Smyth said.

Mrs. Smyth's statement, based on her experience as regional director of the agency which administers the vast federal programs of welfare and rehabilitation, strongly supports the thesis of Dr. Guion Johnson's book, Volunteers in Community Service, which explored and reported North Carolina's record and need in volunteer services. The people simply cannot commit full responsibility for meeting the needs of people to professional workers, employed by government or by private social agencies. Public and private agencies can organize opportunities for volunteer services and should, to give coordination and system to such efforts.

Volunteers are particularly needed, Mrs. Smyth said, to "reach more people who are isolated or lonely or need special individualized services that a volunteer can provide even better than a professional worker."

Another major emphasis made by Mrs. Smyth was for prevention of blindness. "To what extent could blindness be reduced in North Carolina," she asked, "if all the people interested in helping blind people were concentrating even half their attention on prevention?"

Mrs. Smyth's two significant emphases are being implemented in North Carolina by volunteers in eye screening programs for children sponsored by the North Carolina Society for the Prevention of Blindness. Most of these programs are for preschool children, to discover visual defects which need early correction. Durham is one of the communities with an extensive preschool vision screening program, and a number of other communities have them also. But it should be a program in every county in the state. Volunteers are needed for this work, for the cost of professional workers to do this work would be prohibitive. With volunteers, it does not require a great deal of any one person's time. The benefits, in correcting defects and preventing blindness, are incalculable.

GALLERY FOR THE Blind NEWS

Glass is a most flexible material and to demonstrate this, the Mary Duke Biddle Gallery for the Blind is presently showing, as a means of instruction, a great variety of pieces which give credence to this fact.

Maya M. Reid, who is now in charge of this Gallery, felt that many people either are not aware or simply never gave much thought to the subject of glass. Glass has been manipulated throughout the ages ever since it was first discovered, by default, in Egypt in the 15th century BC, as a decorative and useful material.

Initially, glass was used by the Egyptians almost entirely as vessels for holding liquids, it was an expensive process being cast in clay, consequently only enjoyed by the very wealthy who could afford such luxury in their households. With the spread of the Roman Empire, in approximately the year 27 BC, the knowledge of glassmaking quickly spread to the conquered countries. It was the Romans who discovered that glass could be blown, which immediately cheapened the process, making glass available to many more markets. As the new countries acquired the skill so did they inject their individuality into their work developing recognizable styles. The disintegration of the Roman Empire did nothing to halt the production; it merely changed the manufacturing capital to the Byzantine Empire, which, in turn, influenced its trend and style. However, with the fall of the Byzantine Empire glass fell to its lowest ebb not to be revived until the Renaissance. It is this influence which gave rebirth to glass as we know it today.

It was discovered very early that no matter what was done to glass in the raw stage whether cut, rolled, spun, injected with color, blown, etched, deeply engraved or merely stretched, the finished product had invariably the high sheen and gloss so unique to glass, which cannot be reproduced in any other material. Consequently this gave the artisan constant challenge in his work since no two pieces were ever alike. Even today for great occasions gifts of magnificently wrought glass are presented to celebrities, becoming highly prized collector's items.

The pieces making up this exhibition in the Gallery have been borrowed from interested parties throughout the State of North Carolina: Mr. and Mrs. Bayne Olsen of Richfield, Mrs. Miles Boyer of Charlotte, the Mint Museum of Art in Charlotte, Mr. Frank Manly of Goldsboro, Justice and Mrs. Dan K. Moore of Raleigh, Mrs. Floyd L. Strawn of Raleigh, Mr. and Mrs. James M. O'Neal, Jr. of Raleigh, Mrs. Marie Heikkinen of Raleigh, Ivey's of North Hills in Raleigh, just to name a few.

Because of the nature of this exhibition, which will run into December, the sighted will not be allowed to touch the pieces, which range in value from $10.00 to over $1,000, and are on loan from many private collections.

Miss Maya M. Reid of New York, N. Y., has been named assistant curator of the Mary Duke Biddle Gallery for the Blind at the North Carolina Museum of Art, according to Charles W. Stanford, director.

She assumed her duties Aug. 1.

Born in Santiago, Chile, of British parents, Miss Reid finished high school in South Africa. She took the matriculation examination for entrance into the University of Athens, Greece, and later studied at the University of Rome in Italy and the University of Geneva in Switzerland.

She has lectured in private art clubs, negotiated sales of private collections, served as critic and judge for exhibitions, hung exhibitions, authenticated graphics, and promoted the contemporary arts.

CAMP DOGWOOD REPORT

As of November 13, ticket sales from the National Blind Golfers' Championship total $5,128. The Greensboro Jaycees invested $2,000 of their money to handle the expenses of this tournament, plus $8,000 from the Pepsi-Cola-Dr. Pepper Co., so all the ticket sales will be clear for Camp Dogwood.

On behalf of the Camp Dogwood Committee, may I say "Thank you" to the Lions over the state who helped promote this tournament.

We have a 20 minute program, with color slides, "The Camp Dogwood Story." See your district committeeman or your district governor to arrange this program for your club. Also, we have a condensation of "The Camp Dogwood Story" on a vinyl disk that plays for 7 minutes on any record player. This will be distributed state-wide to the blind and visually handicapped through social workers, Lions Clubs, schools and industries for the blind. Write the Association office for any you might need for distribution.

The duplex cottage (donated) is scheduled to be finished by next summer's camping period. In addition, our goal is to build another duplex and a dormitory to handle the anticipated use of the camp. The initial clearing has been done on the nature trail, and it should be ready for use next spring.

Until camping time, we are open for Lions and blind groups. Why not get up a group of your blind neighbors and bring them to the camp for a visit?

We now have a caretaker, Lion Henry Morgan, living in the house on the property, and Henry will be happy to show you around.

Reservations for meals may be made with the Association office in Raleigh.

Contributions of money or items that can be used at the camp will be most appreciated. Memorial gifts will be acknowledged with a suitable card. Mark your gift for Camp Dogwood and forward to Raleigh.

Thank you and remember. . . .

"Don't let Blindness mean Loneliness, Support Camp Dogwood."

—Fred C. Rich, Chairman
Camp Dogwood Committee

'Reading Is for Everyone' Motto of Regional Library

"Reading is for everyone" This is the motto emblazoned in the hearts and minds of staff members of the Regional Library for the Blind in Raleigh. Established with the help of the Lions Clubs of North Carolina in 1959, this library has grown and expanded, and has burst the seams several times.

The North Carolina-South Carolina Regional Library for the Blind is part of the Special Services Division of the North Carolina State Library, and serves any visually or physically handicapped person, who is unable to hold or read ordinary books, with recorded, taped Brailled or large-type books and magazines. Over 6,000 library patrons enjoy this service today and the truck loads of books going in and out of the library each day testify to the great demand for this kind of special library service.

Talking books are the most popular of the Regional Library's services, and not only are talking book machines loaned, but now several attachments are available to make the machines more usable for more people. For the hard of hearing, the resident of a rest home, or a member of a large family, earphones can be used, making it possible to turn up the machine as loudly as necessary without bothering others.

For the person with poor coordination, a plastic clip can be fitted over the tone arm so that it can be lifted and moved more easily. For the patron with no use of his hands, or the bedridden, remote control attachments, so sensitive that the machine can be turned on or off with the slightest touch of a pajama sleeve, elbow, nose, etc., are now loaned. And variable speed controls are greatly in demand by the student, who wishes to speed up some of his reading, to the elderly who want to slow down the reading, so as to better understand the reader.

More magazines and book titles are being recorded than ever before, and best sellers like THE GODFATHER stand next to old favorites like IN HIS STEPS in this library.

Braille readers are also being supplied with more books and magazines. For the first time, the Regional Library is being supplied with hand-copied Braille, which has enriched the collection immeasurably. The Blue Ridge Braillers in Asheville are currently brailling ten or twelve titles, and volumes arrive at the library each week, much to the joy of staff and patrons, alike. When added to the press-Braille books, which are regularly supplied by the Library of Congress, and the Braille titles that have been bought from the American Printing House for the Blind, Braille reading Carolinians are jubilantly reading more than ever.

Volunteers are also enriching the library's tape program. With the help of the Mecklenburg Association for the Blind, and volunteers in Raleigh, local magazines are being produced regularly. The STATE MAGAZINE, THE SANDLAPPER and SOUTH CAROLINA ILLUSTRATED are all being sent to tape readers. The continued expansion of both the open reel and cassette tape services should develop from this auspicious beginning.

Many public libraries have large-type book collections these days, but residents of Rest Homes, the homebound, and classes of visually handicapped children have kept the Regional Library collection in constant circulation. These books are printed in the same size type as newspaper headlines, so if you find that you can read the headlines, but not the articles in the daily paper, these books are for you.

Perhaps now you will understand how two tons of books a day are mailed from Raleigh so that the slogan "reading is for everyone" can come closer to being a reality throughout the Carolinas.

Mrs. Marian Leith, Librarian, chooses a book to be sent to a patron of the Regional Library for the blind.

Recording for Blind Marks 18th Birthday

Marking the close of its 18th year of service, Recording for the Blind, Inc. has issued its Annual Report for 1968/69 reflecting a year of unusual commitment and upward growth.

Cited are 35,886 books sent to 5,769 blind borrowers, a 39% increase over 1967/68. RFB volunteers added 3,627 new titles to the organization's Master Circulating Library, which now contains 14,500 titles in 14 languages. Over 80% of all blind students enrolled in U. S. colleges were RFB users, 39% more than in the previous year.

Looking to the future, RFB predicts increased service to the physically handicapped and to braille-oriented high school students who must inevitably switch over to audible textbooks in order to complete their higher education.

Copies of the full report are available on request to the RFB National Headquarters, 215 East 58th Street, New York, N. Y. 10022.

Being Blind Is Doc's Only Obstacle

By FRANKLIN SCARBOROUGH
South Rowan Times

Radio programs are the main source of Matthew (Doc) Lentz's leisure time entertainment in his small cement block store on Lentz Road just east of China Grove. Doc never reads newspapers or watches television.

But this is not by choice. You see, Doc is totally blind.

Through the last 15 years, however, his movements about the store have made him familiar with every corner and angle. And for Doc, waiting on customers is no problem at all.

His efforts to gain security in a world of darkness has been courageously fought, and he has emerged the victor.

Doc lost the sight of one eye in 1946. It wasn't until five years later that he lost sight in the other eye. At that time, after 43 days in the hospital and three operations, he returned home.

"The doctors termed it 'detached retina'," he said. "They said there was no explanation for it."

But Doc Lentz didn't plan to sit around and grieve over his misfortune. There was too much to do and he planned to make the best of it.

He had been proprietor of a service station since 1940, first starting in a small building at the square in downtown China Grove. From there he went to a service station at South China Grove about 1940 and operated it for another man until he bought it out in 1949. Doc stayed there until 1956, when he went to Butner for a short time to attend the school for the blind.

"I was there one summer," he said. "They taught us to read braille, type, and make leather goods with our hands."

Returning home, he decided to go back into the business he was already familiar with. With some help from the China Grove Lions Club and the State Rehabilitation program, Doc decided on the place where he has been ever since. The state helped him stock the service station.

"They would either send me a check or help me start a business," Doc said. But he didn't want to depend on a check; he wanted to work.

"Doc" Lentz at work in his store near China Grove.

You don't have to wonder if he has many customers. Linger around his place for awhile and you begin to wonder where they all come from.

Although the store is without the pot-bellied stove, the congenial atmosphere of the "country store" is there.

Doc also recalls much of the history related to the old Setzer Plantation, where he has lived since 1908. The big house is located just a short distance from the store.

It was in 1908 that his father brought his family from Cabarrus County. Doc was only two years old, but he said he vaguely remembered his father driving the cattle along the road.

"The plantation had been there for a long time before we came here," he said.

It was there before slavery was abolished. Gus Setzer owned it then, and there is a story that Gus had three huge oak trees nearby that he was especially fond of.

It is said that he often stated that he wanted the trees to always remain there, so he could go out on a limb, after he was dead, and watch his slaves working.

"The trees stayed there for many years," Doc said. "But they were finally cut down."

Since that time the plantation has changed ownership a few times, but the house, although some rooms have been added, remains the same. And the family graveyard nearby is adequate proof that the place was constructed by the Setzers long before the Civil War and for generations remained in their hands.

From the time of settlement, the many acres of land that comprised the plantation had dwindled to 336 acres at the time Lentz's father bought it.

"Much of it had been divided into

New Testament Now Available on Tape Cassettes

Before the American Bible Society was 20 years old it had already inaugurated its program of providing Scriptures for the blind, a program which has continued without interruption to the present.

The 154th annual meeting of the Society, being held May 14 in New York, marked the 135th anniversary of service to the blind.

For the occasion a major milestone was observed — the release of the first recording of the New Testament on cassettes. This will enable the blind to carry in vest pocket or pocketbook tapes containing 90 recorded minutes each of various portions of the Scripture.

The idea of recording the Bible on cassettes had its origin with the Rev. Dr. Dale C. Recker, ABS Secretary for the Blind since 1963, the only completely sightless person ever to direct this phase of the Society's work.

Dr. Recker will be the first to explain that when he learned he was losing his sight he began industriously to study braille and had mastered that reading system before the lights went out completely for him in 1948.

He also knows that many persons who lose their sight, especially those who become blind late in life, do not learn to read braille. For them the talking records and cassettes are a godsend to keep them abreast of the times.

That is why the American Bible Society secretary was so anxious to get "Good News for Modern Man," the Society's New Testament in Today's English Version, on tapes and so grateful for its recording by the late Clayton (Bud) Collyer of television fame. A set of 15 cassette tapes of his father's recording of "Good News" will be presented at the luncheon to Michael Collyer for his mother, who is on a service mission in Europe.

It was before Dr. Recker joined the staff that the Bible was put on records when the Society marked its centennial of work for the blind in 1935 by moving into the Talking Scriptures field. Two records of Scripture passages were released that year. The complete Bible on 170 records was completed a decade later. This was reduced to 67 records in 1964 — made possible by the introduction of slower speeds.

When contrasted with the 18 large books of braille containing the whole Bible, it is understandable how much less space is needed for the records. Fifteen cassettes fill a box 10½ inches square, an even greater reduction in storage space.

A player is needed for records and tapes. To any person "legally blind" the Library of Congress loans the machines free, for the duration of the need. These are distributed by 42 regional libraries throughout the country, one of the newest being in Trenton, N. J.

Programs for the blind are Dr. Recker's main activities with the Society. It is a major concern of his that out of approximately 425,000 blind persons in this country the Society has reached with the Scripture in braille, talking records and tapes about 17,000 persons, or less than five percent.

sections and sold," Doc said. "Now," he added, "I only have 14 acres."

Doc vividly recalls his boyhood days there. They were long days of work from sunup till sundown.

He remembers the hot days of hoeing and picking cotton, threshing wheat and the many other things there were to do on the farm.

During those days there were very few houses around, he said, and most of this section was woods except for the land that had been cleared for cultivation.

Much of the timber used in the building of Cannon Mills was taken from the plantation, Doc said.

After staying on his father's farm till he was 26-years-old, Doc went to work for Sunshine Laundry in China Grove, where he stayed for 13 years, working also part-time at a service station. Then, in 1940, he went full time into the service station business and remained in it until 1956.

Doc still clings to the fond memories of his boyhood days on the farm; he is still a farmer at heart. And although he still takes care of his beef cow and a couple hogs himself, his brother does the farming.

On November 11, 1933, Doc married the former Ruby Daughterty. They built a house on another section of what was then part of the plantation lands and remained there until 1947 when they moved back to the big house itself.

Doc and Mrs. Lentz are parents of three children. Tommy and his family live also on Lentz Rd. not far from Doc's place. Mrs. Loretta Bragg lives in Raleigh, and Miss Murtle Jean Lentz is a school teacher in Danville, Va.

Let's Go Bowling

is held in place by the weight of four bowling balls. When not in use it can be taken apart very quickly and stored in a bag or box. It does not damage the floor in any way and it can be used in any kind of ten-pin bowling establishment. The blind bowler who has no useful vision positions himself in relation to the rail and usually slides one hand along it while delivering his ball. A sighted score keeper or pin spotter then tells him which pins are left standing. Most blind bowlers know the numbered locations of the pins and with this knowledge they know where to try to roll the next ball.

In May of this year the national blind bowling tournament will be held in Detroit and in 1971 it will be in Portland, Oregon. We should like to see the formation of more sanctioned leagues all over the United States, but we are especially anxious to encourage the formation of sanctioned leagues in the western and southern states. I urge anyone who is interested in learning more about blind bowling and the ABBA to contact me. Detailed information will be furnished about blind bowling generally, the formation and operation of leagues and anything else related to the subject. Correspondence should be sent to me at the following address: 6327 31st Place, N. W., Washington, D. C. 20015.

A REPORT ON THE 1970-1971

The WHITE CANE DRIVE

Henry Morgan

Henry Morgan New Camp Caretaker

An introduction of the new caretaker at Camp Dogwood is not necessary to the Lions of District 31-A. But for the record, Lion Henry Morgan, formerly a member of the Etowah Lions Club, is the new caretaker at Camp Dogwood.

Lion Henry moved into "the old Clarence White house" on October 1, 1970. His duties began that day. Lion Morgan was formerly employed by Folsom Motor Company in Hendersonville in the Parts Department. Over the years he has done farming, carpentry, plumbing and painting.

Morgan recently transferred from the Etowah Lions Club to the Sherrill's Ford Lions Club.

All Districts are presently working trying to provide a better place for our visually handicapped people to work and live. I hope that each Lion has received a blessing as he has worked to fulfill the true spirit of Lionism by participating in the White Cane Drive.

It is so easy to put off until tomorrow what we should have accomplished today. As soon as you have concluded your drive please send the check along with the White Cane Report Form to the Association office. Since many District Governors give points on reports and contributions turned in by December 1st, each club may want to take advantage of this. Remember, the cut-off date for trophies is March 1, 1971.

On behalf of the Lions throughout the State, I wish to express a very special thanks to the select group who agreed to serve as District Directors. We are very dependent upon them to assist each club in their respective Districts. They are: Districts "A" — L. A. Coman, Jr.; "B" — Roy Coffey; "C" — Arthur Atchley; "D" — Vernon Jones; "E" — Robert Loeblein; "F" — Roy Swaringen; "G" — Crafton Hudson, "H" — W. H. Cranford and "J" — Joseph Riffle.

In the Thanksgiving and Christmas seasons, may we give thanks to God for a very special gift that he has given to all Lions and that gift is the ability to help others. Won't you please open your hand, your heart and your mind to those who are not quite as fortunate as we. Let's fulfill our obligation to our Blind Citizens. Receipts through December 8 were $57,221.

State Council of District Governors

Lion Marshall Matheny

Matheny 'Marshalls' The State Council

Introducing (and he needs no introduction to Lions) Lion Marshall Matheny, the man who holds the State Council together. The Secretary of State Council of District Governors, Lion Matheny has served honorably and well since 1969. If you'll "sit-in" on a State Council meeting, you'll hear him say often, "Put that motion in writing," or, "Gentlemen, you can't do it that way." Assisting the chairman of the State Council, Lion Matheny is always on call to any Lions club in the state that needs help. One of his favorite jobs is being present at the chartering of a new club. At Conventions and Mid-Winters you'll always find his favorite traveling companion, Imadelle, his lovely wife.

Lion Marshall served District 31-C as Governor in 1964-65.

Some 102 blind or sight-handicapped persons in Lenoir County were special guests of the Kinston and Ram Neuse Lions Clubs at a traditional party at Lewis School in December.

National Recognition to Wood

Eminently gratifying to the entire state is the news that Henry A. Wood, retired executive secretary of the North Carolina Commission for the Blind, was one of 41 Americans selected to receive the 50th anniversary commemorative plaque from the Rehabilitation Services Administration for outstanding service in the field of rehabilitation.

Mr. Wood became internationally known for his work in rehabilitation of the blind during his 18-year tenure — 1947-65 — as executive secretary of the commission. During many of these years, North Carolina led the nation in the number of blind people rehabilitated to productive living and vocational self-sufficiency.

The year 1970 marked the 50th anniversary of the enactment of the first federal vocational rehabilitation law, a measure introduced by Sen. Hoke Smith, D-Ga., and Rep. William B. Bankhead, D-Ala., and signed into law by President Woodrow Wilson. It inaugurated the present joint federal-state rehabilitation effort. The RSA, a division of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, selected 41 persons, Mr. Wood among them, to receive a commemorative plaque for distinguished service to the cause of rehabilitation as a major feature of the anniversary observance.

This recognition of Mr. Wood's service comes as a reminder to the 1971 General Assembly of the worthiness of the rehabilitation program, for the blind and other handicapped persons, and its great usefulness to state and society. In making the handicapped self-supporting and self-respecting, rehabilitation is one of the major services the state renders.

Henry Wood understood this well and proclaimed it in speech and action with clarity and conviction, persuasiveness and effectiveness. He eminently merits the recognition given him by the RSA, for he demonstrated ably in his active career, and has inspired others to demonstrate, the truth of a comment the late Miss Helen Keller made to him, "The measure of a life, after all, is not its duration, but its donation."

Letter from the President

I want to take this opportunity to thank the membership of our Association for the privilege of visiting with you at your District White Cane Workshops, the many club meetings attended throughout the year and the Mid-Winter Conferences.

Serving as your President this year has been a real challenge for me, but it has been one of the most rewarding experiences of my life. I just hope that as I have gone about the task of serving as your President, that I have said something that will somehow cause you to want to put more of yourself into the work of our great Association. It is also my hope that each of you will want to put a little more enthusiasm, a little more desire and a little more dedication into the work of our Association as we approach the home-stretch for this Association Year. I have been greatly inspired by every visit that I have made throughout the State. I want to thank the Lions of North Carolina for the many courtesies which I have received while making these visits. I am truly grateful to all Lions of our State and to all members of our Association for your many services to the blind and visually handicapped citizens whom we serve. Our programs of service to the blind and visually handicapped carried on through your Association could not have been possible without the help and support of you, the Lions of North Carolina. Our sincere thanks go out to one and all.

North Carolina State Commission for the Blind
P. O. Box 2658
Raleigh, North Carolina 27602

Dear Mr. Earley:

We wish to request a radio for the above named client, furnished through the North Carolina Association for the Blind. The last radio furnished by the Association three years ago, is no longer in working order. Mr. Grier has requested that we express his appreciation to the Lions and to the Association for providing these radios which are a great source of pleasure to the blind. We request that the radio be delivered by a member of the Winston-Salem Lions Club.

Thank you for your assistance in meeting this need.

YOUR OFFICE STAFF—Seated at the desk is Acting Executive Secretary, Mrs. Corinne Heck, next to her is Mrs. Marion Hillier, our very highly qualified bookkeeper, and on her left the lovely young secretary-receptionist, Miss Kay Smith (by the time you read this, she'll be Mrs. Charles Jones). We are proud to introduce these staff members to you. Mrs. Heck came to us in January, 1970, Miss Smith, July, 1970 and Mrs. Hillier in October, 1970. Although each of them are new to the Association, it is felt by the Executive Committee that the work accomplished by them and their outstanding ability to become "involved" has been extremely valuable to the function of the Association. "Little could have been accomplished without Kay and Marion," says Mrs. Heck, who stepped into the job as Acting Executive Secretary in September at the resignation of Mrs. Kathryne Charles.

Braille Directory Can Be Valuable

A personal telephone number file in Braille is a handy thing to have if your vision is too impaired to use the regular telephone directory and you enjoy talking with your friends.

For students in a braille-reading class at Haywood Technical Institute, this has been made available through the joint efforts of The Telephone Pioneers organization, the Blue Ridge Braillers and Mountain Projects of Haywood County.

A visually - handicapped woman, Mrs. Bonnie Rice of Balsam Road, Waynesville, who is enrolled in the class, mentioned to Bill Shook of Mountain Projects, that she was having difficulty remembering all those digits of telephone numbers after getting them from the operator.

Also, she said, it would be helpful to have a record to which she could refer on numbers she called frequently. Shook referred the matter to B. A. Mock, manager of Southern Bell in Waynesville. Mock, a member of the Telephone Pioneers, felt this would be a project his organization would be interested in tackling.

Mrs. Nelle Laetsch of Asheville, president of the Asheville Council Telephone Pioneers, heard about the problem from Mock. The result was card files presented to seven braille students and their instructor, Phillip B. Price Jr.

Actually, this is one of many endeavors on the part of the Telephone Pioneers to assist the blind and other handicapped persons. A continuous project of the group is the repair of "Talking Book" machines for 11 WNC counties.

There are more than 37,000 different volumes available, free of charge, in the Regional Library. The Bible is the most asked for book. Buncombe County Association for the Blind also has 100 talking books and 25 Braille books available.

Pioneers also collect old eyeglasses for the needy and secure eye transplant wills. In several other counties, they assist in giving amblyopia ("lazy-eye") tests to pre-school children.

Commission's Corner

Three Forces for a Common Goal

What is the relationship between the North Carolina Association for the Blind, the North Carolina State Commission for the Blind and the Lions Clubs of North Carolina?

This question is a common one, frequently stated to officials at the Association, the Commission and to individual Lions. To answer, one has to look to the past and the present. The answer evolves as a story of cooperation between three separate forces seeking common goals — (1) helping the blind and visually handicapped citizens of North Carolina adjust to their unique problems and (2) prevention of blindness.

Lions Club work for the blind is legend throughout the world. Early N. C. Lions became concerned over the plight of indigent blind people who had no available opportunities to receive adequate medical services, to learn or relearn skills that would lead to jobs or self-reliance and no way, even, to feel comfortable in their own homes and communities. In conjunction with a few others, mostly professional people who had some experience in work for the blind, Lions paved the way for the organization, in 1934, of the North Carolina Association for the Blind.

Association President Robert Frye said the first project of the Association was to secure legislation which created, in 1935, a state agency to provide full-time professional workers for the blind. This is the N. C. State Commission for the Blind. Thus, from the beginning, individual Lions, their state Association and the state agency for the blind have been joined together in a common cause. Their roles, however, are different.

The role of the State Commission for the Blind, according to Executive Director W. E. Early, is prescribed by law. Except for public education, which is available in grades one through twelve at The Governor Morehead School, the Commission is responsible for all tax-supported (local, state, federal) public assistance programs for the state's blind and visually handicapped population. There are some 12,500 known blind or severely visually impaired people in the state.

Support from Lions and the Association has enabled the Commission to provide additional services beyond those available from state funds. Individual Lions and Association leaders have also continued to seek legislation to help the Commission broaden services. Early said "this has resulted in a much more comprehensive program for Tar Heel blind than is available in most states. It is an example of exceptional cooperation between private and governmental enterprise to develop a better program for the benefit of all concerned."

Early points out that the Commission for the Blind is a name applied both to the nine-member group of persons appointed by the Governor of North Carolina to set policy and to the state agency of the same name. The Commission is advised by two committees made up of blind citizens, ophthalmologists and optometrists; these are also appointed by the Governor. The executive director supervises the agency's employees programs.

Commission divisions of service are in five areas. The Finance Division is responsible for fiscal affairs. The Social Service Division administers Aid to the Blind—money payments to the needy blind, provides specialized social services to all blind people and their families and maintains the N. C. Register of the Blind. The Rehabilitation Division provides job training and various other services needed by any person whose visual handicap hinders employment. The Medical Division provides eye examinations for all medically indigent North Carolinians and also furnishes other services, such as eye glasses and surgery, which are necessary for restoration and maintenance of vision. The Bureau of Employment Division establishes and maintains the news and concession stand program which provides jobs for some 100 stand operators across the state.

Early reiterated that many of the programs of the Commission have been enabled or strengthened by cooperation between Lions, the Association and the Commission. Some examples include equipment for eye clinics; recreation programs, sheltered workshops, which provide both training and employment and a special work evaluation unit, the only project of its kind in the southeast.

Mrs. Laura Miller Named To Commission Committee

Mrs. Laura S. Miller of Washington has been appointed to the Blind Advisory Committee of the N. C. State Commission for the Blind, Gov. Bob Scott announced.

Mrs. Miller retired from her position as social worker for the Commission last year after 23 years of service. She succeeds Dr. Joseph Himes of Greensboro.

Scott also announced the reappointment of Richard Napier of Wrightsville Beach to the committee.

Mrs. Miller and Napier will serve terms expiring July 2, 1973.

"The Blind Advisory Committee," explained W. E. "Sam" Early, "is composed of six members who are visually handicapped to the extent of being legally blind, and they advise the Commission on the needs of visually handicapped citizens."

Sponsored by Mountain Projects, the class in braille meets in Waynesville from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. There are openings for several additional students for this instruction. Seeing Eye Dogs Get Start in 4-H Homes

The Seeing Eye dog and his master are as much a part of the 4-H story as the rosy-cheeked lad and his purebred calf.

For Seeing Eye dogs go through their puppy days as members of 4-H families.

Extension 4-H specialists at North Carolina State University say the puppies, when they are between eight and ten weeks old, are delivered to 4-H club members in New Jersey for feeding, care and general upbringing.

This helps to accustom the dogs to the hurly-burly of family life and later helps to make them emotionally well-adjusted guide dogs.

The pups return to the Seeing Eye school for intensive training when they are around 14 months old.

Representatives from the school make periodic visits to the 4-H homes to check on the care and physical progress of the pups and to spot any traits that might make them undesirable as Seeing Eye dogs.

Often 4-H'ers and adults, too, become attached to the dogs and feel sad when they have to return them to the school.

"I hated to see the day come when I had to give up the puppy," one 4-H'er said, "but I kept remembering what she would be doing the rest of her life."

Now in its 28th year, the Seeing Eye's 4-H program, sponsored jointly by the school and the Cooperative Extension Service of the Rutgers College of Agriculture and Environmental Science, has resulted in a total of 3,946 puppies raised by 4-H Club youngsters.

Several of these 4-H family dogs now belong to Tar Heel residents.

GALLERY FOR THE Blind NEWS

Two exhibitions, one by students at the School of Design at North Carolina State University and one by John Cody, a contemporary American sculptor, will open this month in the Mary Duke Biddle Gallery for the Blind at the N. C. Museum of Art, Director Charles W. Stanford announced.

The design students show represents an attempt of the students to communicate with students at the Governor Morehead School for the Blind through the blind students' sense of touch, Maya M. Reid, assistant curator of the blind gallery said.

Using contemporary materials, the design students worked out projects, some of them involving games and other devices, extended to help blind students express and understand various ideas of what the future holds by way of scientific and technological development. The design students worked closely with the blind students to see if their projects were communicating with them, and were helping them to say what they expect and understand about themselves and the sighted world.

The Cody exhibition is from the Copenhagen Galleri in Solvang, Calif.

Cody, 22, works exclusively in marble and stone. His art is semi-realistic and exceptionally tactile, Miss Reid said.

LIONS CLUBS in Henderson County held their annual Christmas Party for the blind at the Etawah Lions Den. Clubs spansaring the annual party included Hendersonville, East Flat Rack, Mills River and Etowah. The party is ane af the highlights af the year far the blind and near blind. Meet the District Governor

Not a native North Carolinian, but a loyal Tar Heel, is the District Governor of Multiple District 31-A. Born in the land of snow carnivals and ice fishermen, Minnesota, Lion Staudenmaier became a Lion in June 1956 in Parkersburg, West Virginia, as a Charter Member of the North Parkersburg Lions Club. He served as second and third Vice President and President in 1962.

He transferred to the Hendersonville Lions Club and in time became the Charter President of the Flat Rock Lions Club. As Lionism became a dominant part of his life and working for the advancement of blind people in our state, it was inevitable that he should be a leader in the district sponsoring the "Eye Van."

Since July of 1970 the "Eye Van" has traveled the by-ways of Western North Carolina screening the vision of children between 3 and 6 years of age. In newspaper accounts of the van's travels it is obvious this is an outstanding means of reaching people with visual problems. Treatment is by referral to the family physician or the Lions Eye Clinic in Asheville. To date 1500 children have been screened with a referral rate of about 12.5 per cent. Should other districts wish to enter the drive for activity you'd better find out about Rubella Screening for the next project the Lions of District A expect to undertake is to "Rub out Rubella." In the Association office we are proud to have Governor Staudenmaier as a loyal worker and feel great joy to be a small part in helping the Western North Carolina Lions operate the "Eye Van."

'LEO' Clubs Represent Leadership, Experience, Opportunity for Youth

What is a "Leo Club"? What does it do and how must it function? Many such questions are asked every day concerning this youth-centered Lion offspring called "Leo."

A Leo Club is almost identical to a Lions Club, for both strive to promote community and humanitarian services. The major difference involves the age of the members involved. The Leo Club is composed of qualified youth, 15-21, who are chosen for their outstanding character and scholastic ability by a select group of local Lions.

The Newton-Conover High School Leo Club operates as a youth oriented Lions Club by electing officers within the group and then establising a constitution from which they function. Our Leo Club was established to train youth for future entrance into the Lions Club. Upon the attainment of 21 years of age, all Leo Club members in good standing are considered for membership in a Lion's Club. One might say that the period a teen-ager spends in the Leo organization is a training session to grasp the knowledge of mature responsibility expected of a future Lion. To make use of an old cliche one must crawl before he walks. The Leo Club signifies the period of crawling whereby through trial and error a knowledge of yourself and your community is acquired until finally you are able to stand firm and step into the full responsibility of your future as a Lion.

Just as Lions Clubs are governed by Lions International, Leo Clubs have an advisory board called Leo International. This organization consists of a panel of Leo advisors from many different Leo Clubs all over the world.

To start a Leo Club is simple, but to maintain it requires the dedication of all members. All that is necessary to establish a club is for a Lions Club to be willing to sponsor one. The Lions must write to Leo International for information on how to organize, membership regulations and the Leo handbook.

One important question always asked about starting a Leo Club is the matter of financial support. During the charter months of the first year the local Lions sponsor will probably need to contribute a small amount to pay for the charter and dues for the first year. It has been proven over the state of North Carolina that once begun, Leo Clubs are self-sustaining.

One of the first chartered Leo Clubs in the state of North Carolina is the Newton-Conover High School Club sponsored by the Newton Lions Club. During the Leos' first year of operation the local sponsor contributed generously to the Leo Fund. These contributions were merely to stabilize the newly formed thirty member club. During the first four months of the second year the Newton-Conover Leo Club had earned over $700 simply by working together on community activities. To raise such funds this club helped the local Lions sell merchandise and was given an ample percentage of the profits. The Newton-Conover Leo's operated a concession booth at athletic events, and a refreshment stand at the annual Old Soldiers Reunion Carnival.

These funds are used wisely by the Leos who realize what it means to work to obtain achievement. During the year this club donated a scholarship to a deserving senior at the high school. We

Lion Edward P. Bell

Introducing the District Governor

When Ed Bell, as he is known among his friends, decided to run for District Governor, his own club, the North Wilkesboro Lions Club had this to say, "We support him totally and enthusiastically." This is no surprising statement for a man who has been an active member of the Lions Club for 23 years. In 1963-64 he served as President. His services on a district level are countless. Prior to becoming District Governor, Lion Ed was District White Cane chairman. Under his direction, Multiple District B reached financial goal of $19,713.34.

His lovely wife Helen has been a true asset to his life and daughters Mary Elizabeth and Martha Ellen are of great pride to him.

An outstanding citizen, Lion Bell has served as President of Wilkes Chamber of Commerce, is a 32nd degree Mason and Treasurer of Blue Ridge Shrine Club. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has been another of his interests for 17 years. As though this were not enough activity, Governor Bell has served as District Chairman of Boy Scouts of America.

The Lions of District B have always been active in service to our blind citizens and most outstanding in their support of the N. C. Association for the Blind, Inc. and especially Camp Dogwood.

Morganton Lions Commended

Involvement, service, and reverence were stressed by Edward Bell of North Wilkesboro, district governor of District 31-B, Lions international, when he spoke to the Morganton Lions Club.

Bell was paying his official visit to the club and was guest speaker at the dinner meeting.

Bell pointed out that the Morganton Club is the second oldest club in the district and has the largest membership. He commended the club for its fine leadership not only in the district but also on the local level during its active history in Lionism.

Turning to the basics of Lionism, he said they had not changed much over the years.

"The Golden Rule has never gone out of style or gotten too old. We Lions say we serve our fellowman. Lions clubs should seek out the needs of the community and members go to work to meet these needs. What could be more reverent in this decade. . . . We need more reverence to our own place wherever we may be. How else can we become and stay involved?" Bell declared.

He listed some of the objectives of Lionism, the first of which is to foster a spirit of understanding among peoples of the world.

"A second objective is to promote the principles of good government and citizenship. A Lion is a good citizen wherever we find him. I encourage clubs to include good citizenship projects among their activities this year," the district governor stated.

"We also need to continue emphasizing involvement with youth. We need more Leo Clubs. We can also become involved with youth in Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Future Farmers, and Future Homemaker organizations."

Bell pointed up the importance of Lions taking an active interest in the civic, cultural, and moral welfare of the community. He emphasized greater cooperation with school authorities and working with government and municipal officials at every level in dealing with current problems.

"We need to involve ourselves as individuals and as a club with problems in the community," he said.

The district governor urged uniting clubs "in the bond of friendship, fellowship, and mutual understanding" and suggested inter-club visitations.

Discussing hopes and plans for the district this year, Bell said he hoped each club in the district would not only take an active part in its community but would give support to district, state, and international projects. The three main state projects are Boys' Home, the N. C. Association for the Blind, and Camp Dogwood.

What is Lionism? "Lionism is service. . . . Lions International clubs are the world's greatest doers, with over 24,800 clubs composed of 950,000 dedicated Lions," Bell declared. "Lionism is also a key to a practical application of a man's religion.

"I congratulate you on the great history of your club and hope that each of you this year will make a resolution to become involved," he concluded.

James A. Blakley, president of the Morganton club, introduced the district governor. He announced the mid-winter conference for the district would be held Saturday at Wilkes Community College.

H. J. Hatcher was a guest of Henry Caddell. Harry Baldwin of North Wilkesboro, district cabinet secretary who accompanied Bell, and Edna Mae Herman of The News Herald were guests of the club.

equipped a local child day-care center with a complete toy kitchen appliance set. Occasionally there is enough money remaining at the end of the year to provide a dinner meeting for the Leos and their parents. The Newton High School Leo Club is just one example of the many hundreds of interested youth groups working all over the world in Lionism.

These Leos are proud to give the LEADERSHIP, EXPERIENCE, AND OPPORTUNITY necessary to thrust themselves into being not only the Lions of the future; but the leaders of the future.

Lion Louie D. Turner

Introducing the District Governor

One hardly thinks a District Governor has time for hobbies. Lion Louie Turner not only gives Lionism a top priority in his life but has time for photography and spending numerous hours gardening. "I root and grow my own Azaleas," says Lion Turner.

Husband, father, grandfather turns his business skills (earning a B.S. from the University of North Carolina in 1937) to real estate and Insurance. A member of the N. C. Lion Louie is a charter member of the Hickory Grove Lions Club with 13 years perfect attendance. President in 1960-61 and Lion of the Year in 1967-68.

The Lions in Multiple District 31-C have always been led by outstanding personalities and given more than their share to work with the blind and visually handicapped citizens of our state. During the past year District C has been an outstanding club in seeing to it Camp Dogwood has the things to make it a real vacation spot.

Leaksville-Spray Club Honors Charter Members

The Leaksville-Spray Lions Club honored four charter members who have been with the club for 32 years at the organization's annual Christmas banquet at Meadow Greens Country Club.

Certificates were presented to D. Floyd Osborne, W. T. Amos, Lester Fulcher and Robert Wall by Grady Pulliam, of Winston-Salem, Lions International Director. In addition, the four charter members and seven others were presented 25-year Monarch awards: James Bondurant, James Ivie, Hill McCollum, Garr Price, C. W. Roberts, Roger Wilkes and Dennis Bouldin.

Director Pulliam complimented the club on the many projects successfully undertaken by members, including the purchase of a fairgrounds site and almost retiring the indebtedness on it, assisting with summer picnics for the blind of the county, giving gifts at Christmas to the blind, purchase of a Titmus eye machine to test eyes of Eden school pupils, giving to the WHITE CANE, Boys Home and an annual $200 scholarship to a deserving Eden student to help him or her attend college.

Gene Dougherty, first vice president and master of ceremonies, asserted it was particularly appropriate that Director Pulliam be the speaker as it was the Winston-Salem club that sponsored the organization of a club in Leaksville-Spray 32 years ago.

Randleman Lions Host To Visually Handicapped

The Randleman Lion's Club recently was host to the Blind and Visually Handicapped of Randolph County at the Elementary School. There were about 285 present, including the blind, their guests, and the Lions.

The honored guests were also the entertainers, singing, playing the piano, etc. The Lions presented them gifts, fruit baskets, and cakes.

The Randleman Lions recently completed their White Cane Drive, collecting about $500 for the blind and visually handicapped.

The directors voted to support the proposed State Zoo, with a recommendation made for a financial gift.

Davidson County Clubs Entertain Blind Guests

Six Lions Clubs from the eastern portion of Davidson County recently entertained some 40 blind and visually handicapped guests in Denton School cafeteria, with Denton Lions Club playing host to the event.

In addition to the Denton Club, participating Lions were from Thomasville, Pilot, Hasty, Wallburg, and Midway.

Approximately 160 persons, including Lions and other sighted guests, were served a turkey dinner, which was followed by entertainment by the Dennis Family of High Point, a gospel singing group. Each of the special guests received a gift from the Lions Club in their area. A number of door prizes were also given, including a lady's braille wristwatch which was won by Mrs. Clara Hylemon and a man's braille wristwatch which went to Dalton Elberson.

Visually handicapped guests for the annual event ranged in age from seven years to the mid-eighties. Also present were Mrs. Kathryn Dickens, caseworker for the blind for the Davidson County Department of Social Services, and Mrs. Iva Roberson of Greensboro, field representative for the State Commission for the Blind.

Hill Carter was chairman of the event for Denton Lions Club.

It was the 22nd annual party for the blind conducted by the Lions Clubs of the area.

Meet the District Governor

Ask the Governor of District 31-D his name and get ready for a double-take. No, it's "Don," not "John," but the last name really is Hancock.

Don, short for Donald Lloyd Hancock, may take some good-natured ribbing about the similarity between his names and those of the best-known signer of the Declaration of Independence, but be assured of one thing—he is serious about his identity as a Lion.

Hancock is a member of the Archdale-Trinity Lions Club and has compiled an impressive list of credits there. He has been bulletin editor, vice-president, president, zone chairman and deputy district governor before acquiring his present position.

Professionally, Hancock is principal of Cloverdale Elementary School in High Point, a post he has held for the last eight years. Before becoming principal he was an elementary school teacher for five years.

He has served as president of the High Point Unit of the North Carolina Education Association, president of the High Point Principals Association and as treasurer of the High Point PTA Council. In 1965 the Archdale-Trinity Jaycees honored him with a Distinguished Service Award.

Hancock is a graduate of High Point College, holds a master's Degree from UNC-Chapel Hill and has done additional study at Mercer University.

He is a member of the Archdale Friends Meeting where he is superintendent of the Sunday school and a Sunday school teacher.

16 Blind Persons Feted By Albemarle Lions Club

Sixteen blind or visually handicapped residents of the community were guests of honor at a Christmas Party staged by the Albemarle Lions Club.

C. R. "Red" Earnhardt, chairman of the club's Sight Conservation and Work for the Blind Committee, coordinated arrangements for the party and served as toastmaster for the festivities.

Each of the guests was presented a basket of fruit and a roll of silver money.

In addition, 21 other blind persons were invited to the party, but were unable to attend. Their gifts were delivered to them by the Lions after the party.

Miss Shirley Tester, local blind caseworker, spoke briefly, expressing appreciation to the Lions.

Mount Airy Club Honors Roy Nelson

Roy M. Nelson, well-known Granite Citian, received the Lion of the Year Award from the Mount Airy Lions Club.

Making the presentation was J. C. Edwards, president.

This is the first year the award has been presented. It will be given annually hereafter.

Each member of the club is eligible for the award, except the president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer. Nelson was selected by a committee composed of three Lions.

The award presented to Nelson, according to Edwards, was based on service to the club and community.

Nelson has participated in every project conducted by the Lions Club and has served as chairman of nearly all the club's committees. A past president of the local group, he has also been zone chairman.

Joining the club in 1943, he has 20 years of perfect attendance. Currently he is chairman of the Lions Education Committee and co-chairman of the publicity committee.

George Rives, another well-known member of the club, received the Lions Service Award.

Quarter-of-a-Century Awards were presented by Edwards to Hylton Wright, Roy Hutchens, Dr. I. L. Richard, H. M. Finch, Dr. P. W. Green, A. H. Merritt, S. A. Hennis Jr., Dr. Otis Oliver and G. Kellock Hale.

Edwards reported that the Lions Club had spent approximately $2,000 locally this year. In addition, $2,750 has been spent in the WHITE CANE project and other work with the blind.

Local donations for work with the blind amounted to $541.75.

Meet the District Governor

In 1966 the Welcome Lions Club chose as "Lion of the Year" one Clyde M. Stutts — a member since 1965. It comes as no surprise to that group of Lions that this Lion year 1970-71 they are being led in Multiple District 31-E by this outstanding Lion.

His awards for past service are too numerous to mention — more important are the goals he has set for his district.

1. To increase District 31-E membership to 2000 members.
2. To have all clubs participate in district goals.
3. Formation of new LEO Clubs.
4. To obtain 1,800 eye wills for the district.
5. To create within the district the dedication of all the Lions Club members to their fullest support in aid to the handicapped.
6. To stimulate the fellowship that inspires the Lions of District 31-E to accomplish our goals.

Lion Clyde is extremely proud of a unique project in District 31-E. "The Lions of District 31-E have a project foreign to the other districts in the state. This is our V.A.V.S. Program (Veterans Administration Visitation Service). This project is financed through our district goals, with each club contributing 25 cents per member. The objectives of this project are visitations to the Veterans Hospitals, primarily the V. A. Hospital at Salisbury, N. C. The money collected from the clubs is dispensed by our able V.A.V.S. Chairman, Lion Osco Fesperman, for gifts at Christmas, Ward Parties, and a Spring Carnival. We, the Lions of District 31-E, are extremely proud of our accomplishments in this project. The look of pleasure on the faces of these hospitalized veterans is ample reward for our participation in this endeavor." He has high praise for all the District Governors who appointed him to these Offices and it was his pleasure to serve with them in serving the Lions of 31-G.

He also has high praise for his own District officers and District chairmen, State Council Members and all others with whom he is serving throughout our Multiple District 31 this year and this includes those in the Office of the North Carolina Association for the Blind and the Eye Bank.

Clyde said that he enjoys all phases of Lionism but particularly his visits and official visits to the clubs. He also said that all the Lions have treated him royally and that he is simply overwhelmed by it.

Laurinburg Lions Boost White Cane Contributions

Laurinburg Lions recently presented a check for $1,000 to District 31-F Governor "Smoke" Wayne for the 1971 White Cane. The amount marked a significant increase over the club's contributions in 1970.

The meeting was highlighted by the check presentation and an address by Glenn Edwards on the North Carolina Association for the Blind. Edwards is a past District Governor past State Council Chairman and is a current director of the association.

Wayne revealed his goals for the district — $12 per member for the WHITE CANE, $4 per member for Boys Home and 50 cents per member for CARE.

He is also urging a 10-20 per cent increase in all clubs and some are working for a 100 per cent gain in members.

Several new clubs are also planned. One recently was organized at Spivey's Corner.

The district plans two glaucoma and diabetes clinics at Whiteville and Raeford.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

"You can't lead anyone further than you've gone yourself."

Pledge $6,000

Thomasville Lions Boost Hospital

Thomasville's City Memorial Hospital building fund got a $6,000 boost from Thomasville Lions Club, which pledged the $6,000 during a weekly meeting. A $2,000 check was given to fund drive officials before the meeting at the Woman's Club Building ended.

President Johnny Carswell announced that the board of directors had approved the pledge and the club members gave unanimous support to the board's decision. The $6,000 pledge, to be paid over a three-year period, brings the club's donations to the hospital to $12,000 since 1967.

The Lions Club made the first donation of $2,000 in 1967 when the first building fund for the new community hospital located in the Pilot area west of Thomasville.

Receiving the initial check for the new pledge Thursday was Kermit Cloniger, general chairman of the hospital fund drive. Cloniger said, "It's a wonderful thing to live in a community that has such fine civic clubs, especially a club which has donated $12,000 to the hospital. It's a fine example for all civic clubs and a credit to our community."

Shackleford to Head Enucleation Efforts

Dan L. Shackleford of Fremont, a member of the Pikeville Lions Club, will head a delegation of Lions from Wayne County and other areas of North Carolina to introduce legislation to recognize enucleation embalmers.

Shackleford was among morticians attending a two-day eye enucleation and sterile operative technique seminar at the University of Iowa College of Medicine. His trip was sponsored by three Lions Clubs in Wayne County; Downtown Lions, Pikeville and Goldsboro Lions.

It is estimated that the enucleations in North Carolina would double the eye transplants within the first two years of the program. The Act which the Lions are encouraging the N. C. General Assembly representatives to introduce would enable a "certified embalmer" to enucleate eyes under the laws of the state.

The act would be amending a section of 90-220.0 of Anatomical gifts and would read: "In respect to a gift of an eye as provided by Section 90-220, a licensed embalmer as defined in Section 90-210, who has completed a course in eye enucleation and has received a certificate of competence from a state owned School of Medicine may enucleate eyes for such gift after proper certification of death by a physician and compliance with the intent of such gift as defined. No such properly certified embalmer acting in accordance with the terms of this chapter shall have any liability, civil, or criminal, for such eye enucleation."

It is felt that much blindness can be prevented or cured by the surgical procedure of replacing a diseased or damaged cornea with a bit of tissue from a recently deceased person. The number of donor eyes available is inadequate to meet the need in many cases not because of a lack of donors, but because of a shortage of doctors. In many areas doctors are not available to remove the eyes within the four-hour period following death.

Everyone has heard that old saw about "where there's smoke, there's fire." Well, in District 31-F the corollary to that one is "where there are Lions, there's 'Smoke.' "

"Smoke," of course, is C. P. "Smoke" Wayne whose list of credits as a Lion over the last 20 years reads like an accountant's listing of all Lion offices. Wayne, who has 20 years' perfect attendance in the Whiteville Club, has been a Key member, tail-twister, secretary, vice-president, president, zone chairman, deputy district governor and now serves as District Governor.

C. P. "Smoke" Wayne

While zone chairman, he was instrumental in organizing clubs at Bladenboro, Chadbourn, Dublin, Elizabethtown, Riegelwood and Tabor City. He has received Extension Awards 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 from Lions International.

A graduate of Campbell College and Wake Forest University, "Smoke" has also done graduate study at Purdue University. He is married to the former Tehel Rogers and they have one daughter.

Wayne is active in his community in addition to his Lion participation. He is an active member of the First Baptist Church of Whiteville, has been chairman of the Columbus County March of Dimes, and is active in Boy Scout work. He holds the Silver Beaver Award from the Scouts for distinguished service.

In his professional life, Wayne is a life insurance executive.

World Changing for the Blind

The world is changing for the visually handicapped. There are aids and programs and projects for the visually handicapped now which did not exist a few years ago.

And some of the aids offered are not taken advantage of. The blind case workers, in most counties, are overburdened with routine and loads of counseling and visiting.

In Wayne County, for instance, Dr. Viola Titus has on her list of visually handicapped more than 200 people. Yet at this time, there are only seven Wayne blind boys and girls enrolled as students at the Governor Morehead School for the Blind. Of course most of those in the Morehead school are children of school age. If a blind child completes high school provision is made to assist the student to complete a college course.

Lions for many years have staged annually a dinner and fellowship hour for the visually handicapped. It was the big occasion in the year for the blind. Last year the clubs arranged to entertain 125 at the annual affair. The number was based on a census which found 125 who said they planned to attend. But only 90 finally showed up at the dining hall. The food was prepared for the others who had said they would be present.

Why have the visually handicapped, most of whom are elderly, lost much of the interest they showed in earlier years?

Probably because the radio and television bring the world into their rooms, and give them an escape into life that once was not possible.

But there should be more visually handicapped children who are enrolled in the public schools or in school classes for the blind.

Large print text books are available at school expense for the child who can read large print. And texts with large print are available for the lower grades. But as the classes go into higher grades, there are fewer texts available. Yet the schools could obtain the text needs by ordering. But much planning ahead is necessary. Books with large type must be ordered a year or so in advance. And the schools need aides who work under the direction of the school administrator and take care of the ordering of the texts. In time there will be more attention to big print books for the blind that will be a great step forward.

Introducing the District Governor: Frank Colvert

Internationalism seems to always have been a way of life for Frank. He has been an Amateur Radio Operator for many many years. (This led into his being in the Radio Engineering Communications Field — his work.) "Hams" as they are called, communicate with other "Hams" around the world and exchange QSL Cards (confirmation of contacts). In his Radio Room you will see QSL Cards from such people as Senator Barry Goldwater and Herbert Hoover, Jr. Another hobby is astronomy. This came in good during World War II. Frank was in the Air Transport Command which supplied planes, cargo and man power to all theaters of the War. While he was waiting to be placed on flying status he taught radio and navigation and today navigation is one of his hobbies, particularly celestial navigation.

Golf is a sport that he greatly enjoys. Even though he lives right on the golf course, he hasn't been able to play much since being District Governor. His array of trophies, though, lets you know that he did play a lot at one time.

One of his other interests is dancing — this I believe he enjoys more than all the others. He and his wife have worked many contemporary Ballet Lifts into their routines. When the orchestra plays a slow Fox Trot or Waltz, look for him on the dance floor, he is sure to be there. Who is his favorite dancing partner — his wife, Margaret.

Lion Frank T. Colvert

Frank feels that everything that he has done in his entire life has helped him in the office of District Governor. This includes his training in speaking in a Toastmasters Club. Toastmasters, like the Lions, is an international organization. Frank was Area Governor of Toastmasters International which is the same as District Governor of Lions.

His first office in the District after being President of his Club, the Sir Walter Club, was District Information Chairman, then Zone Chairman, Deputy District Governor and Camp Dogwood and GT 250 Auto Race District Chairman. He has fifteen years of perfect attendance and he received Lions International Membership Development Award in 1968.

Letter From the President

My Fellow Lions and members of the North Carolina Association for the Blind, Inc. I want to take this opportunity to thank you for the privilege of serving as your President this year. It has been a truly rewarding experience for me. Also, I would like to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to our Officers and Directors of our Association, the members of the State Council, the Lions, our Staff, our committees and the citizens of our State for the wonderful cooperation and help which I have received throughout this year. No President, in my opinion, has ever had a better group of people with which to work. Everyone has been truly great. I just wish that it was possible for me to personally thank each of you for the wonderful cooperation, help and support which I have received from everyone of you throughout this Association year. Since this is not possible; please accept my deep appreciation and thanks to every member in our great Association, through the media of this WHITE CANE Magazine, for the outstanding contributions that you have made for the success of the North Carolina Association for the Blind, Inc. during this year of service to our blind and visually handicapped citizens. During this current year, our Association has had a banner year. This banner year has been entirely the result of hard work and enthusiasm by every individual Lion and every individual member of our Association who had a sincere desire to want to get the job done. This, you the Members of the North Carolina Association for the Blind, Inc. and the dedicated Lions of North Carolina have accomplished.

It will not be necessary for me to go into detail on the outstanding work of our committees during this year, because the reports contained in this issue of the WHITE CANE Magazine speak for themselves. We have had a truly great year of service to our blind and visually handicapped friends and the credit belongs to you the Members of our Association and to the great Lions of North Carolina. Without you, none of these worthy causes could have been met!

Again, I would like to take this opportunity to express my sincere thanks to each of you for the opportunity of serving as President of the finest Association for the Blind in all the World. I am deeply honored and I shall forever be grateful to each of you. It has been the busiest year of my life, but the rewards that I have received and the friends that I have made, has made it a year that I will hold dear in my life forever.

ROBERT G. FRYE, President

November Madness Grips Denton Lions

By Venus B. Wallace

Call it November madness, autumn hysteria, pageant fever . . . it happens every year to Denton Lions Club.

Beginning as early as August, there is one thing on the collective Lions Club mind — the Miss Denton Pageant. The excitement continues to build until the last Saturday in November when pretty girls and traditional Lions Club enthusiasm combine in what is one of the biggest events of the year in this small town.

Pageant fever is highly contagious — it affects not only the Lions, their families and friends, but everyone with whom they come in contact. During the weeks between August and December the Lions eat, sleep, dream, live "The Pageant."

Held every year on the Saturday after Thanksgiving, the Miss Denton Pageant is a one-night event but preparation covers a good three or four months. The pageant features some 50 contestants — half of them junior and senior girls from Denton High School and the rest first graders who compete for the title of Little Miss Denton.

Competition is limited to appearance in evening gown for Miss Denton contestants, plus individual interviews with the judges. Judging is based on beauty and personality in the search for a girl who can best represent the town of Denton and the local Lions Club for the following year.

When it comes to work, few projects surpass the pageant in man hours expended.

The nature of the event demands that every Lion pitch in and do his part. It might mean encouraging girls to enter, soliciting sponsors, setting up a sound system, taking hammer and nails to build a set, replacing light bulbs, helping to lift a piano, decorating the stage, pulling the curtain, being an usher or ticket-taker, printing a program, working backstage, or even being master of ceremonies.

A new chairman is appointed for each year's pageant, but those who have served in the past act as a board of advisors, lending their experience and know-how to the planning. This continuity insures that each year's pageant is better than the last.

ACCUMULATIVE TOTALS REPORT

The following report includes the total monies raised by individual Lions since the 1962-1963 White Cane Drive. In order to accumulate totals a Lion has to raise $50 or more in one drive in order for it to count. Pins are awarded when the Lion accumulates the amount of the pin. As amounts increase pins are farther apart but will be presented when that total is reached; i.e., $500, a 500 pin, next pin is 750 which means $250 more is needed for that pin. Club Secretaries usually keep these records and report them to the Association office at the end of the White Cane Drive.

THE NEW OUTLOOK FOR THE BLIND
15 WEST SIXTEENTH STREET
NEW YORK, NEW YORK

The WHITE CANE DRIVE

Fellow Lions—As of this writing we are only $471.92 away from our total goal of $172.000. Also, we are just twenty-one clubs away from 100% participation. Money is still continuing to come in and I feel that by the State Convention our goal will have been well surpassed. Districts "E" and "J" already have achieved 100% participation.

On behalf of the blind and visually handicapped people of this state a special thanks to all who have enabled me to make the report listed below:

State totals through May 13, 1971: A. $18.386.27; B. $18,571.94; C. $20.173.83; D. $22,812.99; E. $18,-996.26; F. $17.778.64; G. $19,683.55; H. $13.739.57; J. $21.001.17; Msc. $418.86; Total $171.563.08.

Letters From the President

It has been my privilege to have served as President of your Association for the past two years. As we approach the end of this Association year, I want to take this opportunity to thank the membership of our great Association and the Lions of North Carolina for this honor that has been afforded me. It has been a most rewarding two years of service for me. I am truly grateful to all of you for this opportunity to be of service to my fellow man.

We have had a banner year of service to the blind and visually handicapped people of our State. This banner year of service has been made possible as a result of hard work and enthusiasm by the membership of this Association and by the Lions of North Carolina who had a sincere desire to get the job done. This you have accomplished.

During the past two years, we have worked very hard on improving our communications with the Lions of North Carolina and with our General Membership. We feel we have been most successful in this endeavor with active Public Information Committees who have published the Presidents Newsletter and the White Cane Magazine. We wanted to improve our financial accounting procedures and this we have accomplished under the direction of our very capable and efficient Treasurer, Lion Leon Spencer. Our excellent Finance Committees have watched our expenditures very carefully and we have adhered to and operated within the budgets approved by our Board of Directors. It has been my privilege to have had two of the finest State White Cane Directors that anyone could ask for. Each one of them set a new record for the amount of money raised for our annual White Cane Drive. Our District Directors have also gone beyond the call of duty in raising funds for our annual White Cane Drives. We express our thanks to each one of them.

We had a top to bottom review of the activities of our Association in July of last year by the American Foundation for the Blind, Inc. and the Long Range Planning Committee studied and evaluated the recommendations of this review team. The Long Range Planning Committee presented their recommendations to the Board of Directors in March and these were approved. We feel this survey was a step forward for the Association. The Constitution and By Laws Committee has been most active this year. This Committee will revise our Constitution and By Laws to include the recommendations of the Board in reference to the "Program Review" of the AFB. These will be voted on at our June meeting.

Our Government Relations Committee has worked very hard and has helped to get many bills through our legislature which will be of great help to our blind and visually handicapped friends. The State-Wide Committee on Work for the Blind has done an outstanding job during the past two years. Our Glaucoma-Diabetes and Sight Conservation Committees continue to do an excellent job. We hope to screen in the neighborhood of 21,000 by the time this year is up. Our Eye Bank Committees continue to do a tremendous job in securing eye wills and promoting the work of the North Carolina Eye and Human Tissue Bank, Inc. Our Scholarship Committees continue to do their fine work in promoting college scholarships for children of blind parents.

Our Camp Dogwood Committees for the past two years have been most outstanding. We have had more and more campers each year. I am sure we will set new records this year with the addition of the District 31-C Duplex Cottage.

I am most grateful to each of you for your help, for your support and for all the personal courtesies that you

Mary Duke Biddle Gallery

By Charles W. Stanford
Director
North Carolina Museum of Art

With the opening of the Mary Duke Biddle Gallery for the Blind at the North Carolina Museum of Art in 1966, a new world was opened for the blind.

For the first time the blind could see, through their fingers, the world of art.

At its opening the gallery was unique, offering for the first time anywhere in the world, so far as is known, a permanent collection of original works of art for the blind to touch and experience.

Since that opening thousands of visitors, blind and sighted, have visited the gallery. Requests for information that might lead to the establishment of similar galleries have been received from all over the world.

The gallery came about in this way:

The thought occurred to me, What could be done in an art museum to let our blind public actually participate? Pictures are mainly color and color cannot be defined verbally; it is purely a visual experience. Paintings, then, were certainly not the answer.

After mulling over this problem, I decided to see what could be done. I began to outline a program for the blind, basing the study on sculpture and reliefs. I approached the superintendent of the North Carolina State School for the Blind to see if there was any interest in such a project. He talked with his staff and they were extremely interested, agreeing to give the museum their full cooperation. Consequently, a group of eight volunteer students from the North Carolina State School for the Blind were asked to participate.

We also got in touch with the late Miss Mary Switzer, who at that time was Commissioner of Vocational Rehabilitation of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Miss Switzer expressed her interest and offered her assistance and that of her staff. She arranged for Allen Eaton, author of Beauty for the Sighted and the Blind, a pioneering study of the awareness of the appreciation of art objects, to come to our museum and present invaluable aid.

A class was organized, and as far as is known this was the first history of art course ever held in a museum in this country exclusively for the blind.

There are two main types of study and instruction in the field of art. One is the creative study, such as actual painting or sculpture, weaving, basket making, etc. This is taught at many institutions for the blind.

The other type of study is the historical, or chronological, study of a work of art, as opposed to the creative. This approach was the one the NCMA was interested in following. Our ultimate purpose was to teach the blind a comprehensive survey of the history of art, but instead of using visual objects, such as paintings, tactile or "touch" type objects such as sculpture and reliefs were used.

Our sightless visitors, we knew, had wished to touch works of art; therefore, we wanted to create a gallery where the blind could actually touch the works of art. Selected original objects from all periods of culture — beginning with the pre-historic era and continuing to the present — were to be examined by this sense of touch.

The purpose of the gallery was to be not only the study of an individual object but also its connection with its own particular period in the development of the history of that period, exploring the related arts such as literature and music and relating these to the selected works of art.

By the study of an individual object, the blind student not only understands the object, but also connects and relates it with its sequence of events in civilization.

The first class was held in my office at the North Carolina Museum of Art. When the students arrived, they were oriented to the museum's environment by having them feel the marble columns in the lobby. In my office, the objects to be discussed were placed in the center of a table around which the students were seated.

This study was very informal. Usually we began with a brief description of life in a particular era — touching on the literature, music, history, sociology and art that grew out of that era.

Blind student in Gallery

The item being discussed was passed around. We might even say the item was being "seen" because our blind students constantly use the word "see" in conversation. "Let me see it," they say. They are so skilled in determining an object by the perception of touch and their remarks are so pertinent that it seems to an onlooker that they actually do see.

Much was learned from this pilot class:

1. The first thing realized was that reproductions could not be used successfully. Because of the acute sense of touch of the blind, original works of art should be used since reproductions create little interest because the surface feeling and texture of the reproductions are all alike.

2. We learned that the purely psychological reaction of having in one's hand an original object, whether it is 6,000 years old or 10 years old, is vastly important.

3. We found that the study object should not be too large or too small. It must be a size that the hands of the blind can encompass.

4. It was also discovered that blind student's memory of an examined object usually is far better than that of the sighted.

5. The blind student as a rule does not like abstract art unless there is some frame of reference to a realistic subject.

The blind students' enthusiasm, cheerfulness, and quick perception of a work of art were indeed encouraging, and from this pilot study it became clear that a project such as this would be most worthwhile and feasible.

I was convinced that a gallery for the blind must be established, with changing exhibitions that could be used by both the child and the adult, and used by the sighted as well.

The NCMA board of trustees agreed to set aside space in our museum to be used as an experimental gallery. It was felt that the gallery should be comparatively small in order to prevent possible uneasiness in large surroundings.

Sighted visitors frequently go blindfolded through the Gallery to increase their tactile awareness.

Charles Stanford, Mrs. Dan Moore and blind student in the Gallery.

Of course, money was needed for this new project. We went to the Mary Duke Biddle Foundation in New York, and the foundation made a donation of $17,500. This grant made it possible to proceed with a design for the gallery. After the objectives were outlined from the findings of the pilot study, 20 students from the School of Design at N. C. State University submitted designs as a competitive project. A first year graduate student won the competition and his design was used as the working model for the gallery, although a number of details were modified from the original plan as more was learned of the needs of the blind.

After much planning and work, the gallery was established and was opened to the public in March, 1966. The gallery, named for Mrs. Mary Duke Biddle, a noted benefactor from Durham, is designed so the blind visitor can be completely self-sufficient, once he arrives at the door. Instructions in Braille on how to use the gallery are attached to the wall at the entrance. Also on the wall is a relief map of the gallery layout with Braille labels indicating exhibition space, library and the study areas. This serves to give the blind a preview of the gallery space, thus orienting them and giving them a feeling of security. After the relief map, the exhibition begins.

The objects are displayed on a counter space two feet wide and three feet from floor level. An eight-inch guide rail is attached to the counter and serves not only to channel the blind visitor through the exhibit, but also to lessen the danger of objects falling from the display space. The rail projects two inches above the level of the counter and on the inside of the rail are Braille labels describing the objects. The items are within easy reach and the blind visitor may examine them thoroughly by touching them.

The first exhibition had as its theme the sense of touch, symbolized by Rodin's Hand. It represented a survey of the history of art, starting with an Egyptian head and working chronologically up to the present — Rodin, Bourdelle, Henry Moore.

We have established the policy that no work of art has been or will be exhibited or purchased that does not meet the same high standards required in the same high standards required in the N. C. Museum of Art galleries for the sighted.

All objects are selected to serve an aesthetic purpose as well as an educational one. They also have been selected with a view to different tactile

Recent Developments in Prevention of Blindness

By
Wilfred D. David, M.D., M.P.H.
Executive Director
National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, Inc.

Many developments in the field of blindness prevention represent ongoing programs, seeking, rather than the "breakthrough" of a new surgical technique or medical therapy, the broadening of existent programs to meet the needs of greater numbers of persons. This is true of both the eduational and detection programs which play a large role in the work of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, the 63-year-old organization (and the only health agency with Prevention in its name) of which I am executive director.

Naturally to remain a viable and relevant organization the Society must keep abreast of new techniques and therapies occurring in a variety of fields, as they relate to the total picture of eye care — particularly, of course, the field of ophthalmology. Our organization serves as "clearinghouse" in the area of eye disease and disorders, and eye health and safety. For example our professional advisory committees are made up of authorities in eye physiology, ophthalmology, industrial safety, pediatrics, biophysics, public health, preventive medicine, nursing, social work and education.

In this article I will seek to give a brief review of those significant recent developments in blindness prevention, specifically those underway within the past year, with some indication of where they may lead.

FDA Requires Impact-Resistant Lenses

The final regulation of the federal Food and Drug Administration, effective as of January 1972, requiring all eyeglasses and sunglasses sold in the United States to be of impact-resistant materials, represents a landmark decision for protecting the eyesight of Americans young and old. Or, as one news service editorial put it, it is "one of those simple ideas, like automobile seat belts, whose time could and should have come many years ago."

The regulation represents for the National Society the most successful culmination of a 15-year campaign. The ruling requires the use of heat-treated or laminated glass lenses, or plastic lenses. ("Regulation" lenses, it must be emphasized, do not meet the stringent specifications of industrial-quality protective lenses.)

It is worth noting that an estimated half of the American population wears prescription glasses — either regularly or at times—not to mention the tens of thousands who wear non-prescription sunglasses or tinted lenses. And, up until the FDA regulation produces a changeover, about 75 per cent of those wearing glasses are wearing ordinary crown-glass lenses, which are thin and easily broken, shattering into potentially blinding slivers upon impact. Documentation of such tragedies runs into thousands of cases.

Alarming Growth of Diabetic Retinopathy

The appalling number of Americans forecast to be blinded by the eye disease diabetic retinopathy, and the measures being taken to counteract that forecast were the central issues at a medical symposium sponsored by the National Society in conjunction with its 1971 conference this past fall. The disease, which affects the blood vessels of the eye's retina, is predicted to overtake cataract and glaucoma to become the leading cause of blindness in the coming decade. The urgent need for research funding was stressed by the symposium participants — six ophthalmologists and two diabetologists.

With new FDA regulation requiring that all eyeglasses have impact-resistant lenses, accidents such as this will soon be a thing of the past. Regulation took effect January 1972.

Symposium speaker Richard A. Field, M.D., diabetologist with the Retina Foundation of Boston, presented a statistical projection of the incidence of diabetic retinopathy, a study prepared in September 1971 by the Harvard School of Public Health. The study estimates that compared to the current 154,700 persons blind from diabetic retinopathy, by the year 2000 a staggering 573,500 will be blind or severely visually impaired by the disease — more than the number blind from all causes today. (This figure is based on the assumption of a 9 per cent yearly increase in the number of American diabetics, a percentage which has prevailed from 1958 to 1966.)

The National Society, in background materials presented at the symposium, noted that current studies estimate that 50 per cent of diabetics who have had diabetes for 20 years will develop retinopathy; as will 95 per cent of them who have lived with diabetes for 30 years. The Society emphasized that there is no cure for diabetic retinopathy, a disease classified into progressive stages — the last being blindness. Further, current therapy must still be considered "experimental," as corroborated by the symposium participants.

"Project Bright Eyes" is providing free eye examinotions ond treatment where indicated to 1,000 elderly residents of Boston's inner city. Progrom's becoming a national prototype.

It was emphasized that diabetics must be encouraged to obtain ophthalmic consultation at the very first indication of an eye problem. The Society plans to continue to play an active role in the development and expansion of public and professional education programs regarding diabetic retinopathy.

Vision screening of children has been done in schools ond community centers. . . . With new home eye test being developed by the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, thousands more children each year can be reached.

Home Eye Test

One in every 20 children, three to six years of age, has a vision problem. Amblyopia, or "lazy eye," is the prime target among possible impairments, in that early discovery and treatment is so critical a factor in successful correction. Because an eye examination for every preschool child is not yet an attainable goal, the National Society seeks to reach as many children as possible through its preschool vision screenings, conducted all year long by Society-trained volunteers in communities across the country. When such screening indicates a probable vision defect, the child is referred for a professional eye examination.

During the past year the National Society has developed a home eye test, which will make available, free of charge, nationwide, a kit of materials which will allow parents to do a rough screening of preschoolers at home. The Society is currently seeking funds to support this large-scale program, as well as working out details of reporting and follow-up procedures for evaluation of testing accuracy and sta-

It makes no difference who sang the song,
If only the song was sung;
It makes no difference who did the deed,
Be they old in years or young;
If the song was sweet and helped a soul,
What matters the singer's name?
The worth was in the song itself,
And not in the world's acclaim.
The song and the deed are one
If each be done for love;
Love of the work, not love of self
And the "score" is kept above.

Dear Fellow Lions:

This will be my last report to you before the State Convention. I write with mixed emotions. This has been the happiest year of my life in so many ways. I am grateful to each of you for making this year a banner one for our great Association. I sincerely believe that each of us can take pride in the victories achieved for the blind this year. In this era of changing times, it is exciting for us to be active members of a progressive, fast-moving organization whose goal has been and continues to be SERVICE, to the individual and to the community. This has been a great year! Serving our Association has been a truly rewarding experience for me, and I know it has been for you.

values; for example, bronze as contrasted with marble, or terra cotta as compared with granite.

To the blind, whose sense of touch is developed far more than the sighted, not only are textures and form important, but also temperatures of different objects, such as the coolness of marble as compared with the relative warmth of wood.

Due to the continued interest and help of Miss Mary Switzer, the Vocational Rehabilitation Administration of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare donated to the NCMA a grant of $15,000 in March, 1967, to make a pilot study of this project.

In March, 1968, another grant of $25,000 was given by the Social and Rehabilitation Service, Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The grant enabled us to double the size of the gallery.

Still another grant of $25,000 was received in 1970.

In 1971, recognizing the worth of the gallery, the General Assembly voted to incorporate the gallery into the museum and appropriated extra money for the gallery's continuation.

In the years since its opening in 1966, the gallery has presented a seemingly unending series of exhibitions on various themes. The opening exhibition, "Art Through the Ages,"

FELLOW LIONS, we can take pride in the work completed these past ten months, but much remains to be done—let's not grow weary in well doing! The last stanza of a poem by Robert Frost comes to mind—

"The woods are lovely, dark and deep,
But I have promises to keep
And miles to go before I sleep
And miles to go before I sleep."

Yours in Active Lionism,
C. Ray Pruette, State Director

offered items dating from the Stone Age to the present.

Since then there have been exhibitions of African and Eskimo sculpture, animal sculptures, athletic figures, pre-Columbian sculpture, musical instruments from throughout the world, jade, kinetic art, glass, shells, and in special themes as the world of sport and contemporary life.

Shows by individual sculptors as John Cody, Erniest Illman, Joe Brown and Carol Renninger have been presented.

About 5,500 blind people have come to the gallery by appointment. A number of groups of blind people continue to come regularly.

From their comments and our observations we believe that the Mary Duke Biddle Gallery for the Blind has helped to develop the blind observer's powers of perception, his knowledge and imagination, and has given him a glimpse into a realm of civilization that, until now, has been unavailable to him.

tistical analyses. Pilot testing of such home screenings has been conducted in projects in California, Illinois and Wisconsin.

"Project Bright Eyes"

The Society's Massachusetts affiliate initiated this past year a program to provide eye examinations for some 1,000 elderly residents of Boston's inner city. The project has become a national prototype, highlighting the unmet visual-care needs of the elderly population; and illustrating a workable program for meeting those needs. Results to date show that fully half of those examined were in need of eye care!

The program, in cooperation with Boston's Commission on Affairs of the Elderly, provides for eye examinations (given by ophthalmology residents at Boston City Hospital), follow-up services and treatment — all at no cost to the participants. Many inquiries have been received by the Massachusetts Society from governmental and voluntary agencies asking advice about setting up similar programs.

To Reach the Public

The National Society publishes a full line of educational pamphlets on all aspects of eye care; and maintains a film library now numbering 16 subjects, available on loan, free of charge. A quarterly professional journal and a quarterly newspaper for general and professional audiences are also issued by the Society. In addition, exhibits, posters, news releases, and radio and television spots are utilized in the Society's educational program.

"Glaucoma, A Silent Threat to Sight," a valuable new film for lay audiences, emphasizing the importance of detecting glaucoma in its initial stages, is currently being distributed by the Society. The Society has just received a grant for the production of 8 mm cassettes to be offered with continuous-reel projection units. The units can be used in general health clinics, neighborhood project centers and other places where people gather to await medical care.

GLAUCOMA-DIABETES DETECTION COMMITTEE REPORT

Clyde M. Stutts, Chairman

The year 1971-1972 has been a most successful year thus far in our Glaucoma and Diabetes Screening Projects. The hard-working Lions of North Carolina have produced excellent results in organizing and assisting in both the Mass Screening Clinics and the On-Going Clinics.

Our first On-Going Clinic established this year was in Watauga, Allegheny and Ashe Counties with the Lions of Boone, Sparta and West Jefferson leading the way to this most successful clinic. The Whiteville Lions Club sponsored an On-Going Clinic in Columbus County, which is now in operation. Our most recent On-Going Clinic was established by the Lions of Martin, Washington and Tyrrell Counties. These new clinics along with the seven clinics already in existence have screened 8,147 persons thus far this year.

Our first Mass Screening Clinic was conducted in Duplin County, where we screened 525 persons. We then went to Wilmington for a one day clinic and screened 1,505 persons with approximately 6 per cent referrals to opthalmologists for further tests and treatment. Our latest Mass Screening Clinic was held at Ramseur, where we screened 935 persons of which 27 referrals were made to ophthalmologists for further testing.

Having already screened 11,107 persons for Glaucoma and Diabetes, we have two additional Mass Screening Clinics scheduled for this year. The Mooresville Clinic will be held on April 27, and the High Point Clinic on May 4.

With three months remaining in this Lions year for the Permanent Clinics and the two remaining Mass Screening Clinics, the Lions of North Carolina through the North Carolina Association for the Blind will screen in excess of 15,000 persons.

We must not forget the many people who assisted in these clinics: the various County Health Departments, the doctors from Duke University, the volunteer nurses, the people of the communities, and most certainly our able counterparts on the North Carolina Board of Health.

PRESIDENT'S LETTER

have extended to me throughout the past two years. I shall forever be grateful to our very able, capable and efficient Executive Director, Robert E. Spencer. Executive Director Bob came aboard last June and he has truly done a great job for us in the short time that he has been in this position. He has been my right arm and a great source of inspiration to me when I needed it. I would like to take this opportunity to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to my Board of Directors, to the District Governors, to the District Directors, to the Committee Chairman, to the Committee members, to the membership of the Association, to the Staff and to all Lions in North Carolina, for the giving of your time and talents for the success of our Association.

As I leave office, I also want to thank Past President Wallace I. West for his wise counselling and outstanding leadership. He was always available when I needed his help and guidance. Please accept my sincere thanks and appreciation, Lion Wallace.

I am happy to say that I pass the gavel on to my very good friend, Lion John D. Xanthos. Lion John is extremely capable. He has the enthusiasm and the knowledge necessary to keep the Association moving forward and progressing in order to meet the ever growing needs of the blind and visually handicapped people of our State. We wish him success in his position as President of our Association.

ally Sighted," a manual on optical aids and basic optical principles, by Louise L. Sloan, Ph.D., published by the Society this year, has already sold some 4,000 copies. The manual, offered to eye specialists, appears to be a welcome resource for those professionals treating the visually handicapped.

New Techniques

Of interest to those of us involved with progress in the field of eye care and blindness prevention are the experimental modifications in glaucoma medication delivery, and new techniques of cataract surgery. Projects are underway testing the advantages and efficacy of glaucoma treatment via medication inserts placed directly under the lower eyelid, allowing continuous, uniform dosages — as compared to the present method of periodic application of eyedrops. In cataract surgery, a technique now being utilized by a growing number of ophthalmologists employs the method of vibration emulsification and suction removal of the cataract (opaque lens) — as compared to the traditional method of manual extraction of the cataract by forceps.

A Decade of Fund Raising

The following report includes the total monies raised by individual Lions since the 1962-1963 White Cane Drive. In order to accumulate totals a Lion has to raise $50 or more in one drive in order for it to count. Pins are awarded when the Lion accumulates the amount of the pin. As amounts increase pins are farther apart but will be presented when that total is reached; i.e., $500, a 500 pin, next pin is $750 which means $250 more is needed for that pin. Club Secretaries usually keep these records and report them to the Association office at the end of the White Cane Drive.

For almost four decades, the North Carolina Association for the Blind has served the interests of the blind and visually handicapped of North Carolina and supported programs to combat the factors responsible for blindness.

Since 1957, it has provided funds for development of the Department of Ophthalmology in the Medical School at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill, strengthening that department's programs of training, service and research. It has supported the establishment of the North Carolina Association for the Blind Ophthalmic Laboratory within the department, the only such facility in the state, which serves as a referral center for many hospitals in North Carolina.

In recognition of its high service to medicine and to the blind and visually handicapped people of North Carolina, the faculty of the School of Medicine and the Medical Alumni Association of the University of North Carolina recently conferred upon the North Carolina Association for the Blind its distinguished service award. Association Executive Director Robert Spencer is shown above accepting the award from Dr. Christopher C. Fordham III, Dean of the School of Medicine.

Letter From the President

John D. Xanthos

In the harbor of New York City stands the Statue of Liberty. A welcoming beacon to all — and particularly to those who, shortly after the turn of this century, sought freedom — happiness — a better way of life. It was a gift to us from France on July 4, 1884.

Nineteen years later Emma Lazarus' poem, "The New Colossus" was inscribed on a tablet in the pedestal of the statue:

"Not like the brazen giant of Greek fame,
With conquering limbs astride from land to land;
Here at our sea-washed, sunset gates shall stand
A mighty woman with a torch, whose flame
Is the imprisoned lightning, and her name
Mother of Exiles. From her beacon-hand
Glows world-wide welcome; her mild eyes command
The air-bridged harbor that twin cities frame.
'Keep ancient lands, your storid pomp!' cries she
With silent lips, 'Give me your tired, your poor,
Your huddled masses yearning to breathe free,
The wretched refuse of your teeming shore.
Send these, the homeless, tempest-tost to me,
I lift my lamp beside the golden door!' "

AT&T ANNUAL REPORT AVAILABLE IN BRAILLE AND ON RECORD

The 1972 AT&T Annual Report, which will be mailed soon to the company's more than three million share owners, is available upon request in braille and record form.

Blind persons wishing a copy in either record form or braille should address their requests to:

The Secretary
American Telephone & Telegraph Co.
195 Broadway
New York, N. Y. 10007

John D. deButts, AT&T Board Chairman, presents his statement in the record. The narration is by William Rogers, a professional narrator from Connecticut.

The Annual Report confirms earnings per share of $4.34 for 1972 as reported preliminarily on January 24.

Mr. deButts, in reviewing the company's performance during his first year as chairman, said the "key factor" in the turn-around from '71 earnings of $3.92 "was the energy and intelligence with which Bell managers applied themselves to improving efficiency and controlling costs in every aspect of our operations."

Coupling this with a rising economy, a "growing mastery over service difficulties" and repricing of services, Mr. deButts said, "this earnings improvement didn't just happen. It was made to happen."

In 1972, the Bell System added 5.1 million telephones, more than in any single year in the company's history, bringing the total number of Bell telephones in service to 105.3 million.

NEW BOOKLET ON CATARACTS AVAILABLE

Nearly 5000 people in the United States will lose their sight this year from cataract. However, permanent blindness from cataract is usually needless.

To explain this disease and its treatment, HEW's National Eye Institute, a component of the National Institutes of Health, has issued the booklet, Cataract: NEI Focus on Research.

A cataract is a cloudiness in the lens of the eye which interferes with vision. The lens helps focus images onto the retina which transmits them to the brain. If the lens becomes clouded with a cataract, the passage of light is obstructed and vision is impaired.

While the cause of a cataract cannot usually be determined, cataract extraction is one of the most successful operations performed today. From 90 to 95 percent of all patients undergoing cataract surgery enjoy restoration of sight.

Written for the general public, Cataract: NEI Focus on Research discusses the causes of cataract, symptoms, treatment, current and experimental surgical methods, adjustments after surgery, and patient resistance to surgery.

The booklet also describes research being conducted by NEI in its own clinic and laboratories in Bethesda, Maryland, and supported by the Institute in research centers throughout the country to learn more about cataract, how to improve its treatment, and eventually how to prevent it.

Single copies of Cataract: NEI Focus on Research are available free from the Office of Information, National Eye Institute, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Maryland 20014. The booklet is also for sale in quantity by the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402 for 50 cents postpaid or 40 cents at the GPO Bookstore.

The Raleigh Host Lions Club has donated to the Wake County Branch Library at Raleigh's Glenwood Towers an Ednalite Masterlens, a lighted, optical magnifying device to aid those with poor vision to read standard books and magazines and even to write letters. The Masterlens was chosen by the Library, from several similar devices, because of its size and flexibility of use. Glenwood Towers is a high-rise housing center for low-income, older people, and the Library contains other aids for the visually handicapped, including large print books, periodicals and papers. Mrs. Alberta Williams, resident, tests the Masterlens, while Miss Dorothy Smedley, Librarian, looks over her shoulder. Also looking on are Raleigh Lions Romer Stevens and Lynn Leavel.

PRESIDENT'S LETTER—Cont'd.

This great Association — The North Carolina Association for the Blind— has also been a beacon of welcome and has lifted its lamp to the blind and visually handicapped of this State. It has done so in a most wonderful manner this year. I shall ever be indebted to the Lions of North Carolina for affording me the opportunity of sharing in this service. As your Executive Director, White Cane Chairman, and I traveled over the State, literally from Manteo to Murphy, attending workshops, conferences, meetings, seminars —I became more aware of the glow, the happiness, the enthusiasm and love reflected in the faces of the Lions of North Carolina. I am confident it was genuine.

One of the least painful tasks of the President of this Association is to make his annual report. I trust you will find this report informal and perhaps reflective in nature. Elsewhere in this magazine you will read the reports of our various committees. You will rejoice in the terrific success of our White Cane Drive; the unexcelled season at Camp Dogwood, of the wonderful glaucoma - diabetes clinics held. You will find happiness in the report of the Statewide Committee on Work for the Blind. You will find satisfaction in the report of the Scholarship Committee. You will see a degree of worthwhileness and accomplishment when you read the Eye and Human Tissue Bank Committee's report. And you will experience comfort and solace in knowing that Chairman "Smoke" Wayne and his Budget and Finance Committee were real watch-dogs over our budget and expenditures.

What I do here is an effort to share with you some of our achievements and some of our continuing problems and goals. I should feel myself remiss to fail to do so.

The achievements have been real: (a) Early in the year we scheduled nine White Cane workshops which, I believe, were helpful in the results achieved in White Cane receipts throughout the State. (b) We participated in sock projects, Cougar basketball games and The National Blind Golfers Tournament. None of these were necessarily overwhelming successes, but they did provide fellowship and a recognition by the sighted that one can have some "dang-good" blind golfers. (c) There were many major improvements at Camp Dogwood including the very real possibility of having a full time Camp Director (which may be a reality at the time this letter is read by you). (d) We have had a realistic approach to meaningful organization, the thanks for which goes to Executive Director Robert E. Spencer who was sent to us by Divine Providence. (e) Our mission and purpose have been central and we have resisted inertia and a tendency to become more concerned about ourselves than about our purpose. (f) We have responded to the times — we recognize we should apply ourselves more to direct services to the blind and visually handicapped as distinguished from research, which, of course, is important, but we verily believe other finances could be made available to research programs. (g) We have been active in supporting and providing for local community endeavors such as the glaucoma-diabetes clinics. (h) And our communications have very definitely been an achievement. The Lions throughout the State see what the Association is doing and are responding thereto.

Here, I want especially to express my appreciation to the entire Board— and to the officers whom I have come to know better and in whom I have an abiding appreciation for their sacrifices and support — and the Directors, who have responded so wonderfully, and now I know we could not have gotten along without them — and the Committees and their Chairmen, who have met and who have worked, and who have produced—all to the betterment of the work of this organization.

Now let us look at some of our goals and problems. This Association is 39 years old, but is not holding.

It is a fact of life that we cannot have everything at once. However, it is my dream that in the not too distant future we may have an edifice of our own— a place large enough to meet and satisfy the needs of those whom we serve. A physical plant that we can indeed call our own devoid of any uncertainty that exists in a lease relationship (even though we get along beautifully with our landlord).

I pray that many moons will not pass before we will be utilizing Camp Dogwood on a year-round basis. I am aware there will be problems regarding staff, facilities, seasonal equipment etc., but I am certain the Lions of North Carolina, in due time, will surmount the problems and successfully meet the challenge.

There are still many unmet needs of the blind and visually handicapped. I think of screening mobile units such as the one in District A which has been so successful and which has met the needs of people in remote and somewhat out-of-the-way areas. . . . I think of the twenty-two applications for scholarships we had this year from students whose parents were blind, and of our frustration in realizing we simply didn't have the funds for all of them. . . . I think of the services afforded by the Regional Library and of its possible curtailment because of proposed cut-off of some Federal Funds. . . . I think of the immediate need of the blind breadwinner who has suddenly, through no fault of his own, lost his job and how we have helped him in a very small way through funds garnered from that part of our budget designated as unspecified services to the blind, but unable to give him full support during his period of economic reversal.

The above are just a few of the needs and possibilities I have seen during my year as your Chief Executive Officer. I am certain there are many others. In the years ahead continuing responsible stewardship will find a way.

John Donne, the poet, who in his later years was ordained and became the King's Chaplain, once wrote that all the church's actions and deeds belonged to all and thereby affected all.

"No man is an island, entire of itself;
Every man is a piece of the continent, a part of the main.
If a clod be washed away by the sea, Europe is the less. . .
Any man's death diminishes me, because I am involved in mankind."

So it is and shall be with the Association. We are involved with our fellow man, and any unmet need of those whom we serve diminishes us. Indeed, the bell tolls for thee and for me.

Executive Director's Report

The 1972-73 Association Year is rapidly drawing to a close. It has been a year of progress; a year during which the North Carolina Association for the Blind has taken significant steps forward in its Program of Services to the Blind and Visually Handicapped of North Carolina, a year during which we have seen increased use of Camp Dogwood; a year in which White Cane contributions have reached an All-time High; a year in which thousands of persons have been screened in our mass and permanent Glaucoma Clinics; a year in which applications for Association Scholarships have increased tremendously; a year during which the program of providing radios and white canes for the blind of our state has been expanded.

Much of the credit for the tremendous progress we have made must go to the District Governors. The cooperation which we have received from them could not have been better. The Committee Chairmen have worked faithfully and diligently throughout the year. Credit must also be given to our very efficient secretarial and bookkeeping staff. It is they who have attempted to answer your questions when you called the office; it is they who have tried to see that White Cane materials were mailed out on time; it is they who have attempted to see that radios and white canes were delivered to the blind on schedule.

Those of you who find it necessary to call the Association Office occasionally, might like to know where to direct your calls to get the quickest response to your questions. If your call concerns the delivery of a radio or white cane to the blind, it should be directed to Mrs. Stringfellow. If the call concerns contributions to either White Cane or Camp Dogwood, or funds for any special project, it should be directed to Mrs. Ray. If your call concerns a Camp reservation for a Lions Club, or for a blind group, it should be directed to Mrs. Ray. If your call concerns a camper application, medical form, or any other matter concerning the 10-week summer camping period, the call should be directed to Miss Horton.

Robert E. Spencer

We often receive calls from Lions Clubs asking the proper procedure for obtaining a radio or white cane for a blind person in the community. The best procedure is for the Club to contact the local Social Worker for the Blind, and ask that the worker check on the need for a radio or white cane, and request the item if it is needed.

A special word of congratulations is in order to all Lions Clubs that exceeded last year's White Cane contributions. As costs continue to rise, we must have increased contributions just to maintain our present level of Programs and Services to the Blind.

We are constantly receiving requests for the expansion of our present Programs and Services, and the addition of new Programs and Services. Each request will be thoroughly studied and evaluated by the Budget and Finance Committee. Their recommendations will be passed on to the Board of Directors for approval. If we are to be in a position to expand our Program of Services, then we must all continue to work for increased contributions.

At the March General Membership meeting, a strong slate of Officers and Directors was elected. With these Officers and Directors at the helm, the Association should make great progress during the 1973-74 year.

I look forward to this new year with great anticipation, expecting new records of service to be set in many areas. I look to the new year with enthusiasm, but it is enthusiasm that is tempered by the tremendous responsibility we feel upon us. A responsibility which requires that we be good stewards of the Association's property and funds. With your continued help and support we know that it will be the best year ever.

Remember, if your Club cannot win, make the one ahead break the record!

PRESIDENT'S LETTER—Cont'd.

The foregoing, then, are my reflections and they constitute my report as your President. You will be too wise to find here any authoritative pronouncements. I have looked at the work of this Association, I hope honestly and affectionately, from the perspective of one whom you have given special responsibilities and opportunities for insight. As I re-enter the ranks of our Association I again see the Association's "lamp lifted beside the golden door" and I know that the future efforts of this organization will be blessed by our Creator and that those welcomed to the banquet of life will not be diminished or disappointed.

"Oh God, you who are eternal and spirit, hear us when we pray:

We are believers, But help us to balance belief and doubt, that we express affirming faith without the debilitating dissatisfaction of uncertainty.

We are friends. But help us to balance our acceptance of each other with our suspicion and distrust of those who are outsiders, strangers, uncommon.

We are builders. But help us to perceive the difference between foundations of sand and foundations of rock, so that even now, when the rains descend, the floods come, and the winds blow, the house that we build in these days may not fall.

So we pray, as we continue the work and the fellowship of this organization."

Privileges of the Russian Blind

In the Soviet Union blind people pay no income tax, travel free on municipal and suburban transport, enjoy free postal services. They are entitled to pensions (at age 40 for blind women; age 50 for blind men), to full pay for a three-day week. State grants to blind students are 50 percent higher than those to the sighted.

Blind students are also entitled to hefty discounts on typewriters, tape recorders and other study aids.

White Cane Report 1972-1973

HARRY P. SAVVAS
State White Cane Director

This has been one of the most gratifying and fulfilling years of my life. Mary and I have visited many places all over our great state, places we would not have had the opportunity to visit had it not been for White Cane. We have made many new friends whom we will cherish. Working on behalf of White Cane on the state level was a new experience for us and we can sincerely say, we certainly gained more from our experiences than anything we have done in the past.

There is a dimension of Lionism that has become more apparent to me while visiting with the many Lions in the state. While we all direct our efforts to serving our fellow man who is less fortunate, it is obvious that we also serve each other—not with mere friendship, but with love. This is a basic need for all of us and it is fulfilled in our frequent contacts with each other. We serve, not only the less fortunate, but we also serve each other with love.

Our theme this year has been "100 percent participation through personal communication." We have communicated with nearly all the Lions in the state, and we are closer to 100 percent participation than any time in the history of White Cane. Our $12.00 per member goal was exceeded before the end of the White Cane Drive on March 1, 1973. A new record is established when another contribution is sent in; another record high is reached. We are hopeful that we will, indeed, reach our goal of 100 percent participation by all Lions Clubs in the state by the end of June. It is also hoped that 1973 will be the year that total donations amounted to more than $200,000.00.

As we go to press, we have contributions which total $197,601.37. This is $16,541.33 more than the total donations made during 1971-1972 for the entire year. The following is a breakdown of contributions by districts.

District, Chairmen	Amount	Percentage Reporting	Clubs Not Reporting
31-A, William F. Hall	$20,421.22	96	2

Many people worked hard during the year in order to achieve the outstanding results for White Cane. The District White Cane Chairmen did a terrific job. All the District Governors helped a great deal by keeping White Cane at the forefront during their visits to the clubs and at district meetings and through their newsletters. All the Lions in the state should be commended for their work and for the high degree of interest and enthusiasm for White Cane. The blind programs supported by White Cane will continue to grow and to progress. We should all take a great deal of pride in these programs and benefits which are being derived by the blind and visually handicapped people of our state. I am very happy to have been a part of it.

ART NOT BY EYE

All people are enriched by aesthetic experiences, and the need for such experiences transcends the boundary between the sighted and non-sighted worlds. It is the intent of Art Not By Eye, a new book written by Yasha Lisenco and published by the American Foundation for the Blind, to increase these experiences for blind and visually handicapped adults by helping to pave the way for their involvement in community art programs.

In order to accomplish this goal, the author seeks to inform teachers and administrators in school and community art programs of the techniques and methods they need to provide the most varied aesthetic outlets for their blind students. In addition, by describing the various art forms and graphic methods developed and employed by visually handicapped artists, and by picturing examples of their artwork, Dr. Lisenco hopes to make the general public more aware of the great satisfaction that blind people can derive from both active and passive participation in the so-called "visual" arts.

Dr. Lisenco, in addition to being a sculptor himself, has been (for the past twelve years) the director of the arts and crafts program at the Jewish Guild for the Blind in New York City. He has also been an instructor in the department of education and art at Columbia University for many years. He writes, in Art Not By Eye, about the adventitiously blind adult; one who has lost his sight through accident or disease and who has some visual memories. He believes that a bridge should be built "(in terms of art) between the sighted community to which the adventitiously blind adult once belonged and the insular society of the blind in which he now functions" to insure that the blind artist can be part of the creative mainstream of the total community.

The few art programs which are offered by specialized agencies for the blind are mostly designed for diagnostic, therapeutic or research purposes, Dr. Lisenco explains, and therefore, they tend to restrict the blind student and limit his external graphic stimulation.

IN THE NEWS—Cont'd.

The inclusion of blind and visually handicapped students in art classes with sighted individuals provides stimulus for both groups. It exposes the blind and visually handicapped students to more varied aesthetic experiences while at the same time it helps the sighted students to view their blind schoolmates (and other blind people they may subsequently meet) as individuals with as much creativity and ingenuity as they themselves have. Such encounters also help to dispel the misconception that all "blind' 'art is similar and uninteresting.

Dr. Lisenco demonstrates in his book that although most visually handicapped persons cannot perceive differences in the appearance of objects and scenes due to light, movement or shifts in the viewing position, this does not mean that their art is static, dull or unimaginative. Because visually handicapped people relate to the external world through haptic rather than visual meanings they will naturally stress the three-dimensional and structural qualities of a work of art rather than its tones, colors or lines.

This means that blind artists work for the most part in media which can be used tactually, and by combining different materials such as wood, metal, stone and clay, they can create an endless variety of haptic sensations. The illustrations in Art Not By Eye show some of the varied art forms which have been utilized by visually handicapped artists such as sculpture, reliefs, mosaics, etchings and engravings.

Art Not By Eye is available from the Publications Division, the American Foundation for the Blind, 15 West 16th Street, N. Y., N. Y. 10011. The price of the book is $3.75.

SENSORY AIDS FOR THE BLIND

There are an estimated 1.7 million visually impaired persons in the United States, largely old, mostly unaware of their eligibility for help, and often not considering themselves blind. This new higher figure is the result of a population study compiled by the American Foundation for the Blind, and is based upon every significant statistical study of the visually impaired population in the United States made in the last fifteen years.

Burke County Blind Visit Raleigh

Recently Mr. William Perrou, Mr. Dawson Hicks, Miss Josephine Griffin, and Mrs. Mary Hoyle, members of the Burke County Visually Handicapped Club, were accompanied by Miss Vicki Peeler, Social Worker for the Blind at the Burke County Department of Social Services, and volunteers; Brenda Parton, Viola Perrou, and Wery Bennett on a weekend excursion to Raleigh. For some, it was a "first trip" to Raleigh and for others, a return visit after as many as twenty years.

The trip was made possible through prior planning and initiative on the part of the visually handicapped and the Morganton Lions Club who deemed it necessary to support this independent project on the part of the social worker for the blind.

Activities for the weekend included a guided tour around downtown Raleigh and the new Legislature Building, a visit to the Gallery for the Blind, feeding the pigeons at the Capitol, a "shopping spree" at one of the shopping centers, and a tour of the Governor Morehead School for the Blind. Tired but happy, the voyageurs returned home ready to plan another trip!

Lion Henry Hartis Dies in Wilmington

The Cape Fear Lions Club suffered a great loss with the sudden passing on December 14 of Past Deputy District Governor Henry G. Hartis, 69. Lion Hartis was an employee of Humble Oil and Refining Co. for 47 years and, at retirement three years ago, was truck maintenance supervisor at Humble's Wilmington terminal.

Always soft-spoken and gracious, Lion Hartis was ever a hard worker and cheerfully carried a full share of every club project. During his 27 years of Lionism, he maintained continuous perfect attendance and served as both Secretary and President of three Lions clubs, Matthews, Guilford College, and Cape Fear. He also served as Zone Chairman (1964-65) and Deputy District Governor (1966-67) in District 31-H and, at the time of his death, had earned an Extension Award for his work in forming the new Topsail Island Lions Club at Surf City, N. C.

Additionally, Lion Hartis had obtained 38 eyewill pledges, and raised over $300 for White Canes Drives. Although he never sought awards or credits for himself, he was twice unanimously chosen Lion of the Year by the Cape Fear Lions.

The visually impaired population study was made by Louis H. Goldish, director of AFB's new Sensory Aids Analysis and Development Program. The object of the program is to get the many newly developed, sophisticated, sensory devices for the blind —now lying dormant in laboratories —into the hands of blind people.

To meet this goal, Mr. Goldish, a mechanical engineer and marketing consultant with a background in the field of blindness, first had to find out the number of potential users of sensory aids and services. The results are in his initial survey, "The Severely Visually Impaired Population as a Market for Sensory Aids and Services," in the New Outlook for the Blind, the leading professional journal in the field of blindness.

The 1.7 million figure is higher than the commonly accepted estimates of approximately 400,000 to 500,000 for two reasons. First, the old, lower figure referred only to persons whose visual impairment was within the definition of 'legal blindness.' Second, since there is no central official census, there is evidence that the prevailing number is low; for example, there are approximately 310,000 legally blind persons receiving public assistance, a figure nearly approaching the commonly accepted estimate of the total legally blind population.

For his report, Mr. Goldish combined visual ability and visual acuity into these definitions: Visual Malfunction — wearing corrective lenses. Visual Impairment — "trouble seeing," even with usual corrective lenses, if used. Also included is impairment of one eye. Severe Visual Impairment— "Blindness," "legal blindness," or reported "inability to read newsprint" with usual corrective lenses, if used.

The report shows that the visually impaired population is, unlike the general U.S. population, made up of older individuals. Approximately 65 percent —over one million persons—are 65 years or older.

Also, despite the general connotation of 'blindness' as a total absence of vision, Mr. Goldish reports that almost 60 percent of the severely impaired have useful vision, however limited.

He also found that many severely visually impaired persons who have some 'sight' consider themselves ineligible for the aids and services offered by agencies or they avoid the blindness system because they do not consider themselves blind.

The Foundation report states that the need for special aids or services and the suitability of those aids or services to a visually impaired person depend, to a great extent, upon his visual capability, the extent of his impairment, the level of his activity, his status, general and economic, and his contact with service agencies.

As the sensory aids and analysis program continues, the Foundation will issue more reports with practical information about specific areas of technological research and available items. The American Foundation for the Blind is a national, non-profit, consultative organization serving the field of blindness.

NATIONAL EYE INSTITUTE BEGINS FOUR YEAR STUDY OF COMMON CAUSES OF BLINDNESS

An investigation into the prevalence of four of the most common causes of blindness and visual disability is being conducted in Framingham, Massachusetts. Sponsored by HEW's National Eye Institute, a part of the National Institutes of Health, this study is the first large-scale attempt to determine the prevalence of eye diseases, as opposed to blindness, in a well-defined and closely followed population.

The study will also seek to identify factors which increase the risk of developing any of the four diseases under investigation — senile cataract, senile macular degeneration, chronic simple glaucoma, and diabetic retinopathy. Finding such factors could lead to means of preventing these eye diseases. Even negative findings will be useful in narrowing the search for the causes of these disorders.

Supported by an NEI contract, the four-year study will be conducted by the Boston University School of Medicine's Department of Ophthalmology and will involve examination of approximately 3500 people. These same people have been participating for over two decades in the well-known Framingham study of heart disease conducted by the National Heart and Lung Institute (NHLI), another NIH component. The heart study has contributed significantly to knowledge about coronary disease, including the identification of such risk factors as high blood pressure, tobacco smoking, and high blood cholesterol.

For the NEI - supported study, a special eye examination center has been established at Framingham. A preliminary examination will determine each patient's visual acuity, measure intraocular pressure, note any indication of cupping or depression of the area where the optic nerve joins the retina (a possible sign of glaucoma), and check for any evidence of the four diseases.

Suspects for any of the four diseases will then be given more extensive examinations to confirm the presence and determine the severity of the disease.

Data will be collected for two years. Their analysis and correlation with past measurements from the NHLI study may serve to identify or rule out factors which increase the risk of developing eye disease.

Chief investigator for the project is Howard M. Leibowitz, M.D., Chairman of the Department of Ophthalmology at Boston University. Thomas R. Dawber, M.D., who was Medical Director of the Framingham Study and is now with the Department of Medicine of Boston University, will coordinate aspects of the study among the Framingham community, NHLI, the University, and NEI. A total of $301,338 has been awarded for the first year's work.

Background Information

Cataract—A cloudiness or opacity in the lens of the eye which interferes with vision.

Macular degeneration — Deterioration of that portion of the retina (the macula) controlling sharp vision as required for reading ordinary print.

Glaucoma—Condition in which the fluid (aqueous) normally flowing through the eye fails to drain out readily, causing a build-up of intraocular pressure which leads to loss of vision.

Diabetic retinopathy — Progressive disorder of the blood vessels in the retina which occurs as a complication of diabetes and may lead to severe visual disability.

Club "50" Totals Report 1972-73

The following report includes the total monies raised by individual Lions since the 1962-1963 White Cane Drive. In order to accumulate totals a Lion has to raise $50 or more in one drive. Pins are awarded when the Lion accumulates the amount of the pin. As amounts increase pins are farther apart but will be presented when that total is reached; i.e., $500, a 500 pin, next pin is $750 which means $250 more is needed for that pin. Club Secretaries should keep these records and report them to the Association office at the same time the White Cane Drive report is submitted.

New Eyes for the Needy, Inc.

Another opportunity for service to the visually handicapped is through contribution of glasses no longer being used. Money is never requested. It solicits: metal frames in any condition, unbroken plastic frames with lenses, sunglasses, artificial eyes, cataract lenses, soft cases, hearing aids and precious metal scrap such as old watches, any real, costume or antique jewelry, pieces of cuff links or broken chain, dentures with bits of gold, silverware, etc. No loose or hard cases, please.

Over 1,000,000 people have been helped by NEW EYES. In addition to helping many persons in America, NEW EYES ships re-usable glasses to such areas of the free world as the Phillipines, France, Arabia, India, Africa and South America. Mailing by parcel post is probably the best method of shipment. Wrap securely in a sturdy box and ship to NEW EYES FOR THE NEEDY, INC., Short Hills, New Jersey 07078. Please list your return address, including Zip Code, so your package can be acknowledged. Large packages may be shipped by Railway Express, however, do not use bus service inasmuch as there is no terminal in Short Hills.

Monticello Lions Club Raises Cane

In snapshot, President Byron Haas seals the jars while Paige Beatty pours the molasses into the jars.

The MONTICELLO LIONS may have participated in the most unusual Fund Raising Project in North Carolina Lionism. It also turned out to be the most successful project they have undertaken.

Using land, belonging to Club President, Byron Hass, the Lions planted, cultivated, and harvested two acres of cane. The cane was then turned into 1,200 quarts of molasses. It has been reported that this project did more to cause the Club members to stick together than anything else they have tried.

President's Report

W. Herbert Hollowell, Jr.

The history of the North Carolina Association for the Blind for the year 1973-74 is now being completed. Our past history reveals that in the majority of years since our organization began in 1934, the Association has advanced another step forward in the attainment of the Association's objectives. We think 1973-74 will be recorded as a very successful year. History will record that each committee was active and each proposed or instituted progressive changes in the operation and the objectives of the committee which resulted in a more efficient and successful year for the Association.

Our White Cane Drive resulted in an increase of 12.2 percent. This capable Committee changed campaign material and the presentation of the Drive plans. This, with dedicated Lions, resulted in our most successful campaign.

The Budget and Finance Chairman with the Long Range Planning Committee visited several recipients of grants from the Association and reviewed progress reports from other recipients. Their recommendations will be presented to the Board of Directors on June 7, 1974. The budget recom-

WILLIAM B. WATERS HEADS DIVISION OF SERVICES FOR THE BLIND

Dr. William B. Waters was appointed head of Division of Services for the Blind on December 1, 1973. He was appointed to fill the position left vacant upon the death of W. E. "Sam" Early.

Waters is a native of Beaufort County, North Carolina and a graduate of Pantego High School. He attended East Carolina University where he received an A.B. Degree in 1956. He continued his studies at North Carolina State University where he received a Master of Science Degree in Occupational Information, Guidance and Psychology in 1959. Further study at North Carolina State University led to a Doctor of Education Degree in 1972.

Dr. Waters has served the Division of Services for the Blind on many levels since he first became associated with it in 1956. He began his career with the North Carolina Rehabilitation Center for the Blind at Butner. In July 1959 he became the Senior Rehabilitation Counselor for the Commission for the Blind serving in Greenville and Raleigh. In July 1963 he became Assistant Rehabilitation Supervisor for the Commission for the Blind and in January 1967 was named supervisor of Program Development for the Commission for the Blind. In April 1970 he was made Rehabilitation Program Administrator for the Division of Services for the Blind, a position he held until June 1973 when he was named Assistant Director of the Division of Services for the Blind. Five months later, Dr. Waters became the Director of Division of Services for the Blind.

He is an active member of the Raleigh Host Lions Club and holds membership in many professional organizations. Waters is married to the former Gail Morrow, a social worker with the Wake County Department of Social Services.

A Long-awaited Dream Come True

Lions Clubs of the ten-county Albemarle area have joined hands in a great effort to purchase a mobile eye clinic which will serve all the people who need clinic service but do not have access to it. This area covers State Planning Region 'R' which is within District 31-J of Lions International.

The unit, costing about $40,000, will consist of a large mobile van which will be furnished with some of the most advanced technical equipment available and will be capable of services ranging from simple eye examinations to minor surgery. It is also expected that audio-testing equipment will be installed.

The professional staff will consist of an ophthalmic surgeon and competent nurses, all of whom will be serving without pay. The clinic services will be absolutely free to all persons.

The plan has the full support of the area Lions Clubs, the North Carolina Association for the Blind, the District Health Department and several area medical societies. Scheduling of clinic dates will be coordinated through the District Health Officer and the doctors.

Representatives of the Clubs involved have received a charter from the Secretary of State incorporating them into a non-profit, charitable organization, dated December 17, 1973. The final draft of by-laws was adopted during the mid-winter conference.

The van was ordered from the manufacturer on February 28th and part of its equipment, costing nearly $6,000, has been shipped to them for installation. Hopefully the Unit will be in operation by the summer.

This group of Lions extends its heartfelt thanks to the North Carolina Association for the Blind for their enthusiastic support, guidance and contribution of $10,000.00. The Manteo, Weeksville and Elizabeth City Lions Clubs have already given sizeable contributions, and other clubs have projects underway. Several local citizens have also made generous contributions.

GRISWOLD PLAYS MAJOR ROLE IN GLAUCOMA DIABETIC SCREENING

John D. Griswold, Health Program Manager of the Chronic Disease Branch Division of Health Services of the Department of Human Resources, plays a major role in coordinating screening activities for both the mass and permanent clinics. Griswold works closely with the North Carolina Association for the Blind, the local Lions Clubs, the County Health Departments and local ophthalmologist to coordinate all screening programs. As Health Program Manager of the Chronic Disease Branch, he is in charge of Diabetic screening, Glaucoma screening, Neurological and sensory disease programs.

Griswold has been with the Division of Health Services since 1966 when he came to the State Office after a period of service as the Administrative Assistant of the Forsyth County Health De-

MEXICO INTEGRATES BLIND AND SIGHTED CHILDREN IN ELEMENTARY SCHOOL SYSTEM

Mexico City — Mexico's public school system will soon undergo a radical change when blind and sighted children in the primary grades will sit side by side and study together for the first time in the same classrooms. The educational integration policy has been incorporated into a two-part program for blind people which has been agreed upon between the government of Mexico and the American Foundation for Overseas Blind, a New York-based advisory organization serving the international field of blindness and blindness prevention.

The Foundation will administer the program, which will be under sponsorship of the Mexican government. A non-profit agency, the Foundation will share costs with the government.

The program's details were revealed this week in a joint announcement issued in Mexico City and New York by the Mexican government's Secretariat of Health and Assistance and the Foundation.

Mexico's blind elementary school children have heretofore been segregated as part of the country's educational pattern. Relaxed standards currently permit blind youngsters to study in secondary schools. The agreement calls for the Foundation to conduct teacher-training courses in special education, with the emphasis on specific techniques for integrating blind and sighted youngsters in the elementary schools. The courses will be conducted by Susana Crespo, chief educational consultant in Latin America for the Foundation. Miss Crespo is also director of the Instituto Helen Keller, in Cordoba, Argentina, a school for blind and deaf-blind children.

The teacher-training courses began in Mexico City in mid-January. No specific date has yet been determined for administering specific integration details.

The Foundation has initiated similar integration programs in a number of countries in recent years, namely in the Philippines, Iran, Ceylon, India, Pakistan, Thailand, Taiwan and Malaysia.

The second facet of the agreement focuses on the development of an orientation and mobility program for blind people through a teacher-training course conducted by the Foundation. Mexican nationals, who must be qualified as physical therapists, will be trained as mobility instructors. The six-weeks course began January 12 in Mexico City under the direction of Melena Cosio de Silva, of Montevideo, Latin American mobility specialist for the Foundation.

A provision of the mobility project calls for the Mexican government and the Foundation to underwrite, in 1975, a two-year grant for a physical therapist's graduate study in the United States of orientation and mobility techniques. The plan is for the latter to return to Mexico as the nucleus of a national development program for mobility instructors.

Dr. Luis G. Ibarra, rehabilitation director for the Secretariat of Health and Assistance, was signatory to the agreement along with R. Roy Rusk, director of programming for the Foundation.

BOB FRYE NAMED CHAIRMAN OF COMMISSION FOR THE BLIND

Robert G. Frye, a past President of the North Carolina Association for the Blind, has been named Chairman of the Commission for the Blind by Governor James E. Holshouser.

Frye has long been active in work for the blind in North Carolina. He has served as District Governor in District 31-B where his Lions Club, the Longview Club, consistently turns in an excellent record. Frye has served the North Carolina Association for the Blind in many capacities including State White Cane Director, Vice President and President for a two year term.

Robert Frye

The firm with which he is connected, Guy Frye and Sons of Hickory, has constructed all of the buildings at Camp Dogwood and is currently building the new 31-B Dormitory.

Also appointed to the Commission was Allen Isley of Elon College, a past President of the Burlington Lions Club. Frye replaced Dr. L. Bryerly Holt, a Winston-Salem Ophthalmologist, as Commission Chairman.

Executive Director's Report

Nineteen hundred seventy three-seventy four may go down in history as the year in which the North Carolina Association for the Blind made a giant leap forward in services for the blind and visually handicapped in North Carolina. It has been a banner year in so many ways for the Association. It is difficult to know where to begin to enumerate the accomplishments for this year.

Certainly, the White Cane Drive has been the most successful ever. Contributions are almost $30,000 ahead of last year. Hopefully, all Districts will be 100% in Clubs reporting by the time of the State Convention. Camp Dogwood continues to expand. Our full-time Camp Director, Mike Thompson, has now been with us for one year. District 31-B has had an excellent year in fund raising for the new dormitory. That dormitory is now under construction. The waterfront improvements, started last year, have now been completed. The covered boat house is in use; the patio near the swimming areas has been completed and used on many occasions; the wall across the front with the words "Camp Dogwood for the Blind" lends a pleasing affect when viewed from the water. The Sock Project Committee has had an outstanding year. More socks have been sold than ever before. Our program of Glaucoma and Diabetic Screening has been expanded. Six mass clinics were held this year with the last clinic on April 24, 1974, in Goldsboro, screening 1,566 people. From all indications we will easily screen more than 20,000 persons this year. A complete report on Glaucoma Diabetic Screening is found elsewhere in this magazine.

It is fitting that this should be an outstanding year in the history of the Association, inasmuch, as we will be celebrating our 40th Anniversary on August 3, 1974, with a luncheon at the Sheraton-Crabtree Motel in Raleigh. This celebration will be held in connection with the first Board Meeting of the 1974-75 fiscal year. We hope that you will begin making plans now to attend this meeting and celebrate forty years of accomplishment with us. Past International President, Jack Stickley, will be the speaker for this momentous occasion. More details will be announced at the State Convention and in the first Newsletter of the new year.

Much of the credit for the tremendous progress we have made must go to the three lovely young ladies who make up the secretarial staff in the Association Office. They are extremely efficient and are genuinely interested in helping the blind and visually handicapped in North Carolina. Mrs. Del Ray is the bookkeeper for the Association and serves as Office Manager in the absence of the Executive Director. Miss Deborah Horton and Mrs. Patsy Overton serve as Secretaries for the Association. Miss Horton handles the typing of all correspondence for the Executive Director and is in charge of camper registration for Camp Dogwood. Mrs. Overton is in charge of the distribution of radios and White Canes to the blind and assists with the preparation of mailings to Committees, Lions Clubs and the distribution of Association Newsletters and the WHITE CANE MAGAZINE. All three are anxious to serve the Lions Clubs in any way they possibly can. We are most fortunate to have them working with us at this time.

mended by the Committee will reflect very careful consideration by that Committee.

The Camp Dogwood Committee assisted by a capable, full-time Director, Mike Thompson, is completing a very successful year. When you read this, I hope the new District 31-B cottage will be ready for occupancy. This will provide accommodations for more campers. We should look ahead to the time that this Camp will be a full-time camp with twelve months activity each year.

The Sock Project Committee set new records in the sale of socks by a change in the colors, new packaging, and promotion.

The Constitution and By-Laws Committee will recommend to the Board several changes in the Constitution and By-Laws as the result of requests by Committees and the Executive Committee.

The Eye and Human Tissue Bank Committee promoted the Eye Bank in each District and encouraged the solicitation of eye wills. The Eye Bank received a tremendous increase in eye wills which will result in more eyes being received and more of the blind being retrieved from a world of darkness.

Our Glaucoma-Diabetes Clinics and Sight Conservation Committee in cooperation with the Lions Clubs conducted an increased number of clinics. The work of this Committee and the Clubs will prevent many persons from becoming blind.

Emma Can See Again Following Eye Transplant

Reprinted courtesy "Salisbury Post," Salisbury, North Carolina

By Rose Post
Post Staff Writer

"It's back. And it's been gone so long."

Emma Sloan can see.

She can see through both eyes, and she keeps saying that and smiling, saying it out loud just because it's so good to hear. She can't help herself she's so happy and keeps pulling off her glasses to make sure.

Now she can see with or without the glasses, from side to side, and up and down and all around, not on one side only, not with a blur, not just if she holds the newspaper really close.

She can see "almost perfect," like she could before the fog came in 12 years ago, before she knew anything about cornea transplants or Lions clubs or eye wills or eye banks.

And she believes it's a miracle, a Christmas miracle, maybe, since she knows no one will get a gift to equal her anonymous gift of sight.

So she wanted to tell her story, hoping someone else might sign a will and someday make it possible for another person to see again. . . .

It's been 12 years since Emma—then 15-year-old Emma Stinson of East Spencer, a student at Dunbar School—began to notice the fog. It came so gradually she paid little attention at first.

"But then my eyes began to itch and when I looked at something, it looked blurred. Everything seemed to have a halo around it."

The school nurse said she should see a doctor.

At first glasses were prescribed, "but they didn't help, so we went to another doctor. He thought I had cataracts, but he sent me to still another doctor in Concord."

SIGHT GOT WORSE

While she was making the appointments and having the examinations, her sight kept getting worse.

"I got so I couldn't read anything at all, and I started stumbling over things."

Her problem, the doctor in Concord said, was not cataracts at all. It was kerotoconus, "a disease I was born with, but it doesn't develop until you're a teenager. I didn't know I even had it until my eyes started giving me trouble."

Kerotoconus is a condition in which the cornea of the eye is cone-shaped instead of round with an abnormal thickening across the area that should have been the window of the eye.

At first the doctor thought maybe contact lenses would help, "But while I was trying to get used to the contact lenses, it erupted. It just messed up my seeing all the way around."

A corneal transplant would be necessary, the doctor told her. Her name was put on a waiting list at Duke Hospital in Durham, and she began to wait.

"I couldn't see good enough to go to school. The kids started to kid me. Some of the remarks really hurt. I'd just sit around most of the time. Just sit and sit. Sometimes I'd try to go to town, but I'd have such a problem, people would have to tell me where to go or I'd fall or something, that I just felt out of place. Everything was just blurred, crossed over. It was just bad.

"I felt disappointed and hurt. The doctors told me it was hereditary so I tried to put the blame on my parents. Why me? Why did it happen to me?"

But putting the blame on her parents didn't help at all, she discovered, nor did worrying about her lot in life.

HELP ARRIVED

Instead, help came from people, from the school nurse and her teachers, from members of the Lions Clubs, who work with the blind, from the North Carolina Commission for the Blind, and she began to learn about a lot of things she'd never known before.

For example, she didn't know there was such a place as the North Carolina School for the Blind in Raleigh until her teachers talked with Miss Nell Ransom, Rowan County case worker for the blind at that time. Miss Ransom arranged for her to attend the school, the Yadkin Lions Club helped her pay for transportation and clothes, and things began to get better, even though she couldn't see.

"The walkways were paved and easy to follow. Furniture was never left out in the hall."

Meanwhile, she learned about corneal transplants and the Eye Bank established in North Carolina in the early 1950's through which people will their eyes so others might see.

A good cornea, received within four hours after a person's death can restore vision for someone living if a transplant is done quickly. But there are never enough people who will their eyes to supply all those who need them, and this is why Emma waited nearly a year before her name got to the top of the list at Duke Hospital.

"I was getting ready to go back to school when they called. It was 11 o'clock in the morning and they wanted to know how soon we could get to the hospital. I got scared but I said, 'It's here. It's here. I'm going to be able to see.' "

The family had no car, so Emma and her mother got a taxi to town and a bus to Durham and another taxi to the hospital. It was dark when they got there.

"They were waiting for me and I went straight to the eye clinic. They shaved my brow and clipped my eye lashes as close as they could. I was really nervous."

OPERATION

The operation was done that night.

"And I woke up in darkness. The doctor came in the next morning and said it was a success. I thought I was going to be able to see right away, but I couldn't. My eyes were bandaged."

She was in a ward and there were women in the room who were in pain.

"They kept moaning and groaning. I couldn't sleep. Now all of a sudden I couldn't see nothing at all, not even light, and I had to lay flat with no pillow and two big sandbags by my head. I couldn't cough. I couldn't sneeze. I just had to lay there and hear those women crying. All I could think about was whose eye did I have. It was like a bad dream. They said I had a nervous breakdown. The last thing I remembered was my mother coming to see me and then for a long time I didn't remember anything. . . .

"I was in the hospital 52 days and my eye wasn't completely healed when I got out so I had to go back to the school for the blind and back and forth to the clinic."

The next Easter, she got her glasses "and that's when the big difference came." With the glasses, she could see with one eye. "I could go to the games and see the jump shot. I could see the backboard. Everybody was happy for me. I didn't look too good in glasses but I sure could see good out of 'em.

SECOND EYE

In July of 1964 the hospital called again. There was another cornea and the doctors were ready to do her other eye. The whole process was repeated —the bus and the taxi trips, the rush and the hurry, and the darkness.

But this time, things didn't work. It was just a bad time for the family. Her father was in the hospital, her brother was at Duke for heart surgery, and after Emma returned home, she got up during the night and bumped her head. The bump knocked the cornea out of place and repeated efforts to repair the damage, as the years went on and Emma got married and had two children, were unsuccessful. The last attempt was in 1969.

"But it didn't work either. The doctors told me the operations weren't helping much. I could hold my hands out and see 'em but I couldn't see the fingers."

So that meant she would have to have another transplant if she wanted sight in her left eye. Meantime, life went on. With her glasses, she could do pretty well with the right eye—well enough to get a driver's license and a job, which became essential when her marriage broke up and she had the responsibility for her two children alone.

DETERMINED

"I was determined I was going to do something. My kids were going to have something," and she worked hard —but she didn't want to go through surgery again. Not until people got interested in her again and began to push. She ought to have the operation, they said. She could do better if she could see out of both eyes. And maybe she wouldn't need glasses as much.

"My supervisor at the mill, friends, my in-laws—they all really talked me into doing something about the other transplant, so finally I wrote for another appointment. I was really worried about it. I'd be out of work and maybe it wouldn't work again. . . ."

But Duke called her sooner than she expected this time and it did work. Everything was easier.

"They made a lot of changes. This time I was able to drive down there and got there in two and a half hours instead of all day. And they did the operation the next morning. This time when I woke up there was only one eye covered, and I could watch TV, and the next day I was sitting up in bed, and by the next day they let me walk in my room."

One week later she was home.

"Now even the clinic looks more like a motel than a hospital room. There was a lot of difference."

She came home not knowing whether or not she was going to be able to see, but two weeks later, she went back and the bandages were removed.

"I could see. Without my glasses, I could see. I can get around without a cane. There's no chance of me bumping into anything.

"Last time I kept wondering about the person who gave me the cornea and wondering did he have this or that? Was it a woman or a man? Was he white or black? And if they were white, would it affect my sight? But this time I thought if the person hadn't wanted me to have it, they wouldn't have donated it. I don't know who gave me the cornea, but if there was just some way I could thank them. . . ."

"My corneas won't be any good for anyone to see out of, but maybe they'll be good enough for research or to find out something about the disease, so I'm going to make sure they have mine when I die.

"This disease is hereditary and I think about my little girl or my little boy. I want everybody to will their eyes. There are a lot of people who probably need the operation. . . ."

All they have to do, she says, because now she knows, is get in touch with someone from the Lions Club and sign the paper, and "if I see somebody, the first thing I do is tell 'em about it. If you haven't needed an eye, you just don't know."

Seeing is like a Christmas present. A real Christmas present.

"Sometimes I call it a miracle. Sometimes I call it magic. Sometimes I call it love. I just want to share the way I feel with everybody because I can see. . . ."

GOVERNMENT SPONSORS IMPROVED SERVICES FOR THE BLIND IN ECUADOR

Ecuador's blind population will soon receive improved multiple services from the national government in a program designed to raise the entire level of the country's "blindness system." Under the combined auspices of the federal government and the Catholic Church, plus private sources, the National Center for the Blind of Ecuador has been formed in Quito, the nation's capital, as an evaluation and referral organization to direct blind people to agencies that can meet their specific requirements. Heretofore, services for the Ecuadorian blind have been somewhat fragmented.

The American Foundation for Overseas Blind, which serves as a consultant to governments and voluntary organizations in the international fields of blindness and blindness prevention is guiding the sponsors on the new pro gram.

As part of the program, the National Center is undertaking a training program for professionals serving blind people in such fields as social work, education, health, rehabilitation and religion. The training is intended to give the professionals a greater awareness of blind people's needs should the latter be referred to their agencies for service. The training is taking place in Bogota, Columbia, at the National Institute for the Blind, through an arrangement made by the American Foundation. Rene Estrella, as executive director, heads a National Center staff trained in Bogota.

Heading the active participants in organizing the Center is Mrs. Aida Leon de Rodriguez Lara, wife of Ecuador's president. Among other active participants are Pablo, Cardinal Munoz-Vega, Archbishop of Quito, and Mrs. Livia de Wappenstein, wife of Turkey's long-time consul general in Quito. It was through Cardinal Munoz-Vega's efforts that a building owned by the Church is being renovated and will be used as headquarters for the Center. R. Roy Rusk, program director for the American Foundation, arranged the assistance agreement with the Ecuadorian government.

The National Center is expected to begin full-scale operations by late spring.

investigated areas for increased publicity for the Association. Public service spots were accepted by several television stations and news articles were published in various newspapers. They have recommended the production of a fifteen minute film concerning the Association and also securing the services of a Public Relations firm to aid the Association with publicity. We hope that the work of this Committee will eventually result in increased publicity for the Association.

The Statewide Committee on Work for the Blind promoted an increase in the sale of blind made products. They have also proposed that the Committee adopt a program of encouraging the Lions in each Club to work personally with the blind in their area. How many Lions in each Club have worked in all activities of the Club, but have never had the experience of personally aiding a blind person?

Detailed reports of all committee activities will be available at the State Convention and the Association Office.

I think we have only begun to scratch the surface in our services to the blind and prevention of blindness. We have been successful in many areas of service but so much remains to be accomplished.

Any success in the Association is due to a group effort with the chain being strong and without a weak link.

The key to any success that we may enjoy in our Association is due to the dedication and work of the individual Lions in each Lions Club. We are very grateful to the District Governors who cooperated with us to promote the programs of the Association.

The Committee Chairmen and the members' efficiency has reflected success in each of their respective committees. I am grateful to them for the sharing of their time and talents with the Association.

The Officers of the Association cooperated in every request and I could not have worked with a more dedicated and concerned group.

Our Executive Director, Bob Spencer, considers his duties more than a job and is a dedicated Lion. I will always be grateful to him for his consideration this year. We are very fortunate to have him serving as our Executive Director.

I especially wish to express thanks to the girls who work in the Association Office. I am convinced we could not find three more efficient or more dedicated young ladies than our bookkeeper, Del Ray, and secretaries Deborah Horton and Patsy Overton. They have demonstrated a willingness to go that extra mile and put forth that extra effort in order to help a blind or visually handicapped person or to give assistance to one of the 440 Lions Clubs in the State.

You have elected capable and efficient officers for next year and I am sure the Association, under their guidance, will continue to progress and enjoy success.

I wish to express my appreciation to the Lions in each District for the hospitality extended to me when I visited in your area.

I cannot properly express in words my appreciation to you for affording me the privilege of serving as the President of your Association. I realize deeply my responsibility to you in filling the position of President. I hope the confidence you placed in me resulted in your being pleased with the administration of your Association this year.

W. Herbert Hollowell, Jr., center, President of the North Carolina Association for the blind, is shown presenting a check in the amount of $10,000 to be used in the purchase of a mobile unit for eye screening in the northeast North Carolina area. He joined the Wilson Lions Club in 1938 and had a perfect attendance record of more than thirty years. He served as District Governor in 1946-47 and had long maintained an interest in Boys' Home and Camp Dogwood.

A graduate of Duke University, class of 1929, he remained an avid supporter of the Duke football teams until his death.

He is survived hy his wife, Mrs. Nellie McCullen Faulkner; two daughters, Mrs. Nellie Gray Walker of Wilson and Mrs. Suzanne Jones of Germany; two sons, Littiejohn, Jr. and Claude, both of Wilson; several brothers and sisters; and six grandchildren.

A Gift to Sight

Duke's newly-opened eye center is the first of its kind in the South

Reprinted courtesy "Duke Alumni Register"; copyright-1974, Duke University

November 8, 1973 was a special day for Duke's Medical Center: the dedication ceremonies held at the new Eye Center that Thursday culminated more than eight years of hard work and devotion to a cause.

The dedication ceremony held twofold pleasure for those attending—the satisfaction of seeing a project completed and the professional excitement over new resources finally available for diagnosing and treating eye diseases, for conducting research on eye disease and treatment, and for training young ophthalmolgists.

An eye center, with the resources and facilities to serve patients from all around the Southeast, took its first step toward reality when Dr. Joseph A. C. Wadsworth arrived in Durham in 1965. Wadsworth, a 1939 graduate of Duke Medical School, left a successful ophthalmology practice in New York to return to Durham as a professor in the newly-established department of ophthalmology.

Later that year, the board of trustees gave Wadsworth a go-ahead to conduct a feasibility study on a proposed eye center, and allotted a plot of land adjacent to the medical center complex for a building.

Then the work of finding money began. The first contribution for the Duke Eye Center came from a close-by source: Dr. Wadsworth's daughter, Mrs. Martha Wadsworth Haley of Los Angeles, who donated her savings to help her father's drive for more than three million dollars. In addition to a $1.6 million gift from the Kresge Foundation, gifts came from Miss Augusta Anderson, Mrs. George G. Allen, the Bryan Family Fund, Mr. John Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. James Hornaday, the Pipkin Foundation, the Lynn R. and Karl E. Prickett Fund, the Grace Richardson Fund, The Seeing Eye, Inc., and the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation. The senior staff of the Ophthalmology Department also contributed heavily.

All the funds for the Eye Center came from private sources, individual and foundations. No government or tax money was used. The Kresge gift was the largest single one for the Center, and Stanley S. Kresge, chairman of the Foundation's board, was in attendance at the dedication as a special guest of the University.

The architectural firm of Six Associates of Asheville, North Carolina was chosen to design the new facility. General contractor for the project was the Robert H. Pinnix Company of Gastonia. The three-story structure was designed in the neo-Gothic style of other new buildings on the campus.

The first floor of the building is devoted to research laboratories, supporting equipment, and service areas including an electron microscope, an ophthalmic x-ray department, a laser operating room, a photography department, conference rooms, and an animal care facility.

The second floor is devoted to clinical space. There is no one large waiting room; rather, each clinic has a small area adjoining it for the use of patients and visitors. Clinics on the second floor include one for the study and detection of malignant tumors in adults, a glaucoma clinic, a retina clinic, and one especially for treatment of children.

The children's clinic is outfitted with equipment to examine and treat congenital eye defects, infantile glaucoma, and inherited eye tumors, and the expanded capability in the new Eye Center has allowed the staff to double the number of children they can treat.

The second floor also contains office space for the seven-member ophthalmology staff, residents, and room for medical students and postdoctoral associates. There are facilities for the fitting of glasses and contact lenses.

Two operating suites and forty-three patient rooms occupy the top floor. Although the rooms are intended for private occupancy, there is an extra bed in each for use by the family of the patients. The practice of having a member of the family stay with the patient is encouraged, especially in cases involving the very young and the elderly.

"The Eye Center was designed as a referral center to examine and treat patients referred from physicians throughout the surrounding areas." Wadsworth stated. "The majority of Eye Center patients return to their homes to be treated locally, with the referring physician fortified by the evaluation obtained at the Eye Center."

In cases involving more serious or advanced stages of eye disease, patients are treated at the Center. Most ophthalmologists and even many medical centers do not have the sophisticated equipment in their offices that is needed to care for patients suffering from ailments such as ocular cancer: the equipment is so expensive and so seldom used that it is only practical to have it in a referral center that can serve a large number of patients from a wide geographical area.

People at the Eye Center have estimated that it will serve over seventeen thousand patients each year with one-third of the patients from Durham County, one-third from the rest of North Carolina, and one-third from other regions of the country.

Training eye doctors is a second aspect of the Center's work. This includes physicians in the intensive three-year ophthalmology training program, students from Duke Medical School, and continuing education program in which practicing ophthalmologists return to the classroom for short periods of time to catch up on the latest diagnostic techniques and research. Continuing education at the Eye Center will take on increased importance as more and more states require that practicing physicians enter a continuing education program in their field of specialization.

Interest in the field of ophthalmology is also increasing: the Eye Center recently had ninety applications for one residency position.

Duke's geographical location—midway between the mountains and coast in North Carolina—provides a unique resource for the Center's researchers. The population in both eastern and western North Carolina has remained stable through several generations, so that these areas offer a population sample with which ophthalmic researchers can conduct thorough investigations of hereditary and familial eye diseases.

Other research at the Center will include testing various treatment techniques for ocular disorders that do not respond to surgery. The research staff, under the direction of Dr. Myron L. Wolbarst, develops new surgical instruments and techniques for inner-eye surgery, including precision instruments that are operated by high-frequency sound. Original research is under way to trace color vision sight impulses from the retina to the central nervous system to determine the causes for abnormal impulse response.

The laser instruments at the eye center are used in all three areas—diagnosis, treatment, and research. Investigations involving the safe levels of laser light that can be tolerated by the human eye are being conducted by Duke scientists at the Eye Center. The results of their experiments will help establish national safety standards for lasers' role in medical technology.

Wadsworth has written, "As the Southeast's first major eye center, the Duke Eye Center will incorporate and advance the best and most sophisticated features of eye centers around the country and the world in its in-patient and out-patient services, in its teaching capacity and in its comprehensive research program."

What To Do When You Meet A Blind Person

There are many ways you can help your blind fellow-workers live their normal lives. Below are a few hints:

If You Walk With Him
Let him take your arm. Don't push him! The motion of your body will tell him what to do.

If You Live or Work With Him
Never leave a door ajar! Keep corridors clear of clutter. Tell him if furniture is moved.

If You Eat With Him
Read the menu and prices to him. If he wants help, cut his meat, fix his coffee, etc. Tell him the position of the food on his plate.

If You Talk With Him
A blind person can hear as well as you, sometimes better. Always talk directly to him, not through his companion.

If He Has a Dog
Remember that the dog is a working dog, not a pet! Don't divert his attention—his master's life depends on his alertness.

If You Seat Him
When showing a blind person to a chair, put his hand on the back. He will be able to seat himself easily.

If He Is Alone
Always identify yourself when entering a room if a blind person is alone. Don't play any "guess who" games!

If You Direct Him
Give directions as clearly as possible. Left or right according to the way he is facing.

Club "50" Totals Report for 1973-74

The following report includes the total monies raised by individual Lions since the 1962-1963 White Cane Drive. In order to accumulate totals a Lion has to raise $50 or more in one drive. Pins are awarded when the Lion accumulates the amount of the pin. As amounts increase pins are farther apart but will be presented when that total is reached; i.e., $500, a 500 pin, next pin is $750 which means $250 more is needed for that pin. Club Secretaries should keep these records and report them to the Association office at the same time the White Cane Drive report is submitted.

My Second Thoughts

Whenever someone mentions that they have donated their eyes to the blind, I think — That's great! Terrific! I really admire you. I think everyone should donate their eyes! What use are they to you after you're dead anyway?

But if someone were to have asked me to donate MY eyes, I would have cringed at the mere thought. Of course everyone should donate their eyes— but me? Although inwardly I would kick myself for being selfish, I couldn't shake the reluctant feeling.

However, after giving it more thought I have come to realize the importance of the gift of sight to someone who has never been able to see.

I've studied the life of Helen Keller in depth, and through my reading, I have felt and been moved by the mystery and ignorance of darkness. How can we know or experience this void? We are spoiled and we take our sight for granted.

For instance, just the other night I came home to find that we had a temporary power failure. I couldn't see to move. If that is any hint of blindness, I want no part of it. It hurts me to think of people living their entire lives this way.

Being an amateur photographer I love the thoughts of sharing all I see. It's hard for me to imagine not ever seeing everyday sights such as my father's face, the house I live in, or the sky.

I wish everyone could see. I think it would be selfishness on my part NOT to let someone use my eyes. Otherwise once I'm dead my eyes will be wasted. Besides, it certainly won't hurt me. I'll never know the difference. And while I'm alive I can have the pleasure of knowing someone new will be able to see and really appreciate the sense of sight.

We need to become aware of how dependent we are on our eyes. Don't just look—but see. Appreciate them and thank God for them. Maybe you haven't got the greatest eyes in the world, but at least you've got some or you wouldn't be reading this.

I will leave nothing to immortalize me. I'm not famous. I'm not rich. I'll just be gone. But by leaving my eyes, a part of me will live on and be helpful.

Luckily most of us will never know the fear, the loneliness, the helplessness of darkness. Please don't waste the light you have! Give someone else a chance to see.

It was a gift to you. Give it to someone else.

Communication—A Necessity for Growth

A Message From the President

IF WE WORK UPON MARBLE IT WILL PERISH. IF WE WORK UPON BRASS TIME WILL EFFACE IT. IF WE REAR TEMPLES THEY WILL CRUMBLE TO DUST. BUT IF WE WORK UPON MEN'S IMMORTAL MINDS, IF WE IMBUE THEM WITH HIGH PRINCIPLES, WITH THE JUST FEAR OF GOD AND LOVE OF THEIR FELLOW MEN, WE ENGRAVE ON THOSE TABLETS SOMETHING WHICH NO TIME CAN EFFACE, AND WHICH WILL BRIGHTEN AND BRIGHTEN TO ALL ETERNITY.—DANIEL WEBSTER

A thermometer . . . hangs on the wall in a place so that it can be easily seen by the occupants of the room and the temperature ascertained. It hangs alone. It has no power to make the room hot or cold. It reflects its environment and adjusts itself to it. A thermostat looks much like a thermometer. It also hangs on the wall, but it has powerful connections. If it is hot, it has ways of making it cooler. If it is cold, it has means by which to make it warm. Instead of being affected by its environment, it changes its environment.

People can be classified into thermometers and thermostats. Thermometer personalities are chameleons, adjusters, compromisers. They always take on the color, climate, morality, and spirituality of the group they are with. They merely reflect their environment. They do nothing to change it. Thermostat personalities are changers, reformers, leaders, transformers. They are not satisfied with the status quo. Things must improve. So, something begins to happen—they have connections. They

Looking at the N. C. Eye and Human Tissue Bank Today

Helen Bunce, Executive Director

Each time I am asked to write an article on eye-banking and the N. C. Eye and Human Tissue Bank, I am filled anew with the wonder of the story as it unfolds in the writing. Being a part of the work has been the most rewarding experience of my life, and being associated with the Lions of Multiple District 31 has given the experience a special meaning that comes only from friendships that have spanned a period of more than forty years. They have been responsible for building the work of the N. C. Eye and Human Tissue Bank to a point that is equalled by no other eye-bank in the world, and our present goal is the retrieval of those eyes that have been pledged to us. This is not going to be an easy task, but with dedication and the continued help of the Lions and the people of North Carolina, it will be done.

The successful corneal transplant operation could not have become a reality without the years of research that went into the effort to find some way to replace a damaged or diseased window to the eye. Research is an area that we hear little about because it is generally carried on behind closed doors by scientists who give their lives working for the betterment of mankind. It lacks the drama that goes with a successful surgical operation, but it is a necessary function that has made possible the surgical operation and its success. For over 175 years it was known that certain diseases damage the body surface, and it was known that certain corneal deformity was congenital, but how to correct the damage was an elusive goal. Answers came, but they came slowly.

By 1877 a German surgeon had successfully transplanted corneas from animals into like species, but due to the complexity of the human eye, which is an extension of the brain, transplanting an animal cornea into the human eye proved to be impossible—and it continues to be an impossibility today. In 1907 an Austrian surgeon, Eduard Zirm, completed what is generally recognized as the first transplantation of a cornea from a human cadaver into a living human being. Even this operation was doomed to eventual failure when, in time, the cornea became opaque as the result of improper tools, inadequate techniques and ineffective antiseptics. Not until the mid 1930s, when antibiotics became available did we begin to enjoy success as we know it today. Research teams then directed their attention toward the improvement of techniques and instruments, making it possible for the recipient to have a better chance surgically and post-operatively.

Progress brought a realization that there was a pressing need for some organizational responsibility to handle a program designed to make the public aware of the need for eye tissue and to maintain a registry for the signed pledge forms that were required for those persons who wished to presign in order for their eyes to be used legally by the surgeons, for preservation or for research.

A number of local citizens in Winston-Salem banded together to answer the need here in North Carolina, and on October 21, 1951 the first meeting of the charter members was held. The Winston-Salem Lions Club donated $1,000 to help launch a campaign to make the public aware of the program, and to give the program its sanction in a positive manner. The three airlines flying out of Winston-Salem at that time (Piedmont, Eastern and Capital) donated their services and issued orders that the eyes in their care be kept iced and placed in the personal care of the flight attendants until they reached their destinations.

The first state-wide action by the Lions came in the form of a resolution that was presented by State Secretary Norman Trueblood to the 31st State Convention of the Lions of Multiple District 31. The resolution asked that the Lions endorse the program and the work being done by the N. C. Eye-Bank for Restoring Sight, Inc.

In June of 1958, the N. C. Association for the Blind agreed to give the sum of $2,000 to the Eye-Bank which, in turn, would transfer the amount to Dr. Frederick Stocker who was carrying on a research program at the Chapel Hill Memorial Hospital. Also, in June of 1958 the Association agreed to supplement a gift from a foundation to bring the total amount up to $4,000 should the foundation's gift be less than that figure. On June 10, 1958 a resolution was passed in Southern Pines by the Lions of Multiple District 31 to the effect that an eye-bank chairman from each district in North Carolina be appointed to promote the eye-bank's work in his respective district, and that each district chairman be in charge of collecting $1 per Lion on a voluntary basis.

In 1961 a resolution was presented by the State Council recommending that the Lions State Convention assembled, and if favorably received, to the N. C. Association for the Blind, that the Association financially support the Eye-Bank on the basis of $1 per member and the support be included in the annual White Cane fund raising program in one united effort. This resolution was passed at the Lions State Convention and in August of 1961 it was presented to the N. C. Association for the Blind, and it was accepted unanimously with the stipulation that a committee report back within a year as to the effectiveness of combining the two drives and to give the Association a chance to determine if the arrangement was to be a permanent one. The arrangement did prove to be beneficial in all respects, and support from the Association has continued to increase through the years.

In 1967 funds for the purchase of a building site for the Eye-Bank Administration Building was secured through a local foundation, and following two years of fund raising the construction of the present building was begun. It was completed in 1967 and was dedi-

CANES AND RADIOS

One of the many services of the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind is supplying radios and white canes to the blind and visually handicapped citizens of North Carolina. With the assistance of Lions and Social Workers 650 canes and 155 radios have been distributed since July 1, 1974.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

do their human part, but they also send an impulse—a prayer to God—to the powerhouse above. Thermostats get things done!

Lions can be classified as thermostats. . .

LIONS GET THINGS DONE!
ESPECIALLY N. C. LIONS!

This year has been the best ever. More goals have been reached—more projects consummated—more services rendered than ever before in the history of our great Lions Association for the Blind. Despite the economy, the Lions of North Carolina continue to be sensitive to the needs of the blind and visually handicapped. It has been a great and wonderful experience for me to serve as your President. Thank you for your confidence and support and for every courtesy and consideration shown. As for me—it has been a labor of love.

cated on Saturday, June 17. None of the funds for the building were solicited from the Lions. The N. C. Eye-Bank Board of Directors felt that the Lions were contributing toward our work, and should be spared the responsibility of helping finance the construction of the building.

The functions and scope of the Bank continued to grow, and the staff was increased to handle the vast amount of detail and paperwork that was involved. The momentum increased, and with this increase it became necessary to seek additional aid from ophthalmologists, hospitals, morticians along with the cooperation and understanding of the deceased's next-of-kin at the time of the donor's death. The latter is the most vital to the retrieval of the eyes. There is no doubt that a hospital will do all possible to cooperate when a family insists that the wishes of the deceased be carried out.

The responsibility to the eye donor prompted the search for additional means of retrieving eye tissue, and in 1971 Senate Bill No. 502 was passed, allowing licensed embalmers to be trained and certified to remove eyes. Three classes have been held thus far, and another will be held in April of 1975. The Legislative Research Commission, on October 4, 1974, recommended for adoption by the General Assembly, an increase in the number of people qualified to enucleate eyes. The recommendation includes, along with licensed embalmers, registered and licensed practical nurses, and third and fourth year medical students who are enrolled in medical schools in this State. If the recommendation is adopted, there is no doubt that an increase in donor eye tissue will result.

The retrieval of eyes continues to be our primary function, but in 1969 our charter was enlarged to allow us to increase our activities to include the registration of the entire body and any of its parts. This was done in order to keep in step with the progress that is being made in the area of human tissue transplantation and the research that makes it possible.

The Lions have played a major part in educating the public, especially in making it aware of the methods of

Club "50" Totals Report for 1974-75

The following report includes the total monies raised by individual Lions since the 1962-1963 White Cane Drive. In order to accumulate totals a Lion has to raisee $50 or more in one year. Pins awarded when the Lion accumulates the amount of the pin. As amounts increase pins are farther apart but will be presented when that total is reached; i.e., $500, a 500 pin, next pin is $750 which means $250 more is needed for that pin. Club Secretaries should keep these records and report them to the Association office at the same time the White Cane Drive report is submitted.

Executive Director's Report

As we enter the final month of the 1974-75 Association year we note with pride that the first eleven months have been months of progress. There have been more people using the facilities at Camp Dogwood, both as summer campers and as weekend groups, than ever before. The new dormitory built by the Lions in District 31-B has helped tremendously in caring for these increased numbers. A new gateway, to be constructed at the entrance to the Camp during the summer of 1975, will add much to the beauty of that area. The caretaker's home has undergone major renovation with the addition of a new heating system, insulation, storm windows, sheet rock and numerous minor improvements. Applications for the 1975 summer camping season are coming in at a record pace. From all indications this will be the greatest season ever.

In Glaucoma-Diabetic screening we expect to set new records in the number of people screened. From all indications the total number screened in both mass and permanent clinics could easily reach 25,000 by the end of this fiscal year. Eight mass clinics have been held and all have been very well attended.

Applications for Association scholarships by the sighted children of blind parents are at an all time high. The Scholarship Committee has approved applications for twenty three students for next year and some additional applications have been received since the Committee met.

The Association has had numerous requests for emergency help for blind persons this year. These emergencies are generally funded from our Unspecified Services Fund and cover requests for money to meet rent payments, doctor bills, emergency surgery, groceries and many, many other things.

During this year the Association has produced new brochures on both the Association and Camp Dogwood. Copies of the brochures may be obtained by writing the Association Office. In addition to the new brochures we are in the process of producing a new 16 millimeter motion picture on Association activities. Hopefully the film will be completed in the next few months and will be available for showing to Clubs throughout the State.

Robert E. Spencer

I will not attempt to review the activities of all of the Committees in this report. You will recall that three years ago we began the practice of publishing the Committee reports in a separate publication and making it available for distribution at the State Lions Convention. These reports will go into considerable detail concerning the activities of each of the standing committees. Anyone wishing a copy of the Committee Reports may obtain one by writing the Association Office.

As you plan your programs for the new year, please keep in mind that the Association Office can supply you with a number of excellent speakers covering a wide range of topics. Please feel free to call on us if you need help.

pledging to the N. C. Eye & Human Tissue Bank. There are, as of February 1975, 117,895 pledges on file, and they continue to come in through the efforts of the Lions who give programs, set up booths in shopping centers, fairs, etc. Soliciting pledges should be done with utmost tact and diplomacy, because the donation of one's body tissue is a very serious step for a person to take. The person soliciting the pledge is a representative of the N. C. Eye & Human Tissue Bank, and the impression that he leaves is a reflection on this organization, and at all times there must be dignity and understanding.

There is no way that we can judge what lies in the future for this humanitarian project, but the N. C. Lions can be assured that they have played a major role in making possible the gift of sight and the gift of life to their fellowman. There is no way that adequate expressions of deep and sincere appreciation can be spoken that will compensate for the goodness and concern that have been poured into this organization by the Lions of Multiple District 31.

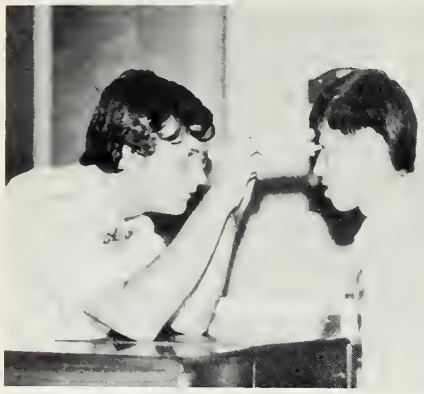
LIONS AND LADIES HOLD GARAGE SALE

The Fayetteville Lions and Lady Lions Clubs sponsored a mammoth garage and baked goods sale. The gigantic sale was followed by an old fashioned auction. This Lions Club event was held at the Lions Civic Center on Rowan Street. All proceeds went to the Blind, Youth Activities fund, and various other Lions Club projects.

Western N. C. Lions Eye Screening Program

The Western North Carolina Lions Eye Screening Program continues to function in a very effective manner. Cooperative programs have been developed at the County level involving the local Lions Clubs, County Health Departments, local Departments of Social Services and the public schools. The Mobile Unit is scheduled full time for the last half of the 1974-75 fiscal year.



Past District Governor Robert R. Barnes, President of the W.N.C. Lions, Inc., appointed a committee of Lions members to work out the schedule in conformity with the needs of the local Clubs. It is the objective for the fiscal year 1974-75 to screen approximately 10,000 children. The rate of referrals as a result of the screening program has been running at approximately 8 per cent; however, it is evident that the screening and sight conservation programs in Western North Carolina have been most effective in finding children with eye defects at an early age, as the percentage of referrals is decreasing.

The 45 Lions Clubs are contributing $3.50 per member per year for the cost of the Mobile Screening Program. This is matched by a $5,000 annual appropriation from the N. C. Lions Association for the Blind. This has been a cooperative program from the very beginning, with the local Lions raising the necessary initial funds to purchase the Mobile Unit at a cost of approximately $6,000.

There are presently in operation 10 eye clinics in District 31-A. These clinics were all equipped by the Lions and the N. C. Lions Association for the Blind on a 50/50 matching basis. Many of the referrals from the Screening Program from indigent families are given complete eye examinations through the Lions eye clinics. The Asheville Lions eye clinic continues to serve as the hub of the program. Indigent persons with complicated eye problems are followed up through the Asheville Lions eye clinic with most of the surgery being performed in Asheville.

JACK LUPER DIES IN PLANE CRASH

Jack Luper, a member of the Rocky Mount Luncheon Lions Club, was killed in an airplane accident off the North Carolina coast in August of 1974. "Oh, yes, sir!"

"Good! Don't forget—what we need most around here is brains and energy."

"Oh, yes, sir; I haven't been here long but I've noticed that already."

Glaucoma—Diabetes Screening Clinics

Mass screening clinics were scheduled to be held in eight locations during 1974-75. The results of five clinics are shown below. The three clinics scheduled to be held after press time were: Wilmington, April 29, 1975; Stokes County, May 4, 1975; and Union County, May 31, 1975. One additional permanent clinic will soon be in operation in Guilford County. During the first three quarters of the year, the permanent clinics have screened 18,560 people and have brought 293 to treatment.

WESTERN NORTH CAROLINA LIONS CONTINUE FUND RAISING DRIVE FOR THE MARJORIE McCUNE MEMORIAL CENTER FOR THE BLIND

The Lions of District 31-A, composed of 45 Lions Clubs representing a membership of approximately 1,500, have committed $75,000 from Club treasury funds to the Marjorie McCune Memorial Center for the Blind.

The fund raising drive will be continued during the year 1975. Approximately $95,000 in funds have been committed from corporations, businesses and individuals. A 5-acre tract of land has been purchased from the State of North Carolina located near W.N.C. Hospital. This is an ideal location for a home for the blind due to its proximity to the State, District and Regional offices of the Department of Human Resources.

The W.N.C. Lions hope to break ground during the year 1975, with completion date the early part of 1976. The Home will serve approximately 30 blind persons. The grounds will be landscaped with fragrant plants along the trails winding through the trees. Plants will be identified by Braille markers. A picnic area will serve not only the people residing at the home, but the other blind of the community as well. This Home will be the headquarters of all of W.N.C. Lions activities, including the Mobile Screening Unit.

The Lions of 31-A are very enthusiastic about this project and have dedicated themselves to the fulfillment of Mrs. McCune's dream of a "Happy Home for the Blind."

ABOUT THE COVER: The new logo shown on the cover has been adopted for the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind. The half dark eye at the top not only represents our affiliation with the North Carolina Eye and Human Tissue Bank, but the entire field of work with the blind and preservation of sight. The Dogwood blossom at the bottom represents Camp Dogwood, our Camp for the blind. The NCLAB across the middle stands for North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind. The Lions emblem in the center illustrates that Lions and Lions Clubs are at the center of all our activities. Without the help and support of North Carolina Lions, the Association could not operate.

Helen and "Tiny" Have Special Kind of Communication

By Bruce Smith

Reprinted from "Herald," Sanford, N. C.

A life of blindness can be confining, but not when you have a friend who can always be counted on to be at your side.

Helen G. Womack has such a friend, and she literally puts her life into her friend's hands—or, paws—every single day.

Helen has been blind most of her life, and her trusted friend is Tiny, a 22-month-old German Shepherd leader dog.

Helen was born with myopia which progressed to total blindness, complicated by diabetes and an automobile accident.

"Having mobility is like having a new life," said Helen as she walked, surefooted, down Charlotte Avenue recently with Tiny at her side.

She got Tiny six weeks ago at the Lions Club Leader Dog School in Rochester, Michigan, which is also where she went to learn to handle Tiny.

Thanks to members of the Sanford Lions Club, including Sam Profio, E. W. Utley, and Hal Siler, her trip to and from Rochester and her stay there were free of charge. The dog is also a gift from the Lions Club, for which Helen says she will be forever grateful.

Everything hasn't been exactly smooth sailing though. Helen lives in the federally funded senior citizens housing project, Matthews Court, and it is against the rules to have a dog.

However, Eunice Rives, supervisor of the project, went to work and obtained permission for Helen to keep Tiny at Matthews Court.

Tiny and Helen have their own special form of communication. By moving her body in certain ways, Tiny tells Helen of an upcoming curb or obstruction.

While walking down Charlotte Avenue, Tiny promptly stopped at curbs, watched for the traffic, and even maneuvered Helen around a messy mud hole, for which the dog received affectionate praise.

The meshing of woman and her dog seems complete, with each having absolute faith and trust in the other.

"It is just wonderful to be able to get out and go places," said Helen.

SIMPLE TAX FORM

An accountant has submitted to the internal revenue department his idea for a simplified tax form. His suggested form reads:

1. How much did you make?
2. How much did you spend?
3. What have you left?
4. Send it in.

SOME STATISTICS

1,300,000 Americans are functionally blind — they cannot read this type, even with glasses.

Cataracts cost Americans $500 million each year in hospital, medical and surgical expenses.

80 percent of all blindness in the U.S. is the result of unpreventable eye diseases.

Over 500,000 major surgical procedures are performed on eyes in the U.S. each year.

Macular degeneration is the leading cause of blindness among the elderly.

At least 60,000 people in the U.S. are legally blind as a result of diabetes.

More than one-third of all blindness in the U.S. is caused by retinal diseases.

At the present rate, 500,000 more Americans will become blind in the next decade.

The annual cost of blindness to the nation is more than two and one-half billion dollars.

The Fayetteville Lions Club celebrated the "Lions World Service Day" by collecting some 250 pairs of glasses at Pope Air Force Base.

ers Lumber Company in Rural Hall, N. C., was with his associates appraising a track of timber. While walking through the woods a limb hit him in the eye and he was immediately taken to a doctor. His eye was injured and he had to wear a patch on this eye for several days. The eye healed without any damage to his vision. This started him to thinking about the people who could not see, or were in the shadows of darkness. He decided that he could help these people by talking to his friends and business associates about donating their eyes to the Eye Bank. He secured his first eye will around the 15th of December 1972. In a short period of fourteen months he secured 500 eye wills. This is an accomplishment unknown to anyone in this area, for such a short period of time.

One of the first eye wills he secured was from an elderly man he had known all his life. This man died a short time after he signed the pledge, and his eyes were inoculated. The cornea of both eyes were used for a transplant. Both transplants were successful. Now two people can see who were in darkness before. Lion Wilson feels very humble about this, and is also very happy that two people he does not know can now see the beauty of the earth created by God. He said, "This one instance has repaid me for all the time I have spent talking to people about donating their eyes."

Mt. Pleasants Lady Lions Conduct Screening Program

Mrs. Helen Hurlocker wrote the name of each child on a little fish.

In February of 1972 more than a dozen Mt. Pleasant women volunteers, wives of Lions Club members, participated in a training program to learn to conduct a pre-school vision screening program for kindergarten-aged children.

The purpose of the project is to find children with "Lazy-Eye," or Amblyopia, and other vision defects.

A chart for these pre-schoolers uses the letter "E" in lines of graduated sizes, with the open end of the letter pointed in various directions similar to "table legs."

The child holds his arm up, horizontal, down to the right or left to indicate direction of the "table legs."

Chris Krimminger stood on the magic feet while being screened by Mrs. Mary Hammill.

The parents are notified if screening indicates some visual difficulties. It is then the parents' responsibility to take the child to a doctor of their choice.

The period is crucial for the treatment of some serious eye problems. It is unsafe, therefore, when danger signals are observed to wait and see if the child will outgrow visual difficulties.

Often when parents become aware of their child's problems it is too late to correct it. This is why the Lions Club is offering the screening clinic.

The project is under the guidance of an Advisory Committee consisting of representatives of various professions. The program has the approval of local opthalmologists, pediatricians, health authorities, and the county medical society.

The Lioness volunteers have just completed their fourth year of screening the St. John's Lutheran Church Kindergarten.

Mrs. Barbara Fink prepared records of the children being screened.

Each March an open screening is held at the Mt. Pleasant Elementary School for children ages 3 to 6 in the Mt. Pleasant School District. This is a free clinic. A total of 700 hours have been devoted to this project.

The volunteers say it is gratifying to feel that they in some way may have helped someone to see the beauty of the world more clearly.

Bequests and Memorial Gifts

"No matter what your age or job in life, you are more maure if you have found a 'cause' in which to invest your time and money for some social good," wrote Dr. William Menninger. "Through it you can achieve an outstanding characteristic of emotional maturity—the ability to find satisfaction in giving."

Informed men and women know that their influence in this world does not end with their death. They know that their influence will continue to bear fruit in the lives of their children, in the institutions and organizations in which they have become involved and helped build, and in scores of other ways.

One way that will perpetuate one's influence is through the distribution of one's estate. After providing for the dependents, provision can be made for the N. C. Eye & Human Tissue Bank's work for the visually impaired persons who need eye tissue and for those whose lives can be saved through the retrieval and availability of other body tissues.

Truly making a will is an act of love. We are stewards of God's gifts, and in making a will we have the chance to exercise responsibility over even the last of our material resources and in so doing demonstrate our gratitude for all the blessings of this life.

Memorial gifts to the N. C. Eye & Human Tissue Bank will give comfort to the family of the deceased, who knows that a contribution to this organization carries on the wonderful work in the field of tissue transplantation.

FONTANA DAM LIONS ALL LIFE MEMBERS OF ASSOCIATION

Every member of the Fontana Dam Lions Club is a Life Member of the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind. Perhaps one of the few, if not the only, Lions Clubs in the State with this remarkable record. The Club has won statewide White Cane Drive awards for many years. White Cane funds are raised during the tourist season. Government Service, Inc., a non-profit corporation that operates Fontana Village Resort, has given the Lions Club complete control of the bingo concession with 100 per cent of the profits going into work for the blind. In addition, the Club is co-sponsor with the Robbinsville Lions Club of the Mike Brown Bear Meat Dinner held annually by District 31-A Lions.

Jimmy Sloane Gets a Job

BY KITTY LEACH
of the Fayetteville Times Staff

Jimmy Sloane has been blind since he was born.

Sloane's biggest concern, however, is not his inability to see. The biggest problem, he said in an interview last month, has been his inability to get a job and to earn his own living.

That is what he wanted more than anything else, but that is what he couldn't get — at least, not until last week.

Last week, Sloane went into business for himself. In street vendor fashion, he is now operating a sidewalk stand beside the Cumberland County Courthouse door on Franklin Street.

It is, in the purest sense, a dream come true for young Sloane.

A month ago, he had said, "I want people to appreciate what I can do because I can DO it, not because I'm blind." He added, in reference to a steady job, "If I'm given a chance, I'm sure I can do it."

Yesterday, at the official opening of his sidewalk vending stand, he stood calmly before a crowd of well-wishers who had gathered to watch the ribbon-cutting ceremony.

He sold his first soft drinks and cigars to Fayetteville Lions Club members who made up a large part of the crowd on his first official day of business. The Lions Club is sponsoring Sloane in his new venture.

The small building which houses the concession was built by the Lions Club a number of years ago to be used as a selling stand. The county gave permission for it to be built beside the courthouse, spokesmen said.

For a while, there was no one to operate the stand. Then along came Sloane. And in the first hour of business yesterday, he had already sold out of cokes.

Prior to the opening, he spent a week operating the stand on a trial basis. He had to find out if he really could do the job.

A business which involves an exchange of money and goods presents obvious problems for a blind person. How could he make change from a dollar? How could he tell the difference in a pack of Winstons and a pack of Salems?

With one exception, Sloane found a way to handle these problems during his trial week of operation.

He can make change as easily as a sighted person. Not only does he have the various coins arranged by drawers, he can readily distinguish the difference between coins by touch.

Lion President Harold McRainey and Jimmy Sloane.

Lion Charles Driver, Jimmy Sloane and Lion President Harold McRainey.

As for being able to give a person the brand of cigarettes he asks for, that isn't a problem either. Every item in Sloane's stand is labeled in braille. A touch with his fingers instantly tells him what brand he is about to pick up.

The only transaction Sloane can't make that a sighted person can is in the exchange of bills. It is not possible for him to tell the difference between a five- and a ten-dollar bill. Therefore, customers are asked to pay for their purchase with nothing larger than a dollar bill.

Other than that, Sloane expects smooth sailing in his long-awaited chance to work every day, earn a living and have the independence most people take for granted.

The sidewalk stand, which offers sandwiches, soft drinks, cigarettes, gum and aspirin among other things, will be opened daily from 8:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m., according to its new proprietor.

In his own evaluation of his new job, Sloane said, "I'd rather be doing this than anything else." The only thing that worries him as he anticipates tomorrow and the next day is the hurried pace most people keep. He only hopes when people stop at the stand, they won't be "in too big of a hurry."

The District 31-B Dormitory was dedicated during Ceremonies held at Camp Dogwood on Sunday May 30, 1976.

President's Report

In everyone's life there comes a time for accounting of progress made. Now is the time in the life of the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind for this to be done.

Now is the time for us to reflect on our use of our time and talents as far as Lionism is concerned. Have we helped the blind and handicapped as we should? Have we put our best efforts in the projects our clubs have had? Have we invited others to join us as members of our Lions Clubs?

I hope the Association for the Blind has challenged all Lions in our state to do more for the blind and visually handicapped than they have done before.

All the committees were very active during the year. They used past plans of other committees and instituted new ideas and projects for this year. All have done an outstanding job.

The Blind and Sight Service Committee had a tremendous job in planning their work and then judging it. Through their efforts more direct help was given to the blind.

Budget and Finance Committee members were faithful to their duties. They had several called meetings. One meeting was not very pleasant when about $10,000 was cut from the budget when it was anticipated that enough funds were not coming in. They hope to be able to give all of these agencies more funds before June 30, 1976.

Camp Dogwood had its greatest year in its life. Attendance was up, enthusiasm very high and the counselors and staff did an outstanding job at the camp. May 30, 1976 was another red-letter day at Camp Dogwood when the District 31-B Cottage was dedicated.

A new and satisfying project was completed by the Camp Dogwood Fund-Raising Committee. Tickets were sold on TV sets and given away at Raleigh Lions Clinic for the Blind, Inc.

PHYSICAL FACILITY

Construction of a 15,000+ square foot addition to the Raleigh Lions Clinic for the Blind, Inc. began following ground breaking ceremonies held September 22, 1975. This addition will increase the size of the Clinic by approximately one-third and will free nearly 6,000 square feet of existing warehouse space to meet expanded production demands. Construction has proceeded on schedule with more than one-fourth of the masonry work now complete. Barring weather delays, the building addition should be ready for occupancy in early June 1976. This expansion will be utilized for warehouse space and will include a fire-walled foam storage area, mechanical room, and a loading platform with provisions for a sealed loading dock. In addition, construction has been designed to allow for a future second story expansion as it becomes necessary.

Warehouse Addition

The original physical plant completed in September 1971 contains 48,000 square feet of space and is located on a 2.55 acre lot at the corner of South Saunders Street and Hubert Street. This initial facility included a 15,000 square foot two-story section housing administration offices, medical testing facilities and rehabilitation services as well as a 33,000 square foot one-story section containing the Simulated Training Department, the Sewing and Pillow Department, the Wood Shop, the Screen Printing Department, the Assembly Department and a warehouse. Both the existing facility and the new addition are constructed of reinforced steel, brick and block; incorporate all modern fire and safety devices; and are architectural barrier free.

SERVICES

Since the establishment of the Raleigh Lions Clinic for the Blind, Inc. on January 30, 1967 by the Raleigh (Host) Lions Club, the Clinic, through a cooperative effort with the North Carolina Division of Services for the Blind, has rendered evaluation and adjustment services designed to prepare visually handicapped individuals from the 100 counties of North Carolina to reach their maximum potential for gainful employment. Twenty percent of all persons who have received services have no useful vision, and the remaining 80 percent have visual disabilities which prove to be a significant barrier to employment in the industrial labor market. During the period January 30, 1967 through December 31, 1975, a total of 2,106 persons were evaluated; and of that number, 825 individuals participated in some phase of training in the workshop.

The Raleigh Lions Clinic for the Blind, Inc. was approved for accreditation by the National Accreditation Council in May 1974. Services provided by the Clinic include:

1. Evaluation of work potential from a social, vocational, medical and psychological standpoint.
2. Adjustment services which include utilization of an industrial setting as a framework within which work adjustment programs are planned and implemented to assist clients in overcoming inadequate work habits, skills or tolerances in order to reach their vocational potential.
3. Training for employment in such areas as sewing and woodwork.
4. Sheltered employment provided on a limited basis for clients who experience difficulty competing in the industrial labor market.

Of those individuals who have received services during the facility's first 107 months of operation, 1,079 were placed in gainful employment. An additional 863 persons are still involved in some aspect of the rehabilitation process and will be candidates for employment following the completion of their educational or vocational training program.

In order to provide an industrial setting and offer realistic vocational training and work experience to the clients in the work adjustment program, the workshop is engaged in a variety of areas of endeavor. The Raleigh Lions Clinic for the Blind, Inc. manufactures flake polyurethane pillows for the federal government in addition to products sold to commercial wholesalers

Whiteville Lions Sponsor Biennial Merchants-Farmers Exposition

By Wray Thompson

The Whiteville Lions Club Merchants-Farmers Exposition is to Columbus County what the county fair is to most rural communities.

It is a large undertaking for the 85 members and therefore it is only staged biennially. When the November 13-15, 1975, extravaganza came to an end, the tired Lions turned deaf ears to people who proposed the Exposition become an annual event.

Through Columbus County depends heavily on agriculture, even being dubbed by some as "The Garden Spot of the Carolinas," industry is on the upswing, especially in the areas of textiles and forest products.

Because of the combination of these factors, the Merchants-Farmers Exposition takes on a rural flavor, for it is the farmers' sons and daughters who man the mills.

Festivities are rather rare in Columbus, except for community fund raising projects such as fish fries, chicken bogs and oyster roasts. Therefore, the Expo has become important as an eagerly anticipated time for entertainment, education, and plain old get-togethers.

Whiteville Lions began planning the 1975 Expo in September. The publicity chairmen were Dr. Jerry Paschal and C. P. (Smoke) Wayne. Committees were hard at work in early October when major problems began to surface. One of the largest was the fact that the Columbus County Warehouse, the traditional home of the Expo, was still being used for tobacco auctions with the end of the longest selling season in history not yet in sight.

Bill Brooks had already sold 80 booths to be installed in the 1½ acre warehouse, so his campaign slowed down and there was even talk about possible cancellation, despite the fact that Lt. Jim Hunt, Miss North Carolina and other big names had accepted Dignitary Chairman Sankey Robinson's invitation to come.

In late October the "problem" was eliminated when Warehouse Owner Dial Gray, Sr. announced that he would cease sales on November 4. The Lions recommitted themselves and shifted all committees into high gear.

Inside the Warehouse

Past year's experience made them realize that commitments for bands, entertainers, exhibitors, and other elements of the Expo Hall and parade, required a lot of time and persuasion, and here they were already behind schedule. But due to the ferver of the Bicentennial mood, acceptances and commitments flowed in fast. Executive Secretary Ann Small of the Greater Whiteville Chamber of Commerce and Lions Parade Chairman John St. George, invoked a crash program to line up the kick-off Expo parade with a Bicentennial theme.

The week of November 10 the Lions virtually deserted their families in the evenings for duty at the warehouse. It was not unusual to see bank executives laying out electrical wiring, an insurance representative wielding a handsaw to construct the stage, the city's monument maker pushing a broom to make (and keep) the place sanitary and a teacher helping out with booth-building.

Later they gave His Honor, the Mayor Horace Whitley, a more dignified job of guarding the doors and taking up tickets, but School Superintendent Paschal was saddled with car-parking and Dr. A. G. Floyd was given the completely unmedical assignment of selling candles.

On Thursday afternoon crowds lined the streets of the 1½ mile parade route. At the starting point parade officials were in a dither because Miss North Carolina had not arrived. Five minutes before move-off, Miss North Carolina's chauffeur sped away in search of her and seconds after he left she arrived. With Miss North Carolina perched in a shanghaied vehicle, the parade moved out — on time with Chief of Police Ron Cooper's cruiser clearing the way.

Later, called the most successful parade ever held in the county seat, two bizarre incidents occurred. A seven-foot "gorilla" frightened parade watchers. When the North Carolina Bicentennial Marching Unit fired muskets in front of the Waccamaw Bank building, employees reportedly wilted to the floor in anticipation of armed robbery.

Shortly after the Expo Hall opened at 6 p.m. and the welcome had been made, the place was wall-to-wall with people. It was soon obvious that there was too much to be seen in the 120 booths on a single visit, so many made it a three night event and enjoyed a different program of entertainment every evening.

Everyone had fun. The Lions made some money for their humanitarian projects and it became a memorable event to mark the Bicentennial of the American Revolution.

"All in all, it was a good time for everyone involved. Not only was there time to view displays and hear the entertainment, but also time to chat with friends and renew old acquaintances.

"A tip of the hat to the Whiteville Lions for sponsoring another fabulous Expo and to all businesses and organizations. who added so much in making this year's event such a special one."

On his deathbed, a prominent manufacturer named six loan officers to be his pall bearers. He explained that they had carried him for so long already that they might as well finish the job!

CANDLER LIONS ONE TO ONE SERVICE MOST EFFECTIVE

Four years ago, the Social Worker for the Blind in Buncombe County asked Lion Glenn Leatherwood, Sr. and his Lioness to assume responsibility for volunteer services to Mrs. Hattie Reece of Candler, North Carolina. Mrs. Reece, a 93 year old blind lady, lived alone in a two-room cabin located on a steep bank. She was too independent and proud to request help from neighbors or to admit that her failing health and blindness were closing in on her, and endangering her personal safety and well-being.

Mrs. Leatherwood began by removing some of the fire hazards within and outside the house, and attempting to make the home more comfortable. A refrigerator was secured for Mrs. Reece through the Candler Lions Club. Since there is no running water in the Reece home, Mrs. Leatherwood has washed Mrs. Reece's clothing for the last four years. The Leatherwoods helped in obtaining surplus foods and food stamps for Mrs. Reece, and delivered them to her. Mrs. Leatherwood accompanied Mrs. Reece to the grocery store twice a month, and took her shopping for clothing. Mrs. Leatherwood mended clothing, bought special foods, and took home-baked goods to Mrs. Reece each time she visited the home. Mr. Leatherwood supplied wood for her cook stove. Mrs. Reece has been a hospital patient four times. Mr. Leatherwood has provided her transportation to and from the hospital as well as to her private physician.

Mrs. Reece in front of her home.

Mrs. Reece has manifested her appreciation to the Leatherwoods and the Candler Lions Club in many ways. She has expressed her thanks for the privilege to have real ice in her tea, and to enjoy fresh vegetables, meats, and fruits preserved in her refrigerator. Crawling along on the steep embankment with a hoe, Mrs. Reece made a garden until last summer when old age and illness forced her to enter a nursing home. She has no relatives, so the Leatherwoods helped her in finding a licensed facility in Black Mountain.

Mrs. Reece insisted on contributing $25.00 to the "Home for the Blind," and is one of the clients used in the slide program presented by Lions to clinic groups.

NEW ASSOCIATION PRESIDENT IS AN ACTIVE LION

At the General Membership meeting of the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind held in Goldsboro on March 7, 1976, Lion Clyde M. Stutts, of Welcome, North Carolina, was elected President for 1976-77. Lion Clyde will take office on July 1, 1976.

A ten year member of the Welcome Lions Club, Lion Clyde has served many offices in his club and district and served District 31-E as Governor during 1970-71. He was educated in the Davidson County Schools and graduated from Midway High School. Lion Stutts served in the U.S. Navy from 1940 to 1951 obtaining the rating of Chief Gunners Mate. He has a degree in electrical engineering and is employed as a sub-agent for the T.F. Farmer Company of Greensboro. He is a member of the Yadkin Valley Methodist Church which he has served as Church Lay-leader, Assistant Church School Superintendent and teacher of the Young Adult Sunday School Class.

He is married to the former Kathryn Elaine Miller of Johnson City, Tennessee. He has one daughter, Charlotte Kaye Stutts.

Following his year as District Governor, Lion Stutts became actively involved in work with the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind. During 1971-72 he served as statewide Glaucoma-Diabetes Chairman. Several new on-going clinics were started and mass clinics were held in many sections of the State. Both on-going and mass clinics screened more persons than ever before. During 1972-73 Lion Clyde served as Chairman of the Statewide Committee on Work for the Blind (now the Blind and Sight Service). During the 1973-75 period Lion Clyde served as State White Cane Director. One of the few persons to serve in this capacity for two years. In 1975 he was elected Second Vice-President of the Association.

BLIND BOWLING IS GREAT!

During the course of any one year, a few outings are planned and held for all V.I.P.'S in Alamance County. Participation is great and enjoyed by all; but the time "in between" was a problem. True, there were and are special handicraft classes for the V.I.P'S, but too few really participated. It was noted by Pat Yarbrough, Social Services Worker for the Blind, that other than special outings, there was not enough participation. The lack of self-confidence, coordination, and "in a shell" attitude prevailed. How to instill enthusiasm and the desire to "want to participate" was the problem.

Pat Yarbrough came to the Burlington Lions Club with the challenge "how about a Blind Bowling League?" Could one be sponsored on trial basis to see what happens? Initially with Lion Jim Smith, Lion Hayes Brooks, Lion Bill Perkins, Lion "Bugs" Laughon, and Lion George Walker from the Burlington Club backing the idea, the Alamance V.I.P.'S Bowling league was born. At the same time Lion Boyd Payne put the idea to the Graham Lions so that it would be a joint effort. The sponsorship was approved and so it began.

Between the two clubs financial backing was obtained. The Blind Bowling League was formed under the auspices of the South Eastern Blind Bowling League. A team consisted of 2 V.I.P.'S and one sighted bowler. This now composed of five teams. The V.I.P.'S also raised money through a bake sale and handicraft sale, in addition to money provided by both Lions Clubs.

Results: FANTASTIC! Enthusiasm was on a rampage! Desire—100% plus! Coordination and Self-confidence — Unreal! There had been about 180° turnabout in personalities!

To watch the excitement transpire when a "spare" or "strike" was made was unbelievable. "Gutter Balls" were predominant but the "come back" was great. To watch a blind person listen to the action of the ball at the other end of the alley and get a "spare" or "strike," the look of accomplishment on the face of a V.I.P. is worth it all!

Progress was beyond all expectations. The "War Cry" was "on to Richmond" for the Southeastern Tournament of Blind Bowlers. Through the Blind Bowlers and help from the two Lions Clubs this was accomplished.

Results: One V.I.P. tied for Second Place in the Tournament.
Two V.I.P.'S in the top 15 in doubles.
One V.I.P. female in the top 20 singles.
One V.I.P. in the top 10 overall aggregate.

How great it was to see this happen!

The "Battle Cry" was now "on to the Chicago Nationals". Through pen sales, supplemented by a beef for a prize, practically all the money was raised for about 11 V.I.P.'S to go. Again the Lions Clubs came to the rescue with a small amount. Active Lions that are sighted bowlers and have given much of their time are Lion Hayes Brooks and Lion Ronnie Rudd of the Burlington Club and Lion Boyd Payne of the Graham Club. These are to be commended.

I urge all Lions Clubs to get involved with this type of activity. The rewards are unmeasurable. The participating Lions of each club can verify this and how great it is. Every ball I see rolled down the "alley" has a little bit of me with it and I shout with joy each time. If you ask me about Blind Bowling, I'm going to always say — Blind Bowling Is Great!

the Mid-Winter Conventions. Over $17,000 was raised for the camp this way. The chairman and all committee members are to be congratulated. Special thanks to all Lions for taking part in this project.

The Constitution and By-Laws Committee has presented several resolutions to the board and have several more under advisement. They have been very active.

The Eye and Human Tissue Bank Committee showed great enthusiasm for their work. Eye wills came in at a rapid pace. More eyes were saved and more people able to see because of their work.

Our Glaucoma-Diabetes Clinic and Sight Conservation Committee in cooperation with the Lions Clubs conducted an increased number of clinics. The work of this committee in the clubs will prevent many persons from becoming blind.

The Long Range Planning Committee, along with the Budget Committee and the Executive Committee of the Association, visited several of the recipients of grants from the Association. All were impressed with the work being done. There was only one regret —that there was not more funds available for their special work.

The Property Committee had several long and tedious meetings discussing the future building plans of the Association and Camp Dogwood. The Belk Dormitory is to be remodeled as quick as possible. Three mobile homes are to be put on the grounds in temporary positions. Plans for an addition to the main building were discussed and drawn up. We will hear a lot more from them in the very near future.

The Public Information Committee did an outstanding job of getting information out to all clubs and Lions. The new film was seen by thousands and it should be used for years to come to tell the story of the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind and its great work.

For the first time the Scholarship Committee had more requests for grants than funds available. This is wonderful. They worked diligently to take care of all applicants. This committee has a lot of plans to bring forward in the future.

As usual, the White Cane Committee worked as a great team. New ideas were implemented with more Lions involved than ever. Because of the state of the economy all had to work harder and it all paid off.

Detailed reports of all committee activities will be available at the State Convention and in the Association office and also in this THE WHITE CANE MAGAZINE. I hope everyone takes time to read all of the reports available.

I want to thank the District Governors, all officers of the Association and directors, and especially all Lions in our state for their help and cooperation because without it all the progress could not have been made.

A special thanks to our very efficient Executive Director Bob Spencer and his staff. They were and are always alert and willing and able to assist all who ask or call. This is a tremendous team working for the Lions and the blind and visually handicapped served by the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind.

What does the future hold for the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind? I think the future is very bright. We are making progress in many fields. We must always evaluate our projects and always take on new ones. In time we may have a whole new set of priorities but it all will be for the betterment of mankind.

You have elected capable and efficient officers for next year and I am sure the Association, under their guidance, will continue to make progress and enjoy success in all ventures.

Thank you for giving me the opportunity and privilege to serve as your president. I hope the confidence you placed in me was justified. Thank you for the way I was received as I traveled over the state. Thank you for wonderful memories and thank you for the most outstanding year of my life.

In November a group of blind people spent a weekend at Camp Dogwood and honored Irwin Belk for his many contributions to the Camp.

COMMITTEE REPORTS

REPORT OF THE BLIND AND SIGHT SERVICE COMMITTEE

A. Bryan Carr, Jr., Chairman

It has been a pleasure for me to serve as chairman of this committee this year. I have had excellent cooperation from the nine district chairmen. I would like to also commend all the clubs across this State for their continuing support of the blind and visually handicapped.

The Association again this year co-sponsored, along with the Division of Services for the Blind, the second annual Work for the Blind Conference. Everyone in attendance left with renewed enthusiasm toward work with the blind and visually handicapped. All of us agree that this conference should be continued and more Lions be urged to take advantage of this opportunity to increase their awareness of the need.

Our greatest task, as it is every year, is getting clubs to submit their Blind and Sight Service Activities Reports. We attempted this year to make the reports easier to understand and fairer by putting all categories on a dollar per member basis. Many clubs had no trouble, but many did, so we still do not have the complete answer. I would like to recommend to next year's committee that they consider having the club enter only amounts on the report and the staff complete the report. Since the staff has been going over the reports with a fine tooth comb already and making many corrections, I do not feel that this will cause an additional hardship on them.

I would like to commend District Governor Bill Osborne of District 31-A for having all his clubs get their reports in thus making District A–100%. We, of course, would like for all districts to be 100% so that we can get a complete overview of all blind and sight service work done in North Carolina.

In another section of this magazine, the winners of the awards are listed. Let me and your District Chairmen congratulate all the winners. There were some close races and it is too bad we cannot give awards to all. But remember, the new year for reporting Blind and Sight Service Activities began on March 1 so I urge all clubs to get off to a fast start and try to be in the winners circle next year.

Russel L. Mann, Chairman

The Budget and Finance Committee has experienced a very active year, participating in two regular meetings and two "call" meetings. Also, it has been our privilege to participate with the Long Range Planning Committee in visiting most of those agencies that receive grants from the Association. They appear to be fulfilling a definite need with all funds being used wisely.

Meeting in the Association office on February 8, 1976, the Committee prepared budgets for the Scholarship and the Camp Dogwood Committees. Impressed by the business like manner in which these two arms of our Association presented their needs, the committee discussed and evaluated each budget item and unanimously approved the following recommendation be forwarded to Board of Directors:

1. A Scholarship Budget of $10,000 be approved and

2. The Camp Dogwood Budget of $114,151.00 (of which the Association allocation would remain the same as last year, $43,651.00) be approved.

These recommendations were presented to the Board of Directors meeting in Goldsboro on March 7, 1976, and both were approved as presented.

All during the year this committee kept abreast of the financial picture as concerns the Association. Regretfully, a call meeting became necessary on March 19, 1976, as all barometers pointed to a deficit in income. Meeting again in the Association office on March 28, 1976, with the Executive Committee, a thorough study was made of the White Cane Receipts and the remaining balances to be paid on grants as budgeted for the year. Foreseeing a possible ten to fourteen thousand dollar deficit, it become necessary to reduce the final three months allocation to each agency by 35%. It is the sincere belief of this committee that our Association leadership has been outstanding; that the efforts of our Lions and Lions Clubs has not weakened but in fact grown stronger. Except for isolated instances where the economy failed to respond as quickly as hoped, our Budget of Since we did have a successful drive, I recommended to the State Council a similar drive to be held for Camp Dogwood during the coming year. A motion to this effect was made and carried by the Council.

I have personally enjoyed serving as the Camp Dogwood Fund Raising chairman for the State and I am grateful for the opportunity afforded me. The district chairmen did a great job in their respective districts and I am indeed grateful to them and for the opportunity of getting to know and work with them.

It is my sincere wish that next year will be bigger and better for Camp Dogwood.

REPORT OF THE CAMP DOGWOOD COMMITTEE

John E. Sturgis, Chairman

The summer season of 1975 was most successful with nearly 500 in attendance. The visually handicapped had a fine time, and our staff worked extremely hard to insure enjoyment for all. Groups of blind persons, Lions groups and others have been in attendance throughout the fall, winter and spring. Most of these have been weekend gatherings, and the camp has been serving more people than ever.

Our Camp Director, J. Michael (Mike) Thompson, has provided excellent leadership and is developing a fine staff. He has attended seminars on camping in Wisconsin, and we believe that this training will be most beneficial in the operation of Camp Dogwood. We hope to provide additional training opportunities for Mike during the coming year.

Mr. and Mrs. Hurst with T.V. set given away by the Camp Dogwood Fund Raising Committee.

—A marriage counselor began to question a woman concerning her disposition: "Did you wake up grumpy, this morning?"

"No, I let him sleep."

Neighbor: My, I'm glad to hear that your son is on the high school football team. What position does he play?

Mother: I'm not sure, but I think he is one of the drawbacks.

Executive Director's Report

The 1975-76 Association year, under the leadership of President C. Miller Sigmon, has been a year in which we have seen the Association make significant progress. During the early months of the year White Cane workshops were conducted in each of the nine districts. These workshops were well attended. The new Association film "You Are My Eyes" was shown at each of the workshops and received much acclaim. The film does an excellent job of telling our White Cane story. Each of the nine district White Cane Directors have copies of the film and they have shown it to many clubs in their districts. There are still many, however, that have not seen it and it is hoped that the remaining clubs will have an opportunity to view the film during 1976-77.

Despite the valiant effort of our District White Cane Directors and the use of the new film, White Cane receipts are down. I do not believe that the decrease in receipts is a reflection on efforts of the District Directors of the Lions Clubs in North Carolina; but, rather a reflection of the state of the economy and lack of publicity. We need to do a better job of informing the public of what we are doing, both in the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind and in the individual 447 Lions Clubs scattered throughout this State. We must tell our story effectively. I firmly believe that it is possible to get much greater public support without putting an unnecessary strain on individual club treasuries.

One way in which Lions Clubs can get more publicity is to become more active in their local communities. You must let your community know that your Lions Club exist. Sometimes it pays dividends to toot your own horn. Of course, if you expect your community to support your club projects, your Lions Club must in turn do things for the community. Your Lions Club should become known as the one civic club in the community that does the most for the community. When this becomes a reality all of your horn tooting will be justified.

Your club should be supporting all statewide Lions projects. But this support should not be to the detriment of your own local community. Your community should always be able to see some evidence of the work that is being done with the funds that have been collected in that community. If the community cannot see evidence of your good works, then it is likely that they will soon stop supporting your club projects.

No doubt all of you are aware of the current shortage of State funds. This has had an effect on our own programs. The number of permanent or on-going Glaucoma-Diabetic Screening Clinics has not been increased this year because of the lack of matching funds. Many Lions Clubs have been called on to assist with the purchase of glasses in their local communities because of the shortage of funds at the State level. Despite this shortage the future looks bright. We see the need to expand many of our current programs and services and the need to develop many new programs in the interest of the blind and visually handicapped of North Carolina.

Camp Dogwood continues to grow. Plans have been drawn and approved for an addition to the lodge. A fund raising project to secure the necessary finances to complete this addition has not been developed but will be in the near future. Plans have been completed to renovate the Carol Belk Dorm by dividing it into individual rooms. It is hoped that this project can be completed by the opening of the camping season. A pick-up truck has been secured to replace the one that had seen better days. The bus which was donated by the Clubs in the Lexington area will see use for the first time this summer. Mobile units are being secured and put in place to house the staff, thus making more rooms available for campers. A mobile unit is also being moved onto the campus to house our arts and crafts program. This will make it possible to expand a vital part of our camping program and to relieve some of the pressure on the lodge building.

The Second Annual Conference on Blindness was held in September. This is a joint effort of the Blind and Sight Service Committee of the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind and the North Carolina Division of Services for the Blind. The Third Annual Conference is being planned for September 1976. We are anticipating increased participation by Lions throughout the State.

At the State Convention in Raleigh awards will be given for outstanding service to the White Cane effort and for Blind and Sight Service Activities. The information received from the Lions Clubs concerning the Blind and Sight Service Activities is shown in the center portion of this magazine. Unfortunately all clubs did not submit reports. It is hoped that all club secretaries will immediately begin keeping accurate records of club activities and will report these activities on the Blind and Sight Service Report forms at the end of February 1977. I feel certain that many things being done by the Lions Clubs are going unnoticed because they are not being reported.

The Camp Dogwood Fund Raising Committee, under the leadership of Artie Banks, had the greatest success this year that this committee has had in many years. Please take the time to read about their activities under the committee reports section of this magazine. I hope that all clubs in the State will continue to support this committee as it works to raise funds which make it possible for us to improve the program for our blind friends at Camp Dogwood.

The Long Range Planning Committee has made a valiant effort to fulfill its obligation and has truly made some long range plans. They have tried to plot the future course of the Association and have attempted to find ways in which your Association can better serve the blind and visually handicapped, but at the same time the committee has attempted to find ways to aid Lions Clubs as well.

The North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind and the Lions Clubs in North Carolina must assist each other and must grow together. The real key to increased services and to increased funding for programs is to increase the number of clubs and number of Lions in Multiple District 31.

The Budget and Finance Committee has met on several occasions this year and has worked diligently to produce a realistic budget for 1976-77. The Committee has attempted to produce a budget that would be in keeping with the anticipated revenue and yet one that will provide the most programs and services possible from the amount of funds available.

The Properties Committee has taken a careful look at the properties owned by the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind at Camp Dogwood and has truly planned ahead in the interest of the Association. Hopefully, some day we will have the necessary buildings at Camp Dogwood and can begin planning for an Association Office building.

The Scholarship program has been expanded this year and we are now serving more sons and daughters of blind parents than ever before.

As we approach the 1976-77 year and plan for a new White Cane campaign we should take a close look at what has been successful in other areas and other states. Perhaps we would meet with greater success if we conducted a concentrated statewide effort rather than each individual club continuing to do its own thing. By working together, planning together, and by borrowing ideas from our neighboring states, I feel certain that we can come up with the plan that works best for North Carolina.

—Old man, asked why he had never married, explained, "I'd rather go through life wanting something I didn't have than having something I didn't want."

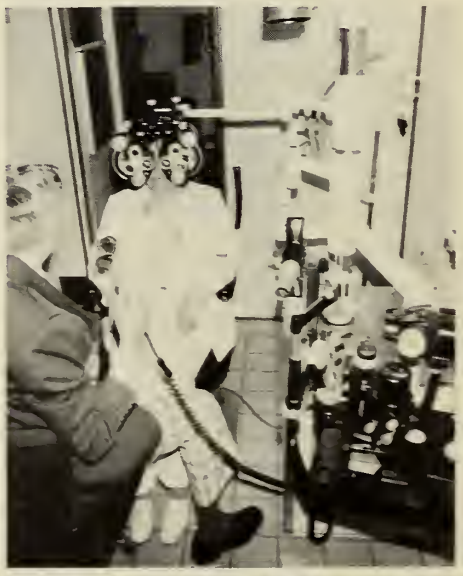
Northeastern North Carolina Lions Mobile Unit

C. M. Cooper, Jr.

The Northeastern North Carolina Lions Mobile Unit is now a reality and the Lions Clubs of State Planning Region 'R', located within Lions District 31-J, are proud to announce that it is amply fulfilling the task which was assigned to it. The state chartered, nonprofit corporation of eight Lions Clubs has now grown to eleven with the recent addition of three new clubs to participate.

The Mobile Eye Clinic began service in January 1975 after being under construction for ten months. It can operate in remote locations with its own heat, electric plant, air conditioning, hot and cold water, and sewage system. It has served at the various County Health Departments where the patients are certified by Social Services, at one school, and one migrant workers clinic. The picture revealed by clinic records compiled tends to show that many of these persons would eventually have become blind and wards of the public welfare system had not their eye problems been found and either corrected or treated. Many hundreds of others have been furnished glasses at no cost. This is not a screening clinic but a full medical diagnostic clinic.

The Unit carries $11,000.00 worth of the most modern optical equipment which can be had and at every scheduled clinic is staffed by an ophthalmologist and a registered nurse. Since there is only one town in the ten-county Albemarle Area which has a medical eye doctor, this Mobile Unit is carrying to the people the very best in eye care which can be obtained anywhere. From January 1975 through February 1976 the Unit has served at 48 clinics and examined 1,460 patients. No doctor, nurse, or any other person has been paid anything for services rendered, and no patient has ever paid anything for services received.



Dr. Redding examines patient inside unit

The cost of this $42,000.00 Unit and its work is being borne by the Lions Clubs, private donations, and generous support from the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind, and its members continue to solicit tax deductible contributions from interested persons.

One Lion Goes Over $25,000.00

Lion Henry A. Wood of the Raleigh Sir Walter Lions Club is the only Lion in North Carolina to personally collect over $25,000.00 for the White Cane Drive. Lion Wood began collecting funds for White Cane in the 1962-63 fiscal year. At the end of fiscal year 1974-75 Lion Wood had collected $24,125.29. This year he added $2,101.70 to his previous amount collected making his grand total $26,226.99.

Lion Roscoe Wynne of the Rocky Mount Evening Lions Club is the only Lion in North Carolina to receive a $4,500 Club "50" Pin this year. At the end of fiscal year 1974-75 he had collected $4,426.46. This year he added $1,397.23 to his previous amount collected making his grand total $5,823.69. Lion Wynne now becomes a member of the "5000 Club." His name will be engraved on the "5000 Club" plaque which is on display in the Association Office.

In today's economy, a recession is a period when we have to do without things our parents never had. . . .

Smart Alec Tourist: "What's your speed limit here?"

Native: "Ain't got none! You fellows don't go through here too fast for us."

Club "50" Totals Report for 1975-76

The following report includes the total monies raised by individual Lions since the 1962-1963 White Cane Drive. In order to accumulate totals a Lion has to raise $50 or more in one year. Pins awarded when the Lion accumulates the amount of the pin. As amounts increase pins are farther apart but will be presented when that total is reached; i.e., $500, a 500 pin, next pin is $750 which means $250 more is needed for that pin. Club Secretaries should keep these records and report them to the Association office at the same time the White Cane Drive report is submitted.

Small World — "Daddy, where were you born?" asked the little boy. When the father answered, "Milwaukee," the youngster queried, "And where was Mom born?" "Atlantic City," came the reply. "And where was I born, Daddy?" "Los Angeles, Son." "My gosh," sputtered the boy. "How did we three ever get together?"

"There's only one thing that bugs me about this revolution bit," sighed one radical to another.

"And what's that?"

"What happens to our unemployment checks when we overthrow the government?"

COMMITTEE REPORTS— BUDGET AND FINANCE

$289,550.00 was not unrealistic.

On April 24, 1976, the Committee met in Burlington to prepare the remainder of the Association Budget. Visitors were welcomed and given opportunity to present any information constructive to formulating the Budget. Budget requests from each agency were carefully considered as were the administrative line-by-line items. Many new programs that had merit and needed support simply could not be recommended in view of the level of anticipated income for new year. The Committee feels it a just, realistic Budget; a Budget with which we can face the new year with extreme confidence in our ability to do that which needs be done.

The Budget, as prepared, will be submitted to the Board of Directors for their approval at the Board meeting held in Raleigh on June 4, 1976.

COMMITTEE REPORTS—CAMP DOGWOOD

The Camp Dogwood Committee held two meetings. The first was to work on Camp Policy and to cover all current needs as well as to make recommendations to the Properties Committee and the Long Range Planning Committee. The second was to set up a realistic and workable budget for the coming year. Both meetings were very successful because of the work and preparation of the committee members.

Our committee firmly believes that Camp Dogwood is strong and growing. The investment there is in excess of $500,000. The Camp is built for service to the blind, and we know that we can serve 2,000 blind persons each year with our present facilities. It is up to all Lions to make people aware of the Camp and to give the blind an opportunity to attend. As chairman, I can assure you that a visit to Camp Dogwood during the summer session will give you a lasting and rewarding experience. It will also give you a lifetime renewal of faith in dedicating yourself to helping the less fortunate.

The Camp Dogwood Committee members during 1975-76 were as follows:

REPORT OF THE CONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS COMMITTEE

Grady R. Pulliam, Jr., Chairman

During 1974-75 several changes were made in the Constitution and By-Laws of the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind, Inc. Therefore, few changes were required this year and the work of the Committee has been relatively light.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Association held in Burlington on August 3, 1975, the Board recommended that the language of Article VI, sections 1 & 2 pertaining to

COMMITTEE REPORTS— CONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS

Association publications be referred to the Constitution and By-Laws Committee for study. Article VI, Sections 1 & 2 then read as follows:

Section 1: Memberships in this Association shall consist of Active, Sustaining and Life Memberships. Active members may be asked to contribute $5.00 annually.

Section 2: Membership dues shall be payable as follows:

A. Sustaining membership, $25.00 or more annually;

B. Life membership, $100.00 or more. A membership in these three categories entitles the member to a subscription for one year to the WHITE CANE magazine, the official publication of the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind, Inc., and the Presidents Newsletter published quarterly.

The Board of Directors had proposed that the language concerning memberships be clarified and that the reference to quarterly newsletters be deleted since the current budget did not contain enough funds to publish the newsletter quarterly.

The Constitution and By-Laws Committee studied the proposed changes and voted affirmatively to recommend that Section 2 be changed to read as follows:

Article VI: Membership

Section 2: Membership dues shall be payable as follows:

A. Sustaining membership, $25.00 or more annually.

B. Life Membership, $100.00 or more. A membership in either the active or sustaining categories entitles the member to a subscription for one year to the WHITE CANE Magazine, the official publication of the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind, Inc., and all other Association publications. A Life Membership entitles the member to a subscription to the WHITE CANE Magazine and all other Association publications for life.

This proposed Constitutional change was submitted to the General Membership at their meeting in Goldsboro on March 7, 1976, and was approved. The Association office has prepared new copies of the Constitution and By-Laws reflecting all changes made during 1974-75 and 1975-76.

I wish to thank C. Miller Sigmon for giving me the opportunity to serve as chairman of the Constitution and By-Laws Committee. I count it a real personal pleasure to have served with him during his tenure as President of the Association. I would also like to express my appreciation to the members of the Constitution and By-Laws Committee. No chairman could have asked for better cooperation than they have given me. REPORT OF THE GLAUCOMA-DIABETES DETECTION CLINICS AND SIGHT CONSERVATION COMMITTEE

Robert G. Frye, Chairman

The Glaucoma-Diabetes Screening Program for 1975-1976 has been very successful. The Lions of North Carolina are due a large amount of credit for this success. Their hard work, dedication and financial support have made our screening program possible.

During the fiscal year 1975-1976, our permanent or on-going Glaucoma Diabetes Screening Clinics have screened a total of 17,080. We have referred a total of 558 and we have brought to treatment 234 people who were borderline or who had glaucoma. These cases are being observed and re-screened periodically by the nurses.

In fiscal year 1975-1976 our Mass Clinics have screened a total of 7,360 people.We have referred 305 and we have brought to treatment 75 who were borderline or who had glaucoma.

Six (6) Mass Clinics have been held during this Lions Year. One by the Burke County Lions Club on October 9, 1975. In this clinic we screened a total of 1,305 people and we referred 40. The other mass clinic was held by the Lincolnton Lions Club on November 11, 1975. The Lincolnton clinic screened a total of 900 people and we referred 207. Mass Clinics were also held by the Bertie County Lions Club on March 16, 1976, (715 screened) the Lumberton Lions Club on March 21, 1976, (1,300 screened) the Forest City Lions Club on April 7, 1976 (610 screened) and the Kinston Lions Club on April 29, 1976. The results of the Kinston Clinic were not available at the time this report was written.

A tentative date for a Mass Clinic to be held by the Salisbury-Rowan County Lions Clubs has been set for early Fall.

The Hamlet Lions Club and the Warrenton Lions Club have expressed an interest in holding mass clinics. We will continue to work with these two (2) clubs and try to work them in next year's schedule for early September or October.

At this point we wish to recognize and express our deepest appreciation to the countless number of people who have assisted in these clinics: The doctors from the Duke Eye Center, the local ophthalmologists, the County Health Departments, the Division of Services for the Blind, the volunteer nurses, along with the personnel from the Chronic Disease Section of the Department of Human Resources.

REPORT OF THE EYE AND HUMAN TISSUE BANK COMMITTEE

John M. Calloway, Chairman

The North Carolina Eye and Human Tissue Bank again has had an outstanding year. Previous records were broken in the number of Eye and Human Tissue Wills secured 14,301, and the number of eyes retrieved 458. This makes a grand total of 134,411 Wills on file. During this same period, a total of 197 Corneal Transplant Operations were performed.

Listed below by district are the number of pledges received for the Eye Bank year, along with the winning club and district:

District	Wills	Per Member	Club	Per Member
A	631	.43	Franklin	2.20
B	1460	1.03	St. Stephens	8.60
C	741	.57	Lincolnton	4.00
D	2436	1.24	O'Henry	28.00
E	1836	1.03	Towel City	12.80

G	2281	1.21	Wake Community	14.70
H	1317	.82	Supply	7.30
J	206	.15	Askewville	1.95

District D was the winning district with 1.24 Wills per member. District G was second with 1.21 Wills per member. The winning club State-Wide was the O'Henry Lions Club in District D with 28 Wills per member. The Wake Community Club in District G was second with 14.7 Wills per member.

Special recognition is due the following Lions for their excellent job in securing Wills:

Winning Lions State-Wide:

1. A. A. Ward—O'Henry Lions 450 Wills

2. Ed Nyenhuis—Fayetteville Lions 309 Wills

3. Burke Wilson—Forsyth Lions 185 Wills

The Lions of North Carolina are to be commended for their great effort in securing pledges from and telling the "Eye Bank Story" to North Carolinians. This was a most successful year. The staff at the Eye Bank is to be commended for its work, along with the many Lions who worked so diligently.

REPORT OF THE LONG RANGE PLANNING COMMITTEE

Robert T. Loeblein, Chairman

It has been a pleasure to serve again this year as chairman of this committee. We have had serving on this committee dedicated Lions, representing our nine districts in North Carolina: District A—R. L. Clark; District B—Wayne M. Coffey; District C—W. Bruce Wright; District D—Fred C. Rich; District E—Francis C. Glover; District F—Edward Nyenhuis; District G—Claude C. Ward; District H—John R. Mozingo; District J—M. Henry Leggett, Jr. We have had good attendance at the two general meetings and our members have spent many hours visiting the various organizations which receive funding from our Association.

I would like to thank President Miller Sigmon, Vice-Presidents "Smoke" Wayne, and Clyde Stutts for the leadership and assistance they have given our committee this year. I would also like to thank our Executive Director Bob Spencer, and his staff for making all the arrangements for our meetings and visits this year.

As in the past the purpose of this committee is two-fold. First, to visit and evaluate the organizations which receive Association funding, and second, to make recommendations to the Budget and Finance Committee as to future funding of these organizations. We have looked at many aspects of the Association in general and have some recommendations for future planning.

A. VISITS TO FUNDED ORGANIZATIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS: Basically these organizations fall into three general categories. The following remarks concerning these represent a consolidation of the views of all the members of the committee not necessarily unanimous agreement.

1. STATE-WIDE PROJECTS: The two major projects of the Association are the North Carolina Eye Bank and Camp Dogwood. I believe our committee is unanimous in feeling that these projects are our first responsibility as far as funding is concerned. If additional funds are available from the Association they should be used for these organizations where needed. The committee feels that the Association and the Eye Bank should work as closely together as possible, with possible future merger being considered.

The Raleigh Lions Clinic and the Governor Morehead School would also fall under the category of organizations that serve on a statewide basis. Our support of these organizations is relatively small and our committee feels that it should be continued and expanded if funds are available.

2. MEDICAL: This category includes the three hospitals; Duke, Bowman Gray, and Memorial Hospital, which we have supported by grants for either equipment or research projects. Most of our committee feels that these funds have been well spent and that it is advisable for our Association to maintain some contact with these hospitals. However, most of our committee feels that research and equipment should receive low priority for our funds, and that if the future budget needs to be cut, we would recommend reducing the grants to these hospitals.

It should be pointed out that we enjoyed an excellent day long seminar on the problems of blindness at the Duke Eye Center this year. This illustrates one of the advantages of having a working relationships with one of these hospitals.

3. REGIONAL: This category contains organizations that serve a particular district or section of the state. Included in these would be the Western North Carolina Mobile Screening Van, and the Northeast North Carolina Lions Mobile Clinic. Both of these appear to be doing excellent work. Also, included in this category would be the Mecklenberg Association for the Blind, which is requesting funding for next year for their Mobility Training Program. The committee visited this operation and was very impressed with the work going on. The Mecklenberg Association is in danger of losing their Mobility Training Program due to a loss of previous funding, and is requesting partial funding of this program from the Association. There was considerable disagreement on our committee as to whether our Association should fund these projects of a regional nature. Some feel that our funding should be for statewide projects, otherwise we might encourage each district or area to request funding for its own particular project. On the other hand some committee members including those in the area affected believe that these local projects should be funded by the Association. There is no question by any of the committee as to the worthiness of these projects. Of course, this is a problem the Budget and Finance Committee will have to deal with for next year's budget. But it is also a matter the Association as a whole should look at for long range policy.

COMMITTEE REPORTS— LONG RANGE PLANNING

As I have stated before, I wish all Lions could have the opportunity that this committee has had to visit all of these organizations. I believe that if all Lions could see the work their White Cane dollars do, our White Cane Drive would be more successful.

B. OTHER RECOMMENDATIONS: 1. The committee discussed at length at both meetings the problem of Association Fund Raising. We feel that a special committee should be appointed to look into possible fund raising projects. Our initial thought was a Football Bowl Game, similar to the Georgia Lions Peach Bowl. This particular idea is probably not possible at this time as research has indicated that the NCAA at the present time is approving no more football bowls. However, perhaps a Basketball Tournament or some other type of sporting event is a possibility.

The committee was impressed by the first year success of the Camp Dogwood Fund Raising by the TV Drawing, and perhaps an expansion of this type of project might be the answer. The committee does feel however, that we are reaching a limit on our White Cane drive approach, and that additional methods of fund raising must be found if we are to expand our Association program.

2. The committee also discussed our Scholarship Program. While we believe these scholarships should continue as grants and not repayable loans, we do feel that the recipients of these scholarships should be encouraged on the completion of their schooling to make refunds to the Association

History of the Mecklenburg County Association for the Blind

Bulow Bowman, Executive Director

On June 18, 1934, the Mecklenburg County Association for the Blind was created as an organization to study and provide services for the blind and visually impaired in Mecklenburg County.

A group of interested citizens, who realized there was a need for services for the people who had little or no vision, met at Ivey's Dining Room. They had as their speaker Mr. Charles B. Hayes, Field Director of the American Foundation for the Blind, New York. It was agreed that a survey to determine the number of blind persons in the County was needed. The group elected Dr. Edgar Gammon, then the pastor of Myers Park Presbyterian Church, as President of the new Mecklenburg County Association for the Blind. Other elected officers were: Mr. J. Marshall Parham, Executive Secretary; Mr. E. J. Hanson, Vice-President; Mrs. Robert A. Moore, Secretary; Mr. H. H. Evereet, Treasurer. The stated purpose of this Association was to "further the interests of the blind and to open to them all possible avenues of independence and self-support through investigations, education, and recreation." Income for this new endeavor was to be derived from membership dues, benefits, concerts, etc.

The Mecklenburg County Association for the Blind became a member of the Charlotte Community Chest in October 1937 and moved its offices to 121 E. Third Street. The budget for that year was $4,060.00. The Association pursued its course of services for the blind and it flourished. On April 30, 1938, it received its charter of incorporation. The Incorporators were: W. W. Kale, Hunter M. Jones, John H. Vickers, H. I. McDougle, W. N. Hovis, Guy O. Bagwell, E. J. Hanson, and Dr. L. C. Todd — all members of Lion Clubs.

Mr. Parham, the Executive Secretary, left the Association to join the N. C. State Commission for the Blind, which was a new organization at this time. The Association continued under the direction of its officers and staff. The Variety Club established an Eye Clinic in March 1942, and the Association handled the intake on the clinic's cases. The intake service was transferred to the Department of Public Welfare in 1945. In later years after the Variety Club relinquished the Eye Clinic, the Association continued its support for this needed service. Through efforts of the Association and the North Carolina State Commission, the Piedmont Eye Clinic was established. The two agencies supported the Piedmont Eye Clinic until up in the sixties and then it became totally a part of the N. C. State Commission.

In 1949, a Sight-Saving Class at Elizabeth School was established by the Association with the assistance of the Charlotte Lions Club. Since this time, public school education has been available for the blind in the Charlotte Mecklenburg School system. The class is now housed at Sedgefield Elementary School, and is taught by Mrs. Roberta Teague.

In 1952, the Association had grown enough to employ an additional caseworker. In the same year, the Agency became a member of the United Appeal, which replaced the Community Chest.

During 1956, the Association expanded its services and additional office space was needed. A building at 704 Louise Avenue which had formerly been a residence was purchased and on December 29, 1956, the Association moved to that address.

In 1962, a Study of Services for Blind Persons in Charlotte-Mecklenburg County was conducted by the American Foundation for the Blind under the auspices of the Social Planning Council. One of their many recommendations was "more adequate quarters for the Association."

In June, 1965, the Building Fund Committee for the Association held its first meeting. The committee began the "new building" campaign. Funds were raised from Lions Clubs, individual Lions Club members, the N.C. Association for the Blind, and interested citizens. The property at 708 Louise Avenue was purchased and the mortgage on the property at 704 Louise Avenue was retired. While demolition and construction for the new building took place, the Association was housed at 1436 E. Seventh Street in quarters provided by St. Martin's Episcopal Church. Ground was broken in December, 1966, and June 5, 1967 marked the dedication of the new building.

The new building houses the Mecklenburg Association for the Blind offices and the James L. Bell Memorial Library. The library serves the adult blind as well as children with its Braille books, talking books, tape recordings and reference materials. The Association, being a non-sectarian Agency, offers services in the fields of education, recreation, physical and social rehabilitation; it offers guidance services, counseling services, inter-agency referrals, home teaching in self-care, mobility and orientation, and any service which is needed by the blind and visually impaired in Mecklenburg County and surrounding counties.

The Lions Clubs over the County have assisted financially along with the United Appeal in the programs at the Association which have evolved from that of "giving handouts" to providing high quality professional services which help the clientele to help themselves and become happy citizens leading independent, satisfying lives.

Scholarship Program where it is financially possible to do so. We recommend that a letter be written from the Association to each scholarship recipient upon their graduation. The letter should explain how the funds for their schooling became available through the efforts of Lions. They should also be encouraged to make donations to the scholarship fund in the future, so that others may have the same opportunity that they have had.

Our committee also discussed many other items concerning our Association's work, but does not have any other specific proposals to make this year.

I again would like to thank President Miller Sigmon, for giving me the opportunity to serve as chairman of this committee. It has been a privilege for me to work with the fine Lions on this committee this year.

REPORT OF THE PROPERTIES COMMITTEE

W. Herbert Hollowell, Jr.
Chairman

The properties committee this year has been active in planning the use of property at Camp Dogwood for the future.

Plans for construction and location of a storage building have been approved and will be constructed when funds are available, which is expected soon.

The Belk Dormitory has two large rooms which accommodate 32 persons. Plans have been approved for renovation of the dormitory, changing the two rooms into five rooms, accommodating two persons each and five rooms accommodating one person each. The renovation includes air conditioning and heating. Work on this project will begin when funds are available, which is expected soon.

Plans for the addition of a wing to the Camp Dogwood Lodge have received tentative approval. The wing measures 80 x 32 feet and includes a large social room, infirmary with one bed, two rooms as offices for the staff, and the basement will include five rooms for ten counselors. The wing will have central air conditioning and heating.

Focus on Eye Research at Chapel Hill

by Katherine Vansant Lewis
Public Information Officer
UNC-CH School of Medicine

Over the last twenty years the North Carolina Association for the Blind has played an instrumental role in developing the teaching, research, and service programs of the Department of Ophthalmology at the University of North Carolina School of Medicine at Chapel Hill.

Under the direction of Dr. S. D. McPherson, Jr., the department conducts an eye pathology laboratory, an experimental surgery laboratory, and various research projects that benefit eye doctors across the state.

The eye pathology laboratory, which is the only such facility in North Carolina, was established twenty-one years ago under a grant from the federal government. Physicians from all over the state send eyes and eye tissue to this laboratory for analysis. Using some of the most up-to-date equipment available, the physicians in Chapel Hill examine the tissue microscopically, determine the nature of the disease, and forward a report to the referring physician.

Faculty, residents, fellows, and students discuss the results of these pathological examinations in weekly conferences. Such presentations enable students and residents to learn more about the etiology and symptoms of a given disease. These conferences are also often a good source of research ideas for the faculty.

To test the effectiveness of various types of suture material, the research fellows perform experimental surgery, which will be followed by a series of tests.

Experimental surgery is another vital aspect of the department's work. Using rabbits, whose corneal structure closely resembles that of humans, the physicians study new instruments and techniques for ocular surgery. They are currently testing different kinds of suture materials to be used in corneal transplants. After surgery has been performed, they make clinical observations and run a series of microscopic tests to determine if the suture material aids or deters proper healing of the incision.

Such surgery, performed under a microscope, is also a means of studying new techniques for the surgical treatment of glaucoma and cataracts. Often, the operations are filmed to be shown later in ophthalmology teaching rounds. The department has Sony audio-visual equipment that is set up in the conference room for these teaching sessions.

The department also explores methods of treating and preventing eye diseases. By experimentally inducing diseases in rabbits and testing new antibiotic drugs, the physicians can learn more about the characteristics of both the diseases and the medication they are studying. The effectiveness of a given antibiotic is measured by the degree of penetration into the fluid of the eye. The more effective the drug, the

The department's fourteen faculty members currently teach approximately 130 students on ophthalmology rotations each year. Also affiliated with the department are seven residents and two postgraduate research fellows. Together with the faculty, they conduct experiments in the departmental laboratories and apply the knowledge learned in an experimental setting to the patients of the Ophthalmology Clinic at the North Carolina Memorial Hospital.

COMMITTEE REPORTS—PROPERTIES

We will consider later plans for an arts and craft building and camping space for campers.

We recommended to the Camp Dogwood Committee that three used trailers be purchased at special prices for use as an arts and crafts building, and counselors' quarters until permanent quarters could be provided.

Landscaping will be considered when the planning program is completed.

The plans for Camp Dogwood location of buildings has not been revised since the beginning of the camp, and is not accurate. We are revising this plan which will show the present building locations and also future locations of buildings.

We encourage all Lions to assist or secure grants at every opportunity for the building program of the association.

Swannanoa Valley—The Marjorie McCune Memorial Home for the Blind will be constructed on this location by the Lions Clubs in District 31-A. $255,000.00 has been pledged toward the construction of the Home. The five acre tract of land shown above was purchased from the State of North Carolina and is located near the Western North Carolina Hospital at Black Mountain. The fund raising drive continues with a goal of $350,000.00.

N. C. State Championship Horse Show

J. Bryant Kirkland, Chairman
Executive Committee

The North Carolina State Championship Horse Show, which was first sponsored by the Raleigh Host Lions Club in 1958, has continued to be the Club's principal fund raising project. The success of this annual project can be attributed in large measure to the manner in which the show has been organized and the involvement of a large number of Lions in performing the many duties in connection with the show.

During the first 11 years of the Club's sponsorship of the show it contracted with the show manager to supply the temporary stalls, jumps, and all other facilities to put on the show. However, in 1969 the Club bought the necessary temporary stalls (600) to put on the show and has continued to supply the needed facilities through its program of maintenance and construction of new equipment.

As the show grew in number and quality of horses entered, it became necessary to utilize the expertise of selected Club members, particularly past General Chairmen and others who had played important roles in previous shows. Thus during the Presidency of Lion Leon Spencer (1962) an Executive Committee consisting of five members was appointed. The General Chairman and Vice-Chairman of the up-coming show serve as ex-officio members of the Committee. This Committee establishes and modifies policies pertaining to the show, effects the contracts with the manager and other professional personnel, confers with the manager about the prize list and the selection of the judges. It also advises the General Chairman and the Vice-Chairman on plans and operational matters for the up-coming show. The General Chairman appoints the Chairmen and members of the several Committees — sponsorship, program advertising, box seats, ticket sales, hospitality and emergency. A project of the magnitude of the North Carolina State Horse Show requires the heavy involvement of a large number of

SWANNANOA LIONS CLUB SELLS 2½ TONS OF PEANUTS

The Swannanoa Lions took on a peanut project to raise money for the Marjorie McCune Memorial Home for the Blind. At the last report 4,800 lbs. of peanuts had been bagged and sold at a sizable profit for the club. Lion Ken Lanter served as chairman of the committee and Lion Ed West has personally sold 1,000 lbs. of the peanuts. The club has dedicated the service of its members to the building of the Home in Swannanoa Valley, and has voted unanimously to see that each blind occupant has an opportunity on Sunday morning to attend the church of his or her choice.

One member of the club agreed to match the profits from peanut sales up to $500.00 as his personal contribution to the Home. A check was presented to the Home for $1,000.00 a short time after the sale began and periodically, additional contributions are made.

It now appears that the Swannanoa Lions Club will be in the peanut business for months to come, but the many contributions to the Home are not considered "Peanuts" in light of the $350,000.00 goal.

Lions hence it must be well organized.

This five day event has grown to be a big financial undertaking . More than 750 horses from 12 states were entered in the 1975 Horse Show. Three performances (morning, afternoon and evening) were scheduled each of the five days with the Championship performance Saturday evening. The Club awards more than $25,000 in prizes for the winning entries plus ribbons and trophies. The gross receipts from the show in recent years has ranged from $90,000 to $100,000. The Club realizes an annual average profit of approximately $12,000 from the project — the highest being $17,000 in 1968. Approximately 5,000 man hours are donated to this show by the members of the Club.

The quality of the show has improved greatly in recent years. Some of the top horses in the U.S. participate in this indoor September event which is held in the Dorton Arena on the State Fairgrounds. For the past two years this show has been recognized by the American Horseman's Association as one of the best horse shows in America. The top entries here continue on the indoor horse show circuit and participate in shows at Harrisburg, Pennsylvania; Washington, D.C.; and Madison Square Garden, N.Y.

COMMITTEE REPORTS— NOMINATING

District 31-E — Robert T. Loeblein, Salisbury, N.C.
District 31-F — P. Robert Measamer, Jr., Fayetteville, N.C.
District 31-G — Eugene V. Grace, Durham, N.C.
District 31-H — Roy F. Ormond, Jacksonville, N.C.
District 31-J — Jeff F. Watson, Roanoke Rapids, N.C.

This slate of Officers was presented to the Board of Directors at the November Meeting and the floor was opened for nominations. There were no nominations from the floor at that time, and the floor was held open until the March Meeting.

Prior to the March meeting, First Vice-President C. P. Wayne informed the Nominating Committee that because of a change in business activities he would be unable to devote the necessary time to the office of President of the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind during 1976-77. Lion Wayne requested that he be allowed to remain in the office of First Vice-President and suggested that the nominee for First Vice-President, Clyde M. Stutts, become the nominee for President. After due consideration of this request by First Vice-President Wayne, and having been advised by Lion Stutts that he would serve as President if nominated and elected, and finding nothing in the Constitution to prohibit such a change, the Nominating Committee thought it proper to honor the request of Lion Wayne.

With the change of Stutts to President and Wayne to First Vice-President this revised slate was submitted to the general membership for approval at the March meeting in Goldsboro. This slate was elected and will take office on July 1, 1976.

REPORT OF THE PUBLIC INFORMATION COMMITTEE

Robert W. Thompson, Chairman

The Public Information Committee met in the Association office in Raleigh and discussed several ways in which we could spread the good news about the great work the Lions of North Carolina are doing through the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind.

The Public Information Committee, composed of William Staudenmaier, John Keever, Dick Hamrick, D. Edgar Stevens, Frank Fagan, King Moore Willis, A. T. Allen, Jr., Roy A. Sandlin and L. H. Taylor, Jr. have worked hard spreading information about the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind.

The Association office sent public service spots to all major Newspapers, Radio and T.V. stations in North Carolina to use in September, October and November. We feel they were of great help in getting the message to the general public about the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind White Cane Drive.

Robert W. Thompson

The District Chairmen sent letters to all Club Presidents requesting information to be used in our White Cane Magazine.

The new 16 mm film "You Are My Eyes" was completed and copies sent to all District White Cane Directors to be used in their Districts. Copies are also available for showing to other civic groups.

President Miller Sigmon has done an outstanding job in keeping the Lions of North Carolina informed about the activities of the Association thru the newsletters.

My sincere thanks go to our Executive Director, Lion Bob Spencer, and his fine staff in the Association office for a job well done.

It has been a pleasure for me to serve as Public Information Chairman for the past two years. My special thanks go to the nine District Chairmen, the Association Officers, Staff and all North Carolina Lions for their support and cooperation.

REPORT OF THE SCHOLARSHIP COMMITTEE

J. W. "Red" Hoyle, Chairman

There is an ever expanding interest in scholarships for the children of our legally blind friends. The Scholarship Committee has been allotted $10,000.00 for the year 1976-77.

This amount of money will really be used this year, because we have had more children to ask for new scholarships and renewals than any other year.

Our committee met in Sanford, North Carolina for two hours on Saturday, April 10, 1976, and this meeting was most rewarding. We are hearing from some of our own Lions Club members in the State of North Carolina who are legally blind, and have children that we can help this year. The Scholarship Committee is very proud to make this report.

A couple was riding the overhead tram at a jungle compound one afternoon while the guide pointed out the various animals roaming the simulated African Wild. Suddenly they heard him say, "As we round the next corner, we will be directly over the most unusual compound of all, where cougars, falcons, mustangs, barracudas, and even bugs are gathered in one enclosure." Passengers craned their necks to see this phenomenon. They were just coming in over the parking lot.

Our bird dog story: It seems two city slickers purchased a bird dog. Things were not working out so finally, in exasperation, one said to the other: "You take him by the front legs and I'll take the back legs. We'll throw him as high as we can and if he doesn't fly this time, I'm going to shoot him."

The trouble with being a leader these days is you don't know for sure whether the people are following or chasing you.

No man fears what he has seen grow. — African Proverb

ASSOCIATION PRESIDENT RECEIVES HONORARY DOCTORATE

C. Miller Sigmon, President of the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind, received an honorary doctorate from his alma mater, Lenoir Rhyne College in Hickory.

The degree of Doctor of Laws (LLD) was presented to Sigmon at graduation ceremonies on May 23, 1976.

Sigmon, Vice-President of Wachovia Bank and Trust Company, is prominent in business, civic and church activities and has been a leader in Lutheran affairs throughout the North Carolina Synod.

President Sigmon was approved for the LLD by the college board of trustees at a meeting on April 9, 1976. The North Carolina Lutheran had the following capsuled summary of Sigmon's activities:

"C. Miller Sigmon of Morganton has been a member of the Lutheridge Board of Trustees over twenty years including service first as treasurer four years and as president 17. He has also been chairman of the synodical American Missions Committee and president of the Lenoir Rhyne Alumni Association.

"Other service beyond his leadership in congregations first at Hickory and now at Morganton (where his brother is pastor) included membership on the synod's Executive Committee, presidency of the Western District Brotherhood, and attendance at three LCA conventions.

"In scouting he received the Silver Beaver Award.

"The Catawba County native graduated from Lenoir Rhyne and taught in Hickory two years before World War II army service. He was a banker in Hickory about eight years and then in Morganton 23 years.

"He has a distinguished list of community activities including United Fund, Chamber of Commerce, Economic Development, and Grace Hospital (nursing school affiliated with Lenoir Rhyne College) board and treasurer. He is a leader in the North Carolina Bankers Association."

DURHAM LIONS CLUB INDUSTRIES FOR THE BLIND

The Durham Lions Club's outstanding project became operational in 1936, in cooperation with the State Commission for the Blind. The purpose, to provide employment for blind persons. Having started on a shoestring and operating on a hand-to-mouth existence, the workshop gradually attained both industrial and financial stability.

The first workshop was operated in a rent-free building on Rigsbee Ave., opposite the Post Office. Shortly thereafter it was necessary to move to another rent-free building at Morgan & Gregson Sts., then to a third location on Morgan Street. In 1938 we moved into the old Knitwell Hoisery Mill which is our present location.

A handsome brick and tile replaced the unsightly frame building in 1947, and a subsequent addition, completed in 1957, more than doubled the space for manufacturing and storage and provided, at a lower level, meeting and recreation facilities for the club and for the blind. These facilities were named the Ashbaugh Recreation Center in honor of Lion V. J. Ashbaugh, president of the workshop from its establishment until his death in 1965. Additional land purchases have been made, and the Industries owns the Main Street frontage between Maple Street and Hyde Park Avenue. Three substantial additions have been made since 1957, a warehouse in 1963 and manufacturing space in 1970, the latter doubling the previous floor space. The latest addition, dedicated June 18, 1975, is a 23,000 square foot wing. It has been named in honor of Lion H. E. Gwin, who has been the Industries President for ten years, and Lion C. Marshall Davis, who has been Treasurer for 30 years.

From 1942 to July 1, 1971, Lion C. G. Harrell was General Manager and it was under his leadership that the Industries became a smoothly run, efficient operation. Lion Harrell retired July 1, 1971, after 29 years of able leadership.

The workshop currently employs 65 fulltime employees, 45 of whom are blind or visually handicapped to the extent that they are excluded from employment in sighted industry. Their approximate average hourly pay rate this past year was $2.37. Our employees receive annual vacations plus holidays with pay, Blue Cross medical insurance, social security, unemployment and workman's compensation; they also participate in a surplus sharing retirement plan.

Officers of the Lions Industries for the Blind are H. E. Gwin, President; C. M. Davis, Treasurer; and M. B. Allen, Secretary and Assistant Treasurer. Members of the Board of Directors whose terms expire in 1976 are: C. Marshall Davis, A. S. Holt, Jr., and Thomas M. Dosser. Those with terms expiring in 1977 are: G. H. Bennett, Johnny Fitch and Bob Dewell. Those with terms expiring in 1978 are: H. E. Gwin, Mike Brady and Dr. E. V. Grace.

REPORT OF WHITE CANE COMMITTEE

L. Neil Summers, State Director

As State White Cane Director, I have had the privilege of working with the great Lions throughout the State. Needless to say, this has been a busy but very rewarding year for me.

The White Cane goal was $260,000.00 which is $10,000.00 more than had been raised in any previous year. Even though our goal has not been reached as of this date, we believe the 1975-76 White Cane Drive has been a success. I would like to commend all the Lions of North Carolina on their enthusiastic support of the White Cane Drive. It truly shows their concern for the blind and visually handicapped citizens in our state.

L. Neil Summers

A meeting of the District White Cane Directors was held in Burlington on August 3, 1975 to make plans for the District White Cane workshops. Considerable time was spent discussing recognition to be given to clubs achieving above the average in White Cane contributions. A motion was passed that for the 1975-76 White Cane Drive, all clubs achieving a 15% increase and/or $20.00 per member be awarded a special certificate.

White Cane workshops were held in each of the nine (9) Districts during the month of September. All of the workshops were a tremendous success. We were extremely pleased by the interest and enthusiasm shown by those present.

The District White Cane Chairmen were:

District 31-A—Lion Cecil R. Young
District 31-B—Lion Jerry L. Austin
District 31-C—Lion Farris A. Brantley
District 31-D—Lion Yancey S. Cecil
District 31-E—Lion Paul W. Ritchie
District 31-F—Lion Charles Smith
District 31-G—Lion Howard E. Stallings
District 31-H—Lion John C. Thomas
District 31-J—Lion Bertie W. Cartwright

These devoted Lions have traveled many miles throughout their Districts telling the White Cane Story. My special thanks to them for a job well done.

I extend to the District Governors my appreciation for the efforts put forth in promoting the White Cane Drive through club visits, district meetings and newsletters.

I am truly grateful to Lion C. Miller Sigmon, President of the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind, for his confidence in appointing me State White Cane Director and to Lion Robert E. Spencer, Executive Director of this great Association and his efficient staff, for their cooperation and support during the year. Serving as State White Cane Director this year, has been one of my greatest experiences in Lionism. Yes—at times the pace has been very swift, the working day sometimes long, but the rewards that I have received and the friends I have made, has made it a year that I will always remember and one whose fond memories I will always cherish. Thanks again for the opportunity to serve.

White Cane totals as of April 8, 1976, are as follows:

President's Report

As we grow older we are inclined to give up the idea of reforming the world or ourselves. We have no great plans for the future or regrets for the past. We take each day as it comes along. Our ambitions are for others rather than for ourselves. Most of our missions have been fulfilled. We have not settled in full all accounts, but the score seems to be in balance. Losses are forgotten, but our gains we fondly cherish and hold close to our hearts. They are like rare jewels, our solace and pleasure not to be shared with anyone else. Is it selfish to hoard sentiment? I think not. Our memories are precious treasures we keep within the inner vault of our souls, counting them, as does a miser, only when we shut our eyes and quietly open the door of our heart after turning the key of remembrance.

Sometimes these things we cherish are mere trivialities to others; a beautiful song, some self denial, a helpful act of charity given in secret. But they are our own, our wealth, our life's completeness. When trials assail us, or we are called upon to take up the burdens of others, life would be dismal if it were not for our secret wealth, our faith in eternal goodness. Stored away behind the secret door we possess the priceless love. It is the only key.

The forty-three years in the life of our Association have been the key to the hearts of mankind — the key to the 14,600 Lions who make up the membership of this great Association. It is hard to imagine the countless hours of dedicated effort and the vast array of projects involved in the raising of White Cane funds each year; and it would be difficult to convince a non-Lion that the many, many hours of comfort and recreation to the blind and visually handicapped of our State make it all worthwhile. But to us it is. When the final pages of reports and records are received for the year you will find that the Lions of North Carolina truly unlocked their hearts to make this the finest in our forty-three years of history.

I will not report to you on the work of the individual committees as each committee chairman is reporting to you in this publication. I do wish to take this opportunity to thank all of the chairmen and committee members for their dedication to the Association. It has been a year of progress and change — change of the fiscal year, changes in our By-Laws and Constitution, changes in the role of the Properties Committee, and changes at Camp Dogwood. All of this has been with one thought in mind, to strengthen our Association and our work with the blind and visually handicapped.

I would like to recognize our office staff, which is most important to our Association. They are the ones who daily keep the records, write the letters, and compile the many reports that are necessary to an efficient organization. Bob Spencer, our Executive Director, is a man whose affiliation with this Association is more than a job, for he is a dedicated Lion who sincerely believes in what he is doing. We are fortunate to have Bob in this position. The girls in the office, Del Ray, Deborah Horton and Denise Brown, are always courteous, willing and most capable of fulfilling their duties.

You have elected a slate of officers for next year, each one qualified and dedicated to the Association. They will serve you well. However, they will expect and need from you the cooperation that has been shown in the past.

As the shadows of this Lions year lengthen and we reach the close of our business year, I pause to look back at the hospitality shown to me by each Lion, each club visited and each meeting attended. I promised you a year of devoted service, and I have kept that promise. Thank you for allowing me to serve as president of our Association. It has been an experience I shall never forget.

THREE "5000 CLUB" LIONS REACH NEW LEVELS

Past District Governor Robert Frye of the Longview Club, Past District Governor Shaw Brown of the Mooresville Club, and Lion Wilbur Rose of the Rocky Mount Luncheon Club have reached new levels of accomplishment in the collection of White Cane funds.

Lion Frye has collected a total of $8,580.46. Lion Brown has collected a total of $10,640.00. Lion Rose has collected a total of $8,827.14. These Lions will receive framed Certificates of Appreciation for their efforts.

THINGS WORK OUT

Because it rains when we wish it wouldn't Because men do what they often shouldn't,
Because crops fail and plans go wrong
Some of us grumble the whole day long.
But somehow, in spite of the care and doubt
It seems at last that things work out,

Because we lose where we hoped to gain,
Because we suffer a little pain,
Because we must work when we'd like to play
Some of us whimper along life's way.
But somehow as day will follow the night,
Most of our troubles work out all right.

So tend to your troubles and meet your care,
For the clouds must break and the sky grow fair.
Let the rain come down as it must and will,
But keep on working and hoping still,
For in spite of the grumblers who stand about,
Somehow, it seems, all things work out.

Someone Cares

Seven year old Christopher Prince celebrated his birthday Saturday, March 26, 1977. That alone would have been nice, but this birthday party was different. Christopher wanted something much greater. He wanted to help the blind.

His mother contacted a member of the New Bern Lions Club to learn just how Chris could do this. The member told her by giving to the White Cane Drive. She asked Chris' friends, who were invited to the party, not to bring gifts but bring money to help the blind. A Lion came to the party with Lion cap and vest. He brought miniature white canes and white cane balloons for each person at the party. Chris and his friends collected $22.70 for White Cane.

This little boy is only seven years old but someday he will make a great Lion. He has already captured the true spirit of Lionism — thinking of others rather than himself. Hats off to Christopher Prince and his parents for their great love for mankind.

THE HUMAN TOUCH

'Tis the human touch in this world that counts,
The touch of your hand and mine,
Which means far more to the fainting heart
Than shelter and bread and wine;
For shelter is gone when the night is o'er,
And bread lasts only a day,
But the touch of the hand and the sound of the voice
Sing on in the soul alway.

International President Visits Raleigh Lions Clinic

On January 14, 1977 Prof. Joao Fernando Sobral of Sao Paulo, Brazil, President of Lions International, visited the Raleigh Lions Clinic for the Blind in Raleigh, North Carolina. A luncheon held in his honor was attended by numerous dignitaries including International Director Lacy M. Presnell, Jr.; Howard E. Stallings, District Governor 31G; and Lynn R. Leavel, President of the Board, Raleigh Lions Clinic for the Blind. President Sobral toured the clinical facility. In the evaluation section he observed work sample testing, medical eye examination, psychological testing, and audiological testing. In the workshop section he observed the Silk Screening operation, Woodworking, Pillow Department, and Assembly Department. In simulated training President Sobral was shown the extensive training program which included several simulated work tasks on work clients were performing.

President Sobral was complimentary of the Raleigh Lions Clinic's program for visually impaired persons and congratulated the Raleigh Host Lions Club for undertaking a project of such magnitude.

The Raleigh Lions Clinic for the Blind is a non-profit rehabilitation facility for visually impaired persons. As a means of providing meaningful work, it engages in manufacturing and subcontract activities. The clinic has four production departments which are: (1) Sewing (2) Assembly and Packaging (3) Silk Screen Printing (4) Woodworking.

The Sewing Department performs all types of industrial sewing operations including the cutting, sewing and filling of bed and sofa pillows; needlepoint chair seat covers; needlepoint canvas; picking and packaging of polyester fiber; ironing board covers; among others. Customers include the federal government for whom it manufactures approximately 150,000 bed pillows per year, Scovill Manufacturing Company, and many retail commercial accounts.

The Assembly and Packaging Department is engaged in the assembly and packaging of sleeve and mini ironing boards; skeining, conditioning, labeling and packaging of needlepoint and knitting yarn; packaging of needlepoint kits; subcontract shrink film packaging of various items; and preparation of pharmaceutical tubing for hospital use. Customers include Scovill Manufacturing Company, Mallinckrodt Pharmaceutical Company, State of North Carolina, Cutter Laboratories, Oneida Plastics, and several retail commercial accounts.

The Silk Screen Printing Department is printing several types of needlepoint canvas, flags, pillow cases, university logos on throw pillows, signs, etc. Customers include Scovill Manufacturing Company, Occidental Life Insurance Company, Twin-Cat Designs, Inc., and several retail commercial accounts.

The Woodworking Department manufactures sleeve and mini ironing boards, picture frames, brick display frames, shipping pallets, and wood items for the sewing notions industry. Customers include Scovill Manufacturing Company, Lighthouse Industries in New York, various brick companies, banks and other commercial accounts.

Physical facilities consist of 63,000 square feet with 15,000 in warehouse and 33,000 in production space. A staff of 14 persons is used in addition to 60 visually impaired persons who work in the production departments.

North Carolina Lionism Has International Impact

For almost two years, Esther and I have had many wonderful experiences. We have come to know and love our Lion's families, which includes Lions, Lionesses, and Leos, in our state, in other states, and other nations. Everywhere we have visited two things have been very evident to us upon becoming acquainted with our newfound friends. The two things are:

(1) Our past officers: Past President Jack Stickley, and Past Directors, Wallace West; Henderson Rourk; and Grady Pulliam; contributed much to Lion's work, developed and cultivated many friends. Everywhere we have been we have met and visited with friends of these great Lion leaders, and their lovely wives.

(2) The North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind is well known and enjoys an excellent reputation. Lions we have visited have known of and commented about the excellent cooperation with all other agencies; the development and use of Camp Dogwood, our Eye and Human Tissue Bank, Glaucoma Clinics, sight conservation, support of research, and other services.

A large quantity of Lions have indicated their interest and desire in accomplishing and achieving with their projects, in Lion's work, a part and parcel of the great work accomplished by the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind. A lot of sub-districts and multiple districts have acquired information from North Carolina with the full intention of using our plan as their model. It has been a joy, far beyond our ability to describe, which we have experienced as we have talked with our newfound friends and have understood their knowledge and admi-

Kinston Industry Provides Employment for Blind

Lions Industries for the Blind

Kinston has a small industry which is unique to Eastern Carolina.

This industry operates in an old storage warehouse at 500 East Lenoir Avenue. The name, LIONS INDUSTRIES FOR THE BLIND, INC., is emblazoned across the front of the building.

Marvin L. Nash, past district governor of 31-H heads the 20-member board of directors which also includes Governor Charles Waller of Greenville in its membership.

When you enter this workshop the sound of power equipment, saws, planers, air staple-guns and product movement greets your ears — the normal sounds of a woodworking industry. But a closer look will reveal that 75% of the operators of this plant are legally blind, and many are multi-handicapped blind persons. When you reach another department you hear the steady hum of industrial sewing machines, rapidly stitching and repairing tobacco sheets which are essential to the leaf processing industry in Eastern Carolina. These machines are operated efficiently by the blind.

Your next stop will be in a department where the workers are busily engaged in cleaning, sorting, checking and packaging soft drink cartons, or packaging and stapling parts for a local industry. Everywhere you see individuals who are learning and producing under the watchful, trained supervision of the foreman, evaluator-trainer and qualified instructors.

The LIONS INDUSTRIES FOR THE BLIND did not happen overnight. The North Carolina Division of Services for the Blind in the late 1960's approached the Kinston Lions Club about establishment of a center to serve the area's visually handicapped. The suggestion was studied seriously by leaders of the Kinston and Ram Neuse clubs for two years before any action was authorized. The charter was issued in August of 1969 and another two years elapsed before action began to be evident to the community. Both the clubs provided "seed" money to match a federal-state matching grant for operation of the facility. The 51-month federal grant was issued on an 80-percent 20-percent basis to provide initial equipment and salaries for a three-member staff. The workshop finally was opened on East Street in April of 1971. After the Kinston Breakfast Lions Club was chartered it also became a co-sponsor of what was then entitled "Eastern Carolina Industries for the Blind, Inc." It was a non-profit organization from the beginning and operates in compliance with the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

The workshop was moved to its

Durham Industry Continues To Grow

Lions Club Industries For The Blind is passed daily by several hundred autos. Very few of these people know what is happening in the big brick structure located on East Main Street in Durham, N.C. Let's take a closer look at what is happening. Lions Club Industries employs about 75 people with about 40 of these being legally blind. These employees are from all over the State with most of them being sponsored initially by the Division of Services For The Blind. Most of these employees are self sufficient individuals who are living a productive life for themselves and their community. Lions Club Industries also employs more multi-handicapped individuals and is working to help these individuals to be productive citizens.

Lions Club Industries is a production oriented shop which produces mattresses, mattress covers, and file folders. About 85% of the work is Government contract work, being either Defense Supply Agency or General Service Administration. The remaining 15% is commercial work sold mainly to local wholesalers.

Durham Lions Club Industries

Lions Club Industries has been producing mattresses since 1936 and has kept up with improvements in the field and advanced as industry has. Today mattress production is about 48% of the total work load. Most of the mattresses are purchased by the Defense Supply Agency, a branch of the Federal Government, for distribution throughout the world. The commercial mattresses are sold in local retail furniture stores and several other outlets which sell to the general public. Mattress production is an ever changing field and Industries For The Blind will be right on top, changing to meet the new standards as they appear.

Mattress cover production is entirely Government contract. The covers are cut, sewn, inspected and packaged in this department. Most of this work is for Defense Personnel Service Center, again for distribution through out the world. This department was started in 1969 and has grown to be a thriving department. The last year has seen declines in orders for mattress covers, but there has appeared lately a slight rise which causes management to look to the future with great optimism.

Aerial view of Lions Industries for the Blind

The newest product line is file folders. Lions Club Industries began its association with this line in 1972 when it was decided this would be a feasible product for blind production. With the approval of the Board of Directors, and financial help from the Commission, and Federal grants, the plant embarked upon the journey to production. Machines were purchased, plans were drawn up, people were trained, and all aspects began to come together. In August of 1974 the plant began the first file folder production. This new product line caused the hiring of eight additional blind workers initially. That number has since grown to eleven and will continue to grow over the next few years.

This department is equipped with the most modern equipment on the market for this product and the nearest producer is in Baltimore, Maryland. With this new product line many more multi-handicapped workers, such as more blind-mentally retarded, have been employed.

All of these blind workers perform secondary operations on the folders. The folders are produced on our Faustel Webline Press. This press can cut out folders, punch for prongs and many other operations including printing. The folders are then trucked to the second floor where all of the final operations are performed. Employees place prong fasteners in folders, adhere plastic tabs to folders, and assemble pressboard folders. All of these operations and many more must be done before the folders are ready to be shipped. The folders are then inspected and sealed in fiberboard shipping containers.

Government folders are shipped all over the United States to different regional distribution points for further distribution to government agencies.

In December of 1976 the plant purchased another smaller file folder press with the help of the Division of Services for the Blind. This press will be for production of file folders not requiring punching, printing or glueing. Plans are to sell many of these to wholesalers and to eventually sell to

Camp Dogwood Summer Schedule Expanded to Twelve Weeks

The demand for space at Camp Dogwood has been so great that the Camp Committee has increased the camping season from 10 to 12 weeks. As in the past the first two weeks will serve the multi-handicapped children from the Murdoch Center. This will leave ten full weeks for regular campers.

The greatest demand for space has been in late July and August. Campers are urged to attend in June if possible.

Committee Reports

REPORT OF THE BLIND AND SIGHT SERVICE COMMITTEE

We are told that there are at least 16 million blind people in the world and over 400 thousand in the United States. In North Carolina there is a joint effort being made by the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind, the Division of Services for the Blind and the Lions to render assistance of all kinds, save sight and restore sight.

Again this year the Association co-sponsored, along with the Division of Services for the Blind, the third annual Work for the Blind Conference. It was an outstanding example of cooperation in putting on a very meaningful program. Each region presented good speakers and interesting informative programs. The Lions and Social Workers in attendance have a much better understanding of the objectives and goals of each group and much progress was made toward working together. May I share this thought — "Strive to preserve dignity and self-respect in helping others help themselves." It is felt that this conference should be continued and plans are being formulated for September 1977 bringing even more Lions in to take advantage of the opportunity to learn of the structured program.

Getting clubs to submit, once a year, their Blind and Sight Service Activities Reports continues to be a problem. The report preparation has been simplified by putting all categories on a dollar per member basis, making them easier to understand and fairer. This year the club only had to enter the amounts on the report and the staff of the Association completed the report, which worked very well and all reports were computed on the same basis. A new category was added for "Local Service Projects." This will give us a better picture of what the Lions are doing for the blind and visually handicapped of North Carolina. A complete spread of these reports is printed in this magazine, showing what service each club in the State rendered this year to the Blind. If your club's hard work is not listed, find out why your secretary failed to send in a report. We really need a report from every club to get a complete overview of the work accomplished.

Let me share with you that much work was done and many glowing reports received. In another section of this magazine the winners of the awards are listed. Your District Chairmen and I congratulate the winners. There were many close races and we would like to give awards to all, but that is not possible. I would like to commend all of the clubs for their continuing support of the blind and visually handicapped. Lions, you are an important link in this service. Like a missing note spoils the music — without "you" there cannot be a complete program. Keep up the good work.

I have personally enjoyed serving as chairman of this committee. I am grateful for the opportunity it afforded me to learn more about the work with the blind and visually handicapped of North Carolina. The cooperation received from the District Chairmen and staff of the Association has been excellent.

James A. Applewhite, Jr.
Chairman

REPORT OF THE BUDGET AND FINANCE COMMITTEE

Executive Director's Report

It is easy to write a report at the end of such a successful year. All phases of our operation have made vast strides forward. We have seen White Cane totals, District by District and Statewide, reach all time highs. Much of the credit for this phenomenal growth must go to the District Governors and the great White Cane Directors who were working in their Districts. These eighteen men, striving together, were working not only to put their District on top and to provide funds to meet the many needs of the blind in North Carolina, but they were working also to pay honor and tribute to the greatest of North Carolina Lions, Past International President Jack Stickley.

At the beginning of the 1976-77 White Cane Drive, a new award was established, the John L. Stickley Award. Rather high standards were set because it was felt that the winning of this award should indicate real accomplishment. Each District Governor set out to win the Award. The fact that six out of the nine made it is a fine tribute to the respect they hold for Past President Jack.

Elsewhere in this magazine you will find another illustration of the true spirit of giving demonstrated in the article about the seven year old boy in New Bern who chose to have his friends contribute to White Cane rather than bring gifts on his birthday. I find this particularly fitting since the child shares a birthday with your Executive Director.

As you will note in the Committee Reports much progress has been made in many phases of our work for the blind. We are particularly proud of the advances made at Camp Dogwood. After a thorough study the Camp Dogwood Committee felt that placing the Camp on a six months operation would be a giant step forward. The camping season has been expanded to twelve weeks in order to devote two full weeks to the multi-handicapped children from the Murdoch Center. This will also give additional time for our adult campers and hopefully will relieve some of the over-crowding experienced in late July and August. A very fine staff has been employed for the summer of 1977. Many are returning from the excellent 1976 staff. A new caretaker and housekeeper have been employed. Del George, a long time member of the Hickory Lions Club and a person who has worked faithfully for Camp Dogwood in the past and his fine wife, Bertha, joined our Camp Dogwood staff on April 1, 1977. We welcome them and look forward to making much progress with their help. Currently we have negotiations underway with South Carolina, Virginia and Tennessee concerning use of the Camp in September and October. Perhaps these states will be able to take one or two weeks during that period to provide a camping experience for their blind.

President Clyde Stutts has put in long days and many nights working for your Association. He selected excellent committee chairmen and it is because of their hard work that much progress has been made. They have proven what can be done when we attack a problem with determination and move forward without hesitation. There are many other new programs waiting to be undertaken. Perhaps the additional funds raised in the White Cane Drive this year will make it possible for us to become involved in many new areas. In the past we have only scratched the surface in work for the blind in North Carolina.

Robert E. Spencer

During the year we have worked closely with the North Carolina Affiliate of the American Diabetes Association in the preparation of a Bill which will provide Glaucoma and Diabetes screening in all 100 counties. If this Bill is approved by the General Assembly it cannot provide screening in all counties overnight but will be a gradual process.

The knowledge of what North Carolinians are doing through their great North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind has been spread throughout the world. Many people including the Lions International Office in Chicago have requested copies of our Association film "You Are My Eyes" for preview purposes. At the beginning of the year your Executive Director was invited to speak to a seminar on Camps for the Handicapped at the Lions International Convention in Honolulu. The topic assigned was "Legal and Medical Aspects of Operating a Camp for the Blind". There was much interest shown in the subject and Lions from around the world asked many questions about our camping program here in North Carolina.

Last July I accompanied a bus load of North Carolina members of the American Association of Workers for the Blind, many of whom are blind, to the Southeastern Regional Conference in Jackson, Mississippi. This Regional Conference is composed of the nine southeastern States and makes it possible for all groups engaged in work for the blind in the Southeast to come together and discuss common problems and ways of solving those problems. At this conference, your Executive Director was elected President-Elect for the Southeastern Regional and will serve as Regional President during the 1978-80 period. In 1980 North Carolina will host the Regional Conference. This conference has never been held in the Tar Heel State. We will need the help of many Lions in preparing to host the conference and to make our coworkers from throughout the Southeast welcome in the Tar Heel State.

Much credit for what has been accomplished this year must go to the girls in the Raleigh Office. They have

Monroe Lions Activities Help the Blind

An attic sale held by the Monroe Lions Club produced a profit of $985 to be used in their club activities. This money will help to sponsor a midget league baseball team, provide funds for their annual White Cane Drive, the annual Christmas Party for the blind, and other worthwhile projects.

At Christmas the Monroe Lions gave 13 boxes of fruit and groceries to blind persons. The club also participated in the third annual Christmas party for the blind of Union County by sponsoring 19 blind persons. The party was held at the Monroe Country Club. Master of Ceremonies for the event was Lion Fred Kirby, a radio and television star from WBT and WBT-TV, Channel 3 in Charlotte. Lion Kirby is a member of the Indian Trail Lions Club. A total of 180 persons, including the blind, Lions, their wives and guests, attended this party.

John was out with the boys one evening and before he realized it, the morning of the next day had dawned. He hesitated to call home, but finally hit upon an idea. He rang his house. When his wife answered the phone, he shouted, "Don't pay the ransom, honey, I escaped!"

Doctor: "Nurse, prepare the patient for extraction."

Nurse: "Sir, do you realize this will cost you $48, and did you bring your checkbook?"

Patient: "Yes."

Nurse: "Doctor, the patient is prepared for extraction."

ration of our long time friends in North Carolina. It has been a joy to know that people outside are familiar with the magnificent achievements which have been brought about by Lions, Lionesses, and Leos working together.

It is impossible for us to share in this limited space many of the exciting experiences which we have enjoyed. We must share at least one. In November, 1976, one of the few Saturday evenings we were home, the telephone rang. The voice we heard was that of our friends, Johnny and Ann Balbo from LaGrange, Illinois. Johnny, as you know, is a past president of Lions International. Johnny and Ann were seeking information for one of their fellow Lions and his family. Johnny asked if I was acquainted with Dr. Wolbarsht. I indicated to him that unfortunately I did not personally know the doctor, but I would be happy to find him or be of any assistance we could.

Johnny and Ann related to us what is a beautiful and inspiring story. Their friends, Lion Andy and Ann Rausch, have two sons who have retinitis pigmentosis, a disease that causes blindness. The diagnoses for these two young men, Drew and Richard Rausch, had been made at several eye clinics and by several doctors, including the Illinois Lions Clinic. The diagnosis was that blindness was inevitable and probably within the next few years. The mother, Ann, was not able nor willing to accept the diagnosis as being final. According to Johnny and Ann, she talked with many people and someone, somewhere, indicated that there were two doctors in the world who might offer some hope and help to her two sons. The two doctors were located in Russia and Sweden. The two sons are students at the University of Mississippi.

Ann Rausch, their mother, placed a telephone call to the doctor located in Sweden. After explaining the many examinations and diagnoses to this doctor, she simply wanted to know if there was any hope or possible help for her two sons. The doctor indicated to her that some hope did exist and that some treatments have been researched and not fully perfected. He indicated to her that he would be most happy to examine her sons. However, he indicated to Ann that the research in which he is currently engaged is secondary research to that which was begun some six or seven years ago, as he understood it, at the Duke Eye Center in Durham, North Carolina funded by the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind.

A doctor in Sweden telling a lady in Illinois, of research in North Carolina which may help her sons who are in Mississippi. WE ARE INTERNATIONAL, AREN'T WE?

The doctor suggested to Mrs. Rausch, that since he was in Sweden, he would suggest she contact Dr. Wolbarsht at Duke Eye Center. Ann decided, of course, to follow the Swedish doctor's suggestion. It was for this reason that they needed to contact the doctor in Durham. To make a fairly long report somewhat short, she contacted the Duke Eye Center and Dr. Wolbarsht. The Rauschs then made an appointment for December 16, 1976. Ann Rausch and her two sons, Drew, age 18, and Richard, age 20, came to the Center for three days of examinations and tests. The report from the Rauschs and from the Center indicated that treatment, including some medication and diet will be of help to these young men and may lengthen the period of time they will enjoy their sight.

The big point in this is that research dollars started several years ago may now be producing results in helping humans and probably will continue to produce. In addition, the research dollars have had an effect outside our Nation. I am sure you join us in swelling with pride of many reports such as this coming to us about our work.

In early January, one of our students, Russell Swanson, at the Governor Morehead School for the Blind, had serious surgery scheduled in Los Angeles, California. Russell and his mother, Mrs. Lillie Thigpen, flew to California in early January. Mrs. Thigpen was to be in California for at least three to four weeks. Russell's surgery was for a very serious brain tumor which had the possibility of causing deafness. We contacted Lions International Past President, Harry Aslan, and he in turn contacted several Lions and Lionesses, including the President of the Berkeley Lions Club and Lion Robert Anderson, a past District Governor who is a candidate for International Director. These great Lions and Lionesses not only met Russell and his mother when they landed, but also developed friendships with them, provided a living space for Mrs. Thigpen, and many other friendly and Lionistic services. This is just another example of how we can help each other and even more effectively with Lions Clubs, Lionesses and Leo groups working together.

Russell and his mother returned to Raleigh in February. He plans to go back to Los Angeles for additional surgery next month. The Berkeley Lions and Lionesses have plans to further aid and assist Russell and his mother. Isn't this great?

MOORESVILLE LIONS HOLD THREE-DAY HOLIDAY SALE

Mooresville Lion Herbert Beck arranges articles for a display in the lobby of Piedmont Insurance Agency. The agency provided space for the club to conduct its three-day sale of gift Christmas suggestions made by visually handicapped persons. The articles included cloth dolls, stuffed animals, woven hats, picnic baskets and assorted other wood products. Mooresville Lions have sponsored the sale in mid-December for many years. All profit from the project is used to help blind persons in North Carolina. Beck is chairman of the club project.

present location in September of 1975 when it outgrew its original quarters. Larry Blount of Duplin County has served as executive director of the industry for the past two years. The name was changed officially about one year ago to "Lions Industries for the Blind, Inc." to more closely relate to its founders and co-sponsors, the Lions of Kinston.

Since July 1, 1976, under the leadership of Governor Charles Waller of District 31-H, the local workshop has been a project of the Lions Clubs throughout District 31-H. Governor Waller, a former Kinstonian who resides in Greenville, has asked each Lion in the district to contribute 50 cents to the facility as a part of a more stable funding for the workshop. More than $2,400 has been donated in the first year of sponsorship.

While emphasis is placed on production in order to earn funds to keep operations going, the most important part of the facility's program is helping people — help that is both therapeutic and financial and which is most essential to the blind and the multi-handicapped blind in the area. The workshop does not have an official financial underwriter, although it has received an initial grant of some $2,500 from the N.C. Lions Association for the Blind's White Cane receipts. Help from this agency and the Lions in the future could mean permanent financial strength essential to its growth.

Even though it is small and its operations have been limited, the workshop in a brief period has exposed its training to over 100 clients from a wide area of Eastern Carolina. This training has helped them enjoy a sense of usefulness and dignity that stems from productivity, personal accomplishment and a job related to their individual capabilities. The workshop goal is to train from 125 to 150 such handicapped persons over the next five years.

Operating Power Equipment

The staff provides evaluation and training, using work-related activities to provide the development of new work skills, work-load tolerance, and efficient work habits, which stimulate personal and social development for these handicapped persons. The present program teaches skills in woodworking, sewing and packaging. Subcontract work from area industries provides the work and earning opportunities for the facility and its clients. Quality control is stressed since this factor is required of handicapped and others who work in regular industry.

For the past year the workshop has been associated with The National Industries for the Blind and Director Blount is engaged in looking for products the clients can manufacture or service under contracts. Through the NIB it is anticipated that upgrading of skills and a steady program of on-the-job training can be achieved through firmer financial backing. This eventually will assure higher remuneration for clients, making the workshop scale more competitive with similar workshops throughout the state and nation.

Major needs of the workshop at present are a new and more adequate building and one or more substantial, long-range contracts which would meet standards of the NIB on federal agency purchasing lists. Each would contribute greatly toward a better program for the blind and multi-handicapped throughout Eastern Carolina.

The workshop has received a number of generous gifts from Lions Clubs, individuals and other groups since its inception. All are deeply appreciated and fully tax deductible.

The LIONS INDUSTRIES FOR THE BLIND seeks to advance interest in the visually handicapped and aid them in becoming well-adjusted and productive members of society. This goal can be achieved much more rapidly through the organized support of District 31-H Lions and other Lions across the State. This growing industry already is a matter of pride to its current supporters whose vision assures it an even greater future in the generations to come.

NORTHWESTERN HELPS DOGWOOD
R. C. Harris, right, hands a check for $1,000 to Jim Mack Morrow. Harris is a Northwestern Bank vice president in charge of the bank's Mooresville office. Morrow is a member of the Mooresville Lions Club. The money is from the bank to the club, with the understanding that it will go from the club to Camp Dogwood, the Lake Norman recreational facility provided for blind persons by North Carolina Lions. For the past four years, the Mooresville office of Northwestern has made an annual $1,000 contribution to local Lions to be used in further developing Camp Dogwood.

worked faithfully and diligently, often under great pressure to meet deadlines, but have always come through when the going was tough. They are a great staff and deserve far more credit than they usually receive.

Public Information Chairman, C. Ray Pruette, has been singled out for honors twice during this year. Before a meeting of the Franklin County teachers and administrators he was presented a Certificate of Award which carried the citation "In appreciation for the many contributions made to the public schools in Franklin County and for his sincere and devoted interest in the education of its children". The Franklinton Lions Club chose to honor him through the establishment of the C. Ray Pruette Lion of the Year Award. It will be given each year to a deserving member of the Franklinton Lions Club.

Any time you need a program on any phase of Association activities please feel free to call the Association Office and we will provide help in securing your program. Often it is not necessary to send someone from Raleigh. There may be someone in your local community who can provide you with the program you need.

Last, I wish to thank all the Lions of North Carolina who have played a part in making this the greatest year in the history of the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind. As I travel about this country and make contact with Lions from throughout the world. I am constantly reminded that our North Carolina brand of Lionism is the best Lionism in all the world.

the State of North Carolina. With this added capacity more blind workers can be employed.

The future looks good for this new department and for Lions Club Industries as they grow together with the goal to more gainful employment for more legally blind individuals. With everyone working together this can become one of the best workshops in the World.

There isn't as much harm in things going in one ear and out the other as there is in things going in one ear, getting all mixed up, and coming out the mouth.

Mooresville Lions Elect "Queen of Ladies Night"

Mrs. Inez K. Kilpatrick of Charlotte was honored for her service to visually handicapped persons of North Carolina recently during the Mooresville Lions Club's ladies night banquet at the War Memorial. Mrs. Kilpatrick, who is blind, was presented to the Lions, their wives and guests and chosen "queen of the party". With her, from left, are Gene Kelley, club president; Shaw Brown, who introduced her and summarized her service; and Larry Kincaid, guest speaker and director of volunteer service at the Murdoch Center at Butner. Mrs. Kilpatrick was one of the nation's first case workers for the blind, and she served 30 years with the North Carolina Commission for the Blind. Brown lauded her "compassion, generosity and determination", and he said she is a generous supporter of Lions projects to aid the visually handicapped. She was given honorary membership in the local club, and the Distinguished Service Award by the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind. Also during the banquet, attended by 115 persons, the club awarded a plaque to the Mooresville Tribune for "continued support of club projects".

BUDGET AND FINANCE REPORT

hear White Cane Chairman Elbert R. Bryant report a most successful drive with contributions exceeding our stated goal. The leadership and each Club is to be commended for this outstanding work.

With the changing of the Association fiscal year from July 1-June 30th to April 1-March 31st we are concluding a nine month program. To prepare the 1977-1978 budget, this committee met on February 13th at the Association office. Prior to this date letters were sent to every Agency that in the past had received some funding from the Association; requesting budgetary requests for current funding and stating exactly how it would be utilized. Also, all expense items within the Association were broken down for study and evaluation.

Further, the Camp Dogwood Committee presented two budgets for consideration: one covering the normal three months operation and a second to cover an additional three months making it a total six months endeavor. After serious study, the committee felt we should support the Camp in its attempt to increase its services by approving a budget figure to cover a six months operation. . . . At a cost of

Jumper Cables Boost Eye Injuries

Restarting dead automobile batteries with jumper cables on cold winter days and nights can pose a serious threat to eyesight.

Charging a dead battery with jumper cables releases a mixture of hydrogen and oxygen gases which can be triggered by a spark into a violent explosion, often into the face of the user.

Although such explosions are not frequent, the injuries they cause are very often extremely severe. Reported eye damage includes loss of sight by a man who was struck in the eye by a flying battery cap; a woman who suffered corneal laceration from flying fragments; and a man who required emergency surgery to repair retinal damage.

Whenever jumper cables are used to start a car with a dead battery, the following procedure is recommended.

1. Remove the caps from both batteries to allow the dangerous gases to escape.
2. Connect the red clamp of the jumper cable to the positive (+) pole of the dead battery.
3. Connect the other end of the same cable to the positive pole of the booster battery.
4. Connect the second cable to the negative (−) pole of the booster battery.
5. Finally, clamp the other end to the engine block of the vehicle with the dead battery, on the side away from the battery.

The stalled car and the car containing the live booster battery should not touch in any way, the clips on the red cable should not make accidental contact with any part of either car, and smoking should be prohibited while working with the cables.

After starting the disabled car, first remove the cable from the engine block, then the other end from the booster battery. Now disconnect red cable first from the now-recharging battery, then from the booster battery.

These procedures can be used on most vehicles but may not always apply to foreign cars or U.S. models built prior to 1953. In these cases, consult owner manuals.

*During 1975-76 all reserve funds were depleted due to changes in the economy. The 1976-77 fiscal year being nine months only has given funds to restore some reserve funds. The 1977-78 budget is an increase of $44,700.00 over the 1976-77 budget — therefore, the restoration of some reserve funds is imperative.

BUDGET AND FINANCE REPORT

only $6,000 from the Association the additional three months can be offered to the Blind of our State.

With this information in hand, the Budget and Finance Committee prepared a suggested budget of $316,475.00 for 1977-1978 and this was presented to the Board of Directors meeting in Winston-Salem on March 6, 1977. The Board adopted all line items with the exception of the amount allocated to the Eye Bank. Because of prior developments and recommendations, this suggested allocation was returned to our committee for further study with the notation that it would be reconsidered at the May Board of Directors meeting at the State Convention.

To comply with this request a special meeting of this committee was held in Raleigh on March 13, 1977 for the purpose of evaluating each recommendation as presented and for a thorough discussion of issues concerning the Eye Bank allocation. Conclusions will be submitted to the Board of Directors meeting in Greensboro.

Our committee is optimistic for year 1977-1978 as evidenced in presenting a budget anticipating slightly higher White Cane receipts and the disbursing of same through increased allocation to many deserving agencies—agencies that over the past year or so had to cut their programs because funds simply were not available. As we grow so will our arms of outreach, and that's our reason for being.

REPORT OF THE CAMP DOGWOOD COMMITTEE

Camp Dogwood is looking forward to a super camping season with an opening scheduled the same weekend as our Lions State Convention. Our first guests will be youngsters from the Murdoch Center. We are looking forward to a longer camping season this summer and in the future. The Camp Dogwood Committee submitted a budget this year which would lengthen the camping season from three months to six months in addition to our regular week-end groups and special events. The North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind Board of Directors approved this budget and the Camp Dogwood Committee believes this will be a giant step forward for the Camp. The additional time will allow better scheduling and use by many more campers.

Last year we obtained three mobile homes to be used as staff quarters and a craft center. Improvements are being made to these units until permanent dwellings are constructed at a future date. Through a most generous gift, we have been able to replace two of the boats that have been used for years and have seen very heavy service. Facilities to aid the dock and to service the boats are being added which will allow our counselors more time to work with the campers. Two new paddle boats have been donated. We also have two new horses at the Camp. Our facilities are in good shape and we look for a great year under Camp Director Mike Thompson and his staff.

The Camp Dogwood Committee firmly believes that it is the duty and responsibility of each Lion in North Carolina to let every blind individual in this State know about this camp and how they may use it. We want them all to have the opportunity and there is no better way than for a Lion to sit down with a blind person and tell them about it and offer to help that person have a fine vacation and meet some new friends. We are sure that the Camp will grow and expand with your interest and it will help all of us serve.

REPORT OF THE CAMP DOGWOOD FUND RAISING COMMITTEE

The Camp Dogwood Fund Raising Committee enjoyed its most successful year during 1976-77. Televisions were again given away at each of the three mid-winter conferences.

The District Chairmen are the ones who really put this project across in their Districts and a special thanks goes to each of them: Jesse Surles, 31-A; Melton Hope, 31-B; James Loftin, 31-C; Grover Blaylock, 31-D; Earl Ketner, 31-E; Woody Huggins, 31-F; Pete Falkner, 31-G; John Thomas, 31-H and Claude Brinn, 31-J. A special thanks also goes to J. W. Burress, Inc. of Winston-Salem for the use of their van in transporting the televisions to each of the mid-winter conferences. Also, thanks to Clyde Bovender of the Arcadia Lions Club for painting the signs which were used.

Ticket sales were great in all Districts as the following figures indicate:

District A—$1,085.00
District B—$5,178.00
District C—$1,477.00
District D—$4,524.00
District E—$2,940.50
District F—$3,977.00
District G—$3,323.00
District H—$1,653.00
District J —$2,390.00

Gross receipts amounted to $26,547.50 — less expenses for the three televisions, the printing of the tickets, telephone, postage and supplies — $2,287.04. This leaves a net total for Camp Dogwood of $24,260.48.

Congratulations to District B and Chairman Melton Hope for a high total of $5,178.00. Please note elsewhere in this magazine a listing of the winners of the three televisions and a listing of the Clubs in each District receiving an award for the highest amount raised per member.

W. Dale Tesh, Jr., Chairman

—The racket became unbearable, and the mother called out to her children playing in the yard: "Jane, stop that screaming and yelling! Why can't you be nice and quiet like Johnny?" "But Mommy," the little girl replied, "That's part of the game. He's Daddy coming home late, and I'm YOU."

REPORT OF THE CONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS COMMITTEE

The Constitution and By-Laws Committee upon request of the Executive Committee studied the following items and made recommendations to the Board of Directors who in turn accepted them and notice was mailed to all club Presidents that proposed changes would be made at the General Meeting in Fontana Dam, November 7, 1976.

The proposed changes that were accepted are as follows:

Article 5, Section 2, now reads,

"The fiscal year of this Association shall be April 1st through March 31st."

The Committee's report noted that this change is only with respect to funds and financial reports and will in no way affect the date on which the Association officers will take office. Financial reports at the State Convention will be on an annual basis for the Association and for Camp Dogwood. The White Cane Drive will end on March 31 which will coincide with the end of the fiscal year.

The Committee further recommended that,

Article II, Section 1-C (which describes the responsibilities of the Budget and Finance Committee) adds the following wording:

"Committee members shall be appointed for a term of three years. The first appointments to the Committee shall serve terms as follows:

Sub-Districts B, E, and H — One Year

Sub-Districts C, F, and J — Two Years

Sub-Districts A, D, and G — Three Years."

and,

Article II, Section I-J (which describes the responsibilities of the Long Range Planning Committee) will have also added the following wording:

"Committee members shall be appointed for a term of three years. The first appointments to the Committee shall serve terms as follows:

Sub-Districts A, D, and G — One Year

Sub-Districts B, E, and H — Two Years

Sub-Districts C, F, and J — Three Years."

These recommendations will place the Budget and Finance Committee and the Long Range Planning Committee on a rotation basis as currently employed by the Properties Committee. Three members will rotate off the Committee and three new members will be added each year. All new members will be appointed for a period of three years assuring continuity and developing greater expertise for members serving on these committees.

Wallace I. West

There are several other items that should be studied in the coming year that have been brought to the attention of this Committee. After due study these items will be reported to the Board of Directors for proper action and distribution.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the members of the Committee for the miles traveled and the hours spent working with these matters of the Association.

Wallace I. West, Chairman

REPORT OF THE EYE AND HUMAN TISSUE BANK COMMITTEE

The North Carolina Eye and Human Tissue Bank is about to complete an outstanding year of services to the blind and visually handicapped. I believe the records will be broken in number of Eye and Human Tissue Wills secured. The Eye Bank has received 15,084 for the period April 16, 1976-March 15, 1977. On file with the Eye Bank are 149,495 wills. During this period 202 transplant operations were performed.

These records are impressive, however, during the year many have been waiting for a transplant operation due to the lack of available tissue and not enough wills on record. We can and we must find a way to serve every person who needs a transplant in North Carolina.

Listed below are the number of pledges received through March 15, 1977.

District	Pledges	Per Member
A	826	.57
B	884	.63
C	665	.51
D	2315	1.205
E	947	.54
F	1520	.90
G	2256	1.211
H	1030	.68
J	209	.15
MISC.	4432
TOTAL	PLEDGES	15,084

The Lions of North Carolina are to be commended for their efforts in supporting the Eye Bank, telling the Eye Bank Story and securing Eye Wills. Also, the President and the staff at the Eye Bank are to be commended for their work in making this anohter successful year.

The success and statistics I write about represent living people. Stella Phelps is 73 years old. Members of her family in every generation as far back as she can trace them have eventually succumbed to blindness. Not Stella! She can see because you support the Eye Bank.

Marty Morris is 14 months old. Born blind, he could not find his toys. Marty can see today. His transplant was successful.

The Board of Directors of the Eye Bank are determined to serve all those who need a transplant and to this end we solicit your continuing support.

Jack H. Frank, Chairman

GLAUCOMA-DIABETES DETECTION AND SIGHT CONSERVATION COMMITTEE REPORT

As this year draws near to its end, I would like to express my thanks to all who have been involved in any phase of our work — glaucoma-diabetes detection clinics and sight conservation. Without these many dedicated individuals little progress would be possible.

Eight mass clinic dates were scheduled this year and with the exception of a few yet to be held, reports of their successes are truly delightful. When one person is helped, I believe, all work involved is justified. Let's keep the ball rolling!

With Bob Spencer working in close proximity with several persons from the North Carolina Division of Services for the Blind, a bill has been drafted and introduced into the General Assembly which would establish and fund permanent clinics throughout our State. This is a step in the right direction so that improved follow-up might be incorporated into the total program. Please educate your representatives and senators to the need for this new legislation.

Thanks again fellow Lions for your invaluable service this year.

PROPERTIES COMMITTEE REPORT

The Properties Committee this year continued to provide, when finances were available, for the necessary requests at Camp Dogwood. The committee this year was again divided into sub-committees as follows:

Building:
Chairman: Bob Frye
Russel Mann
Henry Leggett

Grounds:
Chairman: Irwin Belk
Vernon Jones
John Xanthos

Waterfront:
Chairman: John King
C. M. Black
Doug Esten

Improvements at Camp Dogwood in the construction stage or completed are the following: a platform at the gas pump, nature trail, air-conditioning of mobile homes, a small building on the pier for life jackets, etc., and a majority of the boats have been replaced. All of the boats are now in excellent condition. We are grateful to an anonymous contributor for funds sufficient to purchase new boats.

A Grants Committee was appointed for the purpose of contacting foundations, industry, and interested individuals who possibly will contribute to our building program. Members of the Committee are Bob Frye, Irwin Belk, Henry Leggett and John Xanthos.

A topography map is now being completed. This will help in deciding the location of future buildings.

Priorities for new building were established early this year. The buildings will be constructed as funds are available. First priority is the addition to the Lodge, second is an arts and craft building and third a dormitory. The topography map with priorities established and information supporting priorities should provide the Grants Committee with sufficient information to secure grants.

This is my third and last year as chairman of the Properties Committee. I appreciate the opportunity to serve the Association.

REPORT OF THE PUBLIC INFORMATION COMMITTEE

The Public Information Committee of the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind met at the Holiday Inn in Burlington, North Carolina, on Sunday, August 15, 1976 at 2:00 p.m. for the purpose of planning a publicity campaign for the White Cane Drive on October 9 and 10.

Meeting with the Committee was President Clyde Stutts and C. P. "Smoke" Wayne, First Vice-President in charge of Public Information.

The result of this first meeting can be found in President Stutts report to the North Carolina Lions State Council meeting in Morehead City, North Carolina, October 17, 1976. He reported that "Past District Governor C. Ray Pruette called a Public Information Committee meeting to discuss our publicity campaign for the White Cane Drive on October 9 and 10. Radio and television spots were sent to all club presidents in the State and to a large majority of the radio and television stations. As a result Executive Director Bob Spencer and I appeared in Rocky Mount for a radio interview in conjunction with the Rocky Mount Luncheon Lions Radiothon. A television appearance is scheduled at WLOS-TV in Asheville on October 25, to be shown November 7. Governor Holshouser proclaimed September as Sight Conservation Month and October 9 and 10 as Lions White Cane Days. As a result of these actions we received very good publicity."

We were very busy during the month of January 1977 with an Information Exhibit at each of the three Mid-Winter Conventions held in Boone, January 7-8; Roanoke Rapids, January 14-15; and Fayetteville, January 21-22.

As Chairman, I am pleased to report that the Association exhibit evoked much interest and was well received by the Lions of each District.

A variety of items were displayed: plaques, pins, life memberships, memorials, eye-wills, Camp Dogwood information, budgets, White Cane material along with other Association literature.

President Clyde Stutts commenting on the exhibiting in a letter to me dated February 7, said, "Enabled the Lions of North Carolina to receive information about their Association that otherwise would not have reached them. I believe this is a step in the right direction by first educating the members of our Association, and hoping that they, in turn, will help to educate the public concerning our purposes and goals."

My sincere thanks to President Clyde Stutts, Executive Director Bob Spencer and his outstanding staff for their commitment to excellence in spreading the good news of our great Association to all the Lions of North Carolina.

An especial thanks to the nine district information chairmen — William Staudenmaier; Jerry L. Austin; Paul R. Hamrick; D. Edgar Stevens; Paul W. Ritchie; Ralph Spivey, Jr.; A. T. Allen, Jr.; Clyde R. Dagenhart; and L. H. Taylor — all gave inspiration and support.

REPORT OF THE WHITE CANE COMMITTEE

As White Cane Director for the year 1976-77, I have had the privilege of traveling from one end of North Carolina to the other and I am fully convinced that the Lions of North Carolina are the best in all of Lionism. At the State Council meeting in Asheville in July 1976, we asked that a statewide goal of $15.00 per member be adopted. The State Council agreed. We did not set a goal for total contributions. However, our Association budget was based on receipts of $249,500.00 and we realized we needed this amount and more for our Association to provide the services the Lions of North Carolina expect of it. On March 31, 1977, the total contribution was $306,139.95. This amount is an all time high for White Cane. Fellow Lions permit me to remind you that you accomplished it in a nine month White Cane Drive. I wish to commend and thank all the Lions of North Carolina for their support in this outstanding White Cane Drive.

The plans for our Drive were developed at a meeting of the District White Cane Chairmen in the Association Office on Sunday, July 12, 1976. All nine District Chairmen were present for this meeting with each one taking a very active part in planning the Drive. It was decided that all Clubs with contributions of $25.00 per member or a 25% increase over last year will be awarded a special certificate. Also at the State Council meeting in Asheville we announced that we would be awarding the District Governors and District White Cane Chairmen, meeting certain qualifications, a new award. This award was named the John L. Stickley Award and will be presented at the Association Awards Luncheon at the State Convention.

We began our workshops in August and all were completed by September 19, 1976. We feel that all the workshops were successful and that the response we received signaled the beginning of a successful White Cane Drive.

The District Chairmen are:

District A—Jesse P. Surles
District B—D. Wayne Honeycutt
District C—William L. Woolard
District D—Robert "Pete" Wright
District E—R. Bennie Rumfelt
District F—Gene Burns
District G—Charles F. Powers, III
District H—Harold B. Lee
District J—John Kaplafka

All of these devoted Lions are to be commended for a job well done. They gave of themselves and their time by traveling across their Districts trying to tell the Lions the White Cane Story. My sincere thanks to each of them. Also I wish to express my appreciation to the fine Lions serving as our District Governors this year for their support and encouragement in the White Cane Drive.

Elbert Ray Bryant

To President Clyde Stutts, my appreciation for allowing me to serve as White Cane Director. Also, to Executive Director Robert Spencer and fine staff at the Association Office, thank you for your help and support.

Fellow Lions and Lionesses, there have been quite a few crossroads and bumps in the highways of our State since that first White Cane workshop in District E, August 2, 1976, but the support that each of you have given this year's White Cane Drive makes each and every hour spent worth the time and effort.

I said in the beginning that in North Carolina we had the greatest Lions in all of Lionism and I believe you have proven this. Once again, thanks to each and every one of you for your support and dedication. The visually impaired of this State are fortunate to have you as their friend.

Elbert Ray Bryant
State Director

A little boy ran down the aisles in a supermarket frantically calling "Martha! Martha!"

His mother finally approached him chiding: "You should call me 'Mother' not 'Martha.' I'm 'mother' to you, you know."

"I know," the 6-year-old replied, "but this store is full of mothers."

A PRAYER IN SUMMER

Oh, give us pleasure in the flowers today;
And give us not to think so far away
As the uncertain harvest; keep us here
All simply in the springing of the year.

Oh, give us pleasure in the orchard white,
Like nothing else by day, like ghosts by night;
And make us happy in the happy bees,
The swarm dilating round the perfect trees.

And make us happy in the daring bird
That suddenly above the bees is heard,
The meteor that thrusts in with needle bill
And off a blossom in mid air stands still.

For this is love and nothing else is love,
The which it is reserved for God above
To sanctify to what far ends He will,
But which it only needs that we fulfill.

—ROBERT FROST

President's Report

The forty-four years of service rendered by your North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind exemplifies the dedication and generosity of countless thousands of Lions and North Carolinians down through the years. All of us, and especially the blind and visually handicapped of our great State, are indebted to all who have brought our Association to its present pinnacle of service.

I am mindful of the hard work and dedication of those who have served in the past in positions of leadership in our Association and carried the torch of responsibility in such a manner as to cause our flame of service to grow ever higher. Every Past District Governor, Past Association President, and Past State White Cane Director served many hours, weeks, and months to enable the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind to become one of the truly outstanding organizations in all of Lions International in service to the blind and visually handicapped. It is my pleasure to express appreciation to each of them on behalf of the blind and visually handicapped and all North Carolina Lions.

The District Governors for 1977-1978 provided strong leadership in their respective districts and their efforts resulted in another banner year in White Cane receipts. I wish to thank each District Governor, District White Cane Director, and especially State White Cane Director Avron Upchurch for a job well done!

All committees functioned well and I wish to take this opportunity to thank each Committee Chairman and each Committee Member for their dedication to the Association. Your officers, directors, and members of this executive committee are also deserving of much praise.

Our office staff served beyond the call of duty throughout the year in the discharge of their many duties. It was a pleasure to serve with our Executive Director, Bob Spencer. The Lions of North Carolina are most fortunate to have a man of Bob Spencer's ability, energy, and dedication serving as Executive Director of our Association. I wish to express my personal appreciation to Bob for having made the awesome job of President of the Association a joy and a pleasure for me. The entire staff, both in the Raleigh Office and at Camp Dogwood, continued their outstanding job and I am most appreciative of their dedication to our Association.

C. P. Wayne

I call your attention to the Committee Reports in this publication and know that you will be pleased to note our many accomplishments during the year.

I am most appreciative of the hospitality extended to me by the many Lions Clubs that I visited during the year and to the many Lions and Lionesses that offered words of encouragement and help in my travels.

Your new slate of officers are capable and dedicated leaders and I know that they will lead our Association well during the coming year. I solicit your continued support of them in their work for the Association.

In closing, I would remind us all of the words found in Matthew 25:40 "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethern ye have done it unto me".

Thank you for allowing me to serve as President of our Association. It has been an experience that I shall never forget and always cherish.

Brownies of Troop 842 aren't different – just blind

By WENDY ZOMPARELLI
Times staff writer
The Raleigh Times

There's nothing obviously different about Brownie Troop 842. Its meetings begin with the presentation of the colors, the pledge of allegiance and the Girl Scout Promise. Activities range from camping out overnight and visiting dairy farms to studying the four basic food groups.

Nor do the scouts themselves seem very different from average Brownies. Like other first, second and third graders, they are inquisitive and active, and they only really quiet down when refreshments are served.

But the Brownies in Troop 842 are special. All 16 of them are legally blind. Some are totally blind.

"I had never really thought about what they would be like to work with," said Vicky Weson of Raleigh, who has been a leader of the troop for the past three years. "But I saw this troop at a Brownie play day, and I saw them doing difficult things, like crossing a stream along a one-log bridge. And I decided I would like to work with them."

At a recent meeting they rehearsed a cookout they planned to hold on a Garner dairy farm. The girls had chosen the menu — "taco stew," ice cream, lemonade and, of course, brownies — and planned to cook the stew themselves (with adult help) over charcoal fires.

So they held a dry run on the stage of the auditorium at the Governor Morehead School for the Blind. Mrs. Weson showed the troop how to light a charcoal fire using a string-and-wax fire starter and a No. 10 can as a converter. Round tinker-toys represented charcoal briquettes.

Then the troop divided into patrols to practice setting up the charcoal stove properly. Mrs. Weson circulated around the groups, occasionally calling to one of the girls and saying, "Your sweater just caught fire — what do you do?"

And the girl would roll on the floor, while her patrol-mates suffocated the imaginary flames with imaginary blankets and pieces of clothing.

The girls maneuvered around the stage, avoiding such obstacles as a piano, a phonograph and a set of drums so easily it was hard to believe they are blind. They took turns doing such jobs as passing out napkins and glasses of juice, sometimes working independently, sometimes working on the buddy system — a girl with some sight assisting a totally blind troopmate.

One glass of juice was spilled during the distribution process, but that was the only accident that occurred during the entire meeting. The Brownies cleaned up the spill themselves.

The only task they seem to find difficult because of their impaired vision is seating themselves in a round circle — or "Brownie ring," as they say in the trade.

Mrs. Weson, who has worked with other Brownie troops before, said that there are some differences between blind and sighted Brownies, but they're not the differences you'd expect. Unlike some Brownies, for instance, Troop 842 never needs to be coaxed to try new things.

"These girls are more adventurous — more adventurous than I had hoped," she said. "It's all so positive. Nothing is ever turned down by them — they really want it." Mrs. Weson added that no one has ever dropped out of the troop in the three years she's been associated with it. Participation is entirely voluntary.

Mrs. Weson and her co-leader, Betty Deimel, haven't consciously altered the Brownie program to fit Troop 842. But, they say, their meetings are a little different anyway.

"We spend a good 15 minutes at the beginning of each meeting loving, hugging and kissing the girls," Mrs. Deimel said. "We tend to be more mother-figures for the girls than you might find in an average troop."

All the Brownies but one in the troop are resident students at the Morehead School. All resident students who live less than 100 miles from home visit their families every weekend — but when you're 7 or 8 years old, a little extra mothering in the middle of the week helps.

Because the girls are so outgoing and willing to try new things, Mrs. Weson said, "you forget they're blind. . . . You don't really realize how little they can see, until you go to church with them, for instance, and notice how close they hold the hymnals."

Unlike older Girl Scouts, Brownies do not work toward merit badges. Instead, the Brownie program concentrates on helping first through third graders become "friendmakers," "discoverers" and "ready-helpers." The Brownie handbook presents five "worlds" for the girls to explore — the worlds of well-being, people, today and tomorrow, the arts and the out-of-doors.

"I like the trips they go on and, well, I like the things they do," said third-grader Sheila Newbern, when asked what she likes about being a Brownie. "I like camping and learning how to take care of ourselves."

What Sheila likes best about camping are tents — "because they're easier to get out of than a house."

Along with several troopmates, Sheila will "fly up" next year — that is, she'll advance from the Brownies to the Girl Scouts. She said she's looking forward to it "because it's special and it's good. . . . What's special about being a Girl Scout is that you make more friends and, well, you have duties."

For 7-year-old Tamika Lunsford, the troop leaders are one of the best parts of being a Brownie "because they let us have fun and they let us do dances like 'Hey Little Lassie' and stuff."

Tamika said she likes dancing "because you can learn something from dances . . . like if you learn words from another language."

The leaders' main goal for the troop, Mrs. Deimel said, "is to minimize the differences between these girls and other girls — get them to see that they can do what every other little girl does."

As a result, service projects are an important aspect of the troop's activities, added Mrs. Deimel, who works for the Center for Urban Affairs at N.C. State University. This year the Brownies made valentines for residents of Glenwood Towers and decorated a Christmas tree for the Morehead School infirmary.

"We want them to get the feeling that they are competent and can help others," she said. "They get so much — we want them to learn that they can give, too."

Last fall, a local folk-dancer attended one of the troop's meetings in the auditorium at the Morehead School and taught the Brownies a folk-dance. The girls then taught the dance to 100 other Brownies at an area meeting.

"That really brought the troop together," Mrs. Weson said. She added that the local Girl Scout administration treats Troop 842 like any other troop.

"We aren't put on display, and we don't have the 'poor dear' syndrome here," Mrs. Deimel added. "Activities with our troop show the girls in other troops that a handicap isn't something to be afraid of. We have as much to offer to other troops as they have to offer us."

Three older Raleigh Girl Scouts have assisted Mrs. Weson and Mrs. Deimel and the troop this year. They are Nancy Sheets, 16, a senior Girl Scout; Chris Healy, 13, a cadet, and Terri Mock, 12, a junior scout. In addition, Gail Hinshaw of Durham, a student at NCSU, has worked with the troop as a volunteer.

Troop 842 is sponsored by the Sir Walter Lions' Auxiliary.

WHAT'S . . . ?

Hi! My name's Tammy. I don't really exist, but because Fletcher has never been deaf or blind he needed someone to tell this story so I'm going to try. I need to say that even though I am deaf and blind being imaginary gives me abilities to communicate with others. Also when Fletcher started this story he put in a lot of facts — very uninteresting; I knew that I could do a better job. By the way, most of the other people in this story don't exist either but they are playmates of mine.

I live at Western Carolina Center in Morganton, North Carolina with about 500 other people. Some a lot older than me. I live in an institution. What's institution? (Fletcher likes big words.) Most of the people here are mentally retarded and physically handicapped. Some can't see or hear; sometimes both! I hear talk about the normal people that live outside the center. What's normal? Hey, I know what normal is. I'm normal! Sure I have some problems, more than some people, but I'm normal. I'm also a citizen just like you!

Mike works with me in Redwood School; he is helping me learn to control my body. He is funny feeling; when he gets close to me he scratches my face. He has a big, furry beard. What's beard? He helps me put round things on a stick. But I have to do it right. The big one goes on first, then another and another until I put the smallest one on last. What's big? If I do it right, Mike gives me a reward. I like that. What's reward?

Going to school is fun. In my cottage are people who are mentally retarded, deaf, blind, deaf and blind and physically handicapped. All combinations of problems. Things keep getting moved around. I stumbled over a chair yesterday and fell down. What's chair? I was angry because the chair wasn't in that place earlier. Things are always getting moved in my cottage.

Last week I was sitting in my chair rocking, when Steve came up behind me and tipped me over. I was sprawled on the floor and then Emma (she's blind) stepped on my hand. That hurt. Well, I struck out, hit Emma, knocked her down and she hit her head. The staff became real excited, rushing about, picking us up — fussing that I shouldn't do things like that. I didn't mind, I couldn't hear them anyway. It's getting better. All us deaf, blind

Mobility training — learning to walk — requires trust and that trust must be given with love and deaf and blind are being located in one cottage — away from the other kids. I hope the cottage will be as much fun as school.

Maybe I better tell you that I am telling you about only one area of the center. There are others like me and my friends living in other areas of the campus. But what I have to say about us is also true about them.

Mike has a dream. He would like to have us — his kids — live in a house. A house with tables and chairs and lamps and ashtrays and a fireplace and . . . well everything that a regular house has. Even stairs! What's stairs? He wants us to learn what to touch and not to touch. How to walk up and down stairs. He wants us to learn all kinds of things so we can go live in a community. What's community?

Mike has other funny ideas. He wants cables strung from our cottage to school so we can grab a strap and learn to walk by ourselves. In fact he would like cables all over the campus so we could use them to get places we have never been before.

Putting "round things" on a stick — a difficult task when taught by touch alone

I have an idea too! What's idea? Because I am blind, I don't walk too well by myself. In fact I don't do much at all. Often I just sit in my dark, quiet world, when I'm not in school. I am getting chubby and talking with Freddy I noticed he had a spare tire. What's spare tire? Wouldn't it be wonderful if a cable could be strung from poles and I could run by holding onto a strap. Exercise would be good for me. Jim couldn't use it — he doesn't walk as well as I do — but, I bet, with a harness to hold him up he could walk better and exercise too.

Now if you think cables are funny,

Did you ever think just how difficult learning to put a shirt on can be?

listen to this. Mike wants to take us places like the mountains in winter (what's snow?) or to the beach. None of us want to go anywhere. We like it here on campus at least the part we know. Someplace new is scary. Mike wants to get some motorized homes, fit them for our special needs, let us get used to them and take us places. Can you imagine a mentally retarded, deaf and blind person playing in the snow or building a sand castle? What's castle? I can't but I sure would like to find out.

I have told you a little about me and those around me. Others say I am mentally retarded, that I am different. Don't believe them. I am deaf and blind, my friends are either deaf or blind; all of us are mentally retarded to some degree. But what of it! What's angry? We need help, not for ourselves because we are working on our problems. We need help with things. I have mentioned a few — I dream big dreams — the big things are what we need help with.

Coordination skills, often accepted without thought by others, must be practiced, and practiced and practiced

More than help with the big things we need friends. Most of us have families but they can't always come when or as often as we want them to. Fletcher says, "There is no greater method of habilitation than love." What's habilitation? Will you love us?

I have been telling you about a special group here at the center. No more special than the other 400 people here but for a group with a special interest in the needs of the blind, deaf and blind and the deaf we could become a special group. Will you help us?

Pre-vocational skills are taught to allow our residents to become more productive citizens

If you really believe in me you could write to me, Tammy, or to Mrs. Marsha Riddle, Volunteer Services, Western Carolina Center, Morganton, North Carolina 28655 to find out more. Bye.

Frank Stroud – 100% Lion!

Story by Marlene Benson

One of Mocksville's most colorful and best recognized citizens, C. Frank Stroud, was honored recently for his outstanding contributions to the Lions program for the Blind.

A charter member of the Mocksville Lions Club which was organized 23 years ago in the living room of the Stroud home, he was presented with a plaque from Lions District Governor Robert J. Smith. Past District Governor of Lions International, Walter Hubert also made a presentation, and letters were received from the White House Staff Assistant on behalf of President Jimmy Carter, and from Governor Jim Hunt.

The surprise tribute during the Lions Club meeting was to show the club's appreciation for Stroud's work.

Affectionately known around town square and the courthouse as the "Mocksville Creeper", Frank always makes his daily rounds through town.

Stroud has received any number of awards for his work in the club. For six consecutive years, he has led District 31-D in the White Cane Drive and placed fourth in the State in 1977. He was selected this year as "Mr. Lion", in recognition of consistent work in all Lions Club projects.

Frank alone has raised over $10,540 in the White Cane Drive since the club organization in 1954. Another of his awards is a B.S. degree (broom sales), for his outstanding work in the annual broom sale campaign.

This was the first B.S. degree the Mocksville Club has ever conferred on one of its members.

Frank will not take full credit for his many awards . . . "My wife (Rachael) is the one responsible," he told his fellow Lions during the Thursday meeting. "God has been so gracious and good to me and it's all a credit to my wife."

Frank says Rachael is not just a Lioness four times a year (on Ladies Night), but all year long.

"She went to the convention and was told that she was worth as much as any man in the club," he said proudly.

Although he is a charter member, Frank has never held an office in the Club. . . . "Officers give the command to the workers," he explained. "I'm a work horse and I wouldn't do it if I held an office."

Frank has done a great deal of work on the "Eye Wills". He says it is an emotional experience when you meet a person face-to-face who praises the Lions for making it possible for them to enjoy the gift of sight. Only then does one really realize how precious it is to see the moon, stars, and pretty flowers which we all too often take for granted.

Frank Stroud, 71, tells of his association with the Mocksville Lions Club and says that he is "a 100 percent member."

On the other hand, he says there are those who have a fear of willing their eyes because of personal reasons.

He recalled the time he approached one man who commented, "I would will my eyes, but I'm afraid when I did God wouldn't recognize me with my eyes out."

And there was another incident when the man replied "I'm afraid I wouldn't see on Judgement Day which friends went to Heaven and which went to Hell."

However, the majority of contacts he says are more than willing to give sight to someone else when their eyes are no longer of use to them personally.

Frank says proudly that he has never missed a meeting. He explained that he was not always present on the actual meeting night, but that there is almost a dozen ways in which one can "make-up" a missed meeting . . . "So there is really no reason to miss a meeting."

He is proud to be a Lion and be associated with an organization so concerned in the welfare of others. In conclusion, he says, "I am a 100 percent member!"

Frank Stroud refers to himself as a "work horse" with the Lions Club and for his many awards, he says a great deal of the credit goes to his wife, Rachael, a full-time Lioness.

Lions Industries for the Blind, Inc.

The LIONS INDUSTRIES FOR THE BLIND in Kinston is the youngest of the seven workshops for blind and multi-handicapped blind in North Carolina. The workshop officially opened its doors in April of 1971 in a small shop on East Street. The first five clients were placed in the shop in June of 1971 and began their training by repairing bottle-drink crates. Due to lack of space and other problems, this project was soon abandoned for subcontract work in assembly, packaging and salvage.

When the present director, Larry Blount, took over the workshop operation, he enlarged the woodworking department and went into flower flat and pallet production. With this project the shop outgrew its space and a search was made for a larger facility. The present location at 500 East Lenoir Avenue was acquired and renovated to better serve the needs of the workshop. With the help of the Division of Services for the Blind new equipment was purchased and installed along with a heavy duty forklift and a tractor-trailer for hauling lumber and delivery of pallets. However, the LIONS INDUSTRIES FOR THE BLIND is not concentrating all its efforts on woodworking, but is engaged in packaging and assembly work for local businesses and is ever on the alert to obtain more and better projects for the workshop.

The LIONS INDUSTRIES FOR THE BLIND now has one of the most modern evaluation departments in the state with a qualified Evaluator/Trainer on the regular staff of the workshop.

In the seven years of operation the workshop has expanded from the 4,000 sq. ft. shop on East Street to the present 20,000 sq. ft. facility. From three staff members to five plus eight employees who were former clients of the shop. Four clients have been placed in competitive employment.

The LIONS INDUSTRIES FOR THE BLIND has faced many struggles and hardships in its short life, and is still experiencing growing pains as it becomes more evident that a larger building is necessary to better accommodate anticipated future growth.

The workshop is still under the sponsorship of the three Kinston Lions Clubs and is also a project of District 31-H. The workshop does not have an official financial underwriter, but has received a grant of some $2,500 from the N.C. Lions Association for the Blind's White Cane receipts.

The workshop may be small and its operations limited to the point that production has to be emphasized in order to earn funds to keep the facility going, but the main emphasis is on helping people in both therapeutic and financial ways, which is most important to the blind and multi-handicapped blind in the area. These people are experiencing a dignity, independence and self-adjustment through productive evaluation and training, and most important the satisfaction of association with others with like handicaps.

As one employee put it — "When I came to the Lions Industries for the Blind, I was just about a nervous wreck. I thought I was the worst off of anybody in the world and that nobody had as bad a handicap as I had. But I saw others in worse shape than I was going about their work, not complaining, but laughing and enjoying the companionship of the other clients, and I got ashamed of myself for complaining. The staff was understanding and always ready to help, and now I feel better than I ever have!"

This attitude helps the blind and multi-handicapped blind become better citizens of their community, and this is also one of the reasons why the motto of the LIONS INDUSTRIES FOR THE BLIND is "We Serve Because We Care."

THE HAPPIEST HEART

Who drives the horses of the sun
Shall lord it but a day.
Better the lowly deed were done
And kept the humble way.

The rust will find the sword of fame;
The dust will hide the crowd,
Aye, none shall nail so high his name
Time will not tear it down.

The happiest heart that ever beat
Was in some quiet breast
That found the common daylight sweet
And left to heaven the rest.

Computer Technology Speeds Braille Book Production

CINCINNATI, OH — A new device that employs advanced computer technology to emboss metal plates from which Braille books are reproduced has proven successful in its first installation.

Manufactured by Triformation Systems of Stuart, Florida, the Plate Embossing Device, Model 30 (PED-30) increases the rate of plate production by over 500 per cent. The first completed device is currently in use at Cincinnati's Clovernook Home and School for the Blind, one of the nation's largest training and rehabilitation centers for the visually handicapped.

The PED-30 was developed under a $70,000 contract from the Library of Congress Division for the Blind and Physically Handicapped.

Clovernook Workshop Director Martin F. Droege praised it for its high speed, accuracy in the precision placement of the raised dots that make up the Braille alphabet and also for the high quality of character definition produced on the finished book page.

"I personally feel the PED-30 is the finest machine available and fits into our system perfectly," said Droege.

The Clovernook printing house trains and employs visually handicapped workers who operate the Braille presses which emboss over 40 periodicals as well as other books, brochures and pamphlets annually. It has produced as many as 66 million Braille pages in a single year. Clovernook will be celebrating its seventy-fifth anniversary this summer.

The quantity of up-to-date literature available to the blind has, until now, been limited by time-consuming mechanical or semi-automatic processes required to produce the plates.

Guy Carbonneau, president of Triformation Systems, estimates that there are 30 to 40 Braille printing houses world-wide that could use the PED-30 to increase production without increasing space requirements or overhead costs. Widespread use of the device would give these printing houses the capability to add greatly to the volume and current titles of Braille literature. Books, magazines and many other printed materials can be reproduced from the plates the PED-30 embosses.

Interfaced with a computer or other data source, the PED-30 receives a coded form of the words that are to be reproduced in Braille. The embossing mechanism of the PED-30 punches a Braille translation of this information onto the double-folded metal plate at the rate of 30 characters per second.

When the plate is embossed on both sides, it is ready to be run through a Braille press which transfers the raised dots simultaneously onto both sides of the final book page.

The PED-30 can turn out 36 plates per hour while machines which it is designed to replace produce about 40 plates in an entire day.

Triformation Systems also manufactures Brailling computer terminals and printers for use as aids for employment and education of the blind.

For more information call or write Triformation Systems, 3132 S.E. Jay Street, Stuart, Florida 33494 (305) 283-4817.

WHEN THE OTHER FELLOW ACTS

When the other fellow acts that way, he's ugly . . . When you do it, it's nerves.

When he's set in his ways, he's obstinate . . . When you are, it's just firmness.

When he doesn't like your friends, he's prejudiced . . . When you don't like his, you are simply showing good judgment of human nature.

When he tries to be accommodating, he's polishing the apple . . . When you do it, you're using tact.

When he takes time to do things, he is dead slow . . . When you take ages, you are deliberate.

When he picks flaws, he's cranky . . . When you do, you're discriminating.

KISSING is just so much Chemistry. It has to do with the craving for salt. The cave man found that salt helped to cool him off in the summer. He found, too, that he could get salt by licking his neighbor's cheek. Also that it was more interesting if the neighbor was of the opposite sex. Then everybody forgot about salt.

Marjorie McCune Memorial Center for the Blind Under Construction

The Lions of District 31-A have contributed over $100,000 to the "Happy Home" project from Club funds and raised an additional $200,000 from industry, foundations, church groups and interested individuals.

The contract for a turn key job was let to a local contractor at a cost of $620.000 on a low bid basis. The completion date is October 1978. The Farm Home Administration has granted a loan for $367,000 at a low interest rate.

The Western North Carolina Lions purchased an additional 5 acre tract of land from the State of North Carolina. This tract has 6 houses which can be used for a laundry, craft shop, storage or apartments for employees.

Joe El-Khouri is serving as President of the W.N.C. Lions, Inc. Robert Barnes of Candler and a member of the West Asheville Lions is Building Chairman. He must approve every bill for construction materials and keep a constant watch on construction progress. Arnold Hyde of the Candler Lions Club and Eros Pitts of the Biltmore Lions Club have headed the fund raising program.

Miss Grace Bennett, sister of Mrs. McCune, is volunteering her services as secretary to the Lions and furnishes office space in her home. Ninety-nine percent of the pledges are being collected and the administrative cost for 1977-78 is approximately $40.00 for postage. Eros Pitts has served as Treasurer at no cost and no funds have been used for travel in carrying out the fund raising drive.

SERENADE

The sunlight gold touched everywhere,
I walked and felt the warmth of summer in the air.
While giving thanks for these great gifts,
I saw an old man standing there.

He seemed just one of many—
As I passed along the street,
But in his hand he held a cup,
His eyes — no gaze could meet.

And strapped across his ragged chest
There hung an old guitar,
He softly hummed a folk-lore tune
Which carried notes afar.

The sunlight seemed to fade away
His music pierced my heart,
Why must he live in darkness
From lovely things apart?

But then a ray of light broke thru,
I thought on many things.
It's true — he sees no earthly one
Yet in his heart he sings.

And as I dropped a coin there
I thought, how can it be?
Tho blind and old and so alone
This man can surely see.

It's not the length of time or space —
It's not how worn or old,
It's what we feel deep in our hearts
That gives us light to hold.

The Executive Director's Report

The North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind has reached the end of another great year. More White Cane dollars were raised than ever before. This means the Association will be involved in more activities for the blind than ever before. Yet much remains to be done.

At Camp Dogwood the program must be expanded in order to care for those who are being turned away. Many campers would like to stay more than one week, but that is not possible. The length of stay must be limited in order to give everyone who wants to go the opportunity to do so.

A building fund program must be conducted immediately in order to construct the addition to the lodge which will provide some much needed recreation space, a nurse's station, and staff quarters. After the addition to the lodge is constructed an arts and crafts building must be planned to provide space for this expanded program. Once these support facilities are constructed an additional dormitory will be needed to provide the housing for those blind who wish to come to camp.

In addition to the facilities at Camp Dogwood, we need to expand our Scholarship Program. This year we have twenty-seven sons and daughters of blind parents attending colleges, universities, community colleges, and technical schools with the assistance of the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind Scholarship Program. Some students had to be turned away because not enough funds were available.

Each year we have requests for research funds which we are not able to provide. We are all aware of the value of research.

The North Carolina Eye and Human Tissue Bank in Winston-Salem is one of the outstanding eye banks in the country. It is doing a great job but more corneas are needed if we are to meet the needs of the North Carolinians who could benefit from a cornea transplant.

A special word of thanks should be expressed to all Lions who made contact with their senators and representatives during the past year requesting support of the Glaucoma-Diabetes Screening legislation.

The special session of the General Assembly in the Spring granted enough funds to start a demonstration clinic. Plans are being made for this clinic. Once it is in operation it will serve as a model for the clinics which we hope to establish in the future.

Each Lion should continue to talk with members of the General Assembly asking that support for Glaucoma-Diabetes Screening be increased during the next biennium. There is still much work to be done and it is going to require the cooperation of every one of us to see that the job is completed.

Additional information on each of the Association's programs and services for the blind will be sent to Lions Club presidents during the year.

THE INDISPENSABLE MAN

Sometime, when you're feeling important,
Sometime, when your ego's in bloom,
Sometime, when you take it for granted,
You're the best qualified in the room.

Sometime, when you feel that your going
Would leave an unfillable hole,
Just follow this simple instruction
And see how it humbles your soul.

Take a bucket and fill it with water;
Put your hand in it, up to the wrist;
Pull it out, and the hole that's remaining
Is a measure of how you'll be missed.

You may splash all you please when you enter;
You can stir up the water galore;
But stop, and you'll find in a minute
That it looks quite the same as before.

The moral in this quaint example
Is to do just the best that you can.
Be proud of yourself, but remember,
There's no indispensable man!

An angry man charged into the postmaster's office, howling and raging. "I'm getting threatening letters in the mail and I want them stopped!" he screamed. "This has been going on for months and I'm tired of it!"

"I'm sure we can help," said the postmaster soothingly. "Sending threatening letters is a federal offense. Have you any idea who's sending them to you?"

"Of course!" snapped the man. "It's those screwballs down at the Internal Revenue Service!"

DEPENDENCE

We can't play alone in the game of life.
We're dependent, my friend, on others;
we cannot "get by" in the struggle and strife,
except for the help of our brothers!
Whatever we plan, or whatever we do, whatever we give of our best,
is meant to include all our fellow men, too,
and add to the joy of the rest.

District 31-A Lions Continue To Expand The Eye Screening Program

The popularity of the Western North Carolina Lions Eye Screening Program necessitated the purchase of an additional mobile screening unit to adequately cover the 12 county area.

The 1977-78 Eye Screening Program under the direction of Joe El-Khouri, President of the W. N. C. Lions, has had its most successful year. The two units have been scheduled regularly since August of 1977 and have covered the 12 county area screening day care, kindergarten, first graders and other children referred by teachers.

As of May 31, 1978, 24,627 children were screened in the 10 month period with 1,731 referrals for eye examinations. Over 9,000 have been screened in Buncombe County alone. The 46 Lions Clubs in the District contribute $3.50 per member annually toward the operating cost of the screening program. The North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind continues to support the program on a graduated scale; however, the local Lions must find additional operating funds if the program is to continue on the comprehensive scale needed in the mountain area. This has proved to be one of the most popular and beneficial programs carried out by Lions on the local level. Numerous letters from school officials and governmental agencies commending the work of the Lions are received annually and substantiate the need for continuation of this screening program.

A worried looking man in a florist shop asked for three potted geraniums. "I'm sorry," said the clerk. "We're out of geraniums just now, but we have some nice potted chrysanthemums."

"No, they won't do," replied the man." "I promised my wife I'd water her geraniums while she was away."

Blindness and Diabetes

A person who has lost his sight because of diabetes can live independently and successfully in spite of his disabilities provided he has been trained in the techniques of diabetes control and in skills for dealing with blindness.

Some guidelines for medical and rehabilitation professionals are outlined in a pamphlet "Blindness and Diabetes," published by the American Foundation for the Blind.

The pamphlet urges professionals to learn about blindness and diabetes, but points out that the blind diabetic usually knows more about his own condition than anyone else and ultimately must be responsible for his own care.

Among the techniques the blind diabetic can learn is to measure and inject his own insulin, using precalibrated gauges and syringes that work by touch and sound. These are described in another pamphlet "Devices for Visually Impaired Diabetics" published by the American Foundation for the Blind and the New York Diabetes Association.

Diabetic retinopathy results when tiny blood vessels in the retina break causing little hemorrhages on the retina, which then impair vision. It is a leading cause of blindness today. The exact reason for diabetes leading to the retinal problem is not known, nor is it possible to predict whether diabetes will lead to eye difficulties.

Diabetics who do lose their sight may undergo the standard blindness rehabilitation process, learning to walk, read, write, do household chores and other skills of daily living. Sometimes diabetics need adaptations in the usual techniques because of their need for rest and regularly scheduled meals. Sometimes the sensitivity of their fingers is affected, which means they may have difficulty in learning braille or other techniques requiring fine finger sensitivity. Then they learn to use large dot braille or learn systems other than those requiring touch.

For diabetics who must give themselves insulin shots to control their diabetes, a variety of special syringes are available. In one type, the physician sets the plunger for the correct insulin dosage and locks it into place. Others have adjustable plungers that click in at the point set by the physician. The blind person hears and feels the click.

In addition, there are loading gauges and filling devices that are marked with braille or raised numbers that help the blind person fill his own syringe.

The two pamphlets, "Blindness and Diabetes" and "Devices for Visually Impaired Diabetics" are available free from the American Foundation for the Blind, 15 West 16th Street, New York, N.Y. 10011. "Diabetes and Blindness" is also available free in recorded form.

The American Foundation for the Blind serves as a non-profit clearinghouse for information about blindness and promotes the development of education, rehabilitation, and social welfare services for blind and multihandicapped deaf-blind children and adults.

THE MEANING OF SUCCESS

That man is a success who has lived well, laughed often and loved much;
who has gained the respect of intelligent men and the love of children; who has filled his niche
and accomplished his task; who leaves the world better than he found it whether by a perfect poem or a rescued soul;
who never lacked appreciation of earth's beauty or failed to express it;
who looked for the best in others and gave the best he had.

Presidential Award for Brown– Mooresville's Lion Among Lions

Shaw Brown of Mooresville has joined an elite company of civic do-gooders. He has received the Presidential Award, one of Lions International's most prestigious recognitions.

The international-level honor is reserved for Lions whose contributions to club, community and society at large set them above all others in an organization known for its civic service.

The Presidential Award came to Brown May 20 during the annual N.C. State Lions Convention in Fayetteville. The gathering drew all state Lions leaders and many officials of Lions on the national level. In addition to Brown, who was surprised by the top award in Lionism, Mooresville was represented by an eight-member delegation from the local club.

In winning the Presidential Award, Brown, 63, of 124 Manor Circle, joined fewer than a half-dozen North Carolina Lions who hold the award. He is the first Mooresville Lion, and the first Lion in District 31-B to be so honored. The district, of which Mooresville is a part, covers four counties and 30 clubs.

Bill Major, President of the Mooresville Lions Club, was a member of the local delegation at the convention, and he joined others on the district, state and national levels in praising civic contributions by Brown through Lions. In addition to the singular salute to Brown, the local club placed first in its member class for promotion and sale of products made by blind persons, and it received a second place for overall activities in behalf of the visually handicapped.

Among Lions leaders taking part in the presentation of Brown's award were Ralph Lynam of Alma, Mich., who is President-Elect of Lions International; Lacy Presnell Jr. of Raleigh, Past Director of Lions International; and Harry Baldwin of North Wilkesboro, Governor of District 31-B.

Brown is a charter member of the 38-year-old Mooresville club, and he has sponsored no fewer than 37 members of the local club. He has directed practically all the 30-odd Old-Time Fiddlers Conventions sponsored here by Mooresville Lions.

In a letter nominating Brown for the award, Baldwin said Brown "is the most dedicated Lion I have come in contact with in my 20 years in Lionism." Among his reasons for that statement:

"From 1968 until 1971, Shaw was the driving force behind building a $114,000 cottage at Camp Dogwood. The Raleigh central office of our N.C. Lions Association for the Blind reports that Shaw has reported over $12,500 raised for White Cane since 1966. He has received the Association's Distinguished Award three times, and to list his boards and chairmanships would be unbelievable reading. He has 13 Extension Awards."

In other words, if it's done in Lions, Brown had done it. That's how big the Presidential Award is.

A farmer shopped around for a new car and became disgusted with the pricing system, what with all the talk about optional equipment and "extras." But he settled on his purchase. A few days later, the dealer who had sold him the car arrived at the farm to buy a cow for his small place in the country.

The farmer sized up the situation and quickly scribbled the itemized bill:

Basic cow	$200.00
Two-tone exterior	45.00
Extra stomach	75.00
Product storage compartment	60.00
Dispensing device (4 spigots @ $10.00 each)	40.00
Genuine cowhide upholstery	125.00
Automatic fly swatter	35.00
Dual horns	15.00
TOTAL (exclusive of tax and delivery)	$595.00

Lions Club Launches Hearing Aid Bank

By SHARON BROWN
Staff Writer
THE FAYETTEVILLE OBSERVER
Tuesday, March 14, 1978

"We had stopped urging them to apply because it seemed almost cruel to hold something out that they desperately wanted and not be able to offer it to them," said Alice Mason, director of the Southeastern Speech and Hearing Clinic. She was referring to the scores of elderly people she had come in contact with who were losing or had lost their hearing and needed hearing aids; yet could not afford to get them and had no avenues of financial help in the matter.

"Before Mrs. (Jerry) Brown was fitted," said Lions Club member, W. H. Ledbetter, "she and her husband couldn't communicate without shouting to each other. Her husband has an aid also.

"She came in today and told us how wonderful it was to be able to hear and keep up with her children and talk with her husband in a more normal way."

A young man had undergone evaluation for a hearing aid in order to take a job finally offered to him. It was janitorial work, but he still couldn't accept it because of his hearing problem. Social Security payments of $200 a month were inadequate to pay at least $40 for the examination, doctor's physical, purchase of a hearing aid ranging from $285 to $450 and the cost of fitting the aid. Someone cared enough to give him an aid, and he got the job.

The Lions Club of Fayetteville has decided to do something about people such as these. By adopting a continuing project to be known as the Lions Club Hearing Aid Bank, the Lions are piloting a project they "would like to see spread throughout the state," according to Henry Player Jr., president of the local Lions.

Under the leadership of the Lions and with the cooperation of a professional advisory committee representing local otologists, ear, nose and throat specialists, audiologists and hearing aid dealers, the Hearing Aid Bank is thought to be the second such organization in the state. The other hearing aid bank is sponsored by the Sanford Kiwanis Club.

The local bank will benefit from the participation of professional organizations in its efforts to provide hearing aids to indigent, hearing impaired residents of Cumberland County. The Southeastern Speech and Hearing Services has agreed to waive payment of its hearing and hearing aid evaluations and recommendations. The Department of Audiology at Womack Army Hospital, Southeastern Regional Rehabilitation Center, the Fayetteville Hearing Aid Service, the Meares Hearing Aid Service and local physicians and audiologists in private practice are participating.

The Lions Club, generally associated with its extensive work for the blind, is spearheading this new service for the county basically because of "running into these needy cases and not being able to refer to them someone else," said members of the Hearing Conservation and Work with the Deaf committee. The committee consists of W. H. Ledbetter, Henry Player Jr., F. D. Byrd Jr., Herley Paschal and Dr. Malcolm Foster.

"What we're hoping to do through this cooperative effort," Ms. Mason said, "is to bring to people who have been resigned to social inadequacy because of hearing loss, a new way of communicating and literally getting back into living."

"Being able to hear and communicate again," Player said, "brings a tremendous amount of confidence back to an individual."

"I saw it make a young man into a productive job-holder once again," Ledbetter added.

"What we're going to need now," said Byrd, "is the assistance of the community in making this thing work.

"We need the citizens of the community to donate unused hearing aids to the bank. We'll have them repaired if necessary."

All of the Lions insisted it is just a matter of "people caring about people," which happens to be their motto for this year.

In addition to hearing aids, contributions will be needed to pay for the repair and the fitting of the hearing aids. Physicians and specialists in hearing will be asked to waive their fees. These contributions will be tax deductible.

Eligibility for a person to receive an aid will be determined by the Lions Club committee on the basis of evidence from a physician that no medical condition exists contradicting a hearing aid fitting; evidence that the applicant has received a hearing evaluation and a hearing aid evaluation which support the need for the aid; evidence that the applicant desires a hearing aid and would agree to abide by the conditions under which an aid would be provided; and evidence that the applicant cannot afford to purchase, nor is there any other source for obtaining an aid.

Children with hearing problems have been well provided for by government and social agencies, Ms. Mason said, as they should be. She listed the primary financial aids to the elderly or even those over 18 and said none of these provide actual assistance for the hard of hearing.

"As people grow older and older," Dr. Foster said, "this problem is going to keep growing."

In addition to lack of funds, the elderly and hard of hearing have long been the targets of exploitation by salesmen who promised restored hearing for exorbitantly priced hearing aids. The person who could afford or perhaps sacrificed to afford a chance to hear again was left no better off than he had been.

New Food and Drug Administration regulations as well as professional community efforts such as the Lions Club bank will curb this.

When the program gets off the ground, Ledbetter said, the Lions plan to conduct screening clinics in the community in an effort to reach everyone possible.

The primary needs currently are for those who need hearing aids to first get an examination by a qualified professional, and those who can to give hearing aids and funds to help the project.

"The ideal would be to reach every person who needed it," the Lions said.

Committee Report on the Eye and Human Tissue Bank

Charles A. Waller, Chairman

The North Carolina Eye and Human Tissue Bank has completed another outstanding year of service to the visually impaired residents of North Carolina. Eye wills secured this year have surpassed last year by 11.4% making a total for this year of 17,216. Eye and human tissue wills on file today total 169,138 as of March 31, 1978. The Eye Bank has been able to supply the cornea for 234 transplants during this year. Pledges received for this fiscal year by district are as follows:

DISTRICT	PLEDGES
A	929
B	999
C	594
D	2840
E	1503
F	1067
G	3845
H	778
J	161
Miscellaneous	4500
Total Pledges	17,216

The district chairmen and the Lions of North Carolina have supported the Eye Bank through funds, securing wills, information, and other services and I thank you for all you have done. President John Comas and the staff at the Eye Bank are to be commended for their service and willingness to work in close harmony with the Lions of North Carolina.

The greatest danger I see today is our retrieval record for the wills on file. Since 1951 the Eye Bank has received 4853 eyes divided by 27 years equals 179 per year. Thank goodness last year the Eye Bank received 456 eyes. We must realize that 105 people in this state are going blind each month and that it is our duty to do everything we can as Lions to help reduce that rate of blindness. The Lions of North Carolina have done an excellent job in aiding the Eye Bank, and I am very confident the support will continue in the future.

Camp Dogwood Fund Raising Committee Report

Elbert Ray Bryant, Chairman

The Camp Dogwood Fund Raising Committee began the year by holding a meeting in July at the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind office in Raleigh. At this time we discussed the needs of Camp Dogwood and how we could possibly help to meet these needs. At this meeting it was decided to ask the Board of Directors of the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind for permission to raise funds for Camp Dogwood in the following manner.

We would seek donations of $1.00 per person and in exchange for this donation the person would receive a ticket with the chance of winning a color television and/or a 1978 Ford LTD. The televisions would be given away at the two fall conferences and the mid-winter conference with the drawing to be held at the State Convention for the 1978 Ford LTD. The Board of Directors and the Lions State Council both approved this plan and we were off and running.

Fellow Lions, we then began to seek your help and support in this fund raising drive and once again you gave a worthy project your 100% support. I believe the following figures will prove that the Lions of North Carolina are the most dedicated Lions of all of Lions International.

These are the final figures of the Camp Dogwood Fund Raising Committee for this year 1977-1978.

Camp Dogwood Committee Report

M. Henry Leggett, Jr., Chairman

The report of the Camp Dogwood Committee for the year 1977-78 is one that I am proud to make. The health of our Lions owned and operated facility at Lake Norman is excellent; both from the standpoint of participation and financial status.

The members of the Committee this year have been working members, active in both Committee meetings and in their respective districts.

Early in the year, the Committee made recommendations to the Association Board of Directors including a recommendation to hire a full-time staff nurse during the twelve-week summer camp sessions; to rewrite job descriptions defining the responsibilities of various staff positions including Maintenance Supervisor (a new position), Housekeeper, Food Service Director, and create the new position of Camp Coordinator to work in the Raleigh office and be available to work at the camp when needed during the camping season. A further recommendation was made to up-date our Camp Manuals. We are happy to report that all recommendations were adopted by the Board of Directors of the Association and have at this time been implemented.

The camp has accommodated a total of two thousand three hundred thirty-five (2,335) people, four hundred sixteen of whom were resident campers during the twelve-week summer season last summer. Of course, in our minds, those figures substantiate our claim that we must expand the facility if we are to continue to fulfill our mission of service to the blind and visually handicapped citizens of North Carolina.

The physical facilities have been expanded since last season with the addition of a much needed Maintenance Building that was contributed by District C and constructed by the Lions of the Rutherfordton Lions Club. The generosity of District C is greatly appreciated and will most certainly enhance the quality of maintenance at the camp.

In direct relation to the need for expansion of the support facilities at camp, the Camp Dogwood Committee, the Properties Committee and the President recommended starting an immediate Building Fund Program with the first priority being the construction of the new wing to the Lodge Building which will house a recreation room, dispensary facilities, nurse's quarters, and staff quarters with the second priority being the construction of an Arts and Crafts Building. A building fund has been started through the efforts of the Camp Dogwood Fund Raising Committee.

Your camp staff is doing a great job with the campers and with the maintenance of the property under the direction of Camp Director Mike Thompson and Executive Director Bob Spencer. The office staff, of course, have been super in supporting the efforts of the Committee. We commend Mike and Bob for their amazing ability to select counselors who really display dedication and patience in working with the campers to whom they are assigned.

Camp Dogwood is in great shape. However, we must continue to strive for improvement in the delivery of services, expansion in order to deliver service to more of our less fortunate citizens, and above all encourage more Lions to visit the camp while in operation.

In conclusion, I would like to express my personal thanks to you, Mr. President, for giving me the opportunity to serve this year with some of the greatest Lions ever assembled. As long as there are Lions with the dedication and ability of the men with whom I served this year, the Association and our Camp will continue to grow.

During a lull in the doings at the discotheque, the girl impulsively declared, "Let's get married, George. I don't want to wait around until I'm 35 and have wrinkles, bags under my eyes and a pot belly!"

"Well," George replied, "if that's the way you're going to look at 35, let's forget it."

Bride: "Pierre is perfectly wonderful to me, Mother. He gives me everything I ask for."

Mother: "That merely shows, my dear child, that you are not asking enough."

FUND RAISING

put any excess into the building fund. With your support this fund was started and this year you contributed $15,447.06.

The winners of the three television sets were: Districts A-B-C — Lion Mitchel L. Kotula, Davidson; Districts D-E-F — Mr. Lee Sausage, Fayetteville; and Districts G-H-J — Mr. James Thomas Riddick, Gatesville. The winner of the 1978 Ford LTD was the Dunn Lions Club.

I would like to express my appreciation to the following Lions who worked so hard this past year to help the Camp Dogwood Fund Raising Drive be the success that it was. These are the District Chairmen: District A — R. L. Clark; District B — Clinton Holdsclaw; District C — George A. Crosby; District D — John L. Howell; District E — Thomas L. Keels; District F — Woody Huggins; District G — Robert M. Ward; District H — Sam A. Jernigan, Jr., and District J — Cleve Woodward.

I believe it would be impossible to find more dedicated Lions or harder workers than these fine Lions. Fellow Lions, I would also like to thank each one of you for your support this year. I realize the District Chairmen all did a great job for Camp Dogwood; however, without your support it would not have been possible. On behalf of each one of them, the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind, the blind and visually impaired citizens of North Carolina and myself, we say THANK YOU for your help. Because of your help and support the blind and visually impaired of this State are blessed to have each of you as a friend.

WORK IS A BLESSING

Work is man's great function. He is nothing, he can do nothing, He can achieve nothing, fulfill nothing without working.

If you are poor — work. If you are rich continue working. If you are burdened with seemingly unfair responsibilities, work! If you are happy, keep right on working! Idleness gives room for doubts and fears.

If disappointment comes, work! If your health is threatened — work. When faith falters — work! When dreams are shattered and hope seems dead — work! Work as if your life were in peril — it really is. No matter what ails you — work! Work faithfully — work with faith.

Work is the greatest remedy available for both mental and physical afflictions!

—James M. Cowan

Dagwood: "Now don't give up, son."

Alexander: "But Dad, I'll never solve this homework."

Dagwood: "Always remember, son, Robert Fulton didn't give up — Thomas Edison didn't give up — and look at Irving McPringle."

Alexander: "Who's Irving McPringle?"

Dagwood: "See, you never heard of him — he gave up!"

A very trim general was met at the airport by a very fat wife. While they stood waiting for his baggage, a trim, red-headed airline hostess swayed by, and the general beamed. "Hope we fly together soon again, Miss Fenichel," he said. "How do you know her name?" demanded the wife. "It was posted up front," explained the general, "right under the names of the pilot and the copilot."

"I see," nodded the wife. "Now tell me the names of the pilot and the copilot."

"If you think I have never been asked to get married," said the spinster, "you're wrong. My mother has asked me a hundred times."

At the side of a road a woman looked helplessly at a flat tire. A passerby stopped to help her.

After the tire was changed, the woman said, "Please let the jack down easy. My husband is sleeping in the back seat."

When a man is twenty and a young lady smiles at him when passing on the street he looks himself over to see what makes him so attractive. When he is forty and a lady smiles at him, he looks around to see who is following him.

Exasperated father to neighbor: "I finally coerced my son to get his long hair cut, and I am truly sorry. Now I can see his earrings!"

In the old days, if a kid was in the principal's office, it meant the kid was in trouble. Now it means the principal is in trouble.

Teacher proclaimed "Great Men Day," asking the children to name their ideal.

Little Johnny was called on first, and got things off to a swell start. When asked to name the greatest man in the world, he replied:

"MY DADDY!"

Teacher: "What's your daddy like?"

Johnny: "Booze and broads."

Vacation observation: You realize how popular boating is these days when you drive and see all the boats in tow toward the lakes. Only in American can you see a shipwreck on an interstate highway.

Pedestrian: A husband who didn't think the family needed two cars.

It's always nice to see a broad smile. Especially if she's smiling at you!

The honeymoon is over when the wife finds a letter she gave her husband to mail three months before in the coat that has been home ever since waiting for a button to be sewn on.

Did you hear about the girl who put a piece of wedding cake under her pillow? When she finally got married, her husband turned out to be a crumb.

The boy proudly announced to his teacher: "We've got a new baby and it cost $150."

"My, but isn't that a lot of money for a tiny baby?" asked the teacher.

"Yes," came the reply, "but think how long they last."

Young wife: "Do you still take an interest in everything I do?"

Husband: "Certainly. Why I've spent all day wondering what you put in those biscuits we had at breakfast."

The four-year-old daughter of a used car salesman, attending her first church wedding, watched as the bride walked to the altar on the arm of an elderly gray-haired man. She stared in amazement after the ceremony ended and the bride walked back with her young groom.

"Mother," the girl whispered rather loudly, "is that how weddings are? You trade off an old man for a nice, new model?"

Two goats were wandering on the field behind the movie studio. One was munching an old film that had been discarded when the other goat asked, "How is it?"

"Not too bad," answered the first, "but I liked the book better."

Husband to wife on 25th wedding anniversary: "Well, my dear, I've carried you safely over all the rough places of life, haven't I?"

Wife: "Yes, you sure did. I don't think you missed one of them."

Sign in department store window:

Today's Brownie
Is Tomorrow's Cookie.

Husband-hunting is probably the only sport in which the animal that gets caught has to buy a license.

Mother to small son: "Twenty years from now you'll be telling some innocent young girl what a great cook your mother was . . . now eat your dinner!"

A LEADER IS . . .

A leader is best
When people barely know he exists.
Not so good
When people obey and acclaim him.
Worse when they despise him.
But of a good leader
Who talks little
When his work is done
His aim fulfilled
They will say
"We did it ourselves."

Highway Patrolman: "And just how did the accident happen?"

Motorist: "My wife fell asleep in the back seat."

There's the story about the two do-it-yourselfers who were building a house. The first man sat in front of a nail keg, picking nails out and throwing them to one side. When the second man asked him why he was discarding the nails, the reply was: "The heads are on the wrong end."

The second fellow had a solution: "There's nothing wrong with these nails. They are for the other side of the house."

Men and automobiles are much alike. Some are right at home on an uphill pull; others run smoothly only going down-grade, and when you hear one knocking all the time, it's a sure sign there is something wrong under the hood.

Lions International has six Objects which are worthy of careful consideration, namely:

TO CREATE and foster a spirit of understanding among the peoples of the world.

TO PROMOTE the principles of good government and good citizenship.

TO TAKE an active interest in the civic, cultural, social and moral welfare of the community.

TO UNITE the clubs in the bonds of friendship, good fellowship and mutual understanding.

TO PROVIDE a forum for the open discussion of all matters of public interest; provided, however, that partisan politics and sectarian religion shall not be debated by club members.

TO ENCOURAGE service-minded men to serve their community without personal financial reward, and to encourage efficiency and promote high ethical standards in commerce, industry, professions, public works and private endeavors.

The four-year-old daughter of a used car salesman, attending her first church wedding, watched as the bride walked to the altar on the arm of an elderly gray-haired man. She stared in amazement after the ceremony ended and the bride walked back with her young groom.

"Mother," the girl whispered rather loudly, "is that how weddings are? You trade off an old man for a nice, new model?"

Two goats were wandering on the field behind the movie studio. One was munching an old film that had been discarded when the other goat asked, "How is it?"

"Not too bad," answered the first, "but I liked the book better."

Husband to wife on 25th wedding anniversary: "Well, my dear, I've carried you safely over all the rough places of life, haven't I?"

Wife: "Yes, you sure did. I don't think you missed one of them."

Mother to small son: "Twenty years from now you'll be telling some innocent young girl what a great cook your mother was . . . now eat your dinner!"

A LEADER IS . . .

A leader is best
When people barely know he exists.
Not so good
When people obey and acclaim him.
Worse when they despise him.
But of a good leader
Who talks little
When his work is done
His aim fulfilled
They will say
"We did it ourselves."

Report of the Public Information Committee

C. Ray Pruette, Chairman

The Public Information Committee of the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind met at the Association Office in Raleigh August 27, 1977, for the purpose of planning a publicity campaign for the White Cane Drive on October 8 and 9, 1977.

Meeting with the Committee was President C. P. "Smoke" Wayne; Leon P. Spencer, First Vice-President in charge of public information; and Association Executive Director, Robert Spencer.

As a result of this first meeting, radio and television spots were sent to all Club Presidents in the State and to a large majority of the radio and T.V. stations. Plans were made to continue the Association's information exhibits at all Fall Conferences, Mid-Winter Conference, and the State Convention in Fayetteville.

Governor Hunt proclaimed September as Sight Conservation Month and October 8th and 9th as Lions White Cane Days.

Your Information Chairman, along with the ladies of the office staff, was quite busy with an Information Exhibit at each of the Fall Conferences and Mid-Winter Conference (Held November 11th and 12th in Raleigh; November 18th and 19th in High Point; and January 7th & 8th in Charlotte).

As Chairman, I am pleased to report that the Association Exhibit continues to evoke much interest and was well received by the Lions of each District. A variety of items were displayed: John L. "Jack" Stickley Medal, plaques, pins, life memberships, memorials, eye wills, Camp Dogwood information, Association budget, White Cane materials, along with other Association materials. A slide presentation of Association activities past and present was shown.

My sincere thanks to President C. P. Wayne, Executive Director Robert Spencer, and his excellent staff for their committment to excellence in spreading the good news of our great Association to the Lions of North Carolina.

An especial thanks to the nine District Information Chairmen — Cecil Young, Winston Baldwin, Edward West, Horace Johnson, Paul Ritchie, Edward Nyenhuis, Walter Hughes, Jr., Roy S. Sandlin, and Jerry Hughes — for their interest and support.

WIN BY LOSING . . .

I asked God for strength, that I might achieve,
I was made weak, that I might learn humbly to obey . . .
I asked for health, that I might do greater things,
I was given infirmity, that I might do better things . . .
I asked for riches, that I might be happy,
I was given poverty, that I might be wise . . .
I asked for power, that I might have the praise of men,
I was given weakness, that I might feel the need of God . . .
I asked for all things, that I might enjoy life,
I was given life, that I might enjoy all things . . .
I got nothing that I asked for — but everything I had hoped for,
Almost despite myself, my unspoken prayers were answered.
I am among all men, most richly blessed.

NONE OF US CAN BEND HISTORY

Few will have the greatness to bend history itself, but each of us can work to change a small portion of events, and in the total of all those acts will be written the history of this generation.

My son-in-law Wally observes that "it's the little things in life that upset people — like two-foot putts."

A schoolteacher got a note from Andy's mother: "My son Andy is a very sensitive boy. If you have to punish him, just slap the child in the next seat. This will frighten Andy."

During a spirited auction, proceedings were halted for a moment when the auctioneer raised his hand and announced:

"A gentleman in the room has just discovered that he has lost his wallet containing $2000 and for its immediate return he's offering a reward of $300."

There was a brief silence, then from the rear a voice cried out: "$325."

Someone asked my wife if her husband was living and she replied: "It's a matter of opinion."

The world is divided into people who do things and people who get the credit. Try, if you can, to belong to the first class. There's far less competition!

America is not anything if it consists of each of us. It is something if it consists of all of us; and it can consist of all of us only as our spirits are banded together in a common enterprise. That common enterprise is the enterprise of liberty and justice and right.

—WOODROW WILSON

The first-grade teacher was having the members of the class draw pictures showing what their fathers did for a living. She noticed one little boy drawing circles and asked, "What does your father do?"

"He's a doctor," the little boy replied. "He makes rounds!"

Leaders have two important characteristics: first, they are going somewhere; second, they are able to persuade other people to go with them.

It is the greatest of all mistakes to do nothing because you can only do a little. Do what you can. — SYDNEY SMITH

A speeding driver was signaled to the side of the highway by a motorcycle officer.

"I'm a good friend of the mayor," he announced to the policeman.

"Great!" said the officer, as he began writing out the ticket. "Now he'll know I'm on the job."

Marriage is like a good onion — men praise it with tears in their eyes.

The lady, recognized as a hypochondriac, called her doctor one night and exclaimed: "I know what's wrong with me. I've got a bad case of hyperinsulism."

"I know all about it, so don't worry," replied the Doc. "I just watched the same television program."

Two candidates appeared in debate.

"I am an honest man," said one. "Out of the thousands of ways to make money, I know the one honest way."

"And which way is that?" asked the other candidate.

"Ah!" sneered the first, "I didn't think you'd know."

Little Rollo was causing havoc on the plane, pushing buttons and running up and down the aisle at top speed. On one such journey he crashed into a stewardess carrying a tray of food.

Looking at the mess on the floor, she took Rollo gently by the arm and cooed, "Why don't you go outside and play?"

A student, registering for school, filled out a card asking, among other things: "Nicknames or other names by which you receive mail."

His answer: "Occupant."

In the supermarket, the cart a young man was pushing contained a yelling, bellowing baby. The young man kept repeating softly, "Don't scream, Tommy; don't yell, Tommy; keep calm, Tommy."

A woman standing next to him said: "You certainly are to be commended for trying to soothe little Tommy."

"Lady," the young man replied wearily, "I'm Tommy."

Homeowner: "Now that I've taken out this insurance, how much would I get if my house burned down tonight?"

Insurance salesman: "About ten years."

Father about daughter: "If she has any hangups, it's certainly not the telephone receiver."

"Why don't you play golf with George anymore?" asked the wife.

"Would you play golf with a guy who puts down the wrong score and moves the ball when you aren't watching?" queried her hubby.

"No," she replied.

"Neither will George."

Marriage brings out the animal in some men, usually the chicken.

Two men were discussing taxes and the government's use of money. Just then a school bus passed. "See what I mean?" exclaimed one. "When I was a boy we walked three miles to school and three miles home each day. Now we spend five thousand dollars for a bus to pick up the children so they don't have to walk. Then we spend fifty thousand dollars for a gymnasium so they can get exercise."

The Monroe Lions Club raised in excess of $500.00 at an Attic Sale. The funds were used for White Cane and other activities.

Bill and Charlie were in a store when a hoodlum rushed in and announced a hold-up. While he was searching the patrons for valuables, Charlie nudged his friend and whispered, "Take this."

"Take what?" asked Bill.

"The twenty-five dollars I owe you."

Fortune teller: "You'll be poor and unhappy until you are forty."

Client: "And then what?"

Fortune teller: "By then you'll be used to it."

The wife, after two lessons at driving school, persuaded her husband to go for a ride with her. "Doesn't driving through the countryside make you feel wonderful?" she chirped as she sped along. "Doesn't it make you glad you're alive?"

"Glad?" echoed her nervous spouse. "I'm amazed!"

Judge: "I've decided to give your wife a settlement of fifty dollars a week."

Husband: "That's swell, judge. And I'll throw in a few bucks myself once in a while."

An imaginative secretary in a doctor's office mailed the following letter to a delinquent account. "Dear Sir: After checking our records thoroughly we find that we have done more for you than your mother did — we have carried you for fifteen months."

An old man walked into the police station and asked the sergeant: "Can you tell me who my landlord is?" "Yes, he's the man you pay rent to," answered the officer. The old man shook his head and said: "I don't pay rent. About nine years ago I found this house, moved in, and I've been living there ever since." "Then why worry?" asked the sergeant. "You've got no complaint." "I sure have," shouted the old fellow. "If he don't fix the roof soon, I'm gonna move out."

You cannot help men permanently by doing for them what they could and should do for themselves.

Love cannot be wasted. It makes no difference where it is bestowed, it always brings in big returns.

I've got some pretty good property working for me in Florida — they struck land on it.

Fayetteville Club Named Outstanding Club

RALEIGH — The Fayetteville Lions Club was selected this year as the outstanding club in the state for volunteer services to the blind.

An award was presented to the club at a special awards banquet held in Raleigh by the Division of Services for the Blind of the N.C. Department of Human Resources. The banquet was held in conjunction with "Sight Conservation and Work for the Blind Month" as proclaimed by Governor James B. Hunt, Jr.

The club was cited for its many services to the visually handicapped citizens of Cumberland County.

The club has worked together with the Cumberland County Association for the Blind to establish a center for the Blind. They donated both manpower and furniture to decorate the center.

They have bought glasses and paid physician fees and have arranged for the monthly eye clinic to be held at the Lions Civic Center in Fayetteville. They also have assisted social workers for the blind in obtaining hospital beds, wheel chairs, crutches and bathroom equipment.

The club was cited for these and many other services to the blind throughout the year.

HOPE IN ACTION

Hope looks for the good in people instead of harping on the worst.

Hope opens doors where despair closes them.

Hope discovers what can be done instead of grumbling about what cannot.

Hope draws its power from a deep trust in God and the basic goodness of mankind.

Hope "lights a candle" instead of "cursing the darkness."

Hope regards problems, small or large, as opportunities.

Hope cherishes no illusions, nor does it yield to cynicism.

Hope sets big goals and is not frustrated by repeated difficulties or setbacks.

Hope pushes ahead when it would be easy to quit.

Hope puts up with modest gains, realizing that "the longest journey starts with one step."

Hope accepts misunderstandings as the price for serving the greater good of others.

Hope is a good loser because it has the divine assurance of final victory.

"In the world you will have trouble, be brave: I have conquered the world." (John 16:33)

President's Report

An article written by Roy Keaton, former Director-General of Lions Clubs International, reminds us that "Lionism is a modern miracle in a busy work-a-day world. The history of Lionism is a brilliantly rich story filled with challenging deeds well done. We live in deeds, not in years; in thoughts, not in breaths; we live in feelings, not in figures on a dial. He lives most who serves most. He feels the noblest who acts the best. Life is the soul's nursery. We grow as we accept life's challenges."

The North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind has attained another level of achievement by exceeding the records of other years. This was brought about in large measure because the Lions of North Carolina, in my opinion, have accepted life's challenges in serving others in an unprecedented way. We feel that the Association has recognized the challenges which have come its way during the past year and has, in many ways, met those challenges through additional services to our visually impaired friends throughout North Carolina. This is not intended to imply that we have rendered service to every worthy cause that came to our attention, but we have tried to touch as many persons as possible within our reach, and within the source of funds available.

The response by the leadership in each of the nine workshops across the state, the presence of past district and state officers at the meetings, the reception given to me in each of the fall conferences, the board's enthusiastic endorsement of substantially all of the recommendations of the Executive Committee, the continuing support of the White Cane effort by members of the Lions State Council and the district White Cane Directors, were heartwarming indeed.

To the 400 plus clubs which did not receive individual recognition for new records of giving to White Cane I want to add a special word of thanks because it took every club in the state — and everyone had a part — to achieve the record which we reached. Cooperation is the KEY and every club used that KEY.

Lions are invited — and urged — to review other portions of the WHITE CANE Magazine. Reports of clubs, financial records and budget matters, countless stories of service activities conducted by individual clubs during the year, including some impressive pictures, will prove interesting to every Lion in the state.

Leon P. Spencer

A special word of thanks goes also to our Executive Director, Robert E. Spencer, and his staff for the superior job that they do. We were never lacking in information needed for any meeting; all committees were scheduled at appropriate meeting dates; and every minute detail was prepared and presented in proper sequence at every Executive Committee and Board Meeting. Furthermore copies of all administrative correspondence were sent to me daily from our Executive Director. Our Association is exceptionally fortunate to have Bob and his staff to handle the details of our Association.

Without a doubt the past year, as president of the Association, Lionism has meant more to me than any other Lionistic activity which I've known since October, 1938 when I became a Lion. For this privilege I shall forever be indebted to the Lions of North Carolina. For one year I am basking in the sun, but I shall do everything possible to get a shady spot next year when President Robert Loeblein leads us to a NEW record this year.

Leon P. Spencer, President

Eyes Have It For This Young Man

By INA HUGHS
The Charlotte Observer

"What happens to your assets after your death? To make sure, you make out a will. What about your eyes? Did you know you can will your eyes to the N.C. Eye and Tissue Bank to be used after your death to restore sight in two blind persons?

Over 90 percent of corneal transplants are successful. Over 200 blind North Carolinians are awaiting corneal transplants to have their sight restored right now."

Perhaps you've heard this 60-second message on your radio. It was written by 13-year-old Everett Brantley, son of Farris and Emily Brantley of 3032 Northampton Dr.

"Everything about the eye fascinates me," says this enthusiastic young man. "My dad is active in the Lion's Club and about a year ago, I started helping him sell brooms to raise money for the Charlotte Eastern Lions Club where he was White Cane Chairman.

"I read the materials he was bringing home, and I kept thinking about my aunt who needed a corneal transplant. I tried to imagine what it was like not being able to see . . . not even to be able to look in a mirror and see yourself . . . not to be able to see your kids."

These things began to haunt Everett. He thought about them as he walked his Observer paper route, in his advanced math class at Quail Hollow Junior High and as he trudged to football practice in the afternoons.

"I started reading about eyes and listening to what my dad was doing to help blind people. I kept thinking that it would be wonderful to be able to do something myself."

When he began work on his Eagle Scout project, Everett decided to organize eye will campaigns, to help publicize the needs of the N.C. Eye & Tissue Bank. He told the Eagle Scout Board he would personally get at least 100 people to sign eye will agreements.

"Then things started happening that made me realize how great people really are. People like Dr. Martin Kreshon — he's an ophthalmologist in town. I'd never met him, but I'd heard about him. So I just called one night and told him what I was doing and asked his advice. He was so helpful. In fact, he asked me if I would like to actually see a corneal transplant. Several nights later at about 9:30, his nurse called and said "Come quick!" "

The surgery Everett watched was on a woman who had been blind for two years. The donor had been killed in a construction accident. Everett knew that the first eye transplants had been done on animals in the 1800's. Research, creative thinking by people like Dr. Kreshon and a young man killed suddenly on building site had brought us all a long way out of the darkness.

"It was a miracle. I watched a miracle. I put on all the masks and gowns and watched through a microscope while Dr. Kreshon took someone else's eyes and gave back a woman's sight. It was a miracle."

Everett saw other miracles. His parents took him to Duke University Eye Center. "I remember every minute of those two days," Everett says, sitting on the edge of his chair. "I saw the lasers they use to examine and treat the eye. They explained how they use sound waves in water to locate eye tumors and how they can detect through color disks and special photography whether a 3-week-old baby has normal sight. I couldn't believe all I was seeing."

Everett is more convinced than ever that his Eagle project is bigger than life. He can't sign the eye will pledge himself because he isn't 18. But he is giving many, many hours to tell those of us who can what a simple and important gift we can make.

Everett didn't take his eyes off me as he made his request: "If you or anyone in your family went blind, and nobody had cared enough to contribute to this cause, there would be no chance of your ever seeing again. Besides, you won't need your eyes after you die."

And if I should be squeamish and say, "Oh, but I want to see where I am going," — then, Everett laughs, "Well, you know, you might not want to see where you are going. . . ."

In a special ceremony at the Longview Lions Club, Past President Robert G. Frye was honored when optical instruments were presented to the Catawba County Health Department in his name.

Marjorie McCune Memorial Center for the Handicapped

The Marjorie McCune Memorial Center for the Handicapped, a $700,000 project, sponsored by the 1,400 Lions in District 31-A was dedicated on March 17, 1979, and opened for acceptance of residents in June. The center is located on a ten acre campus adjacent to Western North Carolina Hospital, near Black Mountain, North Carolina.

Lions International President, Ralph A. Lynam, gave the dedicatory address. There were over 500 Lions in attendance, in addition to the McCune family and handicapped people from all over the State. Former Congressman Roy A. Taylor was master of ceremonies. Past Lions International President, Jack Stickley, and past Lions International Director, Lacy M. Presnell, Jr., were participants in the ceremony and the banquet that was held at the S & W Cafeteria.

Lanny L. Armstrong, a member of the Asheville Lions Club is the Administrator of the Center. He occupies one of the renovated dwellings located on the land purchased from the State. The official address is 1429 North Fork Road, Black Mountain, North Carolina. The telephone number is area code 704, 669-8452.

The center opened on June 5 with seven residents. Applications have been slower than anticipated; therefore, the Board of Directors of the Western North Carolina Lions, Inc. have agreed to consider applications from any handicapped person in North Carolina, thus broadening the base to serve the handicapped people of our State in need of group care, but not medically eligible for nursing home care. A recently instituted screening process by the North Carolina Department of Human Resources is resulting in the removal of residents from nursing homes to facilities licensed by the State to serve the adult handicapped and aged with minor health problems.

The center has many advantages and conveniences not offered in many of the privately owned facilities. Each of the double bedrooms has a private bath, with an individual thermostat to control heat and air conditioning. The spouses of handicapped will be accepted if both require group care. The ten acre tract of land, located in a beautiful setting, is to be developed for recreational purposes. A craft shop is almost complete for use by those who are interested in occupying their time in a meaningful way. A vegetable garden has been planted and a garden for the handicapped is in the planning stage.

The Lions of District 31-A are very enthusiastic about the Center and are asking for the cooperation and support of all the Lions in the State of North Carolina to make this, along with Camp Dogwood, priority projects to serve the needs of our handicapped people, enriching their lives in a meaningful way. Working together we can be that "candle in the dark" that spreads the spirit and true meaning of LIONISM to the darker corners of our State.

Western North Carolina Lions Eye Screening Program

Nine years of successful eye screening programs in District 31-A have resulted in the screening of approximately 100,000 school children with over 5,000 referred for complete eye examinations. Many school children have been located through these programs who were legally blind and had need of immediate medical treatment.

Two mobile units are scheduled by counties with local Lions working cooperatively with the county health and school officials. Medical information is recorded on the official school health card. The school nurse follows up on all referrals with apparent eye defects and in cooperation with local departments of social service arranges for eye examinations on indigent cases.

During the 1978-79 school year, under the direction of Lion J. L. Mashburn, District Screening Chairman, approximately 20,000 children were screened in the twelve county area. Buncombe County carried out an extensive screening of all kindergarten children in both public and private schools in close cooperation with county school officials. Almost 10,000 children were screened with referrals running at five percent.

The most difficult problem is finding registered nurses with adequate background in eye diseases to work the units on a regular scheduled basis. There is a tremendous need for a two or three day workshop whereby the school nurses in the area could take advantage of the knowledge and experience of some of the eye physicians and the district nurse trained in eye clinic work and used by the Lions for the past 29 years.

LIFE'S CLOCK

The clock of life is wound but once,
And no man has the power to tell,
Just where the hands will stop
At late or early hour.
To lose one's wealth is sad indeed;
To lose one's soul is such a loss
As no man can restore.
The present only is our own,
Life, Love, Toil with a will—
Place no faith in "tomorrow"—for
The clock may then be still.

Retiring Secretary of NCLAB Leaves Message

For eight of the twelve years that I have been a North Carolina Lion, it has been a great honor for me to be directly involved with the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind. My involvement began as White Cane Director representing District 31-D followed by a great year as State White Cane Director. It seems like only yesterday that I apprehensively began my first term as secretary; it's incredible that I was asked to serve in this capacity for six consecutive years.

I can say with candor, that I have received much more during this time than I have given, or will ever be able to give. It is an experience that I will cherish for the rest of my days. The work I performed was inordinately easy compared to the personal rewards received in being just a part of this vital organization.

The Association is the bond that brings all North Carolina Lions together in the performance of some of the best projects in the world. It is inconceivable to think what our Lions Clubs would be if there was no Association. The many services performed with such ease by the Lions of North Carolina through the Association would not exist if we were not brought together by the common interest we have through the Association.

It is the Lions of North Carolina who formed the Association. The Lions support its projects and perform all the services our visually impaired citizens need. The Lions give the organization its direction. The Association will be as big, or as small as the Lions of North Carolina wish it to be. It is our Association, and I share in the pride that we all have for it.

A great deal of progress has been made by the Association since it was organized 45 years ago. Awesome as this progress has been, we have only scratched the surface of what may be done. If, in the future, the Lions of North Carolina wish to expand their services to include additional impaired citizens, we have the organization which will manage and administer the details of those services. Perhaps we will want to progress to being the North Carolina Association of Lions Clubs, enabling us to serve more than just the one handicap. This remains to be seen. Whatever the Lions of North Carolina decide to do, I have no doubt that it will be to serve the citizens of our State, and serve them well.

—HARRY P. SAVVAS

Harry Savvas receives a plaque for six years of service to the Association as Secretary.

ON AIR POLLUTION

I shot an arrow into the air — "it stuck."

SHARED BEAUTY

I cannot see a rainbow's glory spread across a rain-washed sky when storm is over; nor can I see or hear the birds that cry their songs among the clouds, or through bright clover.

You tell me that the night is full of stars, and how the winds and waters sing and flow; and in my heart I wish that I could share with you this beauty that I cannot know.

I only know that when I touch a flower, or feel the sun and wind upon my face, or hold your hand in mine, there is a brightness within my soul that words can never trace. I call it Life, and laugh with its delight, though life itself be out of sound and sight.

—Robert J. Smithdas

Winston-Salem Host Lions Construct Nature Trail For the Blind

W. Roger Lemmons, Tanglewood Park Manager, and George W. Fulk, President of Winston-Salem "Host" Lions Club announce the dedication of the "Little Walden Nature Trail."

Fulk said that members of the Winston-Salem "Host" Lions Club and Mr. Lemmons began discussing the idea of a nature trail at Tanglewood Park almost two (2) years ago as a trail which could be used by the blind and visually impaired, as well as for all citizens of Forsyth County.

On August 2, 1978, the Tanglewood Park Board of Trustees approved of 46 acres being set aside for nature trail activities and the development of Phase I of a five (5) phase, long range plan. The Winston-Salem "Host" Club agreed to finance Phase I and with the assistance of the Winston-Salem Council of the Old North State Chapter #79, Telephone Pioneers of America, the two groups and Roger Lemmons, Ron Linville, and Carl Safley, from Tanglewood Park, volunteered their services on several week ends and began construction of Phase I early in the spring of 1979.

Phase I includes a four hundred foot trail for all mobile people and a wooden fence around a pond with a rope boundary for the blind and visually impaired citizens. Nine (9) audio stations are being built by the Winston-Salem Council, Telephone Pioneers in order for the blind and visually impaired to listen to tape recordings about the sights and sounds of the nature facilities and interpretive materials. There will also be a staging area which includes picnic tables.

Phase II through V will be developed on a civic type of volunteer basis for time and materials and the various stages are as follows:

Phase II includes eighteen hundred feet of natural walk through forty six (46) acres with interpretive material.

Phase III will consist of a three-fourths (¾) of a mile loop trail and will return to the pond.

Phase IV will concentrate on the development of a Nature Center in a log cabin located near the pond. The purpose of the Nature Center will be to interpret our natural environment and man's influence on it.

Phase V provides for an interpretive naturalist and programmed activity for various groups and individuals.

Fulk said that the Winston-Salem "Host" Lions Club promotes the idea of direct services to the blind, and that some blind and visually impaired citizens from Forsyth County were invited to attend the dedication of the Nature Trail as part of their One on One program which was adopted in 1974. The name of the program was recently changed to the Dr. James A. Webster One on One as a memorial to the late Dr. Webster, who was a Professor of Law at Wake Forest University and a former President of the Winston-Salem "Host" Lions Club. Throughout the year, "Lions" volunteer to be in direct contact with a blind person to assist him in any way.

Lemmons said that he believed that all citizens of Forsyth County can benefit from the nature trail because recreation is a necessary part of the life of every person, blind or sighted. "It gives a person a chance for relaxation and exercise, a change of pace, and an opportunity to engage in these activities of interest which adds to the stimulation and satisfactions of his life. It's truly a time for "re-creation."

"This is the second project in which the Lions and Telephone Pioneers have joined forces in working with the blind and visually impaired," said Fulk. "The Beep-Ball program in Forsyth County was the first such effort and has proven to be very successful."

Max Rogers overheard this conversation: Weatherman to his wife: "I wish you'd quit saying 'Your guess is as good as mine.' "

Executive Director's Report

"You can't get very far until you start doing something for somebody else." Melvin Jones said it. That was the philosophy upon which he founded Lionism in 1917. "We Serve" became the motto of the fastest growing service club organization in the world. Lionism spread rapidly throughout the United States and came to North Carolina in 1922. Ten clubs were established in the Tar Heel State that year. They, in turn, sponsored other clubs and Lionism spread across North Carolina as it had spread across the Nation.

Early clubs, like churches, felt some responsibility for helping local citizens. Responding to a plea made by Helen Keller at the International Convention in 1925, clubs began to take on work for the blind. Clubs in North Carolina became so involved in their work that many local associations for the blind were established. These associations and the local Lions Clubs soon realized that the task was bigger than they and that what was needed was a statewide agency for the blind. This led to the organization in September, 1934, of the North Carolina Association for the Blind. The Association was created to work for legislation to establish a state agency for the blind. The efforts put forth by these early Lions met with success and the legislation was approved to establish the North Carolina Commission for the Blind. The Commission came into existance in July, 1935. From the beginning, the Commission and Association have worked cooperatively to provide services for blind people in North Carolina. Local Lions Clubs and local associations for the blind fell right in line to provide assistance for the new statewide private organization and the new public agency. All worked together to make life better for the blind segment of our citizenry.

Today, much of this has changed. The attitude seems to be "Let the Government do it. Let Uncle Sam do it. Let someone else do it." The many Government give-away programs have apparently encouraged more and more people to stick out their hand and say "What can I get for me?" Unfortunately, many no longer think "What can I do for myself?" "What can I do for my neighbor?" "What can I do for the less fortunate in my community?" If they take the time to think at all it is usually to curse the Government for extracting such high taxes. The "Let the Government do it" attitude has created a vicious circle.

Robert E. Spencer

In recent years much has been heard about getting back to the basics. All clubs should resolve to do more for their community. This doesn't necessarily mean spend more money. The club must become more visible. There was a time when everybody in the community knew about the Lions Club because Lions did things. They helped people. They served. The opportunities for service still exist. The needs are still there. They may be greater than ever. Meeting these needs can give a club the kind of visibility in a community that will make citizens want to become Lions. Clubs can clean a vacant lot that may be an eye sore in the community; paint, make minor repairs and winterize the homes of the blind and elderly; plant flowers in areas where they will brighten up the community; take the blind and elderly shopping; invite Scouts, little league teams, etc. to an outing or picnic; or have a special program to honor the local teachers, firemen, policemen, city or county officials. Let them know you appreciate them and they will remember you and support your projects.

Some clubs have said "We weren't able to collect much for White Cane." Many clubs would do well to compare what they got with what they gave. Some club members can't remember the last time their club did something for the community. It's no wonder they're losing members. Who would want to join a club that, from outward appearances, is a do-nothing club. Don't misunderstand—I'm not accusing clubs of doing nothing. My concern is for the image we are projecting. Many clubs are doing many things for many people, but few outside the club know about it. That may be good for a private philanthropist who wants to remain anonymous but it is not so good for the civic club that must depend upon public support for survival. Men should want to join your club because of the image the club projects. The club must help people. It must help the community. It must attract attention. It should do things for youth such as observing a special Father-Son Day or Father-Daughter Day. The club could recognize the high school graduates who are the sons and daughters of club members.

For all of these activities, get your story and pictures in the local papers. Don't wait for the newspaper to send a photographer. Locate a photographer among your membership, have him make the pictures and take them to the newspaper. Don't stop with pictures of local projects. As you meet your district and statewide monetary goals, make pictures of your club president presenting these checks to the district governor or your local project chairman presenting a check to your club president representing your contributions to White Cane, Boys' Home, Lions International Foundation, CARE, etc. Get these pictures in your local paper. Let the people know what your club is doing — both in the community and outside the community. Get back to the basics — do things for people, become concerned, and people will want to join your club. Once the community understands that the Lions Club is truly a service club, they will want to be counted among its membership and they will support your club fund-raising activities.

If you do an adequate job of telling

White Cane Committee Report

By E. Howard Stallings
State White Cane Director

When the District White Cane Directors met in the Association Office on August 19, 1978, it was evident that each District Governor had selected dedicated and capable Lions for this important responsibility. It was readily discernible that their enthusiasm and leadership qualities would result in a banner year for White Cane.

Prior to the meeting of the White Cane Directors, your State-Wide White Cane Director had concluded that each District Governor had resolved to expend the energies necessary to assure another successful year for the Association and White Cane. As the year progressed, it was obvious that both the District Governor and his White Cane Director were diligently striving to meet the needs of the visually impaired of our State.

Each District White Cane Workshop was well planned and conducted. Attendance was good and enthusiasm high throughout the State. If anyone had doubts about the status of White Cane in Multiple 31, these doubts were quickly dispelled at the nine District Workshops.

Leadership is essential to almost every endeavor. The ultimate outcome, however, is always in the hands of those who do the work. Lions in leadership roles planned well. After the District Workshops, it was time for the most important Lion of all, the individual club member, to prove his mettle. He did just this in true Lionistic fashion. He exceeded all previous accomplishments. He made it possible for each District to qualify for the John L. "Jack" Stickley Award. He did his job well. A sincere "thank you" is extended each North Carolina Lion who helped make this a successful year.

Your State White Cane Director would be remiss if he did not pay tribute to our Association President, as well as the Executive Director. Lions Leon Spencer and Robert Spencer are competent and caring people. We have been fortunate to have Leon lead the Association during 1978-79. We know that Bob will continue to serve the Association well.

We have had a successful year. Let's resolve to continue our efforts in the future.

"You Can Do It!"

by Muriel Zgardowski

Each day I struggle very hard with activities of daily living, expending all my energy
until I've nothing left worth giving.
But a voice within keeps saying:
"You can do it!"

And so I urge myself to work harder, doing everything within my powers to bathe and dress and feed myself, even though it takes so many hours.
While a voice within keeps saying:
"You can do it!"

As I slowly drag each weary leg and strive to climb up higher,
I feel my muscles straining taut and every inch of me begins to tire.
But a voice within keeps saying:
"You can do it!"

So with keen anticipation
I push with all my might,
and finally pull myself erect.
At last I've won my fight!

"Oh, Change!"

by Herbert Hoffman

Back when the young were young and full of vitality,
When free love, free ideas flourished, the country building up the new and tearing down the old,
"A better day is coming," they cried out in such harmony that all the world could hear.
Oh, change, fellow countrymen, change!

A young thing took his decrepit hand and asked his name.
Inaudible voice could not speak.
"A name is just a label made by man," the young thing said.
"And what is a skeleton anyway?"
On, change, fellow countrymen, change!

Two traveling through towns, showing each a new life.
Old eyes staring, whispering voices did not hurt,
For love filled their hearts.
Oh, fellow countrymen, you are changing for the better!

This country is changing too fast.
McCarthyites, Conservations, where art thou?

Come forth and help us slow down;
Let prejudgments and ignorance prevail.
For it is time to rock and roll again.
Re-build the old, take away the new.
Oh, countrymen, you'll have to slow down this change!

I know you like to dance,
And a cripple cannot rock and roll.
The wind is blowing, the tide is turning,
And I know you want to go.
Oh, countrymen, why are you afraid of change?

MAKE HASTE SLOWLY

Rejoice at the fruit on the tree, but wait to partake of the bounty until it ripens.

PROGRESS?

When the pioneers settled the country, the Indians were running things. There were no taxes, no national debt; the women did all the work. And the pioneers thought they could improve a system like that!

BONES:

Someone has said there are four kinds of bones in every organizations:

Wishbones who spend their time wishing someone else would do the work.

Jawbones who do all the talking and very little else.

Knucklebones who knock everything anyone tries to do.

Backbones who get under the load and do the work.

Which bone are you?

A sage once wrote that one of the most ridiculous statements ever made is that one picture is worth a thousand words. "I give you," he said, "not a thousand words, but 11 words, and I ask you to put across their message in a picture: Do Unto Others As You Would Have Others Do Unto You."

Executive Director's Report

your story so that the community clearly understands that you are providing service, not only to the community but to your state and nation as well, they will want to buy your light bulbs, brooms, tickets to horse shows and barbeques, etc.

One final word on club image — when you are involved in a club project, make sure your members are easily identified as Lions. When you knock on a door to sell a broom, the person opening the door should be able to see that you are a Lion before you tell them.

May I close by again quoting Melvin Jones. "If a Lions Club carries out its Objects, it will have a full program. It will be interested in world affairs, in national problems, in the needs of its own community and in the welfare of its individual neighbors."

We must sail sometimes with the wind, sometimes against it; but we must sail and not drift or lie at anchor.

—Oliver Wendell Holmes

Business is really more agreeable than pleasure; it interests the whole mind, the aggregate nature of man more continuously, and more deeply. But it does not look as if it did.

—Walter Bagehot

Behold the turtle; he makes progress only when he sticks his neck out.

—James Bryant Conant

Consistent purpose is not enough to make life happy, but it is an almost indispensable condition of a happy life. And consistent purpose embodies itself mainly in work.

—Bertrand Russell

Capacities clamour to be used and cease their clamour only when they are well used.

—Abraham H. Maslow

Many are stubborn in pursuit of the path they have chosen, few in pursuit of the goal.

—Friedrich Nietzsche

Report of the Long Range Planning Committee

Harry N. Baldwin, Chairman

The Long Range Planning Committee met twice during the year, considered several items and had very good discussions.

The Long Range Planning Committee recommends to the Board of Directors that a survey be taken of the blind and visually impaired of North Carolina to determine just how the Association can help them in ways not now being utilized.

The Long Range Planning Committee also recommends a survey of the Lions Clubs of North Carolina to get feedback on questions that become controversial from time to time, and to allow the Lions Club an avenue for making suggestions and obtaining input from the grass roots of Lionism.

The Long Range Planning Committee discussed at length the possibility of erecting a building to house the Executive Offices of the Association, the location of such a building and the possibilities of utilizing a building shared with either or both the Eye Bank and the State Lions Office. The Long Range Planning Committee recommends that a special Study Committee be appointed by the President to consider the long range plans of the Eye Bank and/or the State Lions Office, and to bring back a recommendation as to what our long range plans should be.

The Long Range Planning Committee also reviewed several budget requests and made recommendations to the Budget and Finance Committee.

Thank you for allowing me to serve as Chairman of the Long Range Planning Committee of the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind.

The late Doc Hayes always had a line to throw at pals who kidded him about his baldness. The best one went, "When God made heads, He covered up the ones He didn't like."

—Galyn Wilkins, Fort Worth Star Telegram

Dick and Mary Yantis were sitting in their living room one recent evening when their son, Danny, 5, came in with a soft drink.

"I just thought I'd come and join you in a drink," Danny said.

"Okay," said his dad, "here's mud in your eye."

Danny thought for a moment, then said: "And here's sand in your ear."

—George Dolan, Fort Worth Star-Telegram

Gaines Brewster says that an executive is somebody who is always annoying the hired help by asking them to do something.

—Leo Aikman, Atlanta Constitution

Ford Jarrell says: "I hope I don't live long enough for them to develop a machine that will enable me to look at an instant replay of my day."

—Troy Gordon, Tulsa World

All I know about money matters is that money matters.

—Mae Maloo, Chicago Tribune

Errors, like straws, upon the surface flow;
He who would search for pearls must dive below.

—John Dryden

There is nothing noble in being superior to some other man. True nobility is being superior to your former self.

There is no security on this earth. There is only opportunity.

THINKING

If you think you are beaten, you are;
if you think you dare not, you don't if you like to win but think you can't it's almost a cinch you won't.

If you think you'll lose you're lost, for out in the world we find success begins with a fellow's will,
it's all in the state of mind.

If you think you are out-classed, you are,
you've got to think high to rise;
you've got to be sure of yourself before you can ever win a prize.

Life's battle doesn't always go to the stronger or faster man; but sooner or later the man who wins is the man who thinks he can.

—The Christian Athlete

Enthusiastic About Matter

A minister went hunting up in the mountains. Suddenly a big bear got after him. He took off so fast you could play checkers on his coat tail, but he couldn't find any place to hide.

Suddenly he saw a tree — but the lowest limb was twenty feet from the ground. He made a frantic leap for it, but missed it . . . however, he grabbed it on the way down.

Convenience

The Catholic priest was trying to get a Jew converted to his faith.

He said, "All you have to do is say three times, 'I was a Jew . . . now I'm a Catholic.' "

He said it, but the priest thought he had better check up on his convert one Friday at his home.

The Jew was frying chicken. "Now, you know you can't eat that chicken on Friday."

"Oh, yes I can," he replied. "I dipped it in a pan three times and said, 'Once I was a chicken, now I am a fish.' "

STATED WELL — "If God meant us to have a permissive society, He would have given us ten suggestions instead of ten Commandments."

MIKE HOWLETT,
Illinois Secretary of State

Appreciate Your Loyalty

A little old lady got into an argument with her pastor. The pastor thought he would never see her again. However, she showed up for the evening service the same Sunday.

"I thought you'd gone for good," he said to her.

"Pastor," she said, "I'm going to be loyal to my church, even if the devil is in the pulpit."

Welcome to All

A man took his dog to the veterinarian and asked him to cut his tail off completely.

"I don't like to do that," said the vet. "And why completely?"

"Well," said the dog owner, "my mother-in-law is coming to visit us, and I don't want anything in the house to suggest that she is welcome."

Economy is half the battle of life; it is not so hard to earn money as to spend it wisely.

If you fly the flag today the neighbors think you have opened a post office.

The great end of life is not knowledge but action.

—Aldous Huxley

This is a world of action, and not for moping and droning in.

—Charles Dickens

Well done is better than well said.

—Benjamin Franklin

Iron rusts from disuse; water loses its purity from stagnation and in cold weather becomes frozen; and so does inaction sap the vigors of the mind.

—Leonardo da Vinci

What we think or what we know, or what we believe, is in the end, of little consequence. The only thing of consequence is what we do.

—John Ruskin

An idea not coupled with action will never become any bigger than the brain cell it occupied.

—Arnold H. Glasow

Do what you feel in your heart to be right—for you'll be criticized anyway. You'll be damned if you do, and damned if you don't.

—Eleanor Roosevelt

Special Delivery

During World War II a massive flight of Allied bombers set out to spread tons of propaganda leaflets over Germany. All the planes but one returned to base safely. Everyone scanned the skies anxiously as the hours passed without a sign of the missing plane. Finally, the plane came in for a landing two days later. The irate operations officer dashed out and demanded, "Where have you been?"

"Delivering leaflets," said the pilot.

"How long does it take to drop a few leaflets?" asked the officer.

"Drop them?" the pilot exclaimed. "We pushed them under people's doors!"

STATED WELL — "If God meant us to have a permissive society, He would have given us ten suggestions instead of ten Commandments."

MIKE HOWLETT
Illinois Secretary of State

SOME OTHER TIME

Some other time, I fondly say,
I'll give my fancy its full play:
I'll travel to the world's far ends,
I'll fill my days with countless friends, and squander life's best years away.

I will not care how Heaven blends
the best and worst. Without amends,
I'll tempt my fate and be its prey—
some other time.

And when I'm old and tired and gray,
I'll build a home beside some bay and dream of youth's lost dividends.
I'll take whatever fortune sends for good or ill, but not today—
some other time!

—Robert J. Smithdas

Inward religion without an outward show of it is like a tree without fruit; and an outward show of religion without sincerity is like a tree without heart, lifeless.

—Ralph Venning

A human being must either climb up or climb down.

—The Talmud

After much insistence on her part, the parents gave the coed daughter a car as a birthday gift. On the windshield was a card signed, "With all our love, Mamma and Pauper."

—Leo Aikman, Atlanta Constitution

A word from Professor Patrick Quinn, dean of architecture at Renssalaer Polytechnic: "If you can pronounce it, you're admitted. Spell it, and we give you a degree!"

—Herb Caen, San Francisco Chronicle

U.S. Senator William B. Saxbe has a new plaque on his Washington desk, a gift from a couple of his staffers in a salute to his no-nonsense attitude toward issues. On the late President Truman's desk was the pertinent reminder, "The buck stops here." The Saxbe one reads: "The bunk stops here."

WHAT METHUSELAH ATE:

Methuselah ate what he found on his plate
And never, as people do now,
Did he note the amount of calorie count;
He ate because it was chow.
He wasn't disturbed as at dinner he sat,
Destroying a roast or a pie,
To think it was lacking in lime or in fat,
Or a couple of vitamins shy.
He cheerfully chewed every species of food,
Untroubled by worries or fear,
Lest his health might be hurt by some fancy dessert
And he lived over nine hundred years!

A reader reports: "My daughter flunked history. I said, 'When I was your age, history was my easiest subject.' She said, 'Big deal. When you were my age, what had happened?' "

—Wes Izzard, Amarillo Daily News

George Wright told about an elderly friend who tried driving in Houston. He got on a freeway and suddenly found himself beset by missile-like automobiles. He was creeping along, slower than minimum speed, when a police car stopped him.

"I suppose you know what I stopped you for," said the officer.

"Yeah," said the old-timer. "I was the only one you could catch."

"Preacher: Can anyone tell me what you must do before you can obtain forgiveness from sin?

Back row: Sin?"

Nothing can be more destructive to vigor of action than protracted, anxious fluctuation, through resolutions adopted, rejected, resumed, and suspended, and nothing causes a greater expense of feeling. A man without decision can never be said to belong to himself; he is a wave of the sea, or a feather in the air which every breeze blows about as it listeth.

President's Report

In 1917 in Chicago, Illinois, Melvin Jones conceived an idea that was to become the world's largest service organization, LIONS INTERNATIONAL. The basic idea was simple, that men of good will would band together and work to make a better life for the less fortunate persons in their community. This idea was given specific direction in 1925 when Helen Keller persuaded the Lions at their convention to make work with the blind a major project of Lions Clubs. Here in North Carolina early Lions leaders foresaw that many needs of the blind in our state could only be met by Lions Clubs throughout the state working together, and so, in 1934 the North Carolina Association for the Blind was formed.

Over the next 45 years this association had a continuous growth in providing assistance to the blind and in the prevention of blindness. This past year, 1979-80, has by any measure been our most successful year. I believe that the main reason for continued growth has been an increasing awareness by the Lions of North Carolina of the needs and a willingness to meet these needs.

The work of this Association is made possible by the funds raised through our annual WHITE CANE DRIVE. This past year under the able leadership of Past District Governor Bennie Rumfelt and the nine district White Cane Directors a new record of over $364,000.00 was raised. The significance of this amount of money is of course in the service it can provide. I will touch on just a few accomplishments of this year which are explained in greater detail elsewhere in this magazine.

Camp Dogwood is our largest and most expensive project and we are most pleased that it is now under the leadership of our new camp manager Lion Melvin Walker and his wife Bea. Under their leadership I know that our blind friends will enjoy the camp more than ever this summer. Our Properties Committee has labored long and hard this year to come up with the plans for the three building additions to the camp, the priority for which was determined several years ago. I am most pleased to report that as a result of successful fund raising in recent years we have the funds available to build the first of these three buildings which will be the addition to the main lodge. This will be named in honor of Past District Governor Judge Coleman C. Cates. Your Board of Directors at the State Convention authorized construction to begin after the summer camping season.

The co-operation between your Association and the North Carolina Eye and Human Tissue Bank under the leadership of Dr. John Reed has been truly great this year. While we have had great success in obtaining eye wills, we have been less than successful in the past in obtaining the number of eyes necessary to meet the need of persons requiring cornea transplants. With the help of NCLAB the Eye Bank is starting a new program of regional eye retrieval centers in population centers of the state. The first of these is in operation at Duke Medical Center in Durham. We have great hopes for increased retrieval through this new program.

Prevention of blindness is growing through the addition of new screening clinics in co-operation with state agencies. The long range goal is to have such a clinic in every county in North Carolina. Also, we are now able to increase funding for research projects in the ophthalmology departments of our state medical schools.

Our Scholarship Program assisted 32 students this year who are the children of blind parents. They are attending universities, colleges and technical schools. Again thanks to our White Cane Drive the program will be expanded next year. We continue to provide White Canes and radios for blind people throughout the state as requested by the local Lions Club. We also match funds with local clubs to provide for assistance to individual blind persons where other funds are not available.

The above and many other services are provided with great efficiency thanks to our dedicated Executive Director Lion Robert E. Spencer, and his staff in our Raleigh office. We are most fortunate to have these fine people working for us. They are always available to receive calls from Lions throughout the state to answer questions and provide assistance. I am also extremely grateful to all of the officers, directors, committee chairmen and committee members whose hard work and dedicated service has made possible the success we have had this year.

It has been a great experience for me personally to serve as your President this year. As I traveled throughout the state to the White Cane Workshops and many other meetings it has been exciting to renew old friendships and to make new ones. I have been more than ever impressed by the dedication and enthusiasm of the Lions of North Carolina. We have tried this year to impress on all the Lions that the NCLAB is truly their association. I believe that through the close co-operation of the District Governors this year our Lions are better informed than ever about the work of our association. I urge that the Lions Clubs set aside one program during the coming year for the NCLAB to keep all Lions informed.

As I leave office as your President I do so with great confidence that this next year under the leadership of your new President Neil Summers, will be an even greater year than ever before. I believe our future is unlimited and that as long as there is blindness in North Carolina that our Association will continue to meet the challenges of dealing with blindness. I sincerely thank you for the opportunity you have given me to serve you this year.

President NCLAB

Bowman Gray School of Medicine Receives Grant from NCLAB

The North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind has awarded a $24,000 grant to the Bowman Gray School of Medicine.

The three-year grant will support the purchase of a Zeiss Photo Slit Lamp System for use by the Department of Surgery's Section on Ophthalmology.

Dr. John W. Reed, associate professor of ophthalmology at the medical school, said the new system would be important in the diagnosis of eye disorders, in patient care follow-up and in the school's ophthalmology teaching program.

A slit lamp system has been in use for a number of years for the examination and diagnosis of disorders of the front portion of the eye — the cornea, lens, iris and anterior chamber. With high intensity illumination and observation under a microscope, details are visible which cannot be detected with conventional illumination and the naked eye.

The principal advantage of the new system, which will be installed this summer, is that it provides the capability of taking high-quality photographs of the findings at high magnification.

Reed said the use of color photographs has become an important diagnostic aid. They enable the ophthalmologist to make comparison with other cases and earlier diagnoses. They also permit documentation of changes occurring in the eye.

The documentation of many different cases provides an invaluable teaching aid for medical students and residents, he said.

The grant, approved by the Board of Directors of the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind, was presented by Robert T. Loeblein, president of the association, and Robert E. Spencer, executive director.

Robert T. Loeblein, President of NCLAB presents check to Dr. Richard Janeway, Bowman Gray School of Medicine.

The Family That Volunteers Together Is Together

By Charles Petty
Executive Director
Governor's Office
Of Citizen Affairs

How much time do you spend together as a family?

Keep a written record for one week, and the results will probably surprise and distress you. Families are usually together for only 30 minutes to an hour each morning; and then they are off to school, job, errands and other activities.

Most family members are not together again until the end of the day, and many don't see each other then. Spending the night on the road is a way of life for countless thousands, and coming home late happens to millions of people each day.

Families are not only separated by time demands, but also by individual wants and needs. There was a time when it was generally assumed that everyone had a responsibility to his or her community. Individuals were expected to do their part for the good of the whole. The decade of the 1970's is being labeled as the "me-decade." Enormous emphasis has been placed upon each person doing what brings him or her meaning in life. Unfortunately, many people pushed individualism to an extreme and abandoned a sense of responsibility to both their community and families while they were "doing their own thing."

An exciting idea that addresses both lack of time and extreme individualism is for families to consider doing some volunteer activity together as a family. This provides not only an excellent opportunity for a family to be together, but it also enables parents to teach their children the importance of helping those they call neighbors. If it is true that children basically learn by watching parents' actions rather than listening to their lectures, then doing a volunteer activity together has great teaching value to children.

Rather than each family member doing a separate volunteer activity, perhaps families should seek at least one thing that they can all do together. Obviously, many variables such as family size, age of the children (grandchildren), etc., would alter the options available to each family.

If a family establishes being together and volunteerism as priorities, a little determination and creativity can produce exciting possibilities. Families that volunteer together can discover educational and meaningful ways to help themselves and their neighbors. There are two benefits of volunteering together. One, family members have an opportunity to watch each other help others. Two, family members can get to know one another better. The value of service to others is one in which many of us believe. In addition, intimacy — knowing and being known — is a dream which many families work hard at turning into a reality.

So, the family that volunteers together — is together. And that is a significant accomplishment in today's world.

Fair Enough

A woman waiting at the door ready to go to the store had her arms full of coats, and four little children at her side.

Her husband, coming down the stairs, asked why she was standing there. She replied, handing him the coats, "This time you put the children's coats on and I'll go honk the horn."

Served Him Right

A woman traveling by train was talking with a man in the next seat. She told him she had spent some time with her married daughter in San Jose, California.

"You pronounced that wrong," the man said. "In California it is pronounced San Hosay. All the J's are pronounced as H's. When were you there?"

"In Hune and Huly," the woman replied.

Bunny Hugs??

A sweet young thing was complaining to a friend about having a stiff neck.

"How come?" she was asked.

"We were hugging in an outdoor theater," she said.

"Why should that give you a stiff neck?" her friend asked.

"We were in different cars," the sweet young thing replied.

Wrong Place—Right Business

The preacher was finishing a blistering sermon on avarice. He concluded:

"And remember, my friends, there will be no buying or selling in heaven."

Whereupon the crotchety old guy in the back seat grumbled:

"That's not where business has gone anyway."

Tom Keels presents keys to 1980 Ford Thunderbird to Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Hutton of Fayetteville. The Huttons won the automobile in a drawing at the State Convention.

Start Now

A businessman called his wife from the office late one afternoon.

"I've got two tickets for My Fair Lady," he told her.

"Wonderful, darling," she cried. "I'll start dressing at once."

"Please do," he replied. "They are for tomorrow night."

Bright Student

The professor of chemistry was giving a demonstration on the properties of various acids.

"Now," he said, "I'm going to drop a two-shilling piece into this glass of acid. Will it dissolve?"

"No, sir," replied one of the students.

"No?" said the demonstrator. "Then perhaps you will explain to the class why it won't dissolve."

"Because," came the answer, "if it would you wouldn't drop it in."

Short Snips

A man is getting old when he inspects the food instead of the waitress.

Women were made before mirrors . . . and they've stayed there ever since!

* * *

Infant Prodigy: Small child with highly imaginative parents.

Togetherness

A Radio Poll phoned more than 15,000 men in various parts of the country to ask, "Who are you listening to at the moment?"

Ninety per cent of them answered, "My wife."

Wisps of Wisdom

It's all right to let your mind wander occasionally provided you don't try to follow it.

* * *

Smile: A curve that will straighten out anything.

* * *

Women can never be as successful as men. They have no wives to advise them.

Naturalist

The impatient old duffer finally got tired of sitting in the reception room waiting for his turn to see the doctor. "I guess I'll go home" he said, "and die a natural death."

Speech

Chairman — "Congratulations, my boy, congratulations on your typical married man's speech!"

Timid Speaker — "But I said only a couple of words."

Chairman — "Precisely!"

The Truth Hurts

Out of the mouths of babes have come things their parents shouldn't have said in the first place.

Sale

"How come your sister married a half-wit?"

"She is such a bargain hunter she just couldn't resist anything that was 50 per cent off!"

Delayed Arson

A merchant took out a fire insurance policy and the same day his store burned to the ground. The company suspected fraud, but couldn't prove anything. It had to be content with writing the following letter:

"Dear Sir: You took out an insurance policy at 10 a.m. and your fire did not break out until 3:30 p.m. Will you kindly explain the delay?"

Daffynition

Parents: People who bear infants, bore teenagers and board newlyweds.

Wishful Thinking

The children had all been photographed and the teacher was trying to persuade them each to buy a copy of the group picture.

"Just think how nice it will be to look at it when you are all grown up and say, 'There's Rose; she's married,' or 'That's Billy; he's a sailor'."

A small voice at the back of the room piped up, "And there's teacher; she's dead."

Troubles

A taxidermist was returning a small stuffed gorilla, which he had reconditioned, to a museum. He put the gorilla in the back seat of his car for the trip and was speeding along when a cop pulled up and stopped him.

While writing out the ticket, the cop delivered the usual lecture. He then peered into the back seat of the car.

"Who's that?" he gasped.

"Oh, her?" the taxidermist said. "Why, that's my wife."

Slowly the cop began tearing up the ticket. "Drive on, fella," he whispered, "you've got enough trouble already!"

Too Large to Mount

A Scot Highlander visiting a friend in Canada, noticed the mounted head of a bull moose hanging in the hall of the house. He asked his host what sort of an animal it was.

"That's a moose," the host said.

"A moose!" the Scotsman exclaimed in surprise. "Hoot mon, what are your rats like over here?"

"That young lady isn't very amusing, is she?"

"No, she couldn't even entertain a thought."

Pointed Phrases

One sure test of will power is to see a friend with a black eye and not ask any questions.

Be not disturbed at being misunderstood; be disturbed at not understanding.

Common sense is not so common.

Pretty Smart

A little girl of five was entertaining while her mother was getting ready. One of the ladies remarked to the other with a significant look. "Not very p-r-e-t-t-y," spelling the last word.

"No" said the child quickly, "But awful s-m-a-r-t."

A doctor got a frantic call from a housewife: "Doctor! You've got to come over at once! It's my husband! When he got up this morning, he took his vitamin pill, his ulcer pill, his tranquilizer pill, his antihistamine pill, his appetite-depressant pill, and added just a dash of benzedrine.

"Then he lit a cigarette — and there was this big explosion!"

While attending graduation exercises at an Army recruit camp, parents were amazed at the complete transformation that basic training had made in their sons' appearances. Instead of the long-haired, slouching, sloppily dressed group of inductees who had left by bus a few short weeks ago, here before them marched 140 straight, clear-eyed young men.

A salesman, admitted to a woman's home, gushed over its beauty.

"And what's in that beautiful vase?" he asked.

"My husband's ashes," she replied.

"Oh, I'm sorry. How long has he been dead?"

Long Range Planning Committee Questionnaire

During the past year the Long Range Planning Committee prepared a questionnaire and submitted it to the Lions Clubs in the State for consideration. The questions were selected from several that have been subjects of discussion in recent years. 110 clubs out of 457 completed and returned the questionnaire for a 24% response. The following list shows the number of clubs responding in each district.

District	Clubs Responding
A	10 of 48
B	11 of 46
C	8 of 47
D	13 of 54
E	24 of 59
F	12 of 58
G	12 of 48
H	14 of 51
J	6 of 46
	110 of 457

The figures on the questionnaire indicate the number of clubs checking that response. Decimal numbers occur where clubs gave more than one response. Responses in italics are the actual answers written by individual clubs. All reimbursement for expenses has been in accordance with Lions Rules of Audit.

ation. In 1971, a new constitution was adopted and directors were limited to one two-year term. Some persons now feel this limitation may be too restrictive. How do your club members feel?

41.5 A. Our members approve of the one two-year term limit.
44.5 B. Our members feel directors should be permitted to serve two two-year terms.
11.0 C. Our members prefer unlimited two-year terms.
4.0 D. Our members prefer one four-year term.
9.0 E. Our members suggest the following arrangement:
- 2.0 Three-year term
- 2.0 No preference
- 1.0 Our club favors staggered four-year terms

6. A nine-member Nominating Committee (one from each District) is appointed by the Association President. The Constitution states this Committee shall be chaired by the Immediate Past President. Each member of the Committee is requested to consult with his District Governor and others concerning the District nominee for Member-at-Large Director prior to the October meeting of the Committee. After each District has submitted their nominee the Committee then places the names in nomination and they are announced at the November General Membership Meeting. Additional nominations may be accepted from the floor. Nominations are held open until the March General Membership Meeting at which time further nominations may be accepted from the floor prior to the voting.
It has been suggested that there might be a better way to select the District nominee for Member-at-Large Director. Which of the following do you favor?

66.0 A. Continuation of the present plan.
24.0 B. A district Nominating Committee select District nominees for Member-at-Large Directors.
20.0 C. Elimination of the Member-at-Large Director and election at a District Cabinet meeting of a Director to represent the District on the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind Board.
0.0 D. Other:

92.0 A. Yes
18.0 B. No

8. The Budget and Finance Committee of the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind is composed of nine members (one from each District) plus a chairman. Any requests for funding which come to the Association are studied by this Committee. Those requests which are approved by the Committee are placed in the budget which is then sent to the Board of Directors for approval. The total requested for White Cane to meet this budget can be divided by the number of Lions in the State to get a per member average. Each District is represented on the Board by three people — the District Governor and two elected Member-at-Large Directors.

80.0 A. Our club members feel that once the Board has adopted the budget, the per member contribution should be determined and this should become the recommended contribution statewide.
19.5 B. Our members feel each District should set its own goal without regard for what other Districts are doing or the budget adopted by the Directors.
9.5 C. The State Council of Governors should set the goal for all Districts.
1.0 D. Other:
- 1.0 No response

9. The Association is giving consideration to installing an "In-Watts-Line" to receive calls from the blind. Would your members like to see an "In-Watts-Line" installed?
   - 76.0 A. Yes
   - 30.0 B. No
   - 4.0 C. Other:
     - 1.0 Yes, if not too expensive and on a trial basis
     - 1.0 No response
     - 1.0 Call collect
     - 1.0 We would like more information as to current usage or anticipated usage
10. If there are additional programs your club would like to see the Association fund, please list them below.
    - 2.0 McCune Home
    - 1.0 Hearing Program
    - 1.0 Asheville Lions Club Eye Clinic and Asheville Lions Workshop
    - 88.0 No response
    - 1.0 Dissemination of information on Medicare, Social Security, and SSI to the blind with copies to clubs for making Lions familiar enough to be helpful to them.
    - 1.0 You have more than needed. We don't want the Leader Dog Program.
    - 1.0 Just evaluate existing programs for their effectiveness.
    - 1.0 Enough now.
    - 1.0 Beep Ball and Walkertown Lions Club Tailtwister Fund
    - 1.0 Improve on present funding
    - 1.0 All Camp Dogwood camper fees paid by the Association
    - 1.0 More films on what is going on at the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind to be shown on club levels
    - 5.0 None
    - 1.0 How about eye operations for diseased eyes. How about cataract eye operations and corrective glasses for these operations.
    - 1.0 It may be wise not to overload the program. The program for the hearing impaired really should be jointly with the sightless, but with caution.
    - 1.0 Leader Dog added
    - 1.0 None of which we are aware of at this time.
    - 1.0 Need area lists of blind, visually impaired, etc. to be able to help. Mail to local clubs as available or minimum of once per year.
11. Now that the Association and Camp Dogwood budgets have been combined and White Cane credit can be given for contributions to the Camp and for campers' fees, would your club like to see the campers' fees included in the budget and campers allowed to go to Camp Dogwood without cost to the camper or further payment by the club?
    - 35.0 A. Yes
    - 46.5 B. No
    - 18.0 C. We agree with the concept but feel it could be best accomplished by reducing the fee annually for four or five years until phased out.
    - 10.5 D. Other:
      - 1.0 Leave as is now
      - 1.0 Need further information to answer
      - 0.5 With restriction to club per delegate fee free; additional campers at cost to individual club
      - 1.0 As long as they are impaired
      - 1.0 Clubs that do not contribute should pay for campers they send.
      - 1.0 Would like to see the concept tried as an experiment for two or three years before finalization.
      - 1.0 Keep fee to $50.00 each camper
      - 1.0 Leave to Board
      - 1.0 Club willing to pay for camper
      - 1.0 Reducing the fee annually to some small amount or phasing out if too troublesome to collect
      - 1.0 No Response

12. Do your club members have any suggestions or criticisms of Association programs, activities, or operations. If so, please explain fully.

95.0 No response

1.0 More use of Camp by District A clients

1.0 Need to get a Camp Dogwood stationwagon. Keep Camp Director off as long as possible. Obtain permanent Caretaker.

1.0 A job well done

1.0 We would like to have a program on the work of your Association.

1.0 None, thanks for the good work

1.0 More involvement with the deaf

1.0 Members feel Association doing a good job

1.0 We would like to discontinue the sales of raffle tickets and concentrate on White Cane and avoid duplication of effort and/or expense. We feel we are fast becoming fund-raisers, sometimes for other persons' glorification. At the same time, we want our efforts to aid the deserving needy handicapped to continue. And we certainly don't want things to lapse into a condition that would prompt a government agency to move in as it has in some areas.

1.0 We feel that budget requests have increased so much in recent years that it is difficult to meet all requests and then have adequate funds to subsidize local programs. We hope future requests will be kept in line for the state and local programs as well so as not to place a burden on either program.

1.0 Our club does not understand the make-up or know the responsibilities of the Association versus individual clubs. There is not a full understanding of what Association funds are spent for. Many club members feel that there is waste of funds and that they may not be directed where the most can be accomplished. Club members need to know where all Association funds are spent, including various salaries (who and how much). How are salaried jobs obtained? (Politically, advertisement, elected, etc.)

1.0 Funds for Boys Home, Lake Waccamaw, should not have interest and a percentage taken away by the State Council in excess of approximately $200.00 a year for handling. Would like an explanation of where the thousands of dollars go that are taken from this fund.

1.0 We are not conversant with all the facets of this program (some of our answers may indicate this); however, we do feel that we must get the most possible for the donations — But realize that certain administrative costs are required.

1.0 Need to know of area needy. Send samples of available literature to every club. Provide order forms to get additional copies.

1.0 If possible eliminate duplication of Reports at State Convention and North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind at State Convention

1.0 It has been suggested that copies of reports that are sent to the N.C. Association for the Blind be sent to the State and District White Cane Directors and District Governors by the State Office. This would save each secretary time and the club postage.

A man suggested to his wife that they go over to the neighbors' and watch the baseball game on television. After the group had watched the game for three hours, and a wrestling match for another hour without saying a word to one another, the wife finally asked her husband, "Harry, don't you think it's about time . . ."

A tourist, checking into a Rome hotel, asked the clerk what time meals were served.

"Well," the clerk replied, "breakfast is from seven to eleven-thirty, lunch is from twelve to three, and dinner is from six to nine-thirty."

The tourist shook his head and said to his wife, "Doesn't leave much time for sight-seeing, does it?"

A doctor's phone rang at 3:00 a.m. The woman at the other end asked, "What do you charge for a house call?" Sleepily, the doctor mumbled, "Ten dollars."

"And how much for an office visit?"

"Five," muttered the doctor.

"All right," the lady said briskly, "I'll meet you at your office in twenty minutes."

Rushing up to a large airline ticket counter, the man gasped, "Miss, please help me. I have to get to Chicago in the worst way."

A farmer was driving along a winding road and had to stop short to avoid being hit by a woman driving around a curve on the wrong side of the road. Then there was the lonesome man who advertised for a wife. Over 200 replies came in, most of them saying, "You can have mine."

A young man entered an office in response to a sign: "Boy Wanted."

"What kind of boy do you want?" he asked the manager.

"Why, we want a clean, well-groomed, neat youngster," replied the manager, "who is quiet, quick and obedient."

"Phooey!" said the youth disgustedly, turning to leave. "You don't want a boy; you want a girl."

"Well," said the owner. "I lost the knob."

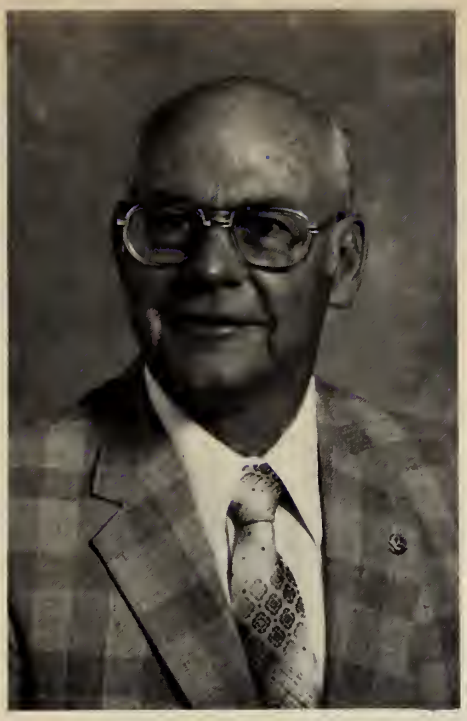
The President's Report

The North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind forty-seventh year will soon be history. From all indications, 1980-81 will exceed most records of previous years. Our great Association continues to grow due to the fact that each of you so generously contribute of your time and talents to carry on the business of the Association. Each year your Association provides more direct services to the blind and visually handicapped in North Carolina than in preceding years because of your contributions of time, talents and money. The Lions of North Carolina are truly committed to the principles of Lionism and are obsessed with the idea of doing something for someone else. There are still many unmet needs of the blind and visually handicapped; however, with the help of the Lions I am sure the Association will be able to meet many of those needs in the near future. I want to thank all of you so very much for what you have already done and are doing in this great work.



L. Neil Summers

I am happy to report that under the leadership of Past District Governor John Howell, each district White Cane Director and the District Governors, a total of $419,664.01 was raised for White Cane. This exceeds last year's contributions by some $34,000.00. The Candy Day Program was a tremendous success with 76.1 percent of clubs participating. I want to thank and commend each District Governor, State White Cane Chairman John Howell, the District White Cane Directors and all the Lions of North Carolina for making this White Cane report possible. We are all justly proud of our accomplishments which means increased services to the blind and visually handicapped in this State.

Camp Dogwood has enjoyed its most successful year under the capable leadership of Camp Manager Lion Melvin Walker and wife Bea. There has been a remarkable increase in the use of camp during the off-season and we are anticipating an excellent camping season which begins on May 24. Ground breaking for the addition to the Lodge Building was held on August 17, 1980, and was formally dedicated on March 1, 1981. This new addition was named in honor of Judge C. Coleman Cates, who has contributed so much to Lionism. As soon as funds are available, construction will begin on the John L. Stickley Arts and Crafts building.

All committees were very active during the year. I would like to take this opportunity to thank each committee chairman and each committee member for their dedication and contribution in behalf of the Association. Reports of the work of the various committees and other interesting information appear elsewhere in this publication.

I am most grateful for the many personal courtesies extended to me in my travels throughout the state this year. To the Association Officers, we proclaim our deepest appreciation, not only for their personal assistance and understanding, but also for their dedicated service to Lionism. A special thanks goes to each Board member for their vision, interest and enthusiasm on behalf of the Association. To our Executive Director Robert E. Spencer and his most efficient staff, our deepest gratitude is extended. Few men show as much concern for the Association as Bob Spencer. To the more than 14,000 Lions in North Carolina, we are most appreciative for their concern, eagerness and diligent work put forth to make this the best year for the Association. Your friendship, support and cooperation have truly proved that we are "united as one body working for one profound purpose."

You have elected capable and efficient officers for next year and I am sure under the leadership of the new President Elbert Ray Bryant, the Association will continue to progress and enjoy success. Thank you again for the opportunity and privilege to serve as President of the NCLAB this year. It has been one of the most rewarding years of my life and one that I will always cherish.

L. Neil Summers
President, NCLAB

Wisps of Wisdom

. . . One of the sorrows of divorce is that an alimony check won't teach a young boy how to throw a baseball.

. . . If you were someone else, would you want to be friends with you?

. . . Those who go to college and never get out are called professors.

. . . A good teacher is one who, when she calls upon herself, finds somebody home.

. . . The family tree is worth bragging about if it has consistently produced good timber, and not just nuts.

. . . You can't judge the power of an automobile by the exhaust, nor the man.

. . . A lot of people with nothing wrong with them forget to let their face know it.

Hot Seat

Client, telephoning from prison: "They have shaved my head, cut a slit in my pants leg and rolled up my sleeves. What should I do?"

Lawyer: "Whatever you do, don't sit down."

Shooting Offense

Any time you get to thinking how hard it is to meet new people, pick up the wrong golf ball.

Good Wives

Wife: "I was just reading that statistics prove that school teachers make the best wives. I wonder why."

Hubby: "Probably because they have learned to ask questions and keep quiet long enough to hear the answer."

Rear View

The long-suffering husband was moaning. "Ruth," he said, "you promised you wouldn't buy a new dress. What made you do it?"

"Dear," replied the modern Eve, "the devil tempted me."

"Why didn't you say: 'Get thee behind me Satan?' " the husband inquired.

"I did," the woman replied sweetly, "and then he whispered over my shoulder: 'My dear, it fits you just beautifully in the back'."

Wee Wisdom

It was Halloween and a neighbor answered her doorbell and confronted a wee girl beautifully costumed but without a mask.

As the child opened her bag to stow away her treat, the neighbor noticed that her mask lay at the bottom of the bag.

"Why don't you wear your mask?" she asked.

A tiny voice whispered, "I'm scared of it."

SUPERSALESMAN

Dixie Upright as Effective In White Cane As Baseball

(Reprinted from Daily Independent)

R. T. "Dixie" Upright is a former major league baseball player with a knack of hitting the long ball.

Now retired from organized baseball he is a furniture salesman by day and a salesman of Lionism in his off time. He has been honored for his unselfish service to the Lions many times but now comes a special award for his work on behalf of the blind and visually handicapped.

The Towel City Lions under Upright's leadership continued its commitment to the blind by raising an unprecedented $1,818.50 during the recent Candy Days promotion. That is about four times as much as was raised last year.

But, the story that has Lions International and the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind tingling is that of the Club's $1,818, Dixie himself personally raised $1,084.10 of it.

Dixie is serving as White Cane chairman.

Dixie wanted to, as is his custom, give the praise to others, but owned to the fact that he has probably developed a talent for soliciting for his favorite charity. He said there were a couple of people at the places he worked that made donations coming in and going out, as a personal tribute to Dixie.

"I have seen the people who have been helped in our Lions work and this makes me so proud to be a part of this great organization," Upright said. "We have bought glasses for the needy and collected eyeglasses for overseas distribution which are sent to Short Hills, New Jersey."

"We in the Towel City club also have taken families to Camp Dogwood for the blind in Catawba County, taken blind persons to the doctor and painted the house for a blind member," Upright said.

"It's a cause I firmly believe in. The people of Kannapolis and Cabarrus counties have opened their hearts and wallets to help those less fortunate. We of the Towel City Lions are very grateful for the help which we have received from the people in our town and county," he said.

Lonnie Yow is president of the Towel City Lions Club.

High salesmen for the special Candy Days were Yow, Mack Tice, Kyle Shive, George Culp and Henry Goode.

In addition to their work with the blind, the Towel City club has a wheelchair for loan to those needing one and has helped those with hearing handicaps by buying hearing aids.

Brown Succeeds Retiring Copelan

AS CHRISTIAN MISSION DIRECTOR
(Reprinted from Mooresville Tribune)

Shaw Brown has succeeded Albert Copelan as director of the Mooresville Christian Mission. The Mission Board accepted Copelan's resignation, effective January 31, and appointed Brown.

Copelan, 76, has been the locally-supported charity's mover and shaker for 10 years. He accepted the position following his retirement as head of the finishing department of what is the Mooresville plant of Burlington Industries Sportswear Division.

As for Brown, the chairman had this observation: "We are extremely fortunate to find a replacement of the caliber of Shaw Brown. With his background in service to others, we have no doubt that he will be an effective director."

The outgoing and incoming Mission directors discussed the transition. Copelan acknowledged that his emotional involvement in the needs of people who come to him has become a burden.

"Always," he said, "there is the nagging question of real need. Then, when you have a doubt and you turn someone down, you never know if you did the right thing."

Brown, 66, retired in September, 1980, as assistant production planning supervisor of Templon Spinning Mills. He is a charter member of the Mooresville Lions Club, and he was a member of the original North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind committee that founded Camp Dogwood, the Association's recreational facility on Lake Norman at Sherrills Ford. Brown has helped charter 30 Lions Clubs, more than any other Lion in North Carolina.

His comment on his new responsibilities: "I have seen the Mission at work in our community and I know how important it is to us. I also know Albert has been doing great work these past 10 years. His are big shoes to fill, but the nature of the work appeals to me. I'm going to give it my best."

The Mission, a short-term relief organization, operates on a $22,000 budget, providing food, clothing, appliances, household items to persons needing help before public assistance programs can reach them. A heavy drain on mission resources this time of year is money for home-heating fuels requested by families that simply don't have enough to make ends meet.

The Mooresville-South Iredell United Fund is the Mission's primary support, providing $12,800 this calendar year. The town government makes an appropriation—$3,000 in its current budget—and churches and individuals provide the remainder of Mission funds.

The Mission has offices at 126 South Main Street. Brown said he will maintain the 9 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. daily hours. He said he, like Copelan, will depend upon assistants and volunteers in continuing the service.

Labor of Love

Many have had the opportunity to hear the "Bells of Joy" so this article is for those of you who wonder who we are and what we are about.

First of all, we are a group of handbell ringers, ten in number, who are from Forsyth County in North Carolina. There are two central differences between this group and others in the state; all ringers are blind or visually impaired and the ringers are "ambassadors" for the North Carolina Eye & Human Tissue Bank, their sponsoring organization.

This group has received a lot of help during their five and one half year journey. As Raymond (one of the most faithful ringers) tells it, "We could not be doing the things that we are if the 'long arms of the Lions' had not reached out to us." They have provided transportation of a weekly basis, and funds to attend Area and National Festivals.

No one in the group was auditioned for musical ability but accepted because of their interest in music and bell ringing. The members have learned to ring as many as five bells and use techniques that sighted ringers find demanding. Many talents have appeared and their lives have been made richer.

Each Sunday afternoon, all have gathered at Maple Springs United Methodist Church to practice using the church's bells. The number has grown with the addition of the Winn's twin daughters in 1976 and the Marshall's young children in February of this year. It has been a labor of love and caring as bells are unloaded, arranged, rearranged, music brailled and tape recordings made. Each program given for a Lions Club, church or other organization requires a minimum of six or more hours from start to finish.

All of those involved feel that a real blessing has come their way as they see the ringers enjoying an outing, tasting of delicious casseroles and desserts.

Musical Treat For Mooresville Lions and Guests

The Mooresville Lions Club held its traditional Christmas party for visually handicapped at the War Memorial. A special treat for club members and their guests was an interlude of folk music by "Out the Back Door," a string band made up of Mooresville-Mount Mourne residents. Guests of the club included 23 blind persons, members of their families who accompanied them, and officers of the recently organized Lake Norman Lions Club. Each visually handicapped guest received gifts, including fruit and money. A highlight for children of all ages was a visit by Santa Claus, who was accompanied by a matched pair of elves. Lion Steve Robinson served as master of ceremonies.

Mind Made Up

Dressed in cap and gown on graduation day, a young man handed his diploma to his father with this remark:

"Well, I finished law school to please you and mom. Now I'm going to become a motorcycle cop like I've been saying since I was six."

Hi, Charlie

The lawyer was reading the will of a wealthy executive, recently deceased:

"And to my nephew whom I promised to remember — 'Hi there, Charlie'."

Home Work

Small fry to friend outside teenage sister's bedroom: "It's called homework. They scatter some books around and then talk about boys."

Following an annual custom, The Northwestern Bank made a contribution to Camp Dogwood through the Mooresville Lions Club. Jerry Johnson, right, an assistant vice president of the North Wilkesboro-based financial institution and city executive in Mooresville is shown presenting a $500 check to Harry Davis, president of the local civic club. Davis said the money will be applied to the summer program and other activities offered by the Lions recreational facility on Lake Norman at Sherrills Ford.

"That man asks the Lord for things our old preacher didn't even know He had."

Pace Setter

A teenage high school girl came down to breakfast one morning, wearing a tennis sneaker on one foot and a brown shoe on the other foot. Her astonished father asked her if that was the way all the girls were dressing at school.

"No," replied his daughter. "They weren't yesterday — but they will tomorrow!"

Matter of Taste

A little boy had been to Sunday school for the first time, and when asked what they did he said, "Everybody sang."

"What did they sing?" asked his mother.

"I don't know about the rest of 'em," he informed her, "but I sang Casey Jones."

LABOR OF LOVE

To realize that a person has grown in self confidence and has discovered a new world of being "sought after" to play, is worth any effort.

On April 5, 1981, the ringers assembled at the Eye Bank in Winston-Salem to begin a new stage in their ringing. They took a "good look" at the new 4 octaves of Malmark bells that had just arrived. These bells have the braille letter name on the sides of the bell, the first that the company had made. It was an exciting realization that people had cared enough to donate all of the bells and new blue robes with white satin stoles embossed with the emblem of the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers. The names of those donating are placed inside of the handles of the bells and a plaque is being placed in the Eye Bank where the ringers will now practice. Seventeen Lions Clubs donated one to four bells and the Rebekah Assemble of North Carolina donated the remaining bells and robes.

With the help of volunteers Jack Hughes, Pauline Stephens, Miriam Wilkins, Harold Lominac, Glenn Holsopple and Frances Hughes, founder and director, many miles have been traveled and thousands have heard the "Bells of Joy" ring. The philosophy of the ringers and volunteers is to develop the potential of each person and to encourage others to do the same.

Our experiences are numerous and often humorous. We hope to share some with you as we continue to play for others in the future.

A song is not a song until you sing it,
A bell is not a bell until you ring it,
Love is not placed in the heart to stay,
Love is true love when you give it away.

Modern Youth

Couple — about to leave for a night on the town — to babysitter who must stay with the modern terror.

Executive Director's Report

Each year the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind becomes involved in more programs and activities for our North Carolina blind. Much of this work is carried out under the committee structure of the Association. Without the proper functioning of these committees, many of these programs and services would cease to exist. May we look briefly at each of the committees in an effort to become better acquainted with the functions of the committee and the committee's involvement with the local Lions Club.

The Blind and Sight Service Committee under Past District Governor Sam Jernigan has made great strides forward this year. This committee has encouraged local clubs to become more involved with the blind in their community. The committee has urged a one-on-one relationship with the blind in the area served by the club. Clubs have been encouraged to look for new and innovative ways of serving the blind in their community. Clubs were encouraged to complete and return the blind activities report in order that a better overall accounting could be obtained. It is a known fact that Lions Clubs in North Carolina are spending in the millions of dollars on activities for the blind alone. It is only through the proper reporting of these activities that a grand total figure can be obtained. Time was so short between the receipt of the blind activities reports in the Association Office and the publication of this magazine, it was impossible to include the report in the WHITE CANE Magazine as has been the practice in the past. The blind activities report will be issued at a later date.

The Budget and Finance Committee under Past District Governor and Past President C. Miller Sigmon has been very active this year, also. Due to the illness of the committee chairman, much of the responsibility for the proper functioning of this committee fell upon the shoulders of the Association President. The Budget and Finance Committee has the important task of reviewing all applications for funding received by the Association. After the proper review of these applications, the committee then prepares and submits the budget to the Board of Directors. The Budget and Finance Committee is assigned the responsibility of being the watchdog of the Association financing. It is because of the careful scrutiny of this committee over the years that your Association is now on a very sound financial basis.

The Camp Dogwood Committee under the chairmanship of Past District Governor Coy Black has been very active this year. This committee has conducted the Camp Dogwood ticket sales campaign throughout the year and gave away a 25-inch color television set at each of the Midwinter Conferences. A beautiful 1981 Ford Thunderbird will be given away at the State Convention. Funds raised through the efforts of this committee made it possible to complete the C. Coleman Cates Wing on the Lodge Building during the past year. Fund raising efforts are now underway to raise enough funds to build the John L. Stickley Arts and Crafts Building. In addition to its fund raising efforts, the Camp Dogwood Committee is responsible for promoting and publicizing the Camp in each of the nine districts. Their efforts have been so successful that it now appears that we will be operating at almost full capacity throughout the summer of 1981.

The Camp Dogwood Building Fund Committee under the chairmanship of M. Henry Leggett, Jr. is gearing up for a full-fledged campaign to assist the Camp Dogwood Committee with their fund raising efforts. The Camp Dogwood Building Fund Committee will direct its efforts primarily toward foundations, industry and wealthy individuals who would like to contribute to a most worthy cause.

The Constitution and By-Laws Committee under the chairmanship of International Director Candidate William L. Woolard has also been very active this year. Several matters have been referred to the committee by the Board of Directors and amendments to the By-Laws will be voted on at the General Membership Meeting at the State Convention.

The Eye and Human Tissue Bank Committee under the able leadership of Past District Governor Avron B. Upchurch has also been very active. This committee has sought to publicize the North Carolina Eye and Human Tissue Bank and to emphasize the need for the signing of additional eye wills but particularly to emphasize the need for increased understanding regarding the need for tissue. Increased efforts to harvest tissue must be made if the needs are to be met.

The Glaucoma-Diabetes Detection and Sight Conservation Committee has been chaired by John M. Calloway. The committee has sought to expand our efforts in glaucoma and diabetes detection by stressing our need to move into industrial screening and to increased screening in day care and kindergarten locations. Efforts will be made to improve our screening of preschool children. The help of Lioness Clubs will be sought in securing mothers who are willing to be trained to assist with this screening.

The Long Range Planning Committee under the able chairmanship of Past District Governor and Past Association President W. Herbert Hollowell has taken some giant strides forward this year. At the request of the State Council of Governors the committee has studied the possibility of Association involvement in work with the deaf. Several recommendations have been made but several areas are still open for additional study.

The Properties Committee under Past District Governor and Past Association President Clyde M. Stutts has seen the completion of the wing on the Lodge Building at Camp Dogwood and the completion of the remodeling of the Camp Manager's home. The remodeling of the home included the addition of a second floor bathroom and storage closet, the brick veneering of the exterior of the home and the addition of a new roof.

The Public Information Committee under the chairmanship of Past District Governor James Valsame has given serious study to several areas of involvement in further publicizing your Association. This committee was responsible for the distribution of public service announcements to the radio stations, the distribution of a public service announcement concerning Candy Day to most of the major TV stations in North Carolina and has made some serious efforts toward upgrading the WHITE CANE Magazine and the President's Newsletter. Other areas of involvement are currently under study.

The Scholarship Committee has been chaired this year by Arnold Hyde who might be referred to as the "father of the scholarship program." These scholarships are for the sighted sons and daughters of blind parents. This committee is responsible for providing scholarship funds to assist with higher education for approximately 30 boys and girls each year.

Finally, the fine efforts of the WHITE CANE Committee under the chairmanship of State White Cane Director John L. Howell are clearly outlined elsewhere in this magazine. It can truthfully be said "This was their finest hour." The new Candy Day program, linked with an increased desire on the part of Lions Clubs to do better than they had done the year before, helped to more than reach the goal. As Candy Day efforts are expanded and as more and more Lions Clubs learn how to capitalize on this fine fund raising effort, we, no doubt, will see new records established for many years to come. There is no limit to what can be done in North Carolina. Just think what this will mean in expanded services to our blind friends and in increased publicity for the Lions of North Carolina.

In the ten years I have been with the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind I have seen the clubs of this State set new records every year. I am continually amazed at how determined the clubs are to meet the needs of the North Carolina blind and how dedicated they are to serving their fellow man in such an unselfish manner.

Please be assured that we are constantly making every effort to find ways to provide the most service at the least cost. We want to be good stewards of the funds you have raised.

Final Straw

The clerk was handed a pay envelope which, through error, contained a blank check.

The astonished clerk looked at it and moaned: "I knew it would happen eventually! My deductions have at last caught up with my salary."

A Record

A young woman was dialing a record store. Her finger slipped a notch, and she got a wrong number. "Do you have 'Eyes of Blue' and 'Heart That's True'?" she asked the man who answered.

"No," he replied, "but I've got a wife and nine children, including four sets of twins."

"Is that a record?" gasped the young girl.

"Well, Ma'am," was the answer, "we're not sure, but we think it is."

Fair Swap

The young mother looked up from her work to see her little son romping on the lawn with a small brown puppy. In exasperation, she called out to him:

"Take that puppy right back to its owner, and bring home your baby sister."

Truth Will Out

A little boy calling on a neighbor lady with his mother suddenly said: "Mrs. Rand, may I see your bedroom rug?"

Pleased, the neighbor gave him permission.

The child left, returned shortly, looked straight at his mother and remarked:

"Mother, it doesn't make me sick."

Same Face

A small boy ran home and made a report to his folks about the new family with twins that had moved into the neighborhood.

"They've got two little boys with the same face."

Legible But Illegible

A forgetful patient went to his doctor. The doctor wrote a prescription in the usual illegible hand doctors reserve for themselves.

The patient put the prescription in his card-case, forgot to get it filled.

Every morning for two years he showed it to the conductor as a railroad pass. Twice it got him into Radio City Music Hall, once into Yankee Stadium to see the Yankees play.

He got a raise from the cashier by showing it as a note from the boss. One day he mislaid it at home; his daughter picked it up, played it on the piano and won a scholarship to a conservatory of music.

Wisps of Wisdom

. . . Money talks all right, but in these days a dollar doesn't have enough cents to say much.

. . . A pessimist is the type of person who prays for rain but won't buy an umbrella.

. . . Most men need two women in their lives: a secretary to take things down and a wife to pick things up.

. . . It is hard to realize today that this country was founded partly to avoid taxation.

. . . Summer is the time of year when highway authorities close the regular roads and open up the detours.

. . . You may be able to make some folks think you are younger than you really are, but you can't fool a hamburger just before bedtime.

Sales Resistance

"Just tell me one good reason why you can't buy a new car now," said the persistent salesman.

"Well, I'll tell you," the customer answered. "I'm still paying installments on the car I swapped for the car I traded in as part payment on the car I am two payments behind on now."

Case Dismissed

The judge told the defendant sternly, "I can't think of anything worse than a man beating up his wife. What made you do it?"

"Well," spoke up the man. "She kept saying, 'Hit me, go ahead and hit me — and I'll have you brought before that baldheaded old baboon in court, and he'll fix you up'."

"Case dismissed," declared the judge.

Long Swim

Ten-year-old Jimmy, who had a reputation as a little terror, had just finished his first summer vacation at his grandparent's home in the country. When he got back to the city, a neighbor asked how he liked his grandfather.

"Oh, he's great," said Jimmy. "We played a wonderful game every day. Late in the afternoon he'd row me out to the middle of Long Lake, throw me over the side of the boat and let me swim to shore."

"Long Lake?" gasped the neighbor. "That's a big lake. Wasn't that quite a swim for such a little fellow?

"The swim wasn't bad," replied Jimmy. "But it was an awful job getting out of the burlap sack."

Need Comes First

A meeting was being held at the church in a small rural community to consider the purchase of a chandelier. Midway in the proceedings, an old fellow in the back row stood up and announced himself "agin" it.

"In the first place," he said, "we can't none of us spell it.

"And in the second place, we can't none of us play it.

"And in the third place, we need some new light fixtures a lot worse than we need a chandelier."

Just Arrived

A man fell out of a sixth-story window and landed in the street without apparent harm. A crowd gathered around him and a cop rushed up and asked, "What happened?"

"I don't know," said the man, brushing himself off, "I just got here myself."

Last Meal

The warden asked the condemned prisoner if there were any particular items he would like included in his last meal.

"Yes," replied the condemned man. "Bring me some mushrooms. I've always been afraid to try them."

Truth Will Out

Employer, interviewing prospective secretary: "How's your spelling? Let me hear you spell Mississippi."

Secretary: "The river or the state?"

Clever Mother

Seven-year-old Nancy's mother was not at the dinner table, so the little girl sat in her mother's place. Her brother, not liking this arrangement, immediately challenged her position.

"So you're the mother tonight," he said. "Well, how much is eight times seven?"

Without a moment's hesitation, Nancy nonchalantly replied, "I'm busy. Ask your father."

Capsule Wisdom

Dr. Charles A. Beard, noted American historian, was asked if he could summarize the lessons of history in a short book. He said he could do it in the following four sentences:

1. Whom the Gods would destroy, they first make mad with power.
2. The mills of God grind slowly yet they grind exceedingly small.
3. The bee fertilizes the flower it robs.
4. When it is dark enough, you can see the stars.

The father glumly finished examining his son's report card. "Well, one thing is definitely in your favor," he told the boy. "With these grades, you couldn't possibly be cheating."

A television producer, who prided himself on being a self-made man, received a script titled "The Optimist." He called a meeting with his staff and said, "This title will have to be changed to something more simple. Of course, we're intelligent and know what an optimist is, but how many of those idiots who watch TV will know he's an eye doctor?"

The little girl was telling her teacher about her baby teeth coming out. "Pretty soon," said the tyke, "I'll be running on the rims."

Pleasantville, Colorado Lions report that the town's firemen are sponsoring a fund-raising dance and are bound to get a good turnout. The firemen are advertising: "You come to our dance . . . and we'll come to your fire!"

John White

A reporter was interviewing an old codger who was celebrating his 100th birthday. "What are you most proud of?" he asked.

"Well," said the man, "I've lived 100 years and haven't an enemy in the world."

"What a beautiful thought. How truly inspirational," commented the reporter.

"Yep," added the centenarian, "out-lived every last one of them!"

A boy doesn't need his father for a pal nearly as much as he needs him for a father.

The boss was feared by his staff for the caustic memos he wrote. One day, one of his assistants discovered to his horror that he'd given the executive a set of wrong figures. Fearfully he wrote to his boss:

"In answer to your memo of tomorrow . . ."

Purple in the face, Mr. Brown gasped to his wife, "The laundry's made a mistake — this shirt is so tight I can hardly breathe."

"It's not their mistake," replied his wife. "You've got your head through a buttonhole."

A traveler from the big city walked into a general store in a small crossroads town. "I don't suppose you'd have anything in the shape of an automobile tire, would you?"

"Yep," drawled the storekeeper, "Doughnuts, rubber bands, funeral wreaths, and life savers."

Imagination was given to man to compensate him for what he is not . . . and a sense of humor to console him for what he is.

The minister asked the modern little boy what he thought of his first church service. "The music was nice," said the small sophisticate, "but the commercial was too long."

A golfer was positioning his ball at the first tee when, suddenly, a gorgeously gowned bride-to-be came running up to him. The golfer waved her away. "I told you specifically, Cynthia," he said. "ONLY if it rains."

Misspelling Spree

Johnny, who they say can't spell anyhow, goes from the spelling bee to the misspelling spree of the modern mart. At the store he eyes Fit-Rite shoes, Kleer-Wax, Germ-Fite, Deelish Chips, Bilt-Rite bicycles, and the Kiddies Korner.

In the garage he glares at Auto-Lite batteries, Hi-Lo gauges, Uni-Flo oil and Oilzum. In the bus station, he's greeted with Teem (lemon and lime), Wile-U-Wait, Kold Milk, Dairi-Delite, and Frate (Freight) Gate. Billboards blaze with Bilt-Well Homes, Shad-A-Bit Awnings, Kounty-Kreme Dairy, Ful-O-Pep foods, and Lake-Vu Park.

The Kollege-Korner Kafe invites him to pleezing meals, my-t-fine pudding, and King-Kup ice cream. Entering the drug store, he runs into Heet for aches, Se-Go reducing pills, Compoz sedative, Chooz for acid stomach, and Stikk-Glu.

Turning to TV, he glimpses Sta-Flo starch, Sof-Twist bread, Fels-Soft soap, Sta-Puff rinse — and show biz. And the newspaper confronts him with Dy-Dee service, Kool-Kat dancing nitely, Fritz Food freezer, Flize-In fly trap, and Rol-on deodorant.

But, when Johnny returns to school, he ketches it for spelling TOO with one "o."

Self Defacing

Being modest is the art of encouraging people to find out what you're being modest about.

Forever Female

The shoe clerk opened up one box after another until only one was left on the shelf. Then the customer remarked, "I don't really want to buy today. I was looking for a friend."

"Well, Madam," said the clerk, "I'll be glad to take down that last box if you think he's in it."

Wisps of Wisdom

. . . The person with a chip on his shoulder always carries an unnecessary burden.

. . . Those who criticize the younger generation seem to forget who raised it.

. . . An executive is some guy who is always annoying the hired help by asking them to do something.

. . . One way to be popular is to listen closely to a lot of things you already know.

. . . Sophistication is the art of admitting that the unexpected is just what you anticipated.

. . . If nobody knows the trouble you've seen, you're not living in a small town.

Delicious

Trying to eclipse his brother's gift of a Cadillac to the old lady, the rich oil man paid $10,000 for an amazing Mynah bird to give his Mother on Mother's Day. The bird spoke 11 languages and sang grand opera. On the night of her birthday, he called his Mother long distance, "What did you think of the bird, Mother?"

"Delicious," she replied.

"But, Mama, ' he screamed, "that bird was a $10,000 Mynah that spoke 11 languages."

"Then why didn't he say something?" was the old woman's retort.

Few Laws

In Greece it was long the custom for a senator on the platform to propose a law with a noose around his neck. If the law passed, they removed the rope. If the law didn't pass they removed the platform.

Watch Your Step

The coach had been drafted, and the superintendent was interviewing new applicants.

"You'll find me an easy man to work for," he informed one prospective coach. "Now, tell me about yourself, but first take off your hat, stop fiddling with your tie, and try to speak more distinctly."

No Advice Needed

Irate father to son: "I sacrificed everything I had so that you could study medicine and this is my thanks. Now that you're a doctor, you tell me I have to give up smoking."

Wisps of Wisdom

. . . A man may be known by the company he keeps, but you can learn a lot from his bumper stickers, too.

. . . Marriage is the alliance of two people, one of whom never remembers birthdays and the other never forgets them.

. . . The modern home is where a switch regulates everything except the children.

. . . Hard work is an accumulation of easy things you didn't do when you should have.

. . . The ability to speak in many languages is valuable, but the ability to keep you mouth shut in one is priceless.

Reason Enough

Men go bald because of the intense activity going on in their heads. For this same reason, women seldom grow beards.

It's A Date

The handsome boss, a bachelor, asked his secretary if she was doing anything Sunday evening.

"Not a thing," she gushed hopefully.

"Well, then," he snapped. "See if you can go to bed early, get a good night's rest, and come to work on time Monday morning."

Tooth Hurtie

The Chinese gentleman telephoned for an appointment. "What time you can fix my tooth?" he asked.

"Two-thirty?" suggested the molar merchant, briskly.

"Yes, sir," said the Chinese gentleman, "tooth very much hurtie. What time I come?"

Feminine Viewpoint

The sweetest words from mouth of man,
Reflecting love devout,
Are simply these: "Put on your hat,
Tonight we're eating out."

Gratitude

"You're nothing but a quack, ' the irate patient screamed at the doctor. "For months you've been having me come here for needless treatments. You've robbed me blind without helping me. You've gotten rich on my case alone."

The doctor shook his head sadly. "That's gratitude," he said. "And to think that I just named my new yacht after you."

Changing Times

A hundred years ago today
A wilderness was here:
A man with powder in his gun
Went forth to hunt a deer.
But now the times have changed somewhat
Along a different plan:
A dear with powder on her nose
Goes forth to hunt a man.

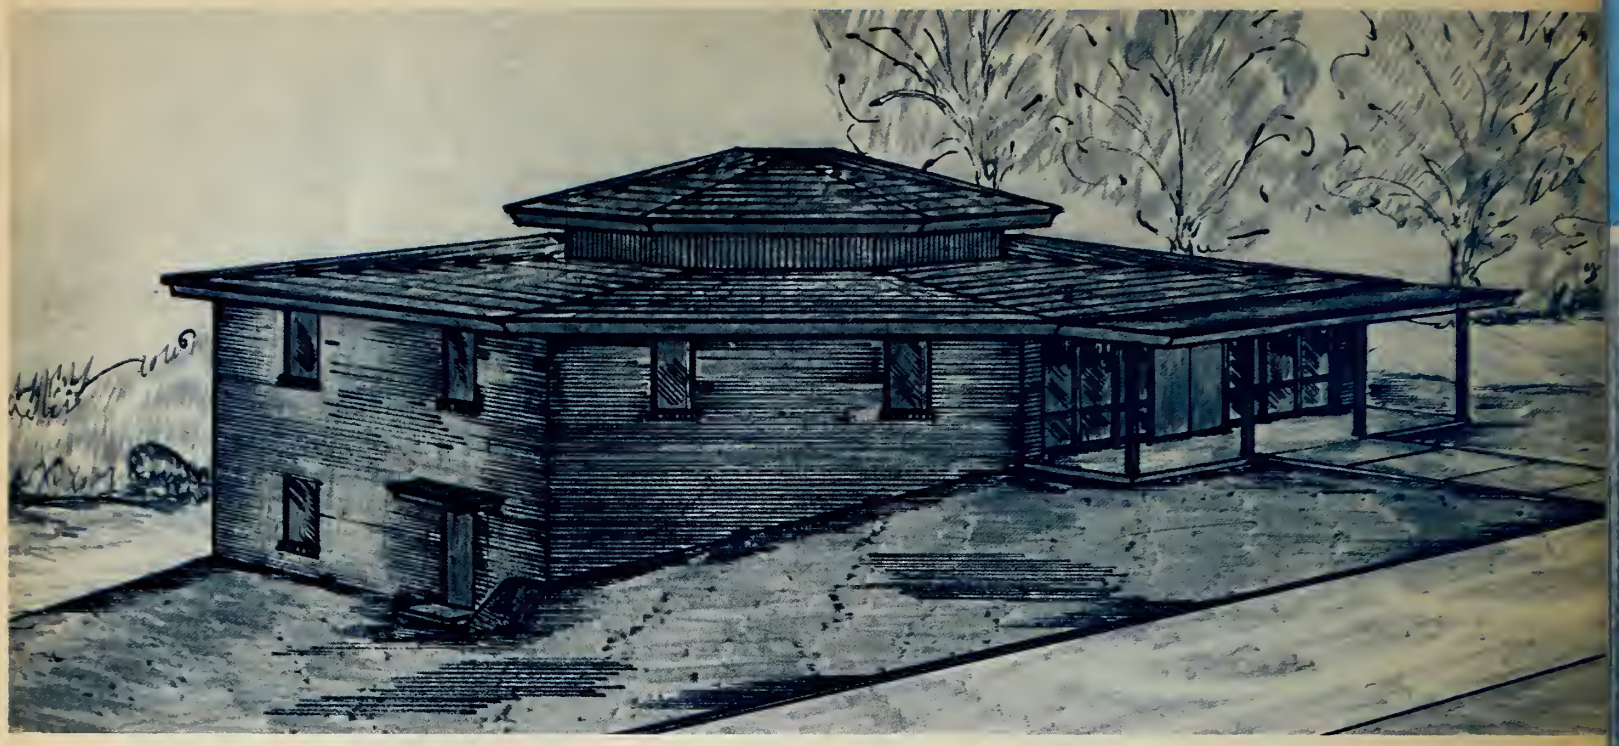
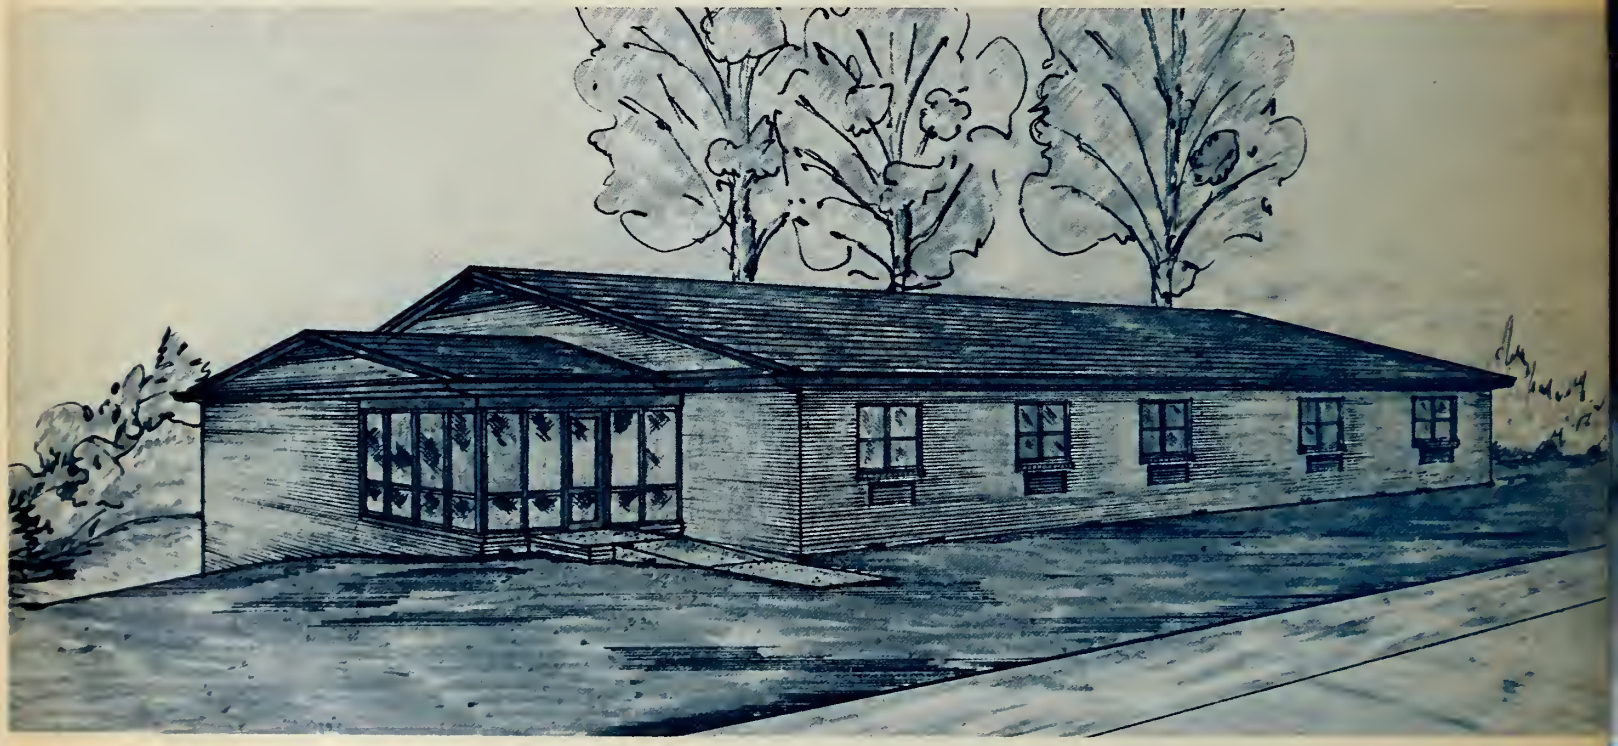
New Buildings Planned At Camp Dogwood



The John L. Stickley Building, named in honor of North Carolina's only President of Lions International, will provide space for an expanded arts and crafts program, an indoor concession area, camp laundry, storage, and three staff rooms.



Construction of an additional dormitory will raise camp capacity to approximately 75 campers. Hopefully, this will eliminate the painful practice of having to tell blind persons they cannot come to camp because all beds are filled. This dormitory will provide space for 20 campers on the main floor and five staff rooms in the basement.

The President's Report

Greetings from the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind officers and Board of Directors.

The North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind's 48th year of service to the blind and visually impaired citizens of North Carolina is rapidly coming to a close. From all indications, this year will be one of the best years the NCLAB has enjoyed. Because of the support of Lions and Lions Clubs of North Carolina our great association continues to grow and serve more blind people each year. The support of Lions Clubs is very essential to the growth and development of the NCLAB. This support was demonstrated this year when 434 of 437 Lions Clubs required contributed to the White Cane Drive. Of the 434 clubs contributing, 431 contributed $10.00 or more per member. I strongly believe this kind of support is Lionism working at its best. However, with all the support the NCLAB receives and services rendered there are still many needs of the blind and visually impaired that have not been met. For these reasons, the NCLAB needs your continued support so that it may continue to grow and help develop programs to improve the life and lifestyle of our blind and visually impaired friends and neighbors.

It is with a great deal of pleasure that I am able to report that under the leadership of White Cane Director Allan Thompson, P.D.G., the nine District Governors, and District White Cane Chairmen, the NCLAB had the most successful White Cane Drive ever with a statewide total contribution of $466,529.37. This total surpassed the 1980-1981 drive by almost $47,000.00. I wish to take this opportunity to thank all the Lions of North Carolina for this type of support and sincerely express to White Cane Director Allan Thompson, P.D.G., each District Governor, and each District Chairman, my appreciation for a job well done. I know the blind and visually impaired citizens of this great state say "THANK YOU" to one and all.

This year at Camp Dogwood has been one of the busiest ever with approximately 450 campers attending camp during the summer camping season. The use of the camp by blind weekend campers and other groups has grown to the point that the camp is now being used year-round with most weekends already booked until March of 1983. The summer camping season this year will begin May 30, 1982 and end August 21, 1982 with the prospect of a full camping season. Fellow Lions, this is your camp built for our blind friends, and I encourage you to be sure that everyone entitled to go to Camp Dogwood has the opportunity to do so.

Elbert Ray Bryant

All committees have been active during the year. Several committees have been very active, with good attendance and with committee members taking an active part in the development and improvement of the programs and services of the NCLAB. Committee reports will appear elsewhere in this publication. I encourage you to read these reports and see how the NCLAB is continuing to serve the people who need our help and support. I wish to take this opportunity to say thank you to all committee chairmen and committee members for your support and participation in the operation of the NCLAB this year.

To District Governors Ron Daniels, Marvin "Bud" Calloway, Neal Alexander, Jr., Q. G. McKeel, Dr. Ted James, Charles Register, Robert Marley, John Strother and J. David Edwards, on behalf of the NCLAB and myself I wish to say "thank you" for your support and guidance this year. It has been a pleasure and honor to have served with such dedicated Lions as each of you have proven to be. To each officer and member of the Board of Directors I express my sincere appreciation for your dedication to and participation in the growth and operation of the NCLAB this year and for doing your part to help our association serve the blind of this state. Of course, none of the success of the NCLAB this year would have been possible without the support of the 14,000 Lions in North Carolina and for their support and loyalty we say "thank you". To the people who see that our association functions as it should each day, all of us are indebted to you. Bob, Lib, Margaret, Melvin, Bea and Toni, the Lions of North Carolina say thank you for a job so capably done.

Though 1981-1982 for the NCLAB was a great year, we must push forward to continue to serve the ones who need our help. With the leadership of President-elect Howard Stallings, the officers and Board of Directors, our association will grow and continue its programs and services.

Serving as President of the NCLAB has been a privilege and honor that Martha and I will cherish forever and we wish to express a very humble, sincere "thank you" to each Lion and individual who helped make this year possible.

A Likely Story

Once there was a boy who never
Tore his clothes, or hardly ever;
Never made his sister mad,
Was never spanked for being bad,
Always fit for folks to see,
Always good as good could be,
Liked to wash his hands and face,
Liked to work around the place,
Never when he finished play,
Left his wagon in the way;
Always careful of his shirt,
He never got it streaked with dirt,
And later on he married ma,
For that good boy is now my pa.

Efficiency

The police of a big city were hot on the trail of an escaped convict. When they learned that the fugitive was heading for a small town downstate, they called the local constable there.

"You send me a picture of that guy and I'll get him," the constable promised.

Immediately, the city police mailed the constable a dozen pictures of the wanted man — profile, full face, standing, sitting and in various costumes.

Within twenty-four hours, the constable called back. "We got eleven of those crooks," he boasted excitedly, "and I guarantee to jug the last one before morning!"

Blessed is the person who is too busy to worry in the daytime and too sleepy to worry at night.

—Leo Aikman

Getting the Feel

Camp Manager Melvin Walker (right), and wife Bea inspect the scale model of the Camp Dogwood grounds and facilities presented to them by Duke Power Company. The model was presented by Senior Vice President W. H. Grigg (left). The representation, created and donated by the Duke Power Company's model shop, will help familiarize blind campers with Camp Dogwood, serve as a visual aid in Lions Club presentations and act as a reference for future additions to the camp. Duke Power Company uses Camp Dogwood's facilities for several of its employee training programs.

One for the Road

The wife of a traveling salesman went to a poultry show and came home with some birds to start a little chicken farming in the back yard.

"I am going to raise some chickens," she told her husband. "I bought five hens and two roosters."

"Why two roosters?" he asked.

"Just in case one of them decides to go on the road."

—Arnold Glasow.

A friend is a present you give yourself.
—Robert Louis Stevenson.

Most ideas are step-by-step children of other ideas.
—Alex Osborn.

Men do not trip over mountains; they trip over molehills.
—Confucius.

He who walks in another's tracks leaves no footprints.
—Joan L. Brannon.

True genius resides in the capacity for evaluation of uncertain, hazardous, and conflicting information.
—Winston Churchill.

BALANCED DIET — What you eat at buffet suppers.

ONE OF THESE DAYS — The clerk was handed a pay envelope which, thru error, contained a blank check. The astonished clerk looked at it and moaned: "I knew it would happen eventually! My deductions have at last caught up with my salary."

Texas Tale

A rich Texan was called to a conference by the school principal because his son was not getting along well with his teachers.

The Texan told the principal:

"I don't understand why the teachers don't get along with my son; all the servants do."

How to Be Anti-Semantic

One of the worst stumbling blocks in the English language is pronouncing of words ending in "ough." For instance, here is a sentence which illustrates how the same "ough" is pronounced differently:

"A rough-coated dough-faced ploughman strode through the streets of Scarborough coughing and hiccoughing thoughtfully."

Here is a poem which should straighten out the language:

The wind was rough
And cold and blough
She kept her hands within her mough.
It chilled her through,
Her nose grew blough,
And still the squall the faster flough.
And yet, although
There was no snough
The weather was a cruel fough.

Feminine Viewpoint

The sweetest words from mouth of man,
Reflecting love devout, are simply these:
"Put on your hat; tonight we're eating out."

Mistaken Identity

The little old lady on the bus was anxious not to pass her destination. Poking the driver with her umbrella, she asked, "Is that the First National Bank?"

"No, Madam," the driver replied. "That's my rib."

Sustaining Memberships

Sustaining memberships are available to individuals, businesses, and organizations. A sustaining member receives a certificate, voting privileges and all Association publications for one year. The cost of a sustaining membership is $50.

The darkest hour of a man's life is when he sits down to plan how to get money without earning it.

Industries of the Blind to Mark 50th Anniversary

Industries of the Blind in Greensboro will mark its 50th Anniversary next year (1983) and is making plans to have open house with employees on production during the N.C. Lions State Convention to be held in Greensboro May 20-21-22, 1983.

This Industry was started in 1933 by a group interested in providing gainful employment for the visually handicapped. The original work force was six people. Today they employ 150 people, 110 of these being blind or physically handicapped.

Lions Clubs sales presently account for over one-half million in sales each year and represent a big factor in keeping employment steady in the Industry.

Industries of the Blind is a non-profit industry, with any excess earnings paid to the employees in the form of bonuses or pensions or used for improvements to the building and machinery.

The Andrews Lions Club helped to purchase a wheelchair for a local resident.

The following quotes were taken from insurance forms and were eventually published in the Toronto Sun, July 26, 1977.

. . . The other car collided with mine without giving warning of its intentions.

. . . The guy was all over the road; I had to swerve a number of times before I hit him.

. . . I pulled away from the side of the road, glanced at my mother-in-law and headed over the embankment.

. . . I had been driving my car for forty years when I fell asleep at the wheel and had an accident.

. . . I was on my way to the doctor's office with rear end trouble when my universal joint gave way causing me to have an accident.

. . . The telephone pole was approaching fast. I was attempting to swerve out of its path when it struck my front end.

. . . My car was legally parked as it backed into the other vehicle.

. . . An invisible car came out of nowhere, struck my car, and vanished.

. . . I was sure the old fellow would never make it to the other side of the roadway when I struck him.

. . . The pedestrian had no idea which way to go, so I ran over him.

Nosy!

"Jimmy," said his mother, "run across the street and see how old Mrs. Smith is."

Jimmy was back in a few minutes. "She says it's none of your business how old she is."

HORSE SENSE: What keeps horses from betting on people.

ADOLESCENCE: The period during which children question the answers.

DIPLOMACY is the art of letting someone else have your way.

For Those Who Love Me

I live for those who love me,
For those who know me true,
For the Heaven that smiles above me.
And awaits my coming too;
For the cause that lacks assistance,
For the wrong that needs resistance,
For the future in the distance,
And the good that I can do.

HANDBELL CHOIR ENTERTAINS LIONS

The "Bells of Joy," sponsored by the North Carolina Eye and Human Tissue Bank are shown above as they performed at the Mooresville Lions Christmas party for the visually handicapped.

Rain, Wind and Sun

The rain that's raining down today
Falls differently on each fellow.
The just get wet, the unjust stay dry
For the unjust have the just's umbrella!

The wind that's blowing gusts today
Blows differently for each viewer.
A skirt tossed high meets a merry eye
But who cheers blowing hats to the sewer?

The sun that's shining down today
Shines differently on each lassie.
The blondes grow red; the red grow spots;
And brunettes grow brown and sassy!

Sales Resistance

The high school graduate was told that if he could sell a certain suit in the store he would be hired. The suit in question, which had been around for months, was light purple with yellow stripes and red dots.

An hour later, his clothes torn, bloody cuts on his hands and face, he rushed up to the manager and shouted: "I sold it."

"You must have had a lot of sales resistance from the customer," the manager said.

"No, I had no trouble with the customer," the lad replied. "But what a fight I had with his seeing-eye dog."

Compliments should be treated like Christmas gift neckties — acknowledged and then put away and forgotten.

A LOBBYIST opposing a large appropriation for a state college approached a legislator who boasted of his self-education. "Do you realize," asked the portly lobbyist, gravely, "that up at the state college men and women students have to use the same curriculum?" The legislator looked startled. "And the boys and girls often matriculate together." "No!" The lobbyist came closer and whispered, "And a young lady student can be forced at any time to show a male professor her thesis?" The legislator shrank back in horror. "I won't vote 'em a danged cent!"

Object Lesson

A panhandler stopped a well-dressed man on the street and asked for a quarter for some food.

"I haven't any change," the well-dressed man said, "but come with me and I'll buy you a drink."

"No thanks, Mister, I don't drink," the panhandler said. "All I want is something to eat."

"Well, I'll buy you a cigar."

"No thanks, I don't smoke."

"Okay, I'm going to the races today. Come along and I'll place a bet for you. Maybe your luck will change."

"No thanks, Mister. I never gamble. All I want is a quarter for a bite to eat."

The well-dressed man seized the panhandler's arm.

'You're coming home with me for dinner," he said. "I want my wife to see what happens to a man who doesn't drink, smoke or gamble."

Will She Make It?

Betty: Oh, John Darling, I love you so much.

John: Run to me sweetheart and shower me with kisses.

Betty: No, John, Darling, I will walk to you and kiss you.

John: Sweetheart, if you really love me you will run to me.

Radio announcer: And so, Ladies and Gentlemen, tune in tomorrow at the same time, same station, and discover whether Betty runs or walks to her John.

Wisps of Wisdom

Square meals often make round people.

Some girls get tanned where it shows but not where it's needed.

The Solid Gold Chump

Two vice presidents in rival companies, who were neighbors, were intensely jealous of each other. Whenever one bought a power mower, the other went out and bought a flashier one. When one built a swimming pool, the other built a larger one.

One day Joe showed up in front of his house with an air-conditioned Cadillac with a phone. Harry looked it over, burning up inside.

The next day he bought himself an air-conditioned Cadillac and driving it off, he phoned Joe.

"Guess where I'm calling from Joe," he boasted. "I just bought a brand new Cadillac, the best they made. It's—"

"Just a minute, Harry," Joe interrupted. "I've got a call on my other phone."

Near Miss

The harried coach pleaded with the professor who had flunked his prize tackle to give the boy another chance. Finally the professor agreed and did give the boy a special makeup exam.

The next day the coach again anxiously queried the professor. "How did Jones do?"

"I'm sorry," said the professor. "It's hopeless. Look at this . . . $7 \times 5 = 33$."

"But gosh, Prof," said the coach, "give him a break. He only missed it by one."

Casual Comments

A man's wife may not be the one woman he ever loved, but she's the only one who made him prove it!

Earthquake

There had been several earthquake shocks in the neighborhood, so a married couple sent their little boy to an uncle who lived in another state.

A few days later, the parents received this telegram: "Am returning your boy. Please send earthquake."

Zippy Answer

Kindergarten teacher: "Ricky, you can take your warm overcoat off. Can a bear take his warm overcoat off?"

Ricky: "No, Miss Adams."

Teacher: "Why not?"

Ricky: "I think it's 'cause only God knows where the buttons are."

The Wise Men

While the art class was setting up a Christmas scene on the school lawn, one of the boys asked uncertainly, "Where shall I put the three wise guys?"

Right Now

A single girl, with more than 30 summers in her past, was asked what she desired most in a husband — brains, wealth or appearance.

"Appearance," she replied dryly, "and the sooner the better."

Good Friend

A young teacher had substituted for a friend who was taking a week's honeymoon. During a party someone started to introduce the bridegroom to her.

"Oh," he answered, "I know Miss Jones. She substituted for my wife on our honeymoon."

Tut! Tut!

The customs inspector poked through an old gentleman's luggage and located a flask of whiskey.

"I thought you said you have nothing but clothes in here," the inspector said.

"I did, and it's true," the old gent replied, "That, Sir, is my nightcap."

"Let's Playlike . . ."

A man came home and saw his children on the front steps and asked what they were doing. "We're playing church," they answered. The puzzled father inquired further, and was told, "Well, we've already sung, and prayed, and preached, and now we're outside on the steps smoking."

Airborne

Two co-eds talking of the future. "I'm going to be an air hostess." . . .

"Might be a good idea, but wouldn't you meet as many men doing something else?"

"Could be, but not strapped down."

A Grave Affair

Did you hear about the guy who'd been unlucky all his life? But things changed — when they dug his grave they struck oil.

Ignore Double Negatives

The young schoolmistress wrote on the blackboard, "I didn't have no fun over the weekend."

"Now, Jimmy," she commanded, "how should I correct that?"

"Get yourself a boyfriend," suggested Jimmy.

Modern Psychology

The young mother examined the complicated toy doubtfully and turning to the salesman said:

"It seems to me this is rather complicated for a young child."

"Madam," the clerk said, "this is an educational toy designed to adjust a child to life in the world of today. Any way he puts it together it's wrong."

Words

Dr. Wilfred Funk, the famous lexicographer, offered the following short list as the most expressive words:

The most bitter is "alone."
The most revered is "mother."
The most tragic is "death."
The saddest is "forgotten."
The most beautiful "love."
The most cruel "revenge."
The warmest "friendship."
The coldest "no."
The most peaceful "tranquillity."

So Who Needs Grammar?

While crossing the campus, a freshman ran into one of his English instructors, and for want of something to say, exclaimed:

"What's your guess about the football game next Saturday? You don't think we'll do bad, do you?"

"Don't you mean badly?" the instructor said.

"What's the difference," the freshman said. "You know what I mean."

"An 'ly' can make quite a difference," the instructor said. He pointed to a passing co-ed. "For instance, it makes a difference whether you look at her sternly or at her stern."

POISE — the ability to talk fluently while the other fellow is paying the check.

OSTEOPATH — Very proud of his profession and makes no bones about it. A very generous guy, he's always twisting your arm or pulling your leg.

"Success is just a matter of luck. Ask any failure."

—Vanessa Redgrave.

Believe It or Not:

Some Lions are like wheelbarrows — no good unless pushed.
Some are like canoes — they have to be paddled.
Some are like kites — they fly away.
Some are like kittens — they have to be petted.
Some are like footballs — bounce anywhere.
Some are like balloons — full of wind.
Some are like trailers — have to be pulled.
Some are 100% — regular in attendance and activities.
Which description would you like best for yourself?

It is one of the most beautiful compensations of life that no man can sincerely try to help another without helping himself.

—Ralph Waldo Emerson

The best thing about spring — it comes when it is most needed. — The New York Times Magazine

"What does a billion dollars mean to you, who are all-powerful?" a man asked God.

"Hardly a penny," God replied.

"And what are a hundred thousand centuries?"

"Hardly a second."

"Then, O Lord, give me a penny," the man begged.

"In a second."

THE DEVELOPMENT of a new product is a three step process: First, an American firm announces an invention; second, the Russians claim they made the same discovery twenty years ago; third, the Japanese start exporting it.

Jumping at several small opportunities may get us there more quickly than waiting for the big one to come along.

Just What I Thought

"What is that thing, doctor?"
"That's a sphygmomanometer."
"I was afraid that was what it was."

Grade Aid

"You'll be glad to know I'm on the Dean's list," said the college athlete proudly to his family.

"That's wonderful," the father exclaimed. "What were your grades?"

"Two D's, two E's and nine touchdowns," the lad replied.

The Wrong Party

A tramp knocked on the door of an English inn called the "George and Dragon." A tall, bony and homely woman opened the door and glowered at him.

"Could I 'ave a bit to eat, M'am?" the tramp asked.

"Not on yer life!" the woman screamed, slamming the door in his face.

He knocked again, and the woman again opened the door.

"Could I 'ave a few words with George?" he asked.

Texas Slow Poke

The lieutenant, in a good mood, entered the barracks and said "I'll give five bucks to the laziest man here."

They all rushed forward to put in a claim except the Texan who drawled from his bunk:

"Just roll me over and slip it in my pocket."

Now Juneau, or Doyeau?

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Fred Reedy of the Philadelphia Bulletin library answered a call Friday.

"What is the capital of Alaska," asked the caller.

"Juneau," replied Reedy.

"If I knew I wouldn't be calling you," retorted the indignant caller.

A Texas rancher stopped at a New Hampshire farm to get directions. Then he asked the farmer, "How much land do you have here?" "Not much, just a few rocky acres."

"You know how much land I've got?" bragged the Texan.

"Why, in the morning I'll get in my car and start driving. By the end of the day, I still haven't reached my property line."

"Tough luck," sighed the farmer. "I had a car like that once."

Mishap

A young officer, in his first command, had the misfortune to collide with another ship during maneuvers. During the resulting confusion, the admiral in charge of the operation signaled: "What do you propose to do now?"

The unhappy lieutenant signaled back: "Buy a small farm, sir."

Wrong Animal

Greta was a little refugee. Since she was rather bedraggled when she came to America, her foster parents put her on a strict bath routine. Greta took it for a week without a whimper. Then one night she looked up through a face full of suds: "You folks don't want a refugee," she said calmly. "What you want is a duck."

Prayer at Dawn

When morning breaks and I face the day,
This, dear Lord, is what I pray.
That when the same day fades to gray,
Some child of yours may happier be,
May find himself more close to Thee,
Because I lived this day.

VERBOTEN — You never know when you may be breaking the law. In Illinois, it's illegal to teach household pets to smoke cigars. In Manitoba, the law requires that you have a license before selling elk's teeth or garter snakes. In one California town, swimming on dry land is a no-no.

"I SURE WISH you would let me take a bath in the morning instead of at night," a first grader said to his mother one evening. "Our teacher always asks us whether or not we've had a bath today . . . and I haven't been able to say yes all year."

A Bargain

Four young officers in China had a Chinese servant upon whom they played all kinds of tricks. One night they nailed his shoes to the floor. The next morning, without a word of retaliation, he brought in their coffee. Next day they put sand in his bed. The next morning he served their coffee smiling blandly, with no resentment in his attitude. So they decided to play no more tricks on such a good fellow, and told him so. "No more nailee shoes to floor?" "No." "No more puttee sand in bed?" "No." "Velly well, no more spittee in the coffee."

Down, Junior!

The family had finished dining at a restaurant and much of the steak remained on the plates. The father called the waitress over and asked her to put what remained on the plates into a bag to take home for the dog.

"Oh, Daddy!" Junior screamed in delight, "are we going to get a dog?"

Operation

Patient — "I'd like to have a quarter removed from my stomach, Doctor."

Doctor — "When did you swallow it, Sir?"

Patient — "I think it was about 15 years ago."

Doctor — "And you're just coming to me now?"

Patient — "Well, at the time I didn't need the money."

P's & Q's

A quiet little freshman coed from the country was on her first college date and thrilled beyond words. She didn't want to appear countrified, so she had put on her prettiest dress, got a sophisticated hairdo, and was all prepared to talk understandingly about music, art or politics.

Her hero took her to a movie and then to the favorite college cafe.

"Two cokes," he told the waiter.

Not to be outdone, she murmured, "The same for me."

Protocol

"This is Perkins, Potter, Parker and Potts. Good morning!"

"Is Mr. Potter there?"

"May I ask who is calling?"

"This is Mr. Sullivan's office, of Sullivan, Chadwick, Bicknell and Jones."

"Just a moment, I'll connect you."

"Mr. Potter's office."

"Mr. Potter, please. Mr. Sullivan would like to speak to him."

"Will you put Mr. Sullivan on the line, please?"

"Mr. Sullivan? Ready with Mr. Potter."

"Hello, Pete? Joe. O.K. for lunch? Good! See you."

Capital Pun-ishment

A little girl was named Carmen Cohen by her parents who had visited Spain. Her mother called her Carmen all the time, but her father, who was more formal, called her Cohen. As a result, by the time she was 12 the little girl didn't know whether she was Carmen or Cohen.

Blind and Sight Service Awards

Sir Walter Lions Club Wins Henry A. Wood Award

The Sir Walter Lions Club in District 31-G is the 1981-1982 winner of the Henry A. Wood Award. This award is given each year to the Lions Club in North Carolina which accumulates the most points per member in work for the blind and sight conservation. Sir Walter with 43 members accumulated a grand total of 564 points per member. It is particularly significant that the Sir Walter Lions Club should be the winner of the Henry A. Wood Award for 1981-1982. Henry A. Wood for whom the award is named was a pioneer in work for the blind in North Carolina. He made significant contributions to the advancement of work for the blind, not only in North Carolina but through his affiliation with National and International Organizations. Henry A. Down with the Administration

During the last election an elderly farm couple came into town to vote. They both started into the booth at the same time and were immediately stopped by one of the poll officials.

"One of you must wait," the official said.

"Wait for what?" the man said.

The official explained it was against the law for two people to occupy the same booth at the same time.

The elderly couple stared at him in disbelief. The old man grabbed the arm of his wife and they headed for the door. As a parting shot, the old man said:

"If the administration can't trust Maw and me together in a booth after us living together for 50 years — then they just ain't fitten to vote for in the first place."

Question-heir

I read the books from A to Z—
They all advanced the theory
That if our tots would learn, then we Should answer every query.

One day I vowed I'd educate
Our youngster who is three.
The questions came at rapid rate—
"Mommy, why am I me?"

With patience and with words inspired,
I started to explain,
When his small voice sweetly inquired,
"What makes the raindrops rain?"

"Why is my skin on me so tight?
Where is the Land of Nod?
Why do the stars show just at night?
Mommy, who cooks for God?"

"What makes ole Rover look so sad?
Where am I when I'm dreaming?"
That night he asked his weary Dad,
"Why is my mommy screaming?"

Modern Fitness

A mother in a suburban home discovered her teenage son slumped dejectedly in a chair in the living room, the picture of anguish and depression.

She asked her husband, who was sitting nearby, what calamity had struck Junior.

"He wants to go to the corner drug store," the father said. "But the car won't start."

Consolation

"You poor dear, it's too bad he's gone," consoled Bertha to the widow of a man who drowned. "I hope you were left with something."

"Oh, I was!" assured the widow. "He left me $50,000."

"Fifty thousand dollars! Imagine that! And him that couldn't read or write."

The widow nodded her head. "Or swim," she added.

Police Report

A woman reported the disappearance of her husband to the police.

"Is there any message you wish to give your husband if we find him?"

"Yes," she replied, eagerly, "tell him mother didn't come after all."

Good Advice

The pompous orator was about to begin his speech when a news photographer began walking around the rostrum looking for a likely shot. The chairman, fearful that the orator would be annoyed, called the photographer aside and whispered:

"Don't take his picture while he is speaking. Shoot him before he starts."

Dusting Off an Old One . . . A Warm One

A woman stepped from the limited express at a small station, on a special stop over. Approaching the only person in sight, she asked him, "When is the train from Madison due here, please?"

"The train left an hour ago, ma'am; the next one is due tomorrow at eight o'clock."

The woman's perplexity was apparent. "Where is the nearest hotel?" she asked.

"There is no hotel here at all," she was told.

"But what shall I do, where shall I spend the night?" the woman asked.

"I guess you'll have to stay all night with the station agent," replied the man, but before he had finished his sentence, the woman's eyes blazed and she flashed back, "Sir! I'd have you know that I am a lady."

"Well," said the man as he strolled off, "so's the station agent."

Short Shots

When the modern mother wants her daughter, the last place she thinks to look is in the kitchen . . . Learn to live with your temper — you can't possibly get rid of it by losing it . . . It is a pleasant feeling when you help a fellow up a steep hill; you get nearer the top yourself . . . It is always easy to covet another man's success without envying his labors. . . .

Sign of Sanity

Three old ladies in a home for the mentally ill were sitting on their rockers on the porch one nice day in May.

"Know what I wish?" one said. "I wish a big handsome man would come here and take me away."

The second old lady turned to the third and said: "Sarah ain't going to be with us long. She's beginning to talk sense."

On Second Thought

A little fellow I saw crossing a park in Cameron Village had that lonely, lost look that belongs only to a little fellow who has "run away," after things didn't go well for him at home.

How many of us have not, at one time or another, "left home?"

But today's atomic age youngster has a worry that the rest of us, as children never had.

This worry is illustrated in an incident in which a nine-year-old Milwaukee girl, after a quarrel with her brothers, wrote this farewell note: "Goodbye family. You all hate me. I love you all very much, God bless you."

At the bottom of the page, she had written "over."

And on the other side: "In case of air raid, I'm in the attic."

Well, How?

Dropping around the corner for my usual cup of coffee, I noted the place was crowded with strangers.

"Legislators' taking over the place today?" one of the waitresses was asked.

"Don't know," she said. "Say . . . how do you tell 'em from people?"

Ole Carlina

I was born in ole Carlina
One day when I was young
And that's just the reason
Why the barley's on my tongue.

The night was dark and stormy
The rain came pouring down
And the only doctor 'round
Lived a long ways out of town.

So my father got the donkey out
And straddled on his back
And with the doctor on behind
He very soon came back.

When I used to whoop and holler
And raise a devilish cry
They'd ram the bottle down my throttle
Until I thought I'd die.

That I was a pretty baby
The neighbors did allow
They brought the girls to kiss me then.
And I wish they'd do it now.

He Gets Around

The minister was having a heart to heart talk with one of parishioners among the younger element.

"John," he said. "I hear you have been raising false hopes in the breasts of some of the girls. Rumor whispers that you are engaged to one girl of this parish, another in Little Dells to the north of here, and a third in Fair Oaks, south of here. How can you do such things?"

"It isn't too hard," John replied. "I've got a bicycle."

The Haute Monde

A rich, haughty heiress visited the hospital to see her chauffeur who had been badly injured in an automobile accident in which she was uninjured.

"He's a very sick man and should see no one but his family," the doctor said. "Are you his wife?"

"Certainly not," the indignant heiress declared, "I'm his mistress."

From the Cornfield

"You know why they don't have telephones in China?"

"No, why?"

"Because there are so many Wongs and Wings in China they're afraid they might wing the wong number."

The whole world will serve you if you will prove that you are honestly trying to be of service to it.

New Bern Lions Club Enjoys 42% Membership Growth

NEW BERN, NC — As of April 1, 1982, the New Bern Lions Club has experienced a forty-two percent (42%) growth in membership. Forty members were on the rolls when President Charles Oglesby took office last July. The club now boasts fifty-seven (57) members.

It all started early last July, when one of the members, Lion James Stocks, challenged the Lion President, his Lion brother, and his Lion father, to a membership contest. President Charles has sponsored six new members, brother Paul one new member, and father "Chuck", one new member. Lion Stocks has six new members. Other new members have been sponsored by C. W. Scott Jr., by Doug Amerson, and by John Sweitzer. Perhaps a similar challenge in other clubs would bring similar results.

Membership Co-Chairmen James Nash and Bill Ellis credit this growth to club activity, good indoctrination and installation, and the fact that all these men are outstanding contributors to our community life. Obviously, the competitive spirit between Stocks and the Oglesbys, has excited the entire membership into "doing it too"!

The participants are dedicated Lions. Not only does father "Chuck" Oglesby have his two Lion sons, but his wife and daughter-in-law are both active Lionesses in the New Bern Lioness Club. Jim Stocks, an active Lion, formed the original Installation Team from the New Bern Club. Jim holds the Senior Master Key and is well on the way to his Grand Master Key, with 37 members to date. Lion C. W. Scott has served as Cabinet Secretary-Treasurer for four (4) New Bern Past District Governors. Lion Doug Amerson served as President of the New Bern Club before becoming a charter member of the Tryon Lions Club of New Bern. Lion John Sweitzer, a new member himself, is a Christian Minister.

President Charles Oglesby is proud of this club record, and said "We want all Lions Clubs in North Carolina to know of our success — for if we can do it so can all our other clubs." He added, "Our club has been active in the State and District for many years, as our four (4) active Past District Governors and one deceased, have proven with their past and current activities. We plan to continue our growth and concentrate our action in community activities — where our newest members are coming from. Our year has been rewarding and great fun."

There is no question about it — more challenges will be forthcoming in July!

If you ever find happiness by hunting for it, you will find it as the old woman did her lost spectacles — safe on her nose all the time.

—Josh Billings

English As She Is

We'll begin with a box and the plural is boxes.

But the plural of ox should be oxen not oxes.

The one fowl is a goose but two are called geese.

Yet the plural of mouse should never be meese.

If the plural of man is always called men

Why shouldn't the plural of pan be called pen?

If I speak of a foot and you show me your feet.

And I give you a boot would a pair be called beet?

We speak of a brother and also of brethren

But though we say mother we never say methren.

Then the masculine pronouns are he. him. and his.

But imagine the feminine she. shim and shis.

So English I fancy you all will agree.

Is the funniest language you ever did see.

The President's Report

The NCLAB had its beginning in 1934. Throughout its existence, the blind and visually impaired of North Carolina have benefited from the labors of men and women who voluntarily give of themselves so that others live a more wholesome life. This is the reason why the NCLAB has continually grown in strength and service. This is why we will steadfastly respond to ever-increasing needs. This is what makes lionism a source of strength throughout the world.

Throughout the forty-ninth year of service, there has been an unmistakable awareness that the heart and strength of lionism evolves from the individual lion at the club level. He is the glue that gives us strength. He is the eyes, arms, and legs of the lionistic body. He has been, and will continue to be, responsible for the success we experience. It is to him that a sincere and heartfelt appreciation is extended. It is to him that the blind and visually impaired extend a warm and sincere thank you.

A successful White Cane Drive was evidence of the concerned ways lions continue to respond to a challenge. For the first time, more than one-half million dollars was raised. The $505,694.07 will enable many of our friends to live a more productive life. Charles Waller, Chairman, served the state with enthusiasm and devotion. On behalf of the Association and the visually handicapped, I wish to thank him for performing his task with vigor and determination. Special thanks are also due the nine governors and their white cane chairmen. Seven of the nine districts met requirements for the coveted John L. "Jack" Stickley Award. Governor Melvin Styons and District Chairman Reverend Robert T. Lawson are due special commendation. The lions of District J raised a total of $71,831.17 which averages $50.13 per lion. This exceeds the amount previously raised by any district. Congratulations.

Camp Dogwood experienced another successful year. Five hundred and fifty campers enjoyed the beautiful surroundings of Lake Norman during the twelve-week camping season. The camp is used by lions clubs, churches, and other special groups throughout the year. The Henry A. Wood Picnic Pavilion was dedicated to the memory of a person who distinguished himself as a truly outstanding lion. The District B Dormitory was renamed for PDG Shaw Brown who, just this year, surpassed Henry A. Wood in total funds raised for White Cane. Architects are currently drawing plans for the Jack Stickley Arts and Crafts Building which will greatly expand program opportunities at the camp. The camp served as host to the USA Conference of Lions Camps which was generous in its praise of the camp.

The various NCLAB committees functioned in an exemplary way. They were diligent in their efforts to strengthen and improve the Association in every conceivable way. They are to be commended for serving in this capacity.

The nine men who serve as Governors are charged with providing the leadership necessary to get the job done. It has been my privilege to be associated with nine outstanding lions. Houston K. Henderson, Johnny E. Berry, F. T. B. Harris, Dennis C. Harrell, J. D. Reid, Benjamin Sealey, Jr., M. Lee Harvey, Richard J. Kerr, and Melvin D. Styons served with honor and distinction. On behalf of the NCLAB, I wish to express sincere appreciation for their untiring efforts.

The men who constitute the Board of Directors play an important role in the operation of the Association. Not only do they deliberate and take action on matters of importance to the Association, but also they serve in an important leadership position. They serve as liaison between the lions of their district and the Association. The lions of North Carolina can be assured of the competency and dedication of the men who make up the Board of Directors. It was my privilege to observe a competent and dedicated group of lions at work.

A majority of clubs are alive and well. They plan and carry out successful programs. They function as a team to reach predetermined goals and objectives. They realize what is required to be a successful club and take

A leader has two important characteristics: first, he is going somewhere; second, he is able to persuade other people to go with him.

The most valuable gift you can give another is a good example.

A good supervisor, someone once said, is a guy who can step on your toes without messing up your shine.

Be kind. Remember everyone you meet is fighting a hard battle.

steps to assure attainment of desirable outcomes. Regretfully, there are a few clubs that are not as strong as they could be. It is to these clubs that I offer a challenge. Take steps necessary to become a viable force in your community. Do what is necessary to reach your potential. The first step is to contact your District Governor. He will be pleased to help evaluate your existing conditions and assist you in becoming a better club. Why be ordinary when you could be extraordinary. Why be average when you could easily be above average. I encourage you not to settle for mediocrity but to strive for excellence.

Your 83-84 officers, directors, and committee chairmen are preparing themselves for another year. Under the leadership of President-Elect Avron Upchurch, the NCLAB will more forward to greater levels of achievement. Let's resolve as individuals to do everything possible to make next year the best ever for NCLAB and the people we serve.

My family and I wish to thank you for allowing us to be a part of such a great undertaking. We have cultivated friendships that will be everlasting. Hopefully we have made some small contribution to a worthy cause.

Anger is often more harmful than the injury that caused it. When Leonardo da Vinci was working on his painting "The Last Supper," he became angry with a certain man. Losing his temper he lashed the other fellow with bitter words and threats. Returning to his canvas he attempted to work on the face of Jesus, but was unable to do so. He was so upset he could not compose himself for the painstaking work. Finally he put down his tools and sought out the man and asked his forgiveness. The man accepted his apology and Leonardo was able to return to his workshop and finish painting the face of Jesus.

You never get a second chance to make a good first impression.

Wouldn't it be nice to be as sure of anything as some people are of everything?

Industries of the Blind Marks 50th Anniversary

Industries Of The Blind in Greensboro is marking its 50th ANNIVERSARY this Year. Several events were scheduled for this Anniversary, including a Luncheon with Commemorative Gifts for employees on March 18th; Employees' Families Visitation Day on April 9th, and Open House to Lions and Ladies on May 21st, during the Lion's State Convention, with the Plant in production these visitation days.

This Industry was started in 1933 by a group interested in providing gainful employment for the visually handicapped. The original work force was six people. Today they employ 150 people, 110 of these being blind or physically handicapped.

Lions Clubs sales presently account for around Three Quarter Million in sales each year and represent a big factor in keeping employment steady in the Industry.

INDUSTRIES OF THE BLIND is a non-profit industry, with any excess earnings paid to the employees in the form of bonuses or pensions or used for improvements to the building and machinery.

If you tell a man there are 300 billion stars in the universe, he'll believe you. But if you tell him a bench has just been painted, he has to touch it to be sure.

Keep on going and chances are you will stumble on something, perhaps when you are least expecting it. I have never heard of anyone stumbling on something sitting down.

—Charles F. Kettering

Sir Walter Lions Club Wins Henry A. Wood Award for 1982-1983

For the second year in a row, the Sir Walter Lions Club in District 31-G is the winner of the Henry A. Wood Award. This award is given each year to the Lions Club in North Carolina which accumulates the most points per member in work for the blind and sight conservation. Sir Walter with 41 members accumulated a grand total of 785.79 points per member. It is particularly significant that the Sir Walter Lions Club should be the winner of the Henry A. If you expect perfection from people, your whole life is a series of disappointments, grumblings and complaints. If, on the contrary, you pitch your expectations low, taking folks as the inefficient creatures which they are, you are frequently surprised by having them perform better than you had hoped.

A psychology professor conducted an experiment to prove a point about work. He hired a man to hit a log with the reverse side of an ax. The man was told that he would be paid twice the amount he normally made. The fellow lasted half a day. He gave it up, explaining, "I have to see the chips fly."

Frances Hughes to Direct Eye Bank

Frances Hughes

TO EVERYTHING THERE IS A SEASON . . . as Frances Hughes looks forward to becoming executive director of the North Carolina Eye & Human Tissue Bank, Inc., she is aware that this will be the beginning of a new season. Just as no two seasons of the year are the same, each possesses the qualities that complement each other.

Frances brings to this new position a deep respect for all of those who have developed the Eye-Bank to this high point, and gratitude goes to the Eye-Bank staff, board of directors, and the Lions of the state who have served so well in the laying of the strong foundation that will reap benefits in sight restoration in the coming years.

Many may not be aware of the long association that Frances has had with the Eye-Bank. In May of 1959, Dr. Larry Holt, surgical director, called and asked Frances if she would be interested in learning a dry-freeze method for corneal and scleral tissue. He had met Frances at City Hospital in Winston-Salem where she worked as a medical technologist. Frances, a Salem College graduate with B.S. degree in Medical Technology, had received her technical training at Bowman-Gray School of Medicine. The Eye-Bank laboratory training began with a trip to Washington, D.C. with Mrs. Nicholas, the first executive director, and Dr. and Mrs. Holt. When Frances organized the laboratory and began preserving eye tissue, the North Carolina Eye-Bank became the second in the country to provide preserved corneas, sclera, and vitreous to ophthalmologists.

In 1960, Frances and her family moved to Columbus, Ohio when her husband was transferred by Nationwide Insurance Company. After numerous calls, Frances found no information of an Eye-Bank in Ohio or even the interest in one. From 1960 until 1969, the Hughes were transferred three more times but never to an Eye-Bank area. During this period, Frances took a change in direction, returning to college to obtain a degree in music. This new challenge brought about a different career as an organist, choir director, handbell director and piano teacher. After completing her music degree, she continued on to graduate school in music theory. During this time the "Bells of Joy", handbell choir for the blind and visually impaired, became a reality.

Upon returning to Winston-Salem, Frances stopped by the Eye-Bank and learned from Helen that the lab position was soon to be vacated and Frances, once more, began to preserve tissue on an "on call" basis. The preservation of tissue had changed dramatically in nine years, the four day dehydrating process reduced to a two hour period.

To work full-time for the Eye-Bank, seemed a remote possibility and Frances was sure that she would remain in music ministry. In the fall of 1978, an arthritic arm problem demanded a complete change and Frances continued on with the "Bells of Joy" because they needed no visual direction. The music ministry had provided experience in presenting programs; graduate school, the organizational skills, the typing of research papers and exposure to computers and analysis. Through the years, budgets had been prepared, annual reports given, and communication had been with many hundreds of people of all ages. Frances feels that the music years were a season of happiness and discipline, a time of maturing the seeds of education and experience.

At the Eye-Bank in January 1979, Frances learned that there was an opening for a public relations and education director and Helen suggested

Shaw Brown's Work Recognized by Fellow Lions

Lions Club members from across the state gathered at Camp Dogwood recently to recognize 43 years of service by Shaw Brown of Mooresville by naming a dormitory after him.

A well-known, retired businessman, Brown was fundraising chairman of the campaign within District 31-B of the Lions to pay for the 22 bed dormitory built at the Lions' camp for the blind in 1976.

Brown now is director of the Christian Mission in Mooresville.

A bronze plaque, recognizing Brown's "loyal devotion to the development of Camp Dogwood," was unveiled during an afternoon ceremony at the Lions' facility on Lake Norman.

The N.C. Lions Association for the Blind also presented a personal plaque to Brown for his efforts over more than four decades to advance Lionism and to be of service to blind persons in the state.

Guest speaker for the ceremony was John L. (Jack) Stickley of Charlotte, past president of Lions International, who used a quotation from a plaque to Sir Christopher Wrenn in St. Paul's Cathedral in London to explain why Brown was being honored for his accomplishments.

The only monument to the English architect who designed St. Paul's Cathedral, Stickley said, was a small plaque inside the enormous building which reads, "If you seek his monuments look around you."

By honoring Brown at Camp Dogwood, Stickley said, visitors "could not help but be impressed" with the work of Shaw Brown by looking at the monument built around him.

Brown was an original member of the committee that planned and founded Camp Dogwood as a recreation facility for the blind.

Shaw Brown with Past International President John L. Stickley at dedication of Shaw Brown Building.

His contributions to Lionism, since becoming a charter member of the Mooresville Lions Club in 1940, have included all leadership positions within the organization at the local, district, and state levels; numerous awards for fund-raising programs for the Lions; distinction by securing 650 eye wills and organizing 15 other Lions clubs and earning the highest awards offered by the Lions, the Supreme Extension Award, the Lions Merit Award, and Master Key Award.

Brown also served as an organizer and promoter of the annual Mooresville Old Times Blue Grass and Fiddlers Convention.

Community service given by Brown during the past years includes: chairing the United Fund, being a director of the Mooresville-South Iredell Heart Fund, serving as a chairman and member of the Mooresville Recreation Commission, serving as chairman and a member of the county planning adjustments committee, and as a charter president of the Methodist Men's Club at Central United Methodist Church.

In accepting the dedication plaque, Lion Brown paid tribute to the efforts of his late wife, Ruth Brown, in supporting him through the years of service to the Lions.

"My only regret is that Ruth cannot be here with me to share in this honor because, as so many of you know, she had a major part in supporting me through the years," said Brown.

I've seen boys on my baseball team go into slumps and never come out of them, and I've seen others snap right out and come back better than ever. I guess more players lick themselves than are ever licked by an opposing team. The first thing any man has to know is how to handle himself.

Student Overcomes Obstacles, Thanks to North Wilkesboro Lions

Eduardo Pedroza had two obstacles confronting him when he began studying toward his adult high school diploma. First, as a native Mexican, he was still learning English. Secondly, he was deaf.

Now, thanks to a federally funded program at Wilkes Community College and a concerned local Lions Club, Pedroza is overcoming his language barrier and living a little easier with his handicap. In addition, he is now enjoying a convenience most people with hearing take for granted.

Pedroza, who works at Carolina Mirror, is one of the first students using the college's diagnostic center. He is under the instruction of Barbara Allison, a learning problems specialist who is developing the center to aid students with special learning problems.

Mrs. Allison said her student comprehends written English well and uses sign language to communicate. Because he had no written or spoken communication, his skills in those areas had not progressed as rapidly as his comprehension of the language.

To help him create language, the North Wilkesboro Lions Club has purchased Pedroza a Telephone Device for the Deaf (TDD). The device, which looks similar to a typewriter, allows a deaf person to communicate via telephone with others who have TDD's.

The message is simply typed out on the keyboard, converted to electrical signals in the device and sent through the phone system to another unit. The message then emerges in printed form. Pedroza practices his English each time he uses the TDD.

Mrs. Allison said the purchase of the TDD was initiated through Dr. Harry Baldwin of Wilkesboro. In his role as past district governor of District 31-B., Lions International, Dr. Baldwin became aware of the needs of the deaf. Mrs. Allison said that through his efforts, the Lions may soon place a TDD in the community where the deaf will have easy access 24 hours a day.

Mrs. Allison said she is confident many students with learning disabilities such as Pedroza will be helped through the WCC diagnostic center. She urged anyone seeking her aid to contact her at the college.

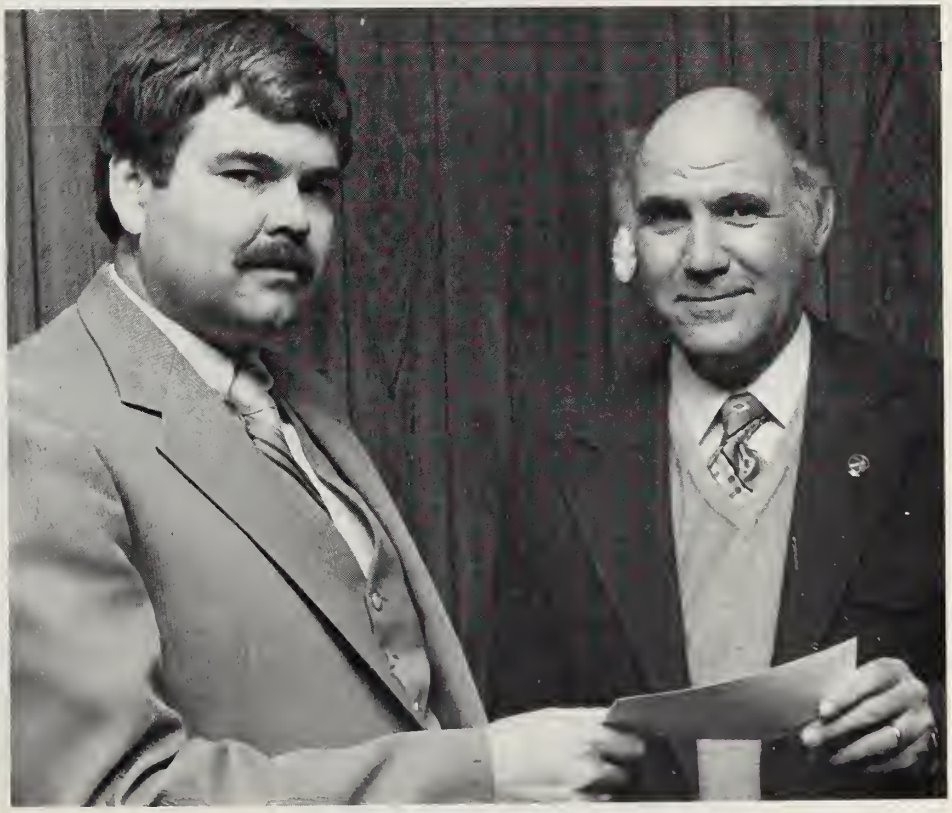
Mooresville Lions Entertain Visually Handicapped

The Mooresville Lions Club held its annual Christmas party for the visually handicapped persons of the area. Held at the War Memorial, 20 visually handicapped persons attended. Following the meal, entertainment was furnished by The Little Disciples, a puppet group from Mooresville's First Baptist Church. Santa Claus was in attendance and presented each visually handicapped person with a monetary gift, plus a gift bag, containing a fruit cake, candy, fresh fruit and other goodies. Ray Jackson, president of the Mooresville Lions Club, presided over the most delightful affair.

It isn't the incompetent who destroy an organization. The incompetent never get in a position to destroy it. It is those who have achieved something and want to rest upon their achievements who are forever clogging things up.

—F. M. Young



A Northwestern Tradition

Sam Laws Jr., left, is assistant vice president and Mooresville executive for The Northwestern Bank. He continues the bank's tradition by presenting a $500 check to Ray Jackson, president of the Mooresville Lions Club. Each January, Northwestern makes the donation to the local club, with the request that the money be applied to ongoing services at Camp Dogwood, a recreational facility for visually handicapped persons at Sherrill's Ford on Lake Norman that is provided by Lions of North Carolina.

60 Years of Service and Gastonia Evening Lions Still Roar

When Gastonians answer their doorbells or a knock at the door and find a smiling man clutching a bunch of brooms they know who he is. He is, of course, a Lion — a man who is selling brooms to raise funds to help the blind. But the Gastonia Evening Lions Club, celebrating its 60th anniversary this month, is more than a seller of brooms.

"To finance our many projects we not only have an annual broom sale, but we also have a candy sale, golf tournament and yard sale each year," said Charles Ray Thomas, chairman of the club's anniversary committee. "At Christmas we have a blind stamp sale, and at Easter we have an orchid corsage sale. And these are just a few of our fund-raising projects."

Thomas noted some of the club's achievements:

• The Gaston County Eye Clinic, supported in part by the club since club members helped to organize it, has provided eye examinations and glasses for thousands of people who could not afford these services.

• Throughout the year members collect old eye glasses to be shipped to needy people in foreign countries.

• Members help support Camp Dogwood, a summer camp for the blind.

• Wheel chairs have been donated or loaned to the blind and other persons in need.

• Members have secured thousands of eye wills for the North Carolina Eye Bank.

• Members hold a Christmas dinner for the blind, providing entertainment and presenting gifts.

• The club is sponsor of a clinic to detect glaucoma. Lion Eugene Tiddy spearheaded the project, raising $6,500 from industry, Gaston County Lions and the N.C. Lions Association for the Blind to purchase the testing equipment.

• The club was the first to sponsor a program of captioned films for the deaf. The movies are shown each Thursday night at Gaston County Public Library.

• Other projects for the hearing-impaired include books and earphones for audio-handicapped children in special classes at Sherwood School, financing trips to Raleigh for students to see the state capital, purchasing three TV adapters for Ashbrook High, Grier Junior High and Sherwood Elementary so the hearing-impaired can watch closed-captioned TV programs.

• Club members display the American flag on most holidays at approximately 150 locations in Gastonia.

Lions To The Rescue

In 1977 Central Piedmont Community College (CPCC) and the Lions Clubs of Mecklenburg County implemented the Radio Reading Service (RRS) for the Blind. It was the first reading service for the sight impaired in North Carolina. The program format, both day and night, provides a wide variety of programs for listeners: the Charlotte Observer and the Charlotte News, books, magazines, old time radio, and educational courses, such as North Carolina history, Conversational French and Spanish and music of several varieties.

Daily broadcasts are carried on a subcarrier channel from WFMX in Statesville to over 100 listeners who pickup the programs from a special fixtuned receiver provided by the Lions. Funding for the RRS comes from a variety of sources, but primarily from CPCC. Due to severe budget cuts brought on by the recent recession and state funding freezes, the RRS Director announced in December 1982 that the evening program would be eliminated for the remainder of the fiscal year — June 30, 1983.

Jim Sasser, President of the Charlotte Southpark Club, upon learning of the RRS need, pledged $750 to keep the service on the air. This $750 from the Southpark Club was matched by the Charlotte Southern Club though its President Ron Medley.

As a result of this quick response from the Southpark and Southern Clubs, the RRS is back on the air and meeting the information and education needs of its listeners.

A suburbanite put on a last-minute spurt of speed to catch his train — but missed it. A bystander remarked, "If you had just run a little faster you would have made it."

"No," the suburbanite replied, "it wasn't a case of running faster, but of starting sooner."

The four North Mecklenburg Lion's Clubs together contributed $1,000 to Tom Rasmussen's Medical Fund. The presentation of the checks took place at Rasmussen's business, The Old Cornelius Fish Market and Oyster Bar, on Monday, March 7. Making the presentations were (L-R): George Royster Jr., President of the Huntersville Lions; W. A. Crowell, President of the Cornelius Lions; Tom Rasmussen; Paul Rillema, President of the Davidson Lions; and Paul Tucker, President of the Lake Norman South Lions.

The four Raymond Sanders children, students in the Davidson Elementary School, have a new resource in their learning, thanks to a gift from the Davidson Lions Club and World Book, Inc. Shown here are Lion Wayne Roberts and "Teen" Morrison, Division Manager of World Book, presenting the complete set of World Book to the four children. Note that one is already reading! This is one of many projects of the Davidson Lions Club.

Charlotte Lions to Sponsor Jumping Championship

On May 15, 1983, in Charlotte Memorial Stadium, LIONS CHARITIES, INC. will, for the fifth consecutive year, conduct a premier equestrian jumping event — the U.S. Open Jumping Championship. This Grand Prix event has grown steadily in popularity since its initial introduction in Charlotte in 1979. Ask anyone who has attended the event in the past and they will tell you about the breathtaking action, the color and pageantry, and the unpredictability of this world class competition. Horses and riders from across the United States and around the world come to Charlotte to compete in this prestigious event.

The Grand Prix course confronts each horse and rider with a series of obstacles such as walls, fences, double and triple jumps, and a water jump. The event requires concentration, skill and strength to clear all the jumps within a specified time limit with the least number of faults (knockdowns). The competition is intense as men and women compete as equals for the top honors. Often the final winner can only be determined in a spine-tingling jump-off that keeps the crowd on the edge of their seats.

The Grand Prix event is preceded in the morning by Charlotte's own equestrian event, the JUNIOR/AMATEUR JUMPING CHAMPIONSHIP. The best riders of amateur standing and Junior class riders under 18 compete over this same U.S. Open course. The only difference is the height and width of various jumps. The amateur riders compete for $5,000 in prize money and come from all over North and South Carolina.

While perhaps up to 10,000 will see all the color and excitement of the U.S. Open Jumping Championship in person, the people who will really benefit the most from this event can't see at all. THAT IS WHAT MAKES THIS EVENT ESPECIALLY IMPORTANT, because all of the proceeds go to support the many programs served by area Lions Clubs through Lions Charities, Inc.

Cooperation is doing with a smile what you have to do anyway.

Eye Bank President Says Thanks

TO THE LIONS OF NORTH CAROLINA:

For the past two years, I have had the honor of being President of the North Carolina Eye and Human Tissue Bank, Inc. and have been the indirect recipient of the efforts of Lions across the state. I would like to take this time to thank all of you for the many hours of hard work put forth in fund raising and publicity for the blind and visually impaired of North Carolina.

I have also had the privilege to work personally with many dedicated Lions such as Elbert Ray Bryant, Rev. Robert T. Lawson, Howard Stallings, and others who have served on our Board of Directors. It is not possible to thank each of you personally, but my heartfelt gratitude goes to every Lion in this state for the giving of his time to benefit the Eye-Bank.

With your help, these past two years have been ones of tremendous growth for the Eye-Bank. Through a generous gift of two microscopes by the Winston-Salem Host Lions Club in memory of Lion Marion D. West, our laboratory ranks among the best. The many years of dedication and hard work by Helen Morrill Bunce and Lawrence Byerly Holt, M.D., and others have brought the Eye-Bank to its current high standing in the Eye-Bank community. With Helen's retirement on May 31, 1983, Frances T. Hughes will be promoted to the position of Executive Director. Her fund-raising talents and medical background will bring a new vision of growth in the coming years.

Again, on behalf of all of us at the North Carolina Eye and Human Tissue Bank, Inc., Thank you.

Sincerely,

Henry L. Russ, Jr.
President

that she apply. When she was selected for the position, it seemed to "put it all together" . . . . relating her hospital background and work with the blind.

Now, in 1983, Frances believes that this is the "season" for continued growth in raising the number of eye retrievals and in the processing of tissue for quality assurance. It is a time to take inventory and examine objectives carefully to maintain high laboratory standards for approval by the Eye Bank Association of America, the national eye-bank organization. It is a time for more statewide education and better communication with the medical staffs and nursing administrations.

When Frances finds time for other interests, she enjoys travel, needlework, and music, particularly handbells. Her family includes her husband, Jack, two daughters and one son. Jack has devoted many hours in support of Eye-Bank activities and work with the blind.

From the time of a corneal accident that Frances received as a teenager, to the witnessing of a corneal transplant on a Christmas day in 1959, to returning to Winston-Salem and stopping by to visit with Helen, by working with the blind . . . all of these paths have brought about this season. It is Frances' hope that it will be filled with the joy and satisfaction that comes by helping others and serving in a position that can directly bring about the miracle of sight restoration.

The world would be happier if men had the same capacity to be silent that they have to speak.

DISTRICT 31-E

31-E Cites Special Projects

Albemarle Lions initiated two unusual activities during December. A Boys Home resident was transported to their fair city for a Lions sponsored shopping spree — over $800.00 in gifts from the merchants. Another photo in the Stanley News and Press shows 12 Albemarle Lions with shovels in hand, donating 75 Yoshima cherry trees to a local park — the type tree International President Murakami planned to give clubs in our state.

The Davis-Townsend Lions sponsored a "doubleheader" wheelchair basketball game with two teams from the University of Illinois participating.

Denton Lions once again sponsored the Miss Denton Beauty Pageant, which has been an on-going project for about 30 years, generating possibly $40,000 to $50,000 profit during that time period . . .

Odell Lions have now completed their NEW DEN, which is a tremendous undertaking for a club of 17 members.

Harrisburg and Mt. Pleasant Lions have recently held mortgage burning ceremonies on their respective dens.

Central Lions Club: Mrs. Dale Tysinger, while operating a country store, was robbed, and beaten, leaving her in a coma for six years. Central Lions Club members sponsored a "Lillian Tysinger Day", clearing $8,000 to pay the balance of her hospital bill.

Midway Lions Club: Bill Benbow, a son of a lion of this club, was in an automobile accident April 8, 1979, damaging his brain, and his left side became partially paralyzed. Members of Midway Lions Club projected a community fish fry, 512 Lion Members hours, and grossing $9,000, all proceeds turned over to the Benbow project expense.

Stanly County Lions Clubs held a giant flea market and auction sale at the Stanly County Fair Grounds on May 6th and 7th.

Albemarle Lions Club held its second annual "World's Greatest Old-Time Fiddlers' Convention and Country Music and Bluegrass Festival" on April 2 at Pfeiffer College.

A Note of Thanks

My name is Cynthia Mabe. I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Unionville, Benton Heights, and Indian Trail Lions Clubs, and the N.C. Lions Association for the Blind for purchasing my special glasses.

The glasses have a small telescope with bioptic lens mounted on a regular pair of glasses. They are absolutely fantastic. I can see things I haven't seen in years. I can read road signs, billboards, watch television, see the flowers, and beautiful houses along the road, see the beautiful fall colors, and read the speed limit signs to my husband.

What is most fascinating is watching the expressions on peoples faces when they talk and laugh.

I could go on and on, but I won't. These are things most people take for granted, but not those of us who can't see.

I would also like to thank A. J. Mitchell for his part in being the liaison between the Lions Clubs and the N.C. Lions Association for the Blind, and the doctors.

I read the article in Tuesday's Enquirer-Journal and thoroughly enjoyed it. I know just how excited and happy Mitchell is to be able to see again, because I feel the very same way. Thank you all very much.

We know there is help through your local Lions Clubs and the N.C. Lions Association for the Blind. Also, through a previous article, we found out there is a Dr. Howard Louis in North Carolina who specializes in low visual aid.

There is help. We just have to spread the word for those who don't know. If you feel the need to talk to someone, please don't hesitate to call me at 753-4342.

West Lexington Lions Club Collects Old Eyeglasses

The West Lexington Lions Club has placed an eyeglass collection box at Lexington Shopping Center off Highway 64 West.

People can bring their old eyeglasses and hearing aids to the box, which is the only one in Lexington, according to club member Ken Everhart. "That's one reason we went ahead and put one out," said Everhart. "We thought this would be a good, central location."

The Lions club buys glasses for people who cannot afford them. Frames are used from donated eyeglasses. Old hearing aids also will be redistributed, Everhart said.

DISTRICT F

Sandhills Lions Screen Vision

Vision Screening of Elementary School Children is a top priority for the Sandhills Lions Club. Using the Telebinocular given to the West End Elementary School by the Sandhills Lions and the PTA, teacher Ann Spong (wife of Lion Buddy Spong), screens one of 800 students checked in the past two years.

More than 75 students have been referred to eye doctors and received corrective measures — glasses, change in glasses, surgery.

The accuracy of the Telebinocular screening has been better than 90%. The success of this project can be translated into happier, more successful students in the elementary classroom; thus reducing learning problems and discipline problems while enhancing the job done by classroom teachers.

Lumberton Lionesses Busy

Members of the Lumberton Lioness Club have had a busy and a productive year.

Annual Projects completed are:

1. $100.00 donation was made to White Cane.
2. A dinner and party for the visually handicapped in the area was held in October with guests receiving gifts from the Lioness and Lumberton Lions Club.
3. Two of our visually handicapped friends were given free trips to Camp Dogwood.
4. Glasses were repaired for a 7 year old child in the community.
5. Thirty-five blind friends were remembered at Christmas with a gift.
6. Each child from Robeson County at the schools for the blind and the deaf were remembered with gifts at Christmas.
7. Hand lotion was donated to the N.C. Cancer Institute in Lumberton.
8. A $50.00 donation was made to the Bryan Learning Center, a school for special children.
9. Working with the N.C. Society for the Prevention of Blindness, we are going into the various day care schools and holding preschool eye screening clinics for 4 year olds.

Helen Bunce to Retire

Helen Morrill Bunce is retiring from the North Carolina Eye & Human Tissue Bank, Inc. on May 31, 1983, after being employed since 1959 and loving every moment of it!

For ten years Helen also functioned as the Executive Secretary of the Eye-Bank Association of America, along with her work with the N.C. Eye-Bank.

Retirement is not easy for someone whose life has been filled with the joy of watching and being a part of the growth of eye-banking in the state and nationally, but Helen feels that the time has come for her to slip out for the best interests of all concerned.

There are many activities which she has sandwiched in between her eye-bank work — restoring old houses (hopefully there will be some left for her to work on); counted cross stitch; taking up her painting again and finishing some pictures already started; quilting; and collecting primitive antiques.

The Board of Directors has asked her to serve as one of the Bank's directors. Also, one of her objectives is to set up a secretarial service, working out of her home. Writing has been one of the main functions of her work with the Bank, so she hopes to develop a business that will allow her to write and keep in touch with the public.

She is deeply grateful for the friendships and for the love that she has received through the years, and it is her sincere hope that she will be given the grace to return to others the blessings that have been given to her.

Sooner or later, a man, if he is wise, discovers that business life is a mixture of good days and bad, victory and defeat, give and take. He learns that . . .

—it doesn't pay to be a sensitive soul —that he should let some things go over his head.

—he who loses his temper usually loses.

—all men have burned toast for breakfast now and then, and that he shouldn't take the other fellow's grouch too seriously.

—carrying a chip on his shoulder is the easiest way to get into a fight.

—it doesn't matter so much who gets the credit as long as the business shows a profit.

—buck-passing usually turns out to be a boomerang.

—it doesn't do any harm to smile and say, "Good morning," even if it is raining.

—a lot of other fellows are as ambitious as he is, that they have brains that are as good or better, and that hard work and not cleverness is the secret of success.

—most bosses are not monsters trying to get the last ounce of work out of him for the least amount of pay.

—the gang is not any harder to get along with in one place than another, and that "getting along" depends about 98 percent of his own behavior.

The best way to forget your own problems is to help someone else solve theirs.

The world is a looking glass, and gives back to every man the reflection of his own face.

—Thackeray

The most important lesson in life is simply this: never hurt anybody.

—Rousseau

I believe that the first test of a truly great man is his humility. Really great men have a curious feeling that the greatness is not in them but through them. And they see something divine in every other man and are endlessly, incredibly Merciful.

—John Ruskin

When a man is wrong and won't admit it, he always gets angry.

—Haliburton

Avron Upchurch to Lead Association

Avron B. Upchurch

Past District Governor Avron B. Upchurch, of the Sanford Lions Club, was elected President of the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind, Inc., at the General Membership Meeting of the Association held in Raleigh on March 6, 1983.

Upchurch has been active in Lionism in North Carolina for many years, and his contributions to the work of our Association are well known.

Lion Avron became a member of the Sanford Lions Club in 1965, and rose to the presidency of that club in 1973. From 1974 until 1976 he served on the Board of Directors of that club, as well as on numerous committees. In 1974, he assumed the office of Zone Chairman, and in 1975 became a Deputy District Governor. In 1976, Lion Avron was elected Governor of District 31-F, and served on the NCLAB Board of Directors during his year as Governor. In 1977, he served our Association as State White Cane Director, and he has also served as Chairman of the Constitution and By-laws and Eye and Human Tissue committees. He was elected Second Vice President of the NCLAB in 1981, and First Vice President in 1982.

Avron Upchurch was born in rural Lee County, N.C., where he graduated from Greenwood High School. He received his BS and MED Degrees from N.C. State University, and his Advanced Degree from the University of North Carolina. He taught vocational agriculture in the public schools for 6½ years, and has served in various capacities in the Community College System for the past twenty years. He currently serves as Dean of Instruction at Central Carolina Technical College in Sanford. He holds memberships in the North Carolina Association of Community College Instructional Administrators Association, the North Carolina Vocational Education Association, the Council on Occupational Education, and the National Technical Education Association. His community service activities have been many and varied, and he has been deeply involved in providing leadership for many programs for handicapped citizens. Lion Avron is a member and Deacon of the Jonesboro Heights Baptist Church, where he also serves as Sunday School Teacher and as usher.

The President's Report

Avron Upchurch

The NCLAB is ending its fiftieth year of service to the blind and visually impaired of North Carolina. These fifty years of work and service for the blind and visually impaired are immeasurable in value and manhours. It is indicative of the love and compassion of one human being for another. This is God's Grace exemplified through man. Through the Grace of God and the continuing needs of the blind and visually impaired, Lions' service in North Carolina will be strengthened.

The NCLAB is a living organism that receives its energy from the Lions in each community of North Carolina. The present and future success of the service to the blind by the NCLAB is determined by the heart and mind of each Lion.

A successful record setting 1984 White Cane Drive is evidence that North Carolina Lions continue to respond positively to challenges placed before them. For the second consecutive year, the Lions have raised more than $500,000. Under the leadership of Winston C. Hester, State White Cane Director, and the nine district White Cane Directors, North Carolina Lions raised $515,406.78 for an average of $39.24 per Lion. Ninety-nine point five percent of the clubs participated in the White Cane efforts. Thank you and congratulations!

A special thanks to each of the nine district governors for their untiring efforts to White Cane and their many other responsibilities. Governors Jerry Holladay, Hubert Morrow, Rudy Topping, Fred Sapp, Tom Keels, Harry Wicker, Klay Box, I. K. Williamson, and Hugh Clinkscales have served with honor and distinction. Seven of the nine Lions districts earned the John L. Stickley award for their governor and White Cane Director. The districts receiving the John L. Stickley award are: B, C, D, E, F, H, and J.

Governor Rudy Topping and White Cane Director George Crosby of District C are due special commendation for leading their district to a record White Cane goal of $76,539.77 ($61.09 per Lion). This exceeds the amount ever raised by any district. CONGRATULATIONS!

Camp Dogwood experienced a banner year with 596 campers enjoying beautiful Lake Norman and Camp Dogwood during the twelve week camping season. Camp Dogwood continues to be used for twelve months. The camp is used by Lions clubs, churches, businesses, industry, and special groups during the non-camping weeks. This use of the camp generates income for Camp Dogwood and gives the Camp Dogwood staff twelve months employment.

A ground breaking ceremony was held for the John L. Stickley Building at Camp Dogwood on October 16, 1983. This facility will expand program opportunities for our blind campers, provide living facilities for staff, facilities for camp laundry, and a display for memorabilia of past International President John L. Stickley for whom the facility is named.

The thirteen committees serving under the leadership of First Vice President John Howell and Second Vice President Sam Jernigan have served in an exemplary manner in an effort to continue the development and improvement of programs and services of the NCLAB. I am most thankful for the support and participation of these committee chairmen and committee members in the operation of the NCLAB.

I encourage you to read the reports in this magazine and compare the activities of your club and district with other clubs and districts.

NCLAB plans are to have a mid-year edition of the White Cane Magazine next year that will be filled with articles about the activities of the Lions Clubs throughout North Carolina. Each club is encouraged to put an article in the mid-year edition.

We also plan to pay for at least one-half of the cost of the mid-year edition with ads solicited by Lions clubs. Your assistance on both these issues is needed.

The Board of Directors play a most important role in the operation of the NCLAB. To each officer and director, I express my sincere appreciation for your guidance, dedication, and participation in the operation and growth of the NCLAB.

The General Membership elected John L. Howell, President; Sam A. Jernigan, First Vice President; L. Neal Alexander, Second Vice President; J. David Edwards, Secretary; and Lacy M. Presnell, Jr., Treasurer. I urge these officers to set their goals for excellence and not accept mediocrity. Under the leadership of these men, the NCLAB will grow stronger and more productive if every Lion gives them his unified support.

Each of us is the product of our life styles, the people we have met, and the situations we have experienced. As we look back over the years, we readily realize some people and some experiences are more dominant than others. This is because these people and experiences affected our lives more than others.

During my years serving as a director of the NCLAB and the past three years as an officer, the people I have met, worked with, and shared concerns and joys with, and the situations experienced have contributed greatly to my life through increased wisdom. I shall use this wisdom in my daily association and opportunities to serve mankind.

Thank you for allowing me to serve as your president of the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind for 1983-1984.

The Raleigh (Host) Lions Club enthusiastically endorses

The various programs of service to the blind which are promoted by the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind, Inc. We believe that the Association is the cement which binds North Carolina Lions into a strong bond of cooperation for the welfare of the visually impaired, the multi-handicapped, and various other individuals and groups for whom life is made more meaningful because Lions have passed their way.

We congratulate the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind on having completed 50 years of valuable service to the visually handicapped citizens of North Carolina. Our club is proud to have been a major supporter of the NCLAB during this half century of service.

The Raleigh (Host) Club meets every Monday at the Raleigh YMCA, 1601 Hillsborough Street at 1:00 p.m. Visiting Lions are always welcome.

New Eye Clinic is Tailored To Children's Needs

By Catherine Macek

The latest addition to the Eye Center is one designed with kids in mind. The opening ceremonies for the Pediatric Eye Clinic took place Monday, March 16, at the entrance to the new clinic.

Speakers included: Dr. Robert Machemer, chairman of the Department of Ophthalmology; Dr. Samuel Katz, chairman of the Department of Pediatrics; Dr. Edward G. Buckley, an assistant professor of ophthalmology and director of the new clinic; and Mrs. Judy Seaber, an assistant professor of ophthalmology. Chaplain P. Wesley Aitken gave the invocation.

The clinic, the only one in North Carolina, is equipped with the latest diagnostic machinery custom-made for young patients. Clinic staff will perform routine eye examinations as well as diagnose and treat a variety of childhood eye problems, according to Buckley, clinic director.

"There are a number of difficult eye problems unique to children," said Buckley. "At the Pediatric Eye Clinic we are trained and equipped to handle those difficult cases."

The clinic has its own waiting room, complete with toys and games for pint-sized patients. In the past both child and adult patients waited in the same reception area. "Some of the adult patients had poor vision or patched eyes, and the kids sometimes expressed the fear that the same thing would happen to them," said Seaber, who works with Buckely in the clinic. "In addition, we were always worried that the adults with poor vision might trip over the kids playing on the floor. Now the kids have an attractive play area all to themselves."

Since young children are notoriously uncooperative about eye checkups, the three examining rooms are chock-full of toys, pictures, candy and even cartoons — all of which get the kids to turn their eyes left or right or focus on objects nearby or far away. "We have a saying around here: one toy, one look," Seaber said.

Seaber, an orthoptist, evaluates patients with eye muscle problems and often recommends a series of daily activities that help correct aberrant eyes. Orthoptics, which literally means "straight eyes," is the science of ocular motility and binocular vision as well as of related disorders of the eyes.

Buckley and Seaber can detect potential vision problems in babies less than one week old. Premature infants are especially vulnerable to developing retrolental fibroplasia (RLF) because they often need to breathe high concentrations of oxygen while in incubators. Children with RLF can have severely impaired vision because the oxygen levels can induce the growth of thin, opaque membranes over the lenses of their eyes. These infants are closely monitored by Buckley and Seaber for any sign of RLF, and, when possible the amount of oxygen in the air they breathe is reduced.

The clinic staff treats a variety of childhood vision problems, including amblyopia ("lazy eye"), congenital glaucoma, and strabismus, or misaligned eyes.

District 31-A Lions Roar For Eliada Homes

On October 8, 1983 the Lions of District 31-A held their second Annual Auction for Eliada Home for Children. Over $25,000.00 was raised for a second year in this joint effort by all District 31-A Lions. PDG Ron Daniels spearheaded this year's auction.

The 31-A Lions have been deeply involved in the work at Eliada Home since the mid 60's when they built Lions Cottage on the campus. The annual auction provides operating funds for Lions cottage and other service offered at Eliada. Each year nearly 200 different abused, dependent, and neglected children receive care at Eliada.

Plans for the 1984 auction are already under way. Lions visit area businesses acquiring new, collectable, and antique items. Local radio and television coverage plays a major role in the success of the auction.

On auction day, volunteer auctioneers from Western North Carolina sound out the chant. Antique automobiles, furniture, and collectables attract the interest of the collectors. New merchandise of every variety, radios, stereos, televisions, housewares, toys, motorcycles, and furniture are among the items sold. Among the most popular items are certificates for dinners in local restaurants, gasoline, hotel and motel accommodations and holiday vacations. All gifts are tax deductible.

A feature attraction on auction day is the regional clogging competition. Numerous groups compete well into the evening for trophies and prizes. This year's contest was directed by Lion Jack Kennedy, President of the Little River Lions Club.

District 31-A Lions would like to express their appreciation to the individuals and businesses of Western North Carolina who gave items for the auction and WLOS TV for their coverage of the event. A special thanks to Sheldon Summerlin and the staff of WWNC radio for their tireless efforts for the auction.

The District 31-A Auction for Eliada Homes is more than a project — it gives new hope for families and children served at Eliada Home.

Lions Stewart Humphrey, Executive Director of Eliada Homes, PDG Ron Daniels 1983 Auction Chairman, Bob Gibeau, Don Dotson. Joyce Sintelle and Joe Silvers, 1984 Auction Chairman.

A Dream Is A Dream Is A Dream

A blind woman's dream has become a successful reality. Marjorie McCune's dream of a "happy home" for the blind became a reality in March, 1979, after 5 years of hard work by dedicated Lions of District 31-A.

The Marjorie McCune Memorial Center for the handicapped was dedicated by Lion Ralph A. Lyman, President of Lions International at that time. The Center was opened in April of 1979 under the direction of the Western North Carolina Lions, Inc.

This home for the blind and visually handicapped persons was made possible through the cooperative efforts of the Lions Clubs of District 31-A, industry and businesses throughout the area, and the numerous friends of the late Mrs. McCune.

Sine it's opening, the Center has received continuous financial support from the Lions Clubs of the district, friends and supporters of the project, and substantial assistance from the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind. All this assistance was needed and appreciated as the Center struggled in it's infancy. The Home is now operating at full occupancy on a self-supporting basis. However, donations are still needed and are placed in a special fund for major capital equipment replacement.

The Western North Carolina Lions, Inc. board of directors is made up of Lions representing each zone in District 31-A. These Lions from the mountains still administer the business of operating the McCune Center, with the day-to-day operation directed by a resident manager.

Eye Screening Vans

The Western North Carolina Lions, Inc., continues to operate two eye screening vans, in an effort to detect eye problems of pre-schoolers and children in the lower grades in public schools throughout the district. Many clubs also use the vans at private and church kindergartens. About 15,000 children have their eyes checked each year with over 10% referral in some areas.

The eye screening project was started in District 31-A in 1971. This project also has received financial assistance from N.C.L.A.B., in addition to the ongoing support furnished by the Lions of the district.

Mooresville Lions Club Free Health Clinic

High blood pressure checks was a new part of the Mooresville Lions Club's health clinic October 20 at the War Memorial.

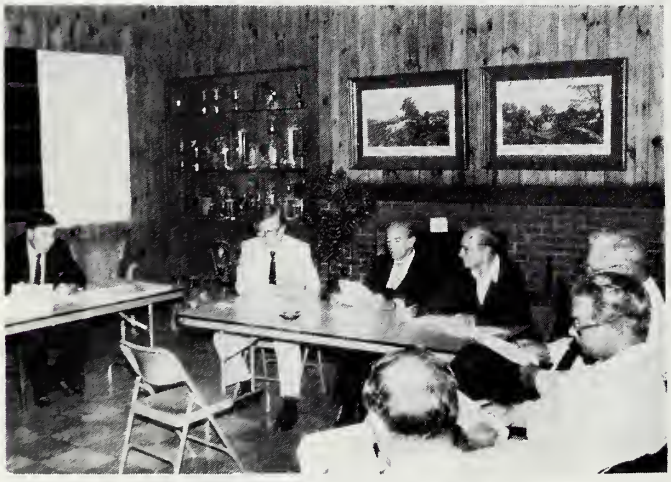
The hypertension tests were offered in addition to glaucoma and diabetes examinations.

Local Lions Club members met September 22 with state Lions Club and Health Services Leaders. Robert E. Spencer, the executive director of the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind, and Don Batts, a representative of the Chronic Disease Section of the Division of Health Services, discussed the operation of the free clinic, which was held from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. with the Lions.

The health clinic is nothing new to the local club. About every three years, the Lions hold a clinic as a public service activity. Between 1,000 and 1,500 Mooresville area residents took part in the clinic.

The diseases screened at the local clinic were serious health problems for the entire nation. But all three of the diseases can be successfully controlled if detected early.

The local Lions received help in running the free clinic from county and private health organizations.



Drug Abuse Project

The Lake Norman Lions Club has taken on a special community project this year. President Bill Ducker announced last month that the Lions are seeking to determine the need for help with drug abuse prevention in Southern Iredell County. A special committee, headed by Leonard Piedmont, has been organized to investigate possibilities. On Thursday, September 27, a community-wide meeting was held at First Presbyterian Church in Mooresville. Sixty civic and business leaders from Southern Iredell met to hear a presentation by Lyn Hay of the Cup of Water counseling center in Statesville.

Marion Lions Realize Dream

The Marion Lions Club has seen a dream come true with the dedication of the Blue Ridge Terrace Project. For the past three years, the Marion Lions Club has been involved with the development and the completion of a sixty-unit housing complex for the elderly which has been a great challenge with pleasing results.

The Marion Lions Club received a direct loan of $1,800,000.00 from Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for Section 202 housing for the elderly. This program's funds are made available to approved non-profit corporations in housing deprived areas for the sole purpose of providing decent housing for the elderly citizens of our nation. Due to budget cuts, this Section 202 housing program is in serious jeopardy of being reduced to ineffectiveness. Also, a grant of $97,000.00 was given by the Appalachian Regional Commission for site preparation. This complex contains sixty units of small efficient apartments furnished with kitchen appliances, safety devices, and intercom systems. The building has a commons area with a kitchen facility, modest meeting room, lobby, library, laundry facilities, and administrative offices.

The club had to raise $10,000.00 seed money from the community at the very outset of the project and all the way through to completion of the project the Marion Lions Club maintained a high degree of visibility in the community.

Taylorsville Lions Sponsor Fair

The 38th annual Alexander County Agricultural Fair was held in August at the fairgrounds located just off Hwy. 16 south of Taylorsville.

Sponsored by the Taylorsville Lions Club, the fair featured Magic Midway rides, shows, and concessions. Magic Midway, owned by Randy Roach of Charlotte, N.C., is now in its third season of operation in Alexander County.

Friday was Family night. Saturday was free gate from 2:00 p.m. until 5:00 p.m. Senior citizens and visually handicapped persons had free rides and food during the free gate period.

On Tuesday, Harry Gant was featured with his SKOAL Bandit from 7:30 p.m. until 9:30 p.m.

In addition, a goat milking demonstration was slated for each night beginning at 8:00 p.m.

The Fair's exhibit hall contained some 41 booths, including commerical, civic, and individual displays.

First, second, and third-place ribbons were pinned on individual entries of canned goods, baked goods, cut flowers, field crops, crafts, etc.

The exhibit hall was open each evening for viewing by the public. Livestock entries, including chickens, pigs, and cows, were also judged. A display of farm equipment was set up near the livestock exhibit area.

Lion of the Year

Ed Lippard was presented with the Lion of the Year Award in the East Iredell Lions Club. He is secretary-treasurer and deputy district governor of Region Four. Making the presentation was John Berry, state promotions chairman and past district governor.

Clyde Sain is "Supersalesman"

"No service organization can exist for long without a dependable source of revenue. For the small membership Lions Club of Polkville, N.C. Clyde Sain has provided a substantial part of that needed revenue. He has done it with dedication and dependability.

Clyde has been handicapped by a crippling condition all of his 67 years. Until his retirement in 1958 Clyde was employed as a shipping clerk in a textile dying plant. For 15 years he has been unable to walk without considerable assistance. However, his enthusiasm for Lionism and the work of the Lions is not diminished by his "handicap."

For several years Clyde has plied his "trade" of selling Lions Club brooms, fruit cakes, candy, light bulbs, etc., from a small garden tractor on which he covers Polkville and the surrounding area. He has become a familiar sight at the stores, service stations, bank, crossroads, and any special activity of the community.

Clyde has been the recipient of four "Lion of the Year" awards, and has received commendations from several local and district groups. To the cause of Lionism Clyde is faithful, dedicated, and unceasing. May his tribe increase!"

As District Governor Rudy Topping, and White Cane Committee member Kevin Byrnes, look on, President Roy Bigham presents a check for $7,400 to District White Cane Chairman George Crosby as an extra contribution over and above the District goal. Charlotte Southern Lions Club contributed a total of $8,800 for 1983-84. The 32 member club averaged $275 per member and broke the all-time state record for per member contributions.

87 Year Old Lion Sets White Cane Candy Days Record

Kurt Muller, an 87 year old Lion with the Lake Lure Club, collected $1284.44 in donations during the Lions October White Cane Candy Days Drive. Although old in the term of years, he is young in spirit and is a very energetic and devoted Lion. He conducted his Candy Day drive outside in a shopping area in both favorable and unfavorable weather conditions. This is undoubtedly a record for a Lion of his age.

Lion Kurt was born in Breslau, Germany, September 28, 1896. He moved with his parents to the Bronx, New York in 1902. He started work at age 14 which forced him to attend high school at night, taking seven years to earn his high school diploma.

He married the former Carolina Harber in 1917 and they have two sons — one in Switzerland and the other in Pleasantville, New York. Lion Kurt worked as an instrument and model maker for Bell Laboratories for 44 years and retired at the age 65.

Lion Kurt and his wife purchased 13 acres of land near Lake Lure and moved to North Carolina in 1962 where he was active in scouting and the National Rifle Association. When the Lake Lure Lions Club was formed in March, 1979, Kurt joined as a Charter member. He has held key positions in the club as second vice-president, Lion Tamer, Song Leader, and Chairman of the Publicity Committee. He has a perfect attendance record and earned the Club Lion of the Year Award for 1981-82.

Since his wife died in 1979, he has lived alone with his dog "Tressy" and devoted his time to Lionism and community service.

Durham Has New Club! New Clinic!

The Diagnostic Lions Club is unique in all Lionism. It is chartered for the primary purpose of sponsoring the Diagnostic Eye Clinic which is, itself, unique. It proposes to encourage others to join in such a purpose and to serve as an example in promoting this concept. It also hopes to remind others of the need to remain vigilant and to work hard in the common goal of preventing blindness. It endorses the principles of screening programs and of research aimed at diagnosis and treatment.

It is proud of these program-benefits of the past and believes in putting yesterday's research into today's practice.

To this end it endorses and promotes the work of the Diagnostic Eye Clinic.

While the primary thrust of the Diagnostic Eye Clinic is the screening and diagnosis of conditions related to glaucoma and diabetes, its evaluation of retinal and macular problems such as those seen in hypertension, aging, etc., is also an important function.

The importance of such a clinic is at once apparent when one considers that the overwhelming causes of blindness are associated with the above-mentioned conditions.

There are many ways in which these conditions may be assessed and properly treated. Some of these were impractical only a few years ago.

Now, however, a clinic such as this can serve as an extension of the doctor's office, hospital clinics, and public health or industry screening. Being sponsored by Lions Clubs it can provide better services to more people because of Lions' dedication to prevention of blindness from these and other conditions. At the most, a sight-saving diagnosis may be made; at the least, a profile will be established that may have later diagnostic value.

Specialized equipment for screening and diagnosis is made available and public information is provided by Lions information programs. Numerous tests are available that are not performed in the usual doctor's office.

Referrals may be made to the clinic by Lions Club members and this is strongly encouraged. Others may also refer and people may come without referral if they first call for an appointment.

The Diagnostic Eye Clinic is always available for public health and physician referrals as well as those by optometrists and others concerned with eye conditions.

Diagnostic tests are generally covered by insurance and Lions will consider assistance when it is necessary.

Thirty Area Residents May Have Saved Their Eyesight

Thirty Stanly area residents could very well have saved their eyesight by submitting themselves to free tests for symptoms of glaucoma, diabetes, high blood pressure, and visual acuity at the Wiscassett Memorial YMCA Pavilion.

A Total 628 persons took advantage of the free screening clinic arranged by the Albemarle Lions Club with the assistance and cooperation of individuals representing some 15 other professional, civic, and service organizations.

Of this total, 30 were found to have abnormal readings on one or more of the four tests. And of these 30, three were determined to have readings signifying evidences of glaucoma.

All 30 with abnormal readings were not under the present care of physicians and had no idea they possessed symptoms of the three diseases. They were provided with referral forms to their own doctors.

Two of these reported to the Stanly County Health Department early Monday morning for additional examinations.

In addition to the 30 people referred for treatment, the Lions received 47 eye wills during the day.

"This means," a club spokesman said, "that around 94 people some day will be able to see again. This, coupled with the fact that the 30 who could have lost their eyesight were referred for proper medical treatment, makes the entire clinic a most worthwhile endeavor."

Sixty-six volunteers assisted in administering the over 2,400 tests during the day.

Spearheading the clinic for the sponsoring Lions Club were Martin Deese and Wayne Sasser. "They did a terrific job," said President Steve Blalock. "Because of their tireless efforts, everything fell into place real smoothly. I want to compliment them highly for their work."

Dr. Larry Jenkins, local ophthalmologist and members of his staff performed the glaucoma tests.

Unionville Sponsors Birthday Celebrations

There were 19 birthdays celebrated. Two of these were blind. In attendance were 58 residents, 20 staff members, and families of residents. Three Lioness Club members and four volunteers provided the entertainment.

Rockwell Lions, Ladies Get New Old Home

What's a group of women doing in a den of Lions?

If you're talking about the Rockwell Woman's Club and the Rockwell Lions Club, they may be celebrating a new clubhouse in an old building — the former Rockwell railroad depot.

Southern Railway gave the old depot building to the woman's club on the condition that the club move it from its former location just a stone's throw away from the Rockwell tracks on Depot Street.

The women were more than willing to oblige — but they didn't own any land on which to relocate the building.

That's where the Lions stalked into the picture.

Some of the women's husbands were Lions, and that club happened to own some land on Miller Street about a mile southeast of town.

The Lions also happened to be looking for a clubhouse, and roared their approval of the project. Jo Kepley said she and Betty Short of the woman's club get "carried away" with old buildings. Mrs. Kepley helped work on the history room of the Faith Baptist Church. Since the building was moved to Miller Street, the two have plotted out every aspect of the restoration, from using the original light gray paint to landscaping with loading docks on the side of the building and — they hope — crossties and tracks, compliments of Southern Railroad.

Mrs. Kepley said the depot won't be completely restored for another two years. The roof and interior need work. And the clubs don't have the money to fix them right now.

Claude Bost, a former president and active member of the Lions Club, said the building will be used as a clubhouse by both clubs. He said the two clubs will meet independently, although "the two clubs get together once in a while and discuss politics" and plan to hold one or two annual affairs to get all the members' families together.

Also, he said, the old depot building will be open to the public for special events and open houses, and will probably contain some relics of the old railroad days.

Concord Lions Serve

Members of the Concord Lions Club have taken on the project to transport Mr. Charles Mullis, 222 Simpson Street, N.E., Concord, N.C., to the Nalle Clinic Kidney Center in Charlotte for kidney dialysis treatment. This treatment is required twice each week and the Concord Club will furnish transportation each Wednesday. The Concord Lions will drive their personal cars to Charlotte and back, 50 miles round trip. Kidney disease strikes all ages and the Clinic treats 100 patients each day. Mr. Mullis is 98% blind, can only see a spot, and could not live without this treatment. The Concord Lions will continue this project until a Kidney Dialysis Center is built in Concord sometime in the spring of 1984.

Sampson Lions Sponsor Health Fair

Sampson Countians are pretty much overweight.

If the recent Sampson County Health Fair is any indication, nearly 60 percent of all Sampsonians have weight problems.

The fair was held April 16, and 17, 1983, under the sponsorship of the Lions Clubs throughout the county. WRAL-TV, in Raleigh, also backed the fair. Results have been tallied, and health screeners discovered 57 percent of Health Fair participants weighed too much.

The figures may or may not be indicative of the whole county. A total of 1,071 people from ages 18 and up attended the free health screening program. But Bill Miller, a Lions Club member and co-chairman of the fair, says a majority that attended were in the older age brackets.

Besides the 57 percent of all participants with a weight problem, 26 percent had high blood pressure. Thirty-eight percent had vision defects.

A number of other conditions checked at the screening occurred at a considerably lower rate. Ten percent of participants were anemic, reflecting a deficiency of red blood cells. Four percent showed signs of possible diabetes, and five percent had oral problems.

Miller feels the screenings were successful. Using glaucoma as an example he said that perhaps 20 people were saved from blindness.

Fayetteville Lions Celebrate 50th Year

Local Lions Club members are paying their debts daily through their services to the community, according to former international director Wallace West, who spoke to the group in honor of its 50th anniversary.

West was the keynote speaker for the Fayetteville Lions Club, which is the third oldest Lions Club in the state. The occasion was celebrated with a banquet at the Lions Club Civic Center. West is a retired educator and superintendent from New Hanover County.

"Lions are daily repaying their debts in services," West said, adding that everyone accumulates debts and not all of them can be measured in dollars and cents. "You strive to pay those obligations by performing deeds of kindness."

West pointed to the group's efforts in helping the visually impaired by playing a key role in opening the city's blind center and through their work with the Boys Home.

West culminated an evening in which Fayetteville Mayor Bill Hurley honored the group, and the entire organization paid tribute to A. E. Cook and John Creed, the last two living members of the group when it was chartered on October 25, 1933. The group originally was chartered with 21 members.

A letter from President Ronald Reagan's office congratulating the group on its 50 years of service was read by Adrian Williams, a former vice president of the group.

The letter, written by Dodi Livingston, a special assistant to the President, said the group's work in establishing a hearing aid bank in the city and their efforts in building the Lions Club structure on W. Rowan St. "were a tribute" to the area.

Also in attendance were three of the group's eight past and present district governors and other dignitaries within the Lions Club organization.

New Home For Candor Lions

Lion President Ray Reynolds, of the Candor Lions Club, sends a picture of the new Clubhouse and Community Building. Under the direction of the Building Committee Chairman, Deputy District Governor C. J. Reynolds, renovations on the building have been completed. The club has spent in excess of $32,000.00 on moving, setting up, and remodeling this old building, which once was the meeting place for the Biscoe American Legion.

Over 2,000 man-hours have gone into the project, which indicates the enthusiasm of a dedicated club to promote Lionism in its community.

Lumberton Lionesses Serve

The annual party for the visually handicapped on Monday, October 24, 7:00 p.m., at the O. P. Owens Auditorium was a highlight of the Lioness Club year. Excellent cooperation and participation by Lioness Club members, serving on all the committees, was well rewarded. As usual, guests said it was "the best party" they had attended. The Lions Club gave each member a bag of Halloween candy, contributed to the gift for Billie Honeycutt, helped provide transportation, and assisted Lioness Club members in various ways at the party. The Cosmetic Outlet contributed a gift for each guest, and various businesses in town donated food for the dinner.

Mary Jennings, at 83, was the oldest guest attending. Entertaining with gospel music were the Christianaires of West Lumberton Baptist Church.

Apex Celebrates 46th

Gil Faber, club secretary, was named Lion of the Year by the Apex Lion's Club at its annual banquet.

John L. Stickley, past president of Lions International, spoke to the club members about the international scope of the Lions Club.

Approximately 150 people attended the banquet, held at the C. C. Jones Community Building in Apex.

Speaking to the Apex group, Stickley told about the international effects of the Lions Club's charitable works. Bringing his speech closer to home Stickley said, "Today this city of Apex is better off because a group of men 46 years ago founded this Lions Club." Stickley, who is from Charlotte, is the only N.C. resident to have served as president of Lions International.

The banquet was the 46th celebration of the club's founding here in Apex. Two charter members of the club were recognized for having perfect attendance since the beginning. W. Jennings Booth, Sr., and George Rogers were given certificates and special pins marking their 46 years of perfect attendance at club meetings.

Burlington Lions Club Excells

The Burlington Lions have had a busy and productive year. The members have had their usual White Cane Drive which netted over $1,300, their annual broom sale which grossed a record $28,400, a successful candy sale, and their annual Gun and Knife show.

In addition to their usual strong support for district, state, national, and international Lions monetary goals, the Burlington Lions, under the leadership of Lion President Bill Meredith, Jr., have made $500 contributions to each of two hospitals for support of Life-Line, held a Christmas party for blind persons in their area, sent a special award to Boys Home, and supported the Alamance Blind Bowlers to attend the Southeastern Tournament.

Lions Clubs around the world provide services for the special needs of the sight impaired. With all of our emphasis on white canes, special radios and diagnostic equipment, one area of service is often overlooked. The sight impaired also want to be of service. It was with this in mind that the Lions of Carrboro, N.C. (District 31-G) combined with the Carrboro chapter of the American Red Cross to provide a very special, indeed, first of its kind program for local sight impaired citizens.

The idea began when volunteers with the Red Cross found a set of braille instruction books in an out-of-state chapter for teaching C.P.R. (Cardio Pulmonary Resuscitation). These books were duplicates of the standard Red Cross manual, complete with diagrams in raised print. They had been produced but never used. Upon further investigation, it was learned that the National Office of Red Cross would certify any handicapped person in any of their courses who could demonstrate the required skills. It was further learned that a C.P.R. program for the blind had never been attempted anywhere in the U.S. and probably not in the world. A call went out to the Carrboro Lions Club. Representatives of the club met with Red Cross administrators and instructors to review the project and to determine what help they might offer. Lion Alan Senter, who is also a certified Emergency Medical Technician, reviewed the proposal and took a plan of action to the club's board of directors. Here the project was turned over to Lion Mac McMorrow, Chairman of the Sight and Health Services committee and Lion Harvey Zelon whose credentials include being certified as both a Paramedic and a C. P. R. Instructor.

Ten students were transported to the Red Cross building in Carrboro and training began. The students were enthusiastic and very hard-working.

C.P.R. Instructor Al Hudson teaches the techniques to students Tammy Rorie and Darryl Eaton using the specially modified training manikin.

Lion Michael McMorrow (Far right) and Red Cross Instructor Al Hudson discuss the progress of the course with other instructors and students.

Lionism Strong in Garner

The stir of excitement in the Garner's Lions Den this year is the result of a new Lioness Club. The Garner Lioness Club is the pride, joy, and challenge of the Garner Lions. The 1984 Districts G-H-J Mid-Winter was hosted by the Garner Lions. (You can bet they depended upon their Lioness club for help.) Both clubs have been active in fund raising, community service, and service to Lions at District, State, and International levels.

Wayne Lions Support Corneal Transplants

Jerry Goodman is Wayne County's principal enucleator. He had the foresight to volunteer his time and the vision to help others. He's helping provide the miracle of sight to blind people. The funeral service licensee at Seymour Funeral Home in Goldsboro is one of more than 250 people in the state trained to remove the eyes for corneal transplants.

Today, between 175 and 200 North Carolinians await a call from their opthalmologist saying someone has donated their eyes, says Frances T. Hughes, executive director of the North Carolina Eye and Human Tissue Bank Inc. in Winston-Salem.

Only about 35 transplantable eyes are expected this month, says the director of the third eye bank in the nation, which was founded in 1951. The bank receives donations of about 700 eyes a year. About half of them are suitable to be used in a corneal transplant.

non-profit organization that receives about half of its budget from a contribution by the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind, and the remainder from memorials, contributions, and other fund-raising activities.

"There is never any cost involved for the donor family and there is no cost for the tissue," Mrs. Hughes adds.

Three donors in Wayne County contributed six eyes to the bank in the past month, Goodman says. About 50 percent of the eyes donated contain corneas that are suitable for transplantation. The other eyes are used in research.

"The people of Goldsboro have provided more tissue than a lot of places in North Carolina of the same size," Mrs. Hughes says. She attributes the donations to the work of the area Lions clubs, which solicit eye wills, and the cooperation of hospital personnel, eye enucleators, and volunteers who transport the eyes.

"Until 1973, only medical doctors and medical students could perform eye enucleations," Goodman says. But that year, Wayne County Lions Clubs pushed for the introduction and passage of a bill allowing ophthalmologists, embalmers, registered nurses, licensed practical nurses and physician's assistants to train and become certified in eye enucleation. Former State Senator Thomas Strickland of Wayne County introduced the bill, which received approval.

The bill became necessary because at times a doctor was not available to perform the enucleation within four hours of death. Before the eyes may be taken, the death certificate must be processed, permission must be received from the next of kin, and the eye will must be checked.

Shortly after the change in the law, Goodman took the weekend course at North Carolina Memorial Hospital and became certified.

"As a member of the Goldsboro Downtown Lions Club, I wanted to do something to help. As you know, one of the Lions' chief projects is assisting the blind and gathering eye wills," Goodman says.

His Lions Club chapter paid for the course. The Wayne County Lions also bought the surgical instruments that are kept in the hospital room near the morgue where the procedure is performed.

The process, which takes about 30 minutes, involves the severing of five muscles and the optic nerve which hold the eye in place.

"You must be 18 years of age to sign an eye will," Goodman says, "but if a small child dies tragically, if the next of kin wishes the eyes be donated, they can sign the authorization."

Anyone who signs an eye will and returns it to the eye bank will receive a wallet-size card saying he is a donor. For about the past five years, licensed drivers have been able to mark a box on their licenses, also saying they are donors.

"Many people have signed an eye will, but, especially in a sudden death, the family has simply forgotten that the person was a donor," he says. "One of the most important things a donor should do is to make sure his wishes are known to his family."

Upon notification that a donor has died, the hospital nursing supervisor contacts the eye bank, which in turn arranges for the transportation of the tissue and contacts a registered enucleator.

Piedmont, Delta, and Eastern airlines provide transportation of human tissues free of charge.

Beaufort County Lions Host Senior Citizens and Visually Impaired

For the past eight years the four Lions Clubs in Beaufort County have given the Senior Citizens and the Visually Impaired of the county a fish fry. The annual outing, in May, is traditionally held on scenic Bath Creek in Bath, North Carolina. The outing, for some, is the only time during the year that they have the chance to see and talk to one another.

The Lions of Washington, Bath, Belhaven and Aurora start planning the event early in April with a planning meeting. Jerry Hughes, (P.D.G.) and Chairman of the fish fry since its beginning, said, "Each Lion and club knows what they are responsible for and everything seems to come together before the six to seven hundred Senior Citizens and Visually Impaired arrive at 12:00 noon."

The Lions start early Saturday morning setting up tents and preparing the fish, potatoes and hushpuppies. It takes about 300 pounds of fish, 200 pounds of potatoes and 20 pounds of cole slaw. After the meal, everyone is entertained by a local singing group. When all the eating and singing is over, the group awaits the highlight of the day — choosing the oldest man and the oldest women present. The Master of Ceremonies begins at 70 and only eliminates a few; but, by the time he reaches 90, only a few hands are still raised and finally, the oldest is chosen. The average age of the winner has been about 92. Ray Brooks, Mayor of Bath, presents the honored winner with a gift.

By middle afternoon the buses and cars that brought the senior citizens and Visually Impaired begin to load up and depart — with a satisfied cargo who hope to return next year. Comments of the day range from the guests, "We sure enjoyed it and can't wait 'til next year," to the Lions, "This is one of the best projects that we do all year long. It gives us an opportunity to be Lions — to serve others."

As late afternoon approaches, the Lions begin to take down tents and clean up — tired but filled with a sense of great accomplishment.

Edgecombe County Health Fair Combined Services for Successful Venture

More than 200 Edgecombe area residents received free health screenings at the Edgecombe County Health Fair on Saturday, October 22, 1983. Held at Parkhill Mall, the health fair combined the expertise of nearly 50 community health and human service agencies to provide information about healthy living habits and health screenings.

Fair participants received screenings for diabetes, oral cancer, high blood pressure, lung capacity, anemia, glaucoma, vision, height and weight.

Partially funded by a donation from the Tarboro Lions Club, the health fair was directed by volunteers from Edgecombe General Hospital, Edgecombe County Health Department, Edgecombe Technical College, Tarboro Clinic and Area L Health Education Center, and staffed by volunteers from participating agencies.

"The health fair was successful because of the willingness of the community and its agencies to spend their own time and money to provide a valuable public service," said health fair coordinator Diane P. Webster, EGH Community relations director. "Displays were designed for the population of this area, a rural, agribusiness area, and participants at the fair were able to ask questions about their health and daily living habits."

Will there be another Edgecombe County Health Fair? "Chances are that we'll all be working together again next fall," said Webster. "That's what happens when you have a good program with a good group of people."

A Major Step Forward

Lionesses are becoming a major factor in the growth of Lionism. Nowhere can this fact be more evident than at a Lioness meeting. On Sunday, November 20, a District Rally was held in Tarboro, N.C., for Lionesses of District 31-J. This meeting was the first attempt at getting together as a District for sharing information and ideas — a very successful attempt for all who participated.

Lioness Clubs from Tarboro, Plymouth, Davie, Weldon, River City, Belhaven, Pinetops, Castalia, Williamston, and Murfreesboro sponsored participants in the rally. A total of 81 people listened and shared ideas in a unique format:

First, a meal was served, followed by a motivational speaker. Then, six separate workshops — Medic Alert, Membership Development, Leadership Development, Bulletins, Drug Awareness, and Camp Dogwood — were given by District Chairmen or experienced Lionesses. Finally, a general session concluded the rally.

District 31-J Governor Hugh Clinkscales summed up the general feeling at the meeting, stating, "I'm impressed and amazed at what I've seen today." The Lionesses present went away with a lot of information and a good feeling, knowing that they were supported by their district.

Expo '84

For the past four years, Rocky Mount Luncheon Lions Club, District 31-J, has directed Herculean efforts for a club of approximately 55 members toward an outstanding project which has become known as Eastern Farm/Home Trade Exposition.

Originally conceived with a two-fold purpose as an incentive to merchants' and manufacturers' sales efforts and as a project dedicated to boost the club's contributions for the blind and visually handicapped, the growth of this effort "to serve" has been phenomenal.

The fourth annual (1984) Exposition (Expo for short) was patronized by over 200 exhibitors utilizing over 80,000 square feet of booth and floor space and attracted more than 32,000 people from counties throughout eastern North Carolina and southern Virginia.

Lioness Week Held in Tarboro

On Thursday, October 6, 1983, the mayor of Tarboro, Bobby Pigg. signed a proclamation designating October 9-15 as Tarboro Lioness Club week.

The entire week was full of Lionistic activities with the objective in mind to make the community aware of a Tarboro Lioness Club and its goals and objectives, to aid the visually handicapped in the community, and recognize club members for their outstanding work in Lionism.

The week of activities began on Sunday, October 9th, with a breakfast for the club members and attending church at the Church of Christ as a group.

Each day of the week an officer of the club was saluted on the local radio station by Kay Harrell, president of the club.

The two recipients of the "Lioness of the Year" award were saluted in the local newspaper as well as the surrounding area papers.

On Monday evening the group carried baskets of fruit to the visually handicapped at one of the local rest homes.

On Tuesday evening an American flag was presented to the club by the Woodmen of the World. An installation banquet was held for new members, at which time three new members were installed.

On Thursday evening the Lioness Club members met with their sponsoring Lions Club, the Tarboro Lions Club, and issued them an invitation to attend a pig pickin' on Saturday in honor of Tarboro Lioness Club Week. The Lions and their wives and Leos were invited to attend this event along with other invited guests.

The main event of the week took place at 2:30 p.m. on Saturday. The club members placed their Lioness Club road sign on Highway 64 (one of the main highways coming into Tarboro). Gail Spence, associate Lioness Club advisor for District 31-J, presented a ceremony. After the ceremony, the group was invited to the home of the president of the club, Kay Harrell, for fun and fellowship. A pig pickin' was held at 4:30 p.m. to end the week of activities put together by a group of hard working, community minded Lioness Club members, a week they will remember for a long time.

Groundbreaking for Stickley Building

On Sunday, October 16, 1983, the Lions of North Carolina demonstrated their dedication to serve the blind of North Carolina with the groundbreaking of the "John L. Stickley" Building at Camp Dogwood. The building is to be a multi-purpose building to house arts and craft activities as well as a concession area and laundry facility. The building is named for John L. Stickley, past President, Lions Clubs International, 1956-1957.

Avron Upchurch, NCLAB President, presided at the ceremony on this warm October day.

Melvin Walker, Camp Dogwood Manager, talked about Camp Dogwood from "the beginning to now," expressing the number of blind who use the camp and what joy and happiness it has brought to them.

The N.C. Lions and Camp Dogwood was addressed by State Council Chairman, Hugh W. Clinkscales, who emphasized the opportunities that we as Lions have working together to help the blind and visually handicapped in North Carolina.

D. Harold Reid, Chairman of the Camp Dogwood Properties Committee, discussed "where to from here." He stated that while this building is now a reality, we must continue to improve and develop the camp, and make plans for an additional dormatory.

The highlight of the ceremony was John L. Stickley, himself, who remarked that while being honored, it is the Lions of North Carolina who deserve the recognition. A countless number of people gave their time and energy to conceive the idea, develop it, and put together a plan of action to accomplish it. This includes thousands of Lions and Lionesses who sold tickets to make this a reality. The unity of the Lions working toward one end is what Lionism is all about and truly the Lions of North Carolina are to be commended.

Wallace I. West, Past International Director, closed the ceremony thanking God for the opportunity to serve Him and the help He has given us in serving the blind of North Carolina.

You Are White Cane

The Lions of North Carolina will celebrate the 50th anniversary of the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind, Inc. at the State Convention in Raleigh during May of 1984. Much has been written concerning fund raising since 1934, and the most effective way to raise funds for the Association has been the White Cane Drive. The first White Cane Drive was held in 1946 and $13,451.27 was raised by setting quotas for each Lions Club, with $3.00 per member as a suggested goal. The Lions of North Carolina through the White Cane Drive raised $474,692.89 last year, for an average of $35.52 per member. This figure does not include camper fees and contributions to the Camp Dogwood general fund.

The Lions of North Carolina can be proud of their accomplishments during the past fifty years, but funds are still needed to carry on the work we have started. Our statewide White Cane goal this year was $515,000. The District Governor and the District White Cane Chairmen put forth a strong effort to make this White Cane Drive the best ever.

A few years ago we drove to Camp Dogwood one Sunday afternoon to take four blind people to spend the week. One of the individuals was a 65 year old blind lady, and on her return from Camp Dogwood she made the following statement: "The week I stayed at Camp Dogwood was the best week of my whole life." We are sure that statement has been repeated many times.

Our success in exceeding our White Cane goal for 1984 is a renewal of the commitment of Lions all over North Carolina to spare no effort in providing needed services for the visually handicapped across our state. Thank you one and all for your untiring efforts and inspiring dedication to give of yourselves to service of others.

Wins An Escort For $3

Colin Clinard of Old Greensboro Road, Thomasville was the winner of a 1983 Ford Escort in a statewide Lions Club drawing held Sunday during the state Lions Convention at the Four Seasons Holiday Inn in Greensboro. Clinard bought three of the $1 tickets and purchased the winning ticket from Birch Craven, member of the Pilot Lions Club. Keys to the car were presented during the meeting of the Pilot Lions Club Monday night. Pictured with the car is Clinard and Henry Floyd, president of the Pilot Lions. Some 63,700 tickets were sold statewide for the drawing. Proceeds went to Camp Dogwood near Lake Norman for the visually handicapped.

A 1984 Chevrolet Caprice Classic is the grand prize for the project at the 1984 state convention in Raleigh.

Botulinum Toxin Used to Correct Crossed Eyes

By Catherine Macek

Botulinum, one of the most deadly bacterial toxins known to man, also is responsible for curing some children with crossed eyes.

Consumption of even small amounts of botulinum toxin will result in botulism, a severe and sometimes fatal type of food poisoning. But minute amounts of the toxin, selectively injected into key eye muscles, allows crossed eyes to look straight ahead.

Dr. Edward G. Buckley, assistant professor of ophthalmology at Duke, recently began using the toxin to treat children with strabismus. One of the most common childhood eye disorders, strabismus is a visual defect in which both eyes cannot focus on the same object because of imbalances in certain eye muscles. Crossed eyes, one type of strabismus, occurs when the inner eye muscles are contracted more than the outer ones. Previously these children often required corrective surgery to realign their eyes.

Instead of surgery, Buckley treats crossed eyes by injecting tiny amounts of the botulinum toxin into the overcontracted inner eye muscles. The toxin paralyzes the injected muscles by preventing transmission of messages from nerves to muscles. The weaker outer muscles then can more easily contract and pull the eyes into proper alignment.

The toxin paralyzes injected muscles for up to three months and does not affect any of the surrounding muscles nor spread to other parts of the body, Buckley said. Often the untreated muscles strengthen enough so that the eyes remain properly aligned after the botulinum toxin wears off.

"The botulinum injection is a simple and safe procedure that can be performed in a physician's office in a matter of minutes," Buckley said. "Patients still retain voluntary control of their eyes during the three-month treatment." If the eyes become askew again after the toxin wears off, the procedure can be easily repeated.

The botulinum toxin is classified as an investigational drug, and Duke is one of about 20 centers in the United States testing it. So far Buckley has successfully treated four children with the toxin, and estimates that about 300 children throughout the United States have benefited from the therapy.

Buckley also uses botulinum toxin to treat adult patients with blepharospasm. Patients with this condition blink uncontrollably because of involuntary contractions of their eyelid muscles. Buckley ends their constant blinking by injecting botulinum toxin into the muscles surrounding the eyes.

"Previously blepharospasm was treated by cutting the facial nerve, which sometimes resulted in palsy, or by removing the muscles surrounding the eyes. Both were very disfiguring, irreversible treatments," Buckley said. "Since the effects of the toxin wear off after a few months, we don't have to repeat the injections if the patient isn't happy with the results."

The Facts and Figures Involvin

Did you know that . . .

- Persons with diabetes are at a risk for visual loss from diabetic retinopathy, glaucoma, and cataracts?

- Diabetes is the leading cause of new cases of legal blindness among Americans between the ages of 20-74?

- An estimated 5,000 Americans become blind each year as a result of diabetes?

- Appoximately 3% of persons with diabetes have suffered severe visual loss because of diabetic retinopathy?

- 25% to 50% of persons with diabetes have nonproliferative retinopathy, and approximately 75% of those who have had diabetes for 20 years develop nonproliferative retinopathy?

- Maculopathy is more common in patients with Type II diabetes, but when it occurs in Type I diabetics, it is more likely to be associated with proliferative retinopathy?

- Without treatment, nearly 50% of eyes with proliferative retinopathy and high risk characteristics suffer severe visual loss within five years?

- Glaucoma occurs in up to 4.8% of patients seen in diabetes clinics and up to 11% of patients with glaucoma have diabetes?

- Persons with diabetes appear to be at higher risk for developing cataracts than those who do not have diabetes?

- Regular ophthalmologic examinations and timely treatment may prevent visual loss due to diabetic eye disease?

- Laser treatment (photocoagulation) can reduce the risk of severe visual loss from retinopathy, and that vitrectomy (is a surgical procedure) can provide useful vision to some persons who have lost their sight due to diabetes?

Some Q & A Regardin

Q: What are the factors associated with the development of diabetic retinopathy?

A: Younger age at onset of diabetes and longer duration of diabetes are associated with the development of diabetic retinopathy. In experimental animals and in some clinical studies, there appears to be a relationship between diabetic retinopathy and hypertension and the degree of glycemic control. Practitioners should therefore work with their patients to control the blood pressure and blood glucose as near normal as possible.

Q: Who is at high risk for visual loss due to diabetic retinopathy?

A: Those at higher risk for visual loss are pregnant women with Type I diabetes and existing severe retinopathy, patients who have had Type I diabetes for more than 10 years, and patients with Type II diabetes who are not under the care of ophthalmologists.

Q: What are the components of an adequate eye examination for diabetic eye disease?

A: The eye examination should include visual acuity testing, intraocular pressure measurement, and retinal examination in a darkened room, with pupils dilated, by a practitioner who is capable of diagnosing diabetic eye disease.

Q: What is the association between retinopathy and nephropathy?

A: People with diabetic retinopathy are at increased risk for renal disease and hypertension. In one study, 35% of patients with diabetes who had serious retinopathy had clinically evident nephropathy and more than half had hypertension that was not being adequately controlled. In another study, two-thirds of patients with proliferative retinopathy were found to have nephropathy and 45% died from renal failure. Once retinopathy is discovered, periodic testing for diabe-

Diabeties and Eye Disease

Vitreous humor — the clear jelly that fills the center of the eye.

Diabetic retinopathy — a disease of the small blood vessels that nourish the retina. When these blood vessels become damaged by diabetes, they may leak or bleed and can no longer supply all the oxygen and nutrients the retina needs.

Retina — the light-sensitive tissue that lines the inside of the back of the eye. The retina receives visual images and send messages via the optic nerve to the brain where "seeing" actually takes place.

Non-proliferative diabetic retinopathy (sometimes called "background retinopathy") — is associated with leakage or occlusion of the small retinal blood vessels. It is characterized by retinal microaneurysms, hemorrhages, edema, hard exudates, cotton wool spots, venous beading, venous reduplication and loops, and intraretinal microvascular abnormalities.

Diabetic maculopathy — a disease of the small blood vessels in the center of the retina (macula) responsible for sharp central vision. This complication of diabetic retinopathy results in loss of the vision used for reading.

Proliferative retinopathy — is thought to be associated with retinal hypoxia. It is characterized by the development of new vessels on the surface layer of the retina.

Glaucoma — is an eye disease associated with increased pressure within the eye. Glaucoma can damage the optic nerve and cause visual loss.

Cataract — is a clouding of the lens of the eye. It interferes with vision by blocking the passage of light rays to the back of the eye.

Severe visual loss — a long-term loss of the ability to read, even with glasses, the largest letter on the eye chart from a distance of five feet. (Corrected visual acuity 5/200 or less in the better eye.)

Legal blindness — a long-term loss of ability to read, even with glasses, the largest letter on the eye chart from a distance of 20 feet. (Corrected visual acuity 20/200 or less in the better eye.)

Photocoagulation — treatment using an intense beam of light (laser) to place burns in the retina.

Vitrectomy — the surgical removal of the vitreous. If the vitreous becomes clouded by blood and scar tissue, it can sometimes be removed with a surgical instrument. The vitreous is replaced with a clear solution.

Fluorescein angiography — a means of studying the flow of blood in the retinal vessels of the eye by tracing and photographing the circulation of an injected dye.

Diabetic Eye Disease

tic nephropathy is appropriate. Since more than 90% of newly evaluated uremic diabetic patients also have significant retinopathy, they should also be evaluated for retinopathy.

Q: What is the role of the primary care practitioner in the control and/or prevention of diabetic retinopathy?

A: Since diabetic retinopathy is usually asymptomatic at its most treatable stages, the primary care practitioner must ensure that it is detected early so that the patient may be referred to an ophthalmologist and treated. Since diabetic retinopathy may occur more frequently in patients who have poor blood glucose control, patients should be encouraged to control their blood glucose levels as well as possible without causing significant hypoglycemia. Also, since hypertension may be associated with diabetic retinopathy, primary care practitioners should vigorously diagnose and treat hypertension in patients with diabetes.

Q: What should patients with diabetes know about diabetic eye disease?

A: Patients with diabetes should be informed about the possibility of developing diabetic retinopathy, glaucoma, and cataracts; the possible relationship between the level of glycemic control and retinopathy; the association between hypertension and retinopathy; the importance of regular examinations and early diagnosis; the availability and benefits of therapy for retinopathy, glaucoma, and cataracts; and the availability of vocational rehabilitation programs and other social services.

Q: Who should be the target of interventions for diabetic eye disease?

A: Patients who are at higher risk for diabetic eye disease and who are not receiving ophthalmologic care should be targeted for interventions.

Raleigh Lions Clinic for the Blind

The Raleigh Lions Clinic for the Blind, Inc. was established on January 30, 1967 by the Raleigh (Host) Lions Club as a nonprofit rehabilitation facility for visually impaired persons. The development of the Raleigh Lions Clinic serves two purposes. The first purpose is to work in close cooperation with the North Carolina Division of Services for the Blind to provide medical, psychological, and audiological tests, work evaluation, medical services, and work adjustment training for visually impaired persons. The second purpose is to provide transitional employment for visually impaired persons who are not yet able to enter competitive employment. As a means of providing meaningful employment, the Raleigh Lions Clinic engages in the manufacture of government and commercial products, as well as subcontract projects.

The transitional employment program offers employment services to approximately 50 persons. Since the evaluation unit for the North Carolina Division of Services for the Blind is located in upstairs offices at the Raleigh Lions Clinic, they can cooperate in providing a complete training program for clients. Clients first meet with their counselors on arrival, and then go through an intensive program in preparation for placement into suitable employment. First, clients go through ophthalmological, medical, psychological, and audiological testing. Mobility training is also available for the clients who would find it beneficial.These tests enable the counselor to assess the client's physical limitations and abilities. As a part of the ophthalmological examination, each client goes through the Low Vision Clinic. The Low Vision Clinic was established by the North Carolina Division of Services for the Blind, with the intention of enabling visually impaired individuals to be able to function with greater independence by the use of a variety of devices. These devices are designed to aid the user in his job, hobby or any other activity so that he or she will become more self-reliant. The Low Vision Clinic has an estimated 100 different visual aids from which to choose. These products cover the spectrum from a simple handheld magnifying glass priced at 45 cents, to an advanced closed circuit television priced at $1,500. Devices are purchased by the state in large quantities to ensure the best possible prices. Then the aids are either given to or sold to the clients, based on their economic status. While the low Vision Clinic helps clients, it also provides a community service because it is used by other people in the area who have been recommended by their ophthalmologist. This Low Vision Clinic has been described as one of the best in the state because it offers such a wide variety of low vision aids.

After the physical limitations have been assessed, the client goes to the evaluation department of the Raleigh Lions Clinic. The evaluator, who is on the staff of the Raleigh Lions Clinic, tests the client in specific areas according to recommendations from their counselor. The evaluator accomplishes this by performing a variety of tests. These include work samples by Valpar and Singer in the following areas; small engines, plumbing, carpentry, clerical, electrical, and soldering. Clients are given tests in dexterity, economics, consumer knowledge, and job search skills. During the time spent in evaluation, the client is evaluated on his punctuality, attendance, verbal communication, motivation, interaction, and personal appearance.

Once the evaluation phase is complete, each individual client is staffed to see which alternative is the best. The client may be advised to return home, enroll in high school, college or technical school, attend the rehabilitation center at Butner, or begin in work adjustment.

If work adjustment is recommended for the client, the work adjustment coordinator will set up a specific program. In this program, the client will receive instruction in every phase of work preparation, as well as on-the-job training. Clients train in both direct and indirect labor jobs. For example, some clients receive training in such indirect jobs as receptionist trainee, warehouseman trainee, and janitorial trainee. Another goal of the work adjustment program is to prepare clients so that they will be able to function in their environment successfully. In order to accomplish this, the work adjustment coordinator holds an annual Social, Health, and Work Information Fair. This fair is held to offer valuable information to clients in an interesting and informative manner that would be easily accessible to them. The fair includes a variety of educational tools such as guest speakers, film and video materials, visual demonstrations, cassettes, and tapes from various agencies in the Raleigh area. By exposing clients to programs like these, the clinic feels it will offer the individual a chance to enhance his or her skills and at the same time increase the chance of a more rewarding and productive future.

The Raleigh Lions Clinic has four production departments which are: (1) sewing, (2) commercial assembly, (3) military assembly, and (4) woodworking. The sewing department performs all types of industrial sewing and cutting operations for commercial and government contracts. This department operates 47 of the most modern sewing machines used in industry today. This enables employees to receive realistic training. Some of the products which are sewn are bed pillows, trouser suspenders, combat suspenders, helmet chin straps, and ironing board and sleeve board covers. Customers include Risdon Manufacturing, Kingsdown, Super Dollar, and the Federal Government.

The commercial assembly department is engaged in the assembly and packaging of sleeve boards and ironing boards, pharmaceuticals, and tang binders. Also, various items are shrink film packaged in this department. Bristol Myers, Risdon Corporation, and Dana Corporation are several of the customers.

The military assembly department deals with installing various hardware on the many government use items.

The final packaging of the government contracts is done in this department also.

This includes such processes as typing, gluing, shrink-wrapping, boxing, stenciling, and applying bar-code labels. The principle customer for this department is the Defense Logistic Agency.

Table top ironing boards and sleeve boards are manufactured in the wood-working department. The customers are Risdon Corporation, Lighthouse Industries in New York and military bases.

Since the clinic opened in 1967, the evaluation section of the clinic has tested and evaluated 4,126 clients. One of the greatest accomplishments of the facility has been that since the clinic's opening 1,956 trainees have completed their training and were placed in full-time employment. The Raleigh Lions Clinic takes great pride in assisting these people in gaining self-respect.

The future looks bright for the Raleigh Lions Clinic for the Blind. With everyone working together, the Raleigh Lions Clinic feels that it can accomplish its two main goals. The first goal is to prepare visually impaired people so that they can function independently. The second goal is to become the best possible facility that it can. The Raleigh Lions Clinic for the Blind has made great strides in achieving these goals, and it will continue to strive to reach a new zenith in these areas.

Camp Dogwood Ticket Sale Project

For a number of years the Lions of North Carolina have conducted fund raising projects to meet the expenses of maintaining Camp Dogwood. White Cane funds were sufficient to keep the camp operating efficiently; however, there were always some additional needs. Fund raising projects, primarily at the community level, helped to meet most of these needs.

New buildings were added to the camp for the most part by direct donations by individuals (including Lions), businesses, groups, and grants from foundations. The newest dormitory, 31-B, now the Shaw Brown Dormitory, was completed in 1974 through donations and funds raised by the Lions of District 31-B. The gate at the entrance was financed by funds from District 31-D given in memory of the late J. D. "Doc" Huggins.

One of the first organized state-wide fund raising projects for the camp began in 1971 when Lions were selling socks. Under the leadership and guidance of the late Armstrong Cannady, a substantial amount of funds for the camp was raised in about four years. This was an enhancement for the camp despite the fact that the majority of clubs in the State did not participate in the project.

The Lions of North Carolina began selling Camp Dogwood tickets at $1.00 each during the 1975-1976 Lions year, under the leadership of PDG Artie Banks of District 31-G. Three color television consoles were given away at the Mid-Winter Conferences to winning ticket holders. That year, the incredible sum of $18,823.02 was raised with a profit of $17,198.87. The project continued in 1976-1977 when three new television consoles were awarded during the Mid-Winters and a profit of $24,260.48 was made for the camp.

Under the leadership of PDG Elbert Ray Bryant of 31-J in 1977-1978, in addition to the three television consoles, a new 1978 LTD Ford was offered as a grand prize with ticket holders eligible throughout the State. The car was given away at the close of the State Convention.

The project has continued in the same format since that time with three television sets and a new automobile as prizes each year, while the cost of each ticket has remained only $1.00. North Carolina Lions have raised a total of $344,803.55 from 1975 through May, 1983. The profit after all expenses was $194,810.32. Meantime, White Cane funds have increased considerably.

Initially, profits from the ticket sales project were put in the Camp Dogwood budget. During the year 1977-1978 (when the first car became a prize) a portion of the profits was earmarked as a building fund. Since the 1979-1980 year all profits from the $1.00 Camp Dogwood ticket sales have been set aside for new buildings.

With profits from the sale of the $1.00 tickets and several direct donations, the C. Coleman Cates addition to the lodge was completed a few years ago. This addition has become a definite asset to the camp. It not only provides more space for the campers, but also, through the efforts of our camp manager Melvin Walker, the camp has generated a great deal more income during the off-season. Last year, more than $100,000.00 income was generated largely because of the fine meeting facilities of the new wing.

Ground-breaking ceremonies were conducted at the camp on October 16, 1983, and construction was started on the new John L. Stickley support building, which is expected to be completed by May, 1984. The architect's plans show this will be a beautiful and very versatile multi-purpose building. Cost of construction will be about $250,000.00.

The $1.00 ticket sale project is continuing this year and the Camp Dogwood committee has set a goal of $100,000.00 by State Convention time. Members of the committee are enthusiastically making contacts with Lions all over the State and are generating more interest and, hopefully, more participation in the project by all the Lions of North Carolina. Attempts were made to sell enough tickets for the Mid-Winters to avoid the necessity of borrowing funds to complete the new building. It is expected that the project will continue until the last building, another dormitory, is completed and the expenses for construction and furnishings have been cleared.

An Update

Corneal and Cataract Surgery:

Reprinted from Intercom — Duke University Medical Center

New surgical techniques to treat common eye problems such as nearsightedness or cataracts receive much attention in the media because of the tremendous value people place upon their eyesight.

"These new surgical treatments often sound wonderful, but the reports in the lay press frequently are not able to explain the scientific controversies that surround the introduction of a new procedure," said Dr. Michael Cobo, an ophthalmologist at the medical center.

As these new options become available and are publicized, it places a greater responsibility on doctors for educating patients about the risks and benefits involved, he said.

Cobo recently reviewed new techniques in eye surgery in a talk titled, "Corneal and Cataract Surgery: An Update."

"Refractive surgery is one of the procedures that has generated much public interest. It involves changing the shape of the cornea so as to alter the need for glasses," Cobo said. "Lens implant surgery, which is done at the time of cataract surgery, and a new type of laser surgery used as an adjunct to cataract surgery, have also gained widespread attention."

As new procedures are publicized, people should be aware that the risks involved may outweigh the benefits for individual patients, he said.

The surgery to treat nearsightedness, called radial keratotomy, is perhaps the most controversial because it involves doing surgery on an eye that has potential 20/20 vision with appropriate correction, Cobo said.

Report Due

"The first report of a national government sponsored study is due later this year and may greatly increase public awareness of this procedure," he said. "The procedure involves altering the shape of the cornea, which is responsible for focusing the light that enters the eye."

He noted that while this type of surgery may have good results in simple cases, it will probably be used sparingly because it does involve making incisions in the cornea and is a permanent alteration.

"For that reason it will probably be considered an option primarily for the patient who is unable to get adequate results from glasses or contact lenses," Cobo said.

"Living" Lens

Another variation of this type of surgery also under investigation involves using an intricate lathe with which eye surgeons mold a human cornea so that it can be attached to the eye. This so-called "living" lens has promise for young children who have undergone cataract surgery and older people who are not able to wear regular contact lenses, he said.

"Another area which is not as new or controversial as it was a few years ago is lens implant surgery," Cobo said. "A few years ago this procedure was considered risky, but lens implant techniques have progressed to the point where it is now predicted that over the next year or two 90 percent of the patients who have cataract surgery will have lens implants."

The plastic lens does not cloud and eliminates the need for heavy glasses or contacts, he said.

"A fine membrane is left in place to support the implant," Cobo said. "In some cases this membrane may cloud sometimes after surgery. This is called an after-cataract and is the type of cataract amenable to treatment with a newly developed laser for eye surgery."

With the laser, eye surgeons can open the membrane months or years after the initial surgery without having to perform a second operation inside the eye with conventional instruments. The laser treatment is quick and painless, he noted.

"Patients with eye diseases have certainly benefited from advances in technology," Cobo said, "but the attention brought to these new procedures may mislead a patient into thinking that a new procedure is of necessity the right one for him or her. Frequently, the public reports are more glowing than the reality, and, as always, one needs to rely on the opinions of community physicians who know the specific condition about individual patients."

Making Money Talk

NEW YORK — The American Foundation for the Blind is now marketing a talking device which identifies U.S.paper currency in denominations of $1, $2, $5, $10 and $20. The machine, known as the paper money identifier, or PMI, is designed primarily for blind and visually impaired people, but is available to others also. After a bill is inserted into the PMI, an optical scanner identifies it and a synthetic voice announces its value. If the bill is fed into the machine face down, the voice says "Over," enabling the operator to stack money face up for bank deposits. If the note is torn or otherwise unrecognizable, the PMI will say "Please try again."

The foundation sponsored development of the PMI through Ardac, Inc., of Eastlake, Ohio, and is sole distributor. The unit presently retails for $600, is rectangular (3½" x 6" x 15¾"), weighs 6 pounds 2 ounces and plugs into any three-prong, 120-volt electrical outlet. It requires only two controls, an on-off switch and a volume control, both located on the front panel.

The talking paper money identifier opens up employment opportunities for blind and visually impaired people and helps those already in business. The unit can be hooked up to a talking cash register developed by the foundation and the R. C. Allen Company. To purchase, write Consumer Products, American Foundation for the Blind, 15 West 16th Street, New York, New York, 10011, requesting the free 1984 catalog, "Products for People with Vision Problems," available in print or braille.

The American Foundation for the Blind serves the needs of blind and visually-impaired people in cooperation with over 700 agencies, organizations and schools nationwide.

A good place to study — Bright lighting, wide aisles, open stacks and individual sound-resistant study carrels make the newly-redesigned M. C. Migel Memorial Library and Information Center at the American Foundation for the Blind attractive and accessible.

Specialized Library Holds Open House

NEW YORK — On March 27, 28 and 29, the American Foundation for the Blind held a series of open houses designed to acquaint professionals, librarians and consumers with the many services and materials available in the M. C. Migel Memorial Library and Information Center, recently remodeled by Charles A. Moss, Jr., an architect well-known for his interest in making buildings accessible to handicapped people.

In addition to housing the Helen Keller Archives, a 300-volume rare book collection, several photograph collections, and a permanent print collection of over 37,000 books, periodicals, monographs, doctoral dissertations, research papers, conference proceedings, pamphlets and bibliographies dealing with blindness, the library also owns high-technology machines which allow blind people total access to the print collection. By operating a talking Apple computer, a Kurzweil Reading Machine or a Viewscan, VersaBraille or Visualtek system, blind and visually-impaired scholars, researchers, writers and consumers can study the entire collection via synthetic speech, braille and large-print display, reading from such works as Diderot's famous essay dated 1749 or from the new textbook, "Understanding Low Vision" published last month by the foundation.

The library also subscribes to SpecialNet, a data retrieval system which allow special educators throughout the country to communicate immediately on matters concerning legislation, employment, early childhood and other subjects of interest to blind and visually impaired people.

Begun in 1926, the M. C. Migel Library and Information Center is a national resource center receiving thousands of requests yearly. Located on the ground floor of the foundation's New York City headquarters, the multi-purpose facility is open to visitors weekdays from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Requests for information and materials about blindness, including a recently completed comprehensive series of subject bibliographies, may be made via telephone or mail. Materials circulate free of charge within the continental United States and through interlibrary loan in Canada.

"Our ever-growing library is accessible to handicapped people," says Bill Gallagher, executive director. "We hope those who need it know about it. It exists to be used."

The American Foundation for the Blind serves the needs of blind and visually impaired people in cooperation with over 700 agencies, organizations and schools nationwide. Regional offices are located in Atlanta, Chicago, Dallas, New York City, San Francisco and Washington, D.C.

VISYT

Visually Impaired See Yesterday Today)

By Dennis E. McGinnis

She cradled the well-polished Civil War musket in her arms like a mother holding her baby for the first time, running sensitive fingers over the instrument, searching out the most delicate characteristics of the superbly reconditioned Civil War relic.

Raising the piece close to her sightless eyes, a warm smile developed across the strong, wrinkled face of sixty year old Virginia Midgette, "I can see. Really see it," she burst with enthusiasm, "Now, for the first time, I know what a Civil War musket really looks like."

"Hearing her say that was one of the most rewarding moments in my life," said Lion Hubby Bliven, who gave the history talk to a group of VIP's at Roanoke Island Resource Center in Manteo, N.C., "It made me realize how wonderful it is to be able to help blind people see things that we, with our sight, take for granted."

The young, dark-bearded North Carolina artist got into helping the blind with his history program quite by accident. Hubby Bliven is a history scholar of not small stature.

He, his wife Mary, and four sons have gleaned a large collection of Civil War and Indian artifacts from the land and sound waters of Roanoke Island. These are his tools used in promoting local history in schools and civic organizations.

"When I got the call to give a show to the VIP's, I was delighted," he smiled, "But, then, when I found out that VIP meant visually impaired persons, I had to come up with some other means of doing the show without my slides. It was then that I thought of letting the VIP's handle the objects while I talked."

As guiding Lion in the development of Nags Head, N.C. Lions Club a couple of years ago, Hubby told the new Lions of his rewarding experience of letting the blind handle the historic objects, so they could visualize the pieces via their other senses, as he described them.

A member suggested that perhaps historic sites in the community might develop their interpretation program along these lines. At that meeting VISYT was conceived.

From that seed, the energetic Hubby directed his energies toward developing the embyro. The spring of 1982 found Hubby discussing VISYT with Robert E. Woody, Chief of Interpretation, at Fort Raleigh National Historic Site on Roanoke Island. Woody liked the idea and told Hubby he would be getting back with him.

Armed with the tentative cooperation of the National Park Service, Hubby brought up the subject at the October meeting of his Manteo Lions club. He found a most receptive audience. Not only did the club endorse the program, but they voted to undertake the project of soliciting the support of all clubs in District 31-J. Club president Jay Dixon posted letters to the sixty-five clubs in the district requesting support and financial help.

"The response was most rewarding," Dixon said later in reporting to his club, "All clubs in the district have donated to this most worthy cause. To date, we've received $5,732.50."

With this information, Hubby returned to the National Park Service seeking their cooperation in the program with matching funds. He found encouragement. He was told the Park Service would pursue a matching grant request from the Eastern National Parks and Monument Association in developing a VISYT program at Fort Raleigh National Historic Site for fiscal year 1984. Infant VISYT took its first step.

Learning of this, the then District 31-J governor Melvin Styons threw his full support behind the project, and appointed Lion Hubby as chairman of the program with fifteen co-chairmen from clubs throughout the district.

Hubby, always alert to opportunities to lay his message on sympathetic ears, last winter succeeded in securing a spot on the Lions mid-winter convention program at Elizabeth City, N.C. He caught the attention of Lions International President, Everett J. Grindstaff, who listened attentively and expressed sincere interest in the project.

A happy man, Lion Hubby is an untiring salesman of his cause. Give him a few moments of your time and it won't be long before his dedicated enthusiasm will convince you VISYT needs your full support. Former District 31-J Governor, David Edwards, is one such notable, who is now devoting his efforts to selling VISYT to other clubs in North Carolina.

VISYT is a wonderful idea, and I'm one hundred percent behind the effort," District 31-J Governor Hugh Clinckscales said. "We have a district chairman for the project. It is one of our goals for this year that all district clubs adopt VISYT as a project."

It is Hubby's dream that his method of enabling the visually impaired and blind to realize through their other senses the beauty and enjoyment of our heritage that up to now has been, in many cases, denied them.

"The VISYT dream is obtainable throughout the nation," Hubby said.

Setting New Records

The Lions of North Carolina and the Eye Bank in Winston-Salem are really on the move! It is extremely encouraging to know of the large number of eye wills being obtained in all areas of the state, particularly when many are using the form included in the drivers license renewal mailing.

The seeds of education about organ donation have been well planted through the years and the Eye Bank is experiencing a noticeable increase in eye tissue. This is an ongoing process and many people have devoted countless hours to reach the public with this very special need.

A new group of volunteers has been developed with the hospitals and they are using their energies to locate the donors and cause many important things to happen. Peggy, a medical records clerk at the VA Hospital in Asheville, is just such a person. She has chosen to do her share to obtain corneas and there is hardly a person more excited about locating a donor. The joy in her voice could only be matched by the person having their sight restored!

Two registered nurses at Wake Medical Center in Raleigh are going the "extra mile" and proving that much eye tissue is available and they are willing and trained to retrieve it. Marla and Sharon have enucleated eyes in Raleigh and Durham in the same day and taken them to the airport on their way home.

Two physician's assistants, Ewing at Charlotte Memorial hospital in Charlotte and Frank at Memorial Mission in Asheville, are retrieving eyes after exhausting work retrieving kidneys and other organs. Rick and Don, registered nurses in organ procurement are very active in approaching the families and helping retrieve eyes and other organs. With their location in Greenville, key persons across the state are working together for a common goal of helping others.

Trained licensed embalmers are taking the initiative and their interest is outstanding. There is now a comprehensive list of all Lions willing to transport eyes night or day, if need be.

The number of people willing to bring the Eye Bank program to a new level is growing daily and they are greatly appreciated. Each, in their own way, is a valuable link in our chain of events making sight restoration possible.

The Eye Bank staff is dedicated to developing the potential in others and not letting any eye or other tissue be lost. To know that you have improved the quality of someone's life, is an experience to be shared!

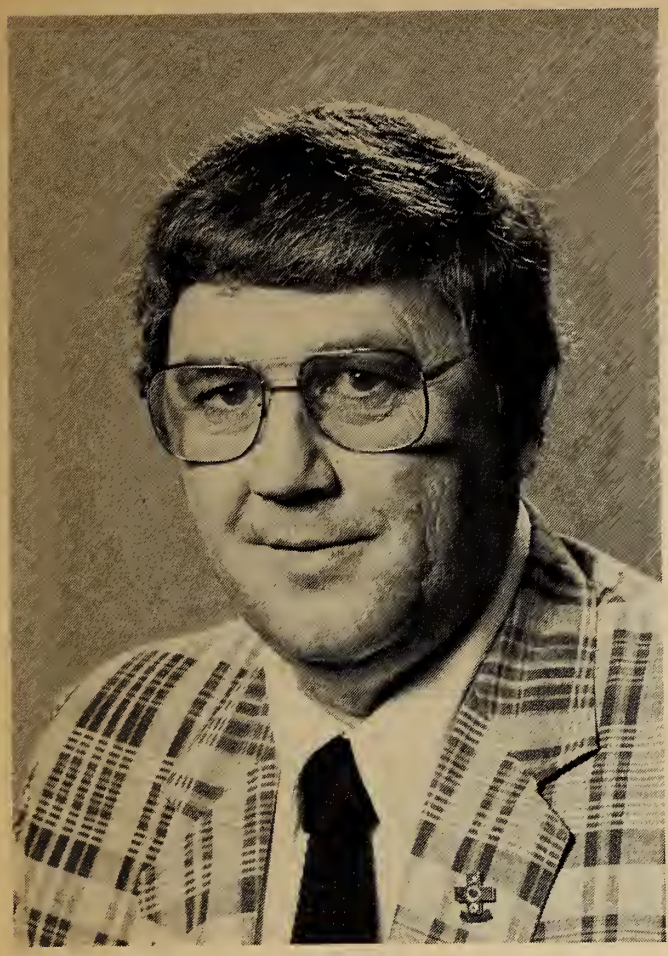
PRESIDENT'S REPORT



John L. Howell

To all the Lions and their ladies of North Carolina, a very special thank you. It has been a great year for the NCLAB. The leadership in our clubs, districts, and state has been the key to our success.

Dwight D. Eisenhower said leadership is "the art of getting someone else to do something you want done because he wants to do it." Leadership is the lifting of a man's vision to higher sights, the raising of a man's performance to a higher standard, the building of a man's personality beyond its four essential qualities: wisdom, self knowledge, acceptance of others, and integrity. Wisdom is gained from experience and interaction with others in a search for values that tend to elevate mankind. We achieve wisdom by reaching that point in our lives when we can differentiate between truth and falsehood, between what is significant and what is superficial.

Self-knowledge is the old maxim "know thyself," or as James Russell Lowell put it, "no man can produce great things who is not thoroughly sincere in dealing with himself." John W. Gardner, in his book, Self Renewal, maintains that any individual will become rigidly resistant to new ideas and less innovative unless there is a constant process of renewing one's self.

Certainly anyone who holds a position of leadership needs to accept others, to respect their viewpoints and profit by their opinions. In our Association where our leaders are dependent upon the support of volunteers, we can accomplish our objectives only if there is a bond of trust and friendship between those who lead and those who provide the essential support.

Finally, a true leader must have a sense of integrity. A person having a sense of integrity based upon a moral code will not cheat or dissemble and will not justify a shoddy course of action by contending that the end justifies the means.

I am reminded of Alexander Solzhenitsyn, the great Russian writer who endured incredible hardships and endless perils in the concentration camps of the Soviet Union. Yet he remained faithful to his deeply held views even though he risked his life in doing so. Few of us have the genius of a Solzhenitsyn, but we can all strive in our individual ways to develop those qualities that distinguish the leader from the follower and we can be thankful for the thousands of volunteer leaders in our state who give their time and energy in support of our goals. These volunteers offer proof that leaders are not born, but are developed through their willingness to accept new challenges and ever-increasing responsibilities.

It has been a proud year in my life to have served as president of the NCLAB and to have served with such great men. Thank you for letting me serve.

Sam Perdue
101 And Still Going Strong

By Kathy Kyle
Staff Writer
Washington Daily News

In 1884 Sam Perdue was born in Chesterfield County, Va.

One hundred and one years later he is alive and well in Washington, involved in more activities than some people half his age.

Perdue works in his wood shop, tends his garden in his back yard, attends church at the First Presbyterian Church nearly every Sunday and enjoys spending time with his wife, Kitty.

In 101 years, he has been involved in many activities, from selling real estate to play-acting. He reminisced on them in an interview on a screen porch beneath a big elm tree, the one that caused the Perdues to build their house funny.

To begin with, Perdue is an aficionado of trees and wood. He used to make his living as a timber cruiser, which is what brought him to Washington in the first place.

But, back to the tree.

The Perdues bought a lot on 12th Street, just off Market. The big oak tree sat right where the house ought to have gone.

Perdue, not one to destroy a nice elm, designed the house around it — sort of an elbow shape with the tree in the bend.

Perdue seems more like 75 years old than 100. He attributes his long life to luck and a moderate life style.

"I was born healthy, and I worked and played hard," he said.

He said it helps to keep his mind active. He stays on top of the events of the day.

"I've been very progressive in my thinking," he said.

Perdue's mother died when he was a boy. His father lived to be 75.

As a young man, Perdue sold the family farm and moved to Richmond where he sold real estate and cruised timberland. Cruising timberland consisted of speculating on how much it was worth.

Perdue also owned a livery stable and raised race horses. One horse he owned, he said, won three blue ribbons at the Virginia State Fair.

He moved to Washington in 1936 to work with friends in the East Carolina Land Corp., also called J and W Tract, in Martin and Beaufort counties. He later joined W. H. Gurkin in the Gurkin lumber company, where he worked as a supervisor of the saw mills until he retired in his 70s.

Mrs. Perdue said the lumber company was the only thing her husband retired from. He's a jack-of-all-trades, she said.

"His father told him it was good to learn to do a lot of things well."

Hence the variety of his pursuits.

Perdue is a long-time member and former president of the Washington Lion's Club. He has been given a life membership in the organization.

He has been a deacon and elder in the First Presbyterian Church and a Sunday school superintendent. Now he is an honorary elder emeritus.

The church gave him a 100th birthday party last year.

He has been a comedian in the old tobacco caravan, a show to advertise the Washington tobacco market. He played the role of a woman in the four-man comedian show, which performed in various communities.

He also performed in the Lion's Club minstrels to raise money for the blind.

Perdue was an umpire for Washington's softball teams.

"Washington had a whole lot of softball teams," he said.

Now he watches the games and uses his skills he learned as an umpire while watching his favorite major league team, the Atlanta Braves, on television.

"He tells them what to do and what not to do and gets mad if they don't listen," Mrs. Perdue said.

"He knows all the players by name," she said.

He has a baseball autographed by the Atlanta players, and on his 100th birthday a Braves announcer called him to wish him well.

He is also a carpenter and gardener.

His woodshop is filled with lumber and tools, all neatly in their place. The garden is filled with tomatoes and other delectables.

Perdue began his woodworking career after retiring from the lumber industry.

He builds cabinets, tables and wheelbarrows for boys and doll beds for girls.

His latest project is a wooden recipe box for a friend.

He also likes to spend time with Mrs. Perdue, whom he met through a friend, Bill Gurkin.

"One day I asked Bill, 'When are you going to take me to see that girl friend?"

"I'll take you now," Gurkin said.

He then met Kitty.

"She is the best thing that has happened to me," he said.

Soon after, she began teaching in High Point and Perdue began making 200-mile drives to go courtin'.

They married 43 years ago, and she came back to Washington schools until her retirement.

"I'm in no hurry to leave her," he said.

Perdue enjoys life's finer pleasures, like tending his garden

Lions receive donation. A $2,000 check was recently donated to the Weeksville Lions Club from Mrs. Treva Porter Pendleton in memory of her husband Glenn W. Pendleton, who was a charter member of the club.

The contribution was made during the 34th observance of Charter Night for a trust fund that has been set up in the memory of her husband. The earnings from the fund will be used to back the annual White Cane Drive and the annual contribution to Boys and Girls Homes of North Carolina.

Laying the corner stone for the new center for the Beaufort County Association for the Blind.

About the Cover

Shown on the cover is an enlargement of the new Lions "Candy Day" mint. This is a new mint in a new wrapper but more importantly it is readily identified as a "Lions" product. Though it is early in the season the mint has been accepted well. The North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind is absorbing one-half the cost of the candy.

Lions Clubs should still try to get local firms to underwrite the cost of the candy. Certificates will be provided by the NCLAB which clubs may present to the sponsoring firms.

The "Candy Day" mint in the light blue wrapper should not be confused with the "Counter top" mint which is in a dark blue foil wrapper.

Clubs needing additional information should contact their district White Cane director or the NCLAB office.

RECYCLE USED EYEGLASSES

A Project of Your Local Lion's Club and the North Carolina Lion's Association for the Blind

Facts You Should Know About Recycling Eyeglasses

1. The collection of eyeglasses for recycling is a project of local Lions Clubs and the North Carolina Lions Association for the Blind.
2. It is an on-going, year-round program involving Lions Clubs throughout North Carolina.
3. The program seeks metal frames in any condition, reusable plastic framed glasses, non-prescription sunglasses, brown artificial eyes, cataract glasses and soft cases. It also includes precious metal scrap such as old watches, jewelry (even bits and pieces such as a single earring or cuff link, broken chain), silverware, dentures with bits of gold inlay and hearing aids.
   It does not seek loose lenses, hard cases, contact lenses or broken plastic framed glasses.
4. Metal framed glasses and scrap metals are sold to a refinery and redeemed cash is used to help meet various emergency needs of blind people in North Carolina. Jewelry is sold intact and the proceeds used for the same purposes.
   Reusable plastic framed glasses are tested, classified and sent abroad to medical missions and welfare agencies for redistribution.

The Basics of Getting A Program Off the Ground

1. Put someone in charge and set up a collection point.
2. Meet with, or write a letter to the newspaper editor or radio station manager to explain the details of your campaign, including the names of the people involved.
3. If your club has a bulletin, write an article for it about the collection drive. Follow up with reminders.
4. Prepare collection boxes and place them with posters in selected locations.
5. Opticians and optometrists can keep a collection box in the waiting room.
6. Check with lost and found departments in hotels, stores, police stations, etc., for unclaimed glasses and/or jewelry.
7. Ask members of your club to spread the word among their friends and other groups to which they belong.
